"I appeal to you, young man, as a wife and mother, if you have any respect for honest workingmen, who are simply asking what is right, not to take this car any farther. I beg of you not to work against these men. I beg of you in the name of humanity not to work in the place of a man who is striking to keep himself from starvation. I am the wife of a striker. My poor husband has worked night and day for the company, and what he got was hardly enough to keep his little family. If you have one spark of manhood, if you have a wife and children whom you respect, you will not be the servant of a man who is trying to crush the men. I am going to stay with you and keep you company. I don't know that this is just the thing for a lady to do, but I could not help it. I will behave myself and not say anything that is wrong or unladylike. But I do hope my appeal will touch a tender spot in you and that you will not continue to drive."

The lady's earnestness attracted much attention along the avenue. She continued to petition the driver until Eighth street was reached. She looked into the face of the driver, but saw no sympathetic responses, and after her effort she appeared to feel discouraged. She turned to a PIONEER PRESS reporter and asked if there was a conductor on the car. The conductor was pointed out, and Mrs. McCurdy stepped down upon the side platform and reached from post to post as she passed to the rear of the car.

"Are you the conductor?" she asked in a sorrowful tone.

"Yes, I am," replied the silent, stoical man who faced the front and leaned against the near railing.

"Well, sir, I beg of you not to work in the places of the strikers. It is a strike for justice upon the part of the poor men who have been trying to support families upon low wages. Will you not heed my appeal? Have you no honor? Have you no respect for home?"

"I have no argument to make with you," replied the conductor, whose name is W. F. La Dieu, and who did not appear to be in the least affected by the woman's appeal.

"You can have no argument," she quickly replied. "There is no argument for a man in your position to offer."

"What will you take and let me alone? I will give you 50 cents if you will keep quiet," said the conductor.

"I am not to be bought off," said Mrs. McCurdy. "I would not work against my fellows for $5,000. I certainly would not work for $5 or $10 as you are doing."

"This is a free country," continued La Dieu, "and men can do as they please. I have been around a good deal, and there are thousands of men who would be glad to take this place."

"I suppose there are," said the lady.

"I am instructed to collect fares," said the conductor, "and if you are going to ride you will have to pay."

"I have a nickel that I will give for the privilege of riding with so unusual a sort of man," and she pulled out her slender pocketbook.

A reporter paid the lady's fare, and she turned to the scribe and said:

I thank you, sir. I cannot touch this man's heart. I am the wife of a man who has driven for about five months. We live upstairs at 2419 Fifth avenue south. I have not always been in poor circumstances. We lost all by fire. My husband attended the Wisconsin state university for five years. He is capable of filling almost any position, but had to accept a position as driver.

The woman stood up while the car made the trip to First avenue north and return. She felt that her work had not been a success, and as she left the car at the barn she looked discouraged. A few gentlemen handed her a small sum of money as she started for home.

IN ST. PAUL

The street car men are confident that they will win the fight, and the meeting which they held at the united labor headquarters on East Seventh street last evening was of a most enthusiastic character. J. A. Johnson, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, presided, and numerous speeches were made by the striking drivers, urging all to stand together and success was assured. The committee that waited on President Lowry reported their chilly reception, stating that he absolutely refused their proposition to submit the question to arbitration. Having failed to secure a settlement of the difficulty in this peaceable manner, they were compelled to take more extreme measures and order the men to quit work during the afternoon. This step was taken as a last resort, their desire being to avoid any inconvenience to the public. When a fair offer of arbitration was declined in the most decided manner, nothing else could be done. Miss Eva McDonald, of the Minneapolis Trades and Labor assembly, was present, and urged the strikers to stand firm and their cause would triumph. She declared that the reports that the strikers in Minneapolis had been the cause of the trouble there were false, as all the disturbance was caused by outsiders, who are always ready to take advantage of such occasions to make trouble.

The trades and labor assembly held a meeting at the same hour in an adjoining hall, President James Coughlin in the chair, and after listening to a statement of the case made by the officers of the street car men's union, passed the following resolutions:

Whereas, The street railway company of Minneapolis and St. Paul reduced the wages of its employes to a point that affords them scarcely a bare subsistence; and

Whereas, Said reduction does not appear to affect the high salaries of officials or office employes; and

Whereas, The excuse given for the action on the part of the company is that the profits during the past year have been too small, while during the winter of 1887-8 they could just pay expenses, when it cost them "$10,000 per month to keep the snow off the tracks," according to the statement of one of the officials at the time, and in the financial statement of the company published in yesterday's papers they show that the entire Minneapolis system is bonded for three times its actual cost, thereby proving themselves guilty of the most flagrant criminal conspiracy; and

Whereas, The company entered into a contract with their Minneapolis employes on May 13, 1888, to continue one year from date, every provision of which has been flagrantly violated by the company, and they now insist on employes signing an iron-clad agreement to the effect that they will renounce all allegiance to labor organizations; and

Whereas, The employes in both cities have refused to submit, and quit work, and the company has refused every offer to arbitrate, thereby showing a determination to deprive their employes of their independence and manhood and break up their organizations; therefore

Resolved, That the trades and labor assembly of St. Paul, representing the various labor organizations of the city, condemn the conduct of the company as unworthy the toleration of a free people; that we promise the street railway employes of both cities our hearty support and co-operation, morally and financially, trusting that their conduct will be manly and that no attempt will be made to resort to violence.

These resolutions were presented to the street car men's meeting, and their spirit was heartily endorsed. The following resolution was then adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That we, the employes of the St. Paul Street Railway company, realizing that our position has been forced upon us by necessity, and appreciating the inconvenience which a walk-out causes to the traveling public, unanimously hold ourselves in readiness now, as in the past, to submit our grievance to arbitration, and thus provide for an equitable adjustment of this difficulty.

The meeting also appointed committees from drivers on the various lines to visit the barns and use moral suasion to induce any new men engaged to take out cars not to work. They were instructed not to use any violence whatever and to avoid all intemperate or bad language in their efforts. These committees will visit the different barns this morning, as it is expected the company will make an effort to start out some cars.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

Wheat—No.2 red, 85¾@86c., in store; 87¼@87½ afloat; No. 3 red, 79@80c., No. 1 red 92c.; No 2 white 90c., Barley quiet and steady. Corn, No 2 42⅝@42⅞; No. 2 white, 46c.; No. 3, 42¼@45¾c; ungraded, mixed 41@44c; steamer mixed 42¼@43¾c. Oats, No.2 white, 33½@34c.; mixed western, 30@33c.; white western, 34@39½c.; No. 2 Chicago, 32¾c. Hay, shipping 65c.; good to choice 80@95c. Eggs, western, 10@11¾c. Butter, western dairy, 12@20c.; do creamery 18@26; Elgins, 27½@28c. Cheese, dull and unsettled, western 8½@10½c. Lard, western steam, $7.25.

CHICAGO.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour steady and unchanged. No. 2 spring wheat, 85¾@86c.; No. 3 spring wheat, 75@80c; No. 2 red, 85¾@86c. No. 3 corn, 34½@34¾c. No. 2 oats, 25¼c. No. 2 rye, 43c. No. 2 barley, nominal. No. 1 flax seed, $1.53@1.54. Prime timothy seed, $1.30@1.33. Mess pork (per bbl) $11.85@11.90. Lard (per 100 lbs), $6.82½. Short rib sides (loose), $5.90@6. Dry salted shoulders (boxed), $6.37½@6.50. Short clear sides (boxed), $6.37½@6.50. Eggs, 9½@10c.

MINNEAPOLIS.

Wheat—No. 1, hard, April, $1.01; May, $1.01½; July, $1.02; Track, $1.03; No. 1, Northern, April, 90c.; May, 90c.; July, 95c.; Track 90@91c.; No. 2, Northern, April, 79c.; May, 79c.; July 80c.; Track 80@82. Flour. Patents, sacks, to local dealer, $5.70@6.20; patents to ship, sacks, car lots, $5.50@6; in barrels, $5.70@6.15; delivered at New England points, $6.35@6.85; New York points, $6.25@6.75; delivered at Philadelphia and Baltimore, $6.20@6.70; bakers' here $3.75@4.75; superfine, $2@3.50; red dog, sacks, $1.35@1.50; red dog, bbls, $1.60@1.70. Bran and shorts, $7.25@7.50; Corn, fair, No. 2, 30@32c. Oats, 20@28c. Barley, 20@40c. Hay wild, $3@3.50; timothy, $5.50@7. Flax $1.47, Chicago, $1.53. Feed, $11@12.

ST. PAUL.

Prices on incoming trains only: Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.03 bid; No. 1 Northern, 91c bid; No. 2 Northern 81c bid. Corn—No. 2, 31@33c; No. 3 sample, 31c bid. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 22c bid; No. 2 white, 26@27c; May, 29c; No. 3, 21@23c. Rye—No. 2, 41@43c. Barley—No. 2, 50c bid; No. 3, 35@45c; No. 4, 35@40c. Ground Feed—$11.50@12.50; No. 3, $13.25. Corn Meal—Unbolted, $12.50. Bran—$7.50 Hay—No. 1 upland prairie, $4.50@5; No. 1, $3.50@4.50; timothy, $7. Flax Seed—$1.44 bid. Eggs—$2.85@3 per case; ice house $1. Flour—Patents, $5.80@6; straights, $5.20@5.40; bakers' $4.75@4.25; rye, 3.50@4; buckwheat, $3. Butter—choice creamery, 20@22c; extra dairy 16@18c; roll and print choice, 10@13c; fair to medium, 10@12c; packing stock, 7@9c; grease, 3@4c. Cheese—fancy, 10@12; fine, 11c; skim, 6@7½c.

An Ocean Steamer Disaster.

The Inman line steamer City of Chester, Capt. Bond, from New York April 2 for Liverpool, arrived at Queenstown, April 12. She reports that on April 8 in latitude 46 north, longitude 37 west, she passed the Danish steamer Danmark, from Christiania and Copenhagen, for New York. The Danmark had been abandoned by her crew. Her stern was level with the sea and her bow stood high out of the water. She was apparently sinking. The Danmark was a vessel of 2,260 tons and belonged to the Thingvalla line. The Danmark had on board when she left Christiansend for New York March 26, 650 passengers, presumably all immigrants. Including the vessel's captain, R. M. Knudsen, the crew numbered forty men the office of the agents of the steamer, Funch, Edye & Co., No. 27 South William street, New York has been thronged with people all the morning anxiously inquiring for later news of the vessel. Mr. Edye, of the firm, does not credit the report. He has cabled his London agents and sought by wire for further particulars from the Copenhagen branch of the firm.

The following letter has been sent out by the agents of the Thingvalla steamship line:

As some of the comments on the reported loss of the Danish steamer Danmark express the apprehension that this disaster may have been accompanied by heavy loss of life, we beg leave to state, for the benefit of all persons who have friends on the ill-fated boat, our belief to the contrary. When sighted by the City of Chester in latitude 45.55 north, longitude, 37.16 west the decks aft and the sails were in pieces, but the vessel was floating, and although the reporting steamer expressed the belief that she would shortly founder, this did not occur during all the time that elapsed from the hour she was first sighted until lost sight of. The Danmark was floating directly in the track of the transatlantic steamers, and we believe, beyond peradventure, that the passengers and crew were taken off some time, possibly as far back as a couple of days, before the City of Chester sighted the wreck, since the Danmark, having left Christansand on the 26th of March, should under ordinary circumstances have advanced considerably beyond the position found. If the wrecked passengers and crew had not been picked up they would naturally, even if embarked in boats and on rafts have remained in the neighborhood of the wreck, the presence of which would be much more likely to attract the passing steamers than small boats or rafts would. The City of Chester evidently did not find the slightest wreckage near the vessel, such as might be attributable to smashed or otherwise incapacitated boats, while the steamer bore no sign whatever of human life. We confidently believe, therefore, that, with the possible exception of single casualities, such as may occur during the transfer of so many people from one vessel to another, the passengers and crew of the Danmark are safe and will ere long be heard of as on board of one of the transatlantic steamers.

Boulanger on Trial.

When the French senate met on Friday the president read the decree constituting that body a tribunal for the trial of Gen. Boulanger, Count Dillon and M. Rochefort. The procureur general, Quesnay de Beaurepaire, then read a statement setting forth the grounds upon which the constitution of the accused is based. When the reading was concluded, the senate went into executive session and the public withdrew. The trial of Gen. Boulanger and his associates was then formally begun. The senators had been requested to appear in evening dress for the occasion, The request was ignored by the members of the right, all of whom wore frock coats The members of the left were attired in evening dress and wore white cravats. The following commission has been appointed to conduct the trial of Gen. Boulanger and the other accused persons: Senator Merlin, Cazot, Cordelet, Trarieux, Munier, De Marcere, Demole, L'Avertujon, Merellet and Humbert. Assistant commissioners have also been appointed, who will replace their colleagues on the regular commission if necessary. The assistant commissioners are: Senators Garrigat, Dusolier, Develle, De Roziere and Testelin. Senator Delbreil will not attend the trial. He holds that a political body like the senate has no right to try a delegate of the people. He declares that the trial is a revolutionary measure and a defiance of universal suffrage. Senator Leon Renault will also abstain from participation in the trial. A motion from the Right, declaring that there was no ground for a judicial inquiry into the conduct of Boulanger, was rejected by a vote of 209 to 50. The senate then resolved, by a vote of 210 to 55, to proceed immediately with his trial. Thereupon the doors were reopened and the public was resumed. M. Leroyer read the decree authorizing the senate to set as a court and directed that the trial proceed. Several members of the Right refused to accept a seat on the senate commission. Marshal Conrobert in an excited speech said he would never be a party to the prosecution on such frivolous grounds of a general who had well served his country. The sitting was a stormy one. The spectators were apathetic.

James E. McDowell was appointed register of the land office at Huron, Dakota. He is one of the Dakota colony that fought the battle of statehood last winter. He was recommended by Moody, Mathews, Mellette, and almost everybody for that matter. He stayed in Washington after the rest were gone, and did not allow the secretary to forget his application. He has his reward in the first land office appointment made in Dakota.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The President Shows No Disposition to Create a Cyclone of Political Removals.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The long list of postmasters appointed yesterday inspired the office seekers with an hilarious apprehension that the hour of the long and anxiously prayed-for clean sweep had at last struck. A careful analysis of the papers in the various cases filed in the department does not justify this sanguine concensus of judgment. Only a minute fraction of the appointments were of the clean-sweep sort. Of forty-seven appointments to presidential offices ten were to fill vacancies made by resignations, ten were to vacancies created by the expiration of terms, eleven were to offices that have newly become presidential, and sixteen were to replace postmasters removed. Of the sixteen, three were removed for causes, and it is said several more might have been, only the department was not disposed to send men out of office with a bad record where it could be avoided. Others, it is explained, were editors of Democratic papers who challenged removal by bitter attacks upon the administration since the 4th of March. Offensive partisans, ambitious of martyrdom, whom it was thought best to gratify. It is known that there was much sober consideration over this list of postmasters. Mr. Wanamaker was closeted with it and the president for two hours, and it was nearly night before the announcements were made.

To-day the department was fortified with justification for all the changes made, so there is no evidence yet of a departure from the rule laid down a month ago, that removals would not be general in presidential postoffices, and that most of Mr. Cleveland's appointments would be permitted to serve out their terms. Of the two Northwestern appointments in the list, one, that at Livingston, was to fill a vacancy created by resignation, and the other, at Madison, S. D., to fill a vacancy caused by the failure of the senate to confirm one of Mr. Cleveland's appointments. It may be that Wanamaker has been warned by the fate that has overtaken Secretary Noble. Officials of the interior department say it was more crowded to-day than it has been since the 4th of March. All of the office seekers in town seem to have deserted the other departments to flock there, accepting as an invitation Mr. Noble's recent declaration of policy. The reputation of a moderate civil service reformer is not only a good thing in the abstract, but it is a shield and a strong castle to protect cabinet officers from the assaults of the mob.

Liberally Construed.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Assistant Secretary Bussey is giving a more liberal construction to the pension laws than has heretofore been given and each day a number of former decisions of the pension office are overruled. Among other recent reversals are the following: In the case of Henrietta Breckinridge, a colored woman, who applied for a pension as a dependent widow of Olmstead Breckinridge, Company K, One Hundred and Twenty-third United States Colored troops, he reverses the pension office decision. Her application was first rejected on the ground that she was not his wife, as they were both slaves at the time of his enlistment and lived in Kentucky where the law did not recognize the legality of marriage among slaves. Assistant Secretary Bussey holds that the point is not material and as they cohabited directs a pension to issue. John Miller, Company C, second battalion, Sixth national guard cavalry, has been allowed a pension after the pension office had rejected his claim on the ground that disability did not develop until after his discharge, and that disease was not contracted in the line of service. Sarah Jane Morgan, mother of William Morgan, Company A, Fourth United States artillery, has been allowed a pension on new evidence adduced to support her claim. Simeon B. Williams, Company A, Thirty-fifth Ohio volunteers, has been allowed a pension for the loss of two fingers by the accidental discharge of his gun. His claim was first rejected by the pension office on the ground that there was no record of his being attached to the regiment at the time the accident occurred, but Assistant Secretary Bussey holds that the evidence of the officers and comrades of Williams is sufficient in the absence of the official record.

Speaking for Idaho.

WASHINGTON, Special Telegram, April 10.—Delegate Dubois called upon the president today to urge the early appointment of a Republican marshal and United States district attorney for Idaho. He says that the territory will hold a constitutional convention at an early day and will proceed at once to organize a state government and elect officers, a legislature, a congressman and senators. They will then come to congress and urge the early passage of the bill for the admission of the territory. In order to provide for this it is desirable that all federal officials of the territory should be Republican. He has recommended to the president, therefore, the names of Joseph P. Wilson for marshal and Willis Sweet for district attorney. Wilson is a resident of Boise City, Ada county, and has been for several terms sheriff of that county, and is known throughout the territory as an able and influential officer and Republican. Willis Sweet, the proposed attorney, is a prominent lawyer of Northern Idaho. The secretary of the treasury has called upon the appointment officer for the papers in the case of the Boise City mint, and it is understood that the appointment of assayer, melter and coiner will be made in a few days.

The Sioux Commission.

WASHINGTON, Special Telegram, April 10.—There is another hitch in the appointment of the Sioux commission. Two of the persons whom Secretary Noble had selected refused to serve, and the matter has gone over for a few days. One of these persons is Congressman William Warner of Missouri, but it is understood by dint of considerable telegraphing today, his objections have been overcome, and that he will accept. He desired very much to go upon the Cherokee commission, but owing to the opposition of the Cherokees themselves, he was refused the place. He was greatly disappointed. The name of the remaining person who declines appointment could not be learned, but it is hoped that his place can be filled in a day or two. It is reported that John H. King of Dakota, Charles Fallir of Ohio, and Gen. Crook, of the army, are to be on the commission. The instructions to the commission have been signed by the secretary. They are almost identical with those given to last year's commission, and conform to the terms of this year's act.

Off for Montana.

WASHINGTON, Special Telegram, April 10.—Having finally given his ultimatum to ex-Gov. Crosby, Russell Harrison will leave for Montana to-morrow evening, as it is necessary for him to be present at a meeting of stockmen with whom he is associated. "Only business would draw me away from Washington at this time," said Mr. Harrison, "but I will leave my family here to represent me until I return from the West. I will probably finish up my business affairs in Montana so as to be able to take in the centennial celebration at New York, and in addition to that, it is important that I should be in New York about the first of May. At that time Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper will be formally transferred to its new owners, and we want to talk over the future policy of the paper." Montana people who want to have something to say about local patronage themselves will not be heart-broken if Mr. Harrison stays in the West.

A Good Understanding.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—It is authoritatively stated at the department of state to-day that the three treaty powers concerned in Samoan affairs—England, Germany and the United States, have reached an understanding, by the terms of which they will each keep but one war vessel at Samoa pending the termination of the Berlin conference. The vessel to be sent there by the United States will be the Alert, a 1,000-ton ship now at Honolulu. The German corvette Sophie, now on her way out from Zanzibar, will represent German interests, while England will doubtless order the Calliope to return to Samoa from Sydney, or will replace her if she is materially damaged by the hurricane.

A Story Discounted.

WASHINGTON, Special Telegram, April 10.—The story will probably be telegraphed to many papers to-night that H. M. Duffield of Detroit, Mich., has been selected for solicitor general, and will be appointed in a few days. This may be true, but Attorney General Miller stated positively last Saturday that no person had been thought of for solicitor general and that no appointment would be made till after the end of the present term of the supreme court, in which Mr. Jenks is conducting some very important cases for the government, including the telephone cases.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Farm Experinces in Dakota.

The Northwestern Agriculturist.

Your comment on my article "political Farmers," suggesting the thought that I might be doing more harm in "hiding my light under a bushel," than others who destroy confidence by "axe-grinding," determines me to give the result of my experiments. Coming from an eastern machine shop, six years ago, after seventeen years absence from a farm life, when a boy, I felt there was much to learn about this "Dakota dirt." A "farmers club" was soon organized in North Beadle county; and the fun began. The Illinoisan told how he raised wheat in Shelby county; the Iowan raised big corn in Mt. Pleasant; the Michigander was posted on tree culture—the cutting part—but had raised some rye in Lenawee county. However it was a poser, when it was asked each one: Have you found any eastern soil in this vicinity? No!—but. I therefore concluded to take mine by experience. And that covering so few years impels me to keep silence, rather than expose my ignorance, yet even my failures may benefit some one else.

There are a few conclusions that I have arrived at. And one is: Had the Dakota farmer been carful to sow clean seed, we would not so soon have been over-run with foul weeds. Hence, sow clean seed. The weeds will take care of themselves, if you let them alone, but do not expect to raise two crops on the same ground. The weeds are the best rustlers.

Another is: Take out the stones, when you break the sod, and thus turn the whole surface over. You will never have the patience after, to stop to mend a balk in the furrow, unless vexed by the ruin of a fresh plow share. And a piece of stubborn sod, in a shallow hollow, is harder to conquer with the stirring plow, than the breaker.

Experience differs, as to the depth to break the prairie sod, with different seasons, wet or dry. About two and a half inches seem best. And after that one inch deeper every year has been my rule, in the fall for small grains, that the frost may pulverize and disintegrate, and the air may fertilize. For corn and hoed crops, deep spring plowing will not harm, as the cultivation will break up this raw subsoil and the summer rains fertilize in time for the next crop, which, after corn—i. kept clean—may best be put in with a drill without plowing. One bushel per acre—if wheat; if oats, sow one and a half bushel. I follow with light smoothing barrow, if the drill teeth are zigzag, as then the forward row of teeth have been covered the deepest. Raising corn seems to be the best possible way of fallowing; and if kept clean, one crop at a time, puts the ground in the best possible condition for wheat or oats. The soil is firmly packed, and no need for a press drill. A "tiger" will do. It's cheaper, and less liable to get out of order. And right here, I may as well "fire my wad" at the press drill. The theory is well enough, but expensive to practice. Where the traction engine went across my plowing a year ago, a broad track of vigorous wheat could be seen for a half mile the next harvest, and every mark by drill wheel shows in the after growth. But it is soon learned by farmers, far away from the shop, that the simplest tool has fewest repairs and even mechanics find that a complicated tool has to be nursed carefully. And yet manufacturers send out a complex system of wheels, springs, scrapers, shoes, bolts,—not only expensive to buy but to keep in order. Is it farmer-wise to buy, or would it be better to devise other means for this end? Dakota farmers to-day are suffering from too much machinery, too easily bought, and the chattel mortgage fiend is careering over these prairies like a January blizzard and doing infinitely more damage. These complex tools may do for the bonanza farmer, for often, it's little matter if his money soon goes and he emigrate "out west" to try new experiments. His neighbors may profit by his costly failures, but can't stand much of it themselves. So, I say, the simpler a tool, the better.

To return, I use a seeder when my ground is rough, as on back-setting, or when wet, and the drill will not clear—following the seeder twice with the harrow, until the soil is well fined—and once after drill—as before stated; but for drilling I precede with the harrow twice. I find the harrow a good tool to firm the soil with. The roller I have discarded, as the winds affect rolled ground more than rough ground. If you will roll, do so after the wheat is from three to five inches high—before it joints, when it becomes brittle. I use one-eighth bushel more seed when using a seeder than with a drill, "to feed birds."

When your wheat is fairly ripe cut with binder. Stack securely. After sweat, thresh with screens in, and market during the winter, when you can do nothing else. It will then pay to have a fanning mill. Clean wheat brings always a better price than dirty wheat. You avoid the "dockage steal." Grind the screening for hogs or cattle, and thus utilize the weed seeds, for a plant out of place, and their seed are nutritious to some extent; at least by grinding you prevent their growing. Why haul the dirt to market—'tis worth six cents per bushel grain—and give it to the elevators?

Keep stock. Pile your straw. Turn it into manure. Do not burn it. We have too much alkali in the soil now. Even spread the straw on your fields after seeding as a mulch and plow under in the fall. It will tell the next year. This is our heritage in this rich soil. It is not wise to waste it. Wheat is a necessity to most new comers, but as soon as possible diversify by getting stock, and consume on the farm all you can. You thus preserve the fertility of the ground, and are more independent of the elevator.

I use binders, because there is more "stack burnt" wheat in this vicinity from headed grain, than good wheat, and it lowers general grade. What becomes of my load of good sound wheat, in a carload of poor wheat at the Duluth market.

J. M. CONCKLIN.

Peterson's Magazine for May comes as fresh and bright as a spring morning. Its steel and wood engravings are capital and copious, and its literary contents deserves unqualified praise. There is not a poor story from the beginning to the end; most of them are above the average of periodical literature, and several are real gems; the same may be said for the pomems. Ladies who wish to keep thoroughly posted in matters of dress, fancy-work, and household affairs, can find no guide so competent and reliable as this admirable monthly. This number contains an article on "Home Millinery," so clearly written that, by its aid, a novice may make a bonnet to suit each costume, as stylish as if just arrived from Paris, and have the entire number at less expense than she could purchase a single one from a milliner. Terms: Two dollars a year. Address Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

As I intend to go on a visit to the old country about May 1st I desire to sell my English Shire Stallion. This animal is three years old next June, one of the best ever brought to Polk County and is now offered at a bargain. May be seen at my farm on Black River where price and terms will be made known on application.

[47-52] A. STUBB.

Seaside Library, (original edition) 10 and 20 cents. Copies for sale at half price. A full line on hand of Lovell's and Seaside Library, pocket edition, school books, stationery, blank books, fancy goods. Cheapest line of albums in the city. L. WALDELAND, [22-tf] Robert street.

We are not Surprised.

Northfield News: Richard Smith, Murat Halstead's partner, publishes in the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette a very caustic editorial on Halstead's rejection by the senate as minister to Germany. "He was rejected," says the article, "by senatorial frauds because as an editor he honestly criticized the methods by which men were elected to the United States Senate. He was rejected by senatorial frauds because he had the courage of his convictions and was not afraid to tell the truth. The result, therefore, cannot hurt him, but it is bound to hurt guilty senators. Perhaps, too, it may lead to a line of thought that will abolish the United States Senate altogether, with its star chamber proceedings, or compel a change in the methods of election that will bring that body closer to the people and force its members outside of the money influence. The people would be startled to know how many seats in the United States Senate were bought with money and how many seats are therefore disgraced. This is a business that cannot last. The people will not tolerate it. This kind of corruption must be wiped out."

SEED WHEAT.

I have some choice seed wheat for sale cheap, on time till fall. Call at Huggard, Larson & Co's.

[48-tf] D. HUGGARD.

SEED WHEAT.

I have some three thousand bushels of No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife wheat at my place which I will offer for sale for seed at one dollar per bushel. It is a choice lot. Call and examine it.

[48-tf] OLE HOVEN.

MONEY TO LOAN.

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

Order for Hearing Proof of Foreign Will.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, special term: In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing purporting to be an authenticated copy of the last will and testament of Byron Culver, deceased, late of Cedar Falls, in the County of Black Hawk, and State of Iowa, has been delivered to this court.

And whereas, James H. Wilson, of Cedar Falls, in said Black Hawk County, has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Byron Culver died in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of September, 1888, testate, that said last will and testament of said deceased was on the 8th day of November, 1888, duly admitted to probate in and by the District Court of said Black Hawk County, and that said petitioner is the Executor of said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters of administration with the will annexed be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate office in Crookston, in said county, on the 14th day of May, 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 15th day o. April, 1889.

By the Court:

[52-3] C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.

1878. 1889.

Fontaine & Anglim,

Have the largest and most complete stock of goods in the city, consisting, in part, of

CARPETS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS
BOOTS AND SHOES, GENTS', YOUTH'S AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING
STAPLE AND FANCY GROCERIES.

Prices very Low. Farmers' Produce Taken in Exchange

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1889. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendant and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

New Tonsorial Parlors

—AND—

BATH ROOMS,

J. E. BRADLEY Proprietor.

Having rented the shop recently occupied by Prof. Thompson, on Robert street, I have repapered and repainted the institution and am now prepared to welcome all my old patrons and friends. Have had a long experience in baths and am prepared to give any kind desired.

Everything in my line in the Latest Styles of the art. GIVE ME A CALL.

Scandia-American

BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital.......$300,000
Paid in Capital.......50,000
Surplus.......2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:
Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
C. O. Christianson, Crookston.
O. H. Lucken, "
Lewis Ellington, "
A. G. Gallasch, "
T. J. Thorsen, "
Max Ericsson, "
A. D. Stephens, "
E. P. Pierce, "
J. H. Locken, "
Carl Hendricksen, Grafton.
A. E. Johnson, St. Paul.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call.

Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

FOUE NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY.

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, - - MINN

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crokston, Minn

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson.)

rust Block } Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - Minn.

FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

WORTH OF CLOTHING

AND

BOOTS AND SHOES

TO BE CLOSED OUT

WITHIN THE NEXT 90 DAYS.

C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

The Polk County Journal.

H. F. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, APRIL 25, 1889. NO. 1.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	36 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.

3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.

4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON.

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, S. P. Markham, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Minn

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising

STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN.

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Order for Hearing Proof of Foreign Will.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, special term. In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing purporting to be an authenticated copy of the last will and testament of Byron Culver, deceased, late of Cedar Falls, in the County of Black Hawk, and State of Iowa, has been delivered to this court.

And whereas, James H. Wilson, of Cedar Falls, in said Black Hawk County, has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Byron Culver died in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of September, 1888, testate, that said last will and testament of said deceased was, on the 8th day of November, 1888, duly admitted to probate in and by the District Court of said Black Hawk County, and that said petitioner is the Executor of said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters of administration with the will annexed be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate office in Crookston, in said county, on the 14th day of May, 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 15th day of April, 1889.

By the Court:

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

[52-3]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 28th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed and delived by Clement A. Brown and J. F. Brown, her husband, of the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to the Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of April, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded as a mortgage in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 29th day of April, 1887, at 1:40 o'clock p. m., in book 30 of mortgages, on pages 411 to 415 inclusive. And the said default having continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof, and that by reason of said default and declaration aforesaid there is claimed to be due, and is due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of sixteen hundred forty and 60-100 (1640.60) dollars, and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise have been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: Lots three (3) and four (4) of section four (4), and lot one (1) of section five (5) all in township one hundred and forty-seven (147) Range forty-four (44), and the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼ of the sw¼) of Section thirty-three (33) in Township one hundred and forty-eight (148) Range forty-four (44) containing in all one hundred and fifty-six (156) acres more or less according to the United States government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fees stipulated in said mortgage, to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of the County of Polk in the State of Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 11th day of May, A. D. 1889, at the hour of two o'clock p. m., subject to redemption at any time within one year in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, March 15th, A. D. 1889.

THE NETHERLANDS AMERICAN LAND COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

W. B. DOUGLAS AND BALL & SMITH,
[49-3] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., April 2d, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on June 17, 1889, viz: GEORGE JONES, H'd 8006, for the w½ ne¼ and w½ se¼ Sec. 10, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Rhesa Godfrey, Cyrus Morris, John Forsythe and D. T. Mitchell, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[51-6] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

VOL. XIII, NO. 1.

With this issue THE JOURNAL enters upon its 13th year. From its infancy it has ever labored to advance the interests of Polk County and its people, and while it has met with many discouragments and disappointments it has also much to be thankful for, much to encourage. The process of building up a new country is naturally slow, this is not as far advanced as we could wish, yet when we consider the magnitude of the work, the many counter-influences at work to hinder progress we begin to see the extent of the progress that has really been made. The labors of the early settler were very much of an experiment, depending upon the fertility of the country for success. The intrinsic value of our lands has been fully demonstrated and there is no longer any doubt as to the future. We have proved that Red River Valley soil is among the choicest of earth, and only needs the facilities of older countries to become among the most valuable. These are rapidly being acquired, in fact very many of them are already here and every year adds much to the substantial basis of our growth and prosperity. For twelve years THE JOURNAL has taken an active part in the development of the resources of Polk County. For the liberal patronage it has had it returns sincere thanks to its thousands of friends and is encouraged to still greater effort in behalf of its constituents. Again, thanking our many kind patrons and inviting everybody interested in the welfare of Polk County to become its patron THE JOURNAL tackles Vol. XIII.

Saved from the Gallows.

An Innocent man Escapes Death by a Murder's Confession.

MOORHEAD, Minn., April 17.—Thomas Brown, who is now in the county jail under sentence of death, has created a sensation by confessing that he shot and killed Peter Casey near Hillsboro last fall. The suspected murderer, Morris O'Hara, has been on trial at Hillsboro for some time, and no doubt would have been convicted had not Brown made a confession. A deposition of Brown was taken, and he testified that he, in company with Casey and two others, was in the timber adjoining Hillsboro when the deed was committed; that there was bad blood between him and Casey, and a dispute arose as to the ownership of $5 which Casey had in his possession, after which he (Brown) shot Casey in the heart, killing him instantly. The confession of Brown thus saves an innocent man from the gallows and adds another to his now already lengthy list of crimes.

Corporal Tanner Wins a Bet.

Washington Critic: In the office of one of the prominent hotels one evening last week was overheard quite an amusing story of Corporal Tanner and his two artifical legs.

It seems that the corporal is very fond of fine horses and undertook to raise a few last year. He had one particularly fine horse, a thoroughbred, and he would let no one use him but himself. One day while the stableman was exercising him he accidentally stepped into a mud-hole and sprained a leg so badly that the doctor advised having the horse's hoof bathed in hot water three times a day.

One day when the gallent corporal was giving the horse the customary bath, a friend of his came along and told him it was cruelty to animals to bathe the horse's foot in such warm water, and asked him how he would like it if he had to put his foot in it. To which the corporal replied that he would not mind it at all. His friend, thinking he saw a chance to win some money, bet him a hundred dollars that he would not keep his foot in the water for five minutes. The bet was no sooner said than it was accepted by the corporal, who not only put his foot in, but put his whole leg in and kept it there for five minutes.

The friend paid the bet, but probably has not to this day found out how it was possible for the supposed victim to keep his foot in boiling water for five minutes.

Can Bind with Wire.

An Invention Which may be of Great Benefit to Farmers.

QUINCY, Ill., April 16.—Farmers throughout the northwest will be interested in the announcement that a simple device has been perfected which will make them absolutely independent of the twine trust. For some weeks a harvester has been at work in the tall sedge grass along the Mississippi bottoms opposite Quincy binding with wire. This improvement was to-day pronounced a complete success by a large number of farmers and experts who have been watching its workings. It is very simple, only the substitution of a twist in place of the knotter used on the twine binder. The farmer can therefore use either wire or twine, as the change can be made in a moment's time.

The Wheat Market.

Causes that Have led to Great Speculation in Wheat During the Past Year.

Minneapolis Journal.

The present crop year will go into history as one of the most important speculative seasons the wheat trade has ever witnessed. General prices of wheat and of its products all over the world had declined for several years, and had become so depressed that speculation had almost ceased. The winter wheat crop suffered severely from the unfavorable weather during the previous month and a general shortage was estimated. The summer of 1888, in the spring wheat sections, was unusual for vigorous growth of spring wheat and for numerous rains, causing serious prospects for the plant on account of rust. Blight followed in all sections of Minnesota and Dakota, and when an early frost overtook the unripe wheat in the north it became a certainty that the crop would be greatly shortened.

It was these causes that the strength in wheat had its inception in the west. The east had been slow to believe the reports of northwest shortage, and was slower to act. During the year of decline people had turned their attention to foreign consumers, as there was always a large surplus to be disposed of, and the inquiry was, what will the grain bring in foreign countries? On that basis the three or four late crops had been disposed of but this year, with a smaller surplus, attention was turned from that direction. From these facts prices appreciated early in the west, despite the most determined opposition of the eastern traders. The markets of Minneapolis and Duluth reached a point several cents above all important trading points east of them, caused by the active competition of millers, who, understanding the restricted supply, were anxious to gain control of as much of the grain as possible while it was within their reach. They were early convinced that the shortage was so great that some mills would be forced to close before the crop year terminated for the want of available grain to grind.

The wheat in the northwest, instead of going forward to clog the avenues of trade, was most of nearly worked into a position to stay until the time came to transform it into flour. Wheat went up too fast at first; men's minds had become educated to low values and they were not prepared for the advance. They were blinded for the advance. They were blinded by the light of new possibilities and were ready to accept the theory that the rise was the result of corners, while the truth was that corners were possible only because of the disastrous crop failures. In the years of plenty few attempts to corner the market had passed the limit of lamentable failure. After the first rapid advance and when the speculative excitement had lost its fury, it was only reasonable to look for some reaction, but the wheat market was not in a condition to be easily manipulated by combinations of shrewd operators for temporary results. The advance was of course, quite unprecedented, and there was no apparent reason why wheat was worth the price it was bringing, but combinations might put it higher or lower as they might calculate their forces. Still judicious operations on the long side appeared to be in harmony with legitimate conditions. But the wheat market soon reached that state where prudent operators did not care to push it any further. The rage had got to be so great that every train from the interior brought one or more people with money to double up in purchases of wheat.

Then came the end of speculative hopes. Dealers in flour throughout the country had stocks on hand and to arrive, contracted during the excitement attending the rise in wheat, and activity in the domestic flour demand had ended. Dealers were loaded with all they wanted to carry through a season of lower prices and millers found themselves without contracts for future delivery or without an active present demand. There was poor demand and there has been little improvement since. The high prices in the early part of the crop year had brought out the farmer's stocks more rapidly than usual from so small a crop, so that by the end of October some 12,000,000 bushels of the new crop had arrived in Minneapolis, against a little more than 13,000,000 bushels the previous year, from a crop nearly twice the size. Stocks of flour soon began to pile up in the hands of millers, and without active demand there was no way out of it but to shut down the mills. From then till now there has been little activity in the movement.

Wheat had been some 40 cents a bushel higher at the top than it is to-day, and flour some $2 a barrel higher then than now. That decline has been important and severe. Manipulation in wheat, in various markets held it above the relative prices at which flour could be sold, and spring wheat mills have been unable to run steadily. Flour from winter wheat has sold below the price of spring, and the latter has shrunken greatly in the breadth of distribution.

From a total crop estimated at 60,000,000 bushels in this state and Dakota, 80,000,000 bushels have already been received in this city, which, if the estimate was correct, after taking out 15,000,000 for bread and seed, would leave but 15,000,000 bushels more for all other markets, for all other purposes, and yet to come into channels of trade. Duluth has taken in approximately 5,000,000 bushels, leaving only 10,000,000 bushels to be otherwise disposed of. There are yet 5,000,000 bushels in country elevators, and not less than 5,000,000 bushels have gone out as wheat and flour south of Minneapolis, not counted in the foregoing statements, which disposes of the 60,000,000 bushel crop without leaving any surplus yet in farmers' hands. But it is known that such surplus exists.

It follows that the wheat crop of 1888, in Minnesota and Dakota was, as usual, underestimated, and it is that miscalculation, perhaps, that has broken up a disposition to run a May wheat corner in Chicago and Minneapolis. As in all other enterprises, certain conditions must be present to insure success. Among the conditions requisite for a successful wheat corner are long lines of short wheat stocks that are not within the reach of shorts, with which to fill their contracts. The poor demand for wheat to turn into flour during the winter, and the underating of the 1888 production, have left a great deal of available wheat to be run into a market arbitrarily forced up, and the two combined have brought into play such resources that a successful corner is highly improbable in May, and in July also, except the surplus wheat is first removed by lower values than those of the present time.

The Meat Inspection Bill.

The following is the full text of the meat inspection bill:

Section 1. The sales of any fresh beef, veal, mutton, lamb or pork in this state except as hereinafter provided, is hereby prohibited.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the several boards of health of the several cities, villages, boroughs, and townships within this state to appoint one or more inspectors of cattle, sheep and swine for said city, village, borough or township who shall hold their offices for one year, and until their successors are appointed and qualified, and whose authority and jurisdiction shall be territorially co-extensive with the boards so appointing them; and said several boards shall regulate the form of certificate to be issued by such inspectors, and the fees to be paid them by the person applying for such inspection, which fees shall be no greater than are actully necessary to defray the costs of the inspection provided for in section 3 of this act.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the inspectors appointed hereunder to inspect all cattle, sheep and swine slaughtered for human food within their respective jurisdictions within twenty-four hours before the slaughter of the same, and if found healthy and in suitable condition to be slaughtered for human food, to give to the applicant a certificate in writing to that effect. If found unfit for food by reason of infectious disease, such inspector shall order the immediate removal and distruction of such diseased animals, and no liability shall accrue by reason of such action.

Sec. 4. Any person who shall sell, expose or offer for sale for human food in this state, any fresh beef, veal, mutton, lamb or pork whatsoever, which has not been taken from an animal inspected and certified before slaughter by the proper local inspector appointed hereunder, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding three months, for each offense.

Sec. 5. Each and every certificate made by the inspectors under the provisions of this act shall contain a statement to the effect that the animal or animals inspected, describing them as to kind and sex, were at the date of such inspection free from all indication of disease, apparently in good health and in fit condition when inspected to be slaughtered for human food, a duplicate of which certificate shall be preserved in the office of the inspector.

Sec. 6. Any inspector making a false certificate shall be liable to a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each animal falsely certified to be fit for human food under the provisions of this act.

Ex.: We apologize for mistakes made in all former issues and say they were inexcusable, as all an editor has to do is to hunt news, and clean the rollers, and set type, and sweep the floor, and pen short items, and fold papers, and write wrappers, and make the paste, and mail the papers, and talk to visitors, and distribute type, and carry water, and saw wood, and read the proofs, and correct the mistakes, and hunt the shears to write editorials, and dodge the bills, and dun delinquents and take cussings from the whole force, and tell our subscribers that we need money. We say that we've no business to make mistakes while attending to these little matters, and getting our living on gopher tail soup flavored with imagination, and wearing old shoes and no collar, and a patch on our pants, obliged to turn a smiling countenance to the man who tells us our paper isn't worth $1 anyhow, and that he could make a better one with his eyes shut.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY, CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
AT BOTTOM PRICES.

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

Opposite Merchants' Nat'l Bank.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

☞ WE ARE AGAIN ON DECK ☜

WITH A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

FARM MACHINERY.

And are ready to Setve the Tillers of the Soil at a moment's notice.

WE HAVE A SPECIALTY TO OFFER IN THE

Dowagiac Shoe Drill.

This Drill reigns supreme as KING OF THE FIELD, and stands forth unrivaled as the most perfect Seed Planter extant. It will save to the farmer enough seed to pay for it the first season, besides doing the most complete work, and finishing as it goes. No wide-awake farmer can afford to be withou one. Guaranteed to work in any ground in which an ordinary hoe seeder will work.

☞ We can refer with pleasure to some of the progressive farmers in this vicinity who used them last year.

Sole Agents for the Dowigiac Drill.

McKinnon Bros., MAIN STREET, CROOKSTON, MINN.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDY.

OFFICE AT THE C URT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1889. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W. Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices.

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.
W. G. COOKE, Publisher.
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.
CROOKSTON, MINN., APRIL 25 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat still tarries at 77 for No. 1 hard.

Rain enough this week but not too much.

And now for the new railroad and better times.

Dr. Bowker's Birch Beer is found only at Herb's.

Try the new creamery butter. It is the best in this market.

Second hand goods bought and sold by Swan Hovik, Broadway.

J. O. Bennett, of Era Grader fame, is domiciled with mine host Bemis.

A drop of five cents in wheat is noticed this week in this market.

The County Board met on Wednesday for the transaction of business.

Note the change in Fontaine & Anglim's ad and call in and size 'em up.

The St. Hilaire Spectator says Geo. Crecker is moving his buildings to Thief River.

City Attorney Hatlestad returned on Tuesday morning from a brief visit to the twin cities.

Ladies do not fail to call and see the lovely new spring millinery goods at Mrs. I. U. Jennings.

Ladies don't fail to see Fontaine & Anglim's show window and note their styles and prices on shoes.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

They say a new broom sweeps clean. Street commissioner Hamery has been cleaning up the streets nicely this week.

McKinnon Bros. report the sale of 47 of those celebrated Dowagiac drills and say that in every instance they gave perfect satisfaction.

Dan Patterson was down from St. Hilaire on Monday chatting with friends in the city. Says seeding is nearly done in his neighborhood.

Louis Ellington leaves Gallasch to run the Scandia American Bank for a few weeks while he runs down to Iowa for a visit with old friends.

W. H. Pinkerton came over from Lakota, N. D., on Wednesday to see his sister and her husband before their departure for the great west.

Henry D. Pinkerton came over from Michigan City on Saturday to join his wife who has been visiting with friends in the city for a fortnight or so.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

N. Rapin has rented the Opera House, fitted it up in fine style and is now looking up attractions in the way of operas and theatre troupes for the near future.

George McManus' mother Mrs. J. L. McManus has been very sick with capillary bronchitis, the case requiring a consultation of physicians on Saturday.

When you need any article of furniture, new or old, call at Swan Hovik's place, on Broadway, and see if he has not got it. He has everything ever heard of.

The Sir Knights, 18 of them, went over to Grand Forks on Saturday night to help their brethren celebrate. Fargo, Winnipeg, and other cities, were represented.

Lewis Thompson, a former resident of Ada, was over from Towner, D. T., on Saturday last. He says, Crookston is as lively a city as he has seen in all his travels lately.

H. F. Luse spent the Sabbath in the city. He has been up to the 13 looking after his farms. Says somebody has been mean enough to steal 600 bushels of oats from his grainary.

M. W. Jensen was in from Garden this week to greet his friends and report progress. He says that farmers are nearly through seeding and living in hopes of a glorious harvest.

J. B. Merrill of Grand Forks, formerly of Fisher, remarked to us on Monday: "I am now ready to attend all calls for the services of an auctioneer that the citizens of Polk County may require."

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

Pete Misgen has returned from Helena. Says the egg venture, while it did not make of him a bloated bond-holder, did pan out remarkably well, giving him a good return for trouble and expense.

Paul Simon was up from Hubbard on Tuesday. Reports seeding nearly all done down there but that rain is very much needed. It would seem that they have not as much as we have had around here.

Frank Brown started on Monday morning for a trip to Montana and the western country for the benefit of his health. Frank has not recovered from his recent illness as rapidly as his friends could wish and it is hoped that a trip west will strengthen him.

Hugh Robertson returned last week from a brief visit to the twin cities where he had the pleasure of witnessing the great strike, the legislature and other striking curiosities. He is at a loss which impressed him the most.

Have you tried that Dr. Bowker's Birch Beer? Found only at Herb's.

Ole O. Christianson and wife went to Ada last Saturday on a brief visit to friends in Norman County.

Mrs. I. U. Jennings colors or re-shapes straw hats and bonnets, cleans, curls or colors feathers and tips. [1-2]

Conductor and Mrs. W. D. Scott have removed to Barnesville where in the future they intend to reside.

Lawyer P. C. Schmidt has been unable to attend to his business for the past ten days, owing to a severe attack of bronchitis.

Mine host Bemis believes in making his guests comfortable. He has just added six rockers to the furniture in the gentlemen's sitting room.

Notice the sewing machine announcement of Holmboe & Larson and remember the dates of the trials. Go and see what can be done on a good machine.

Swan Hovik has taken posession of the old stand of Berthiaume & Michaud and will deal in new and second-hand goods of every description. If you want to buy, sell or exchange anything whatever call on Swan Hovik.

John McKinnon has received a letter from the Dowagiac press drill company which intimates that a sufficient inducement might bring them to Crookston with their plant. This matter should be looked up and steps taken to secure the location of that important industry in our midst.

Grand Forks Herald: Mr. T. J. Thorson and his estimable wife stopped at the Griggs Saturday en route from St. Paul to Crookston. They found time to visit some of their acquaintances while here and received pressing invitations to come to Grand Forks to live permanently.

The Crookston Cornet Band will give a grand ball at the opera house on the evening of April 30. A new leader arrived from Chicago on Monday, a man of long experience, and it is the intention to give open air concerts each week during the summer. The boys deserve encouragement in a substantial manner for their efforts to build up and sustain a good band.

Well done, good and faithful servant of the Manitoba company! Thou hast well and faithfully served thy master, braving the just wrath of the people to do that monster's bidding. Now go hence and enjoy a well earned rest in innocuous desuetude, never more to be disturbed by that people whom thou hast so grossly insulted and so cruelly wronged.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

T. H. Bjoin brought in a sample of creamery butter that they are now turning out at the new creamery, for our opinion. After having duly sampled it we are prepared to pronounce it as fine a sample as any creamery butter ever brought to the city—very much better than most of the imported goods. Manager Fulton has proved himself a master of his art. They expect to turn out 800 pounds per day in the start and double that before long.

Early last week THE JOURNAL received from Lindsley & Box (which the same is A. L. Lindsley and Tom Box) dealers in builders' supplies, Tacoma, Washington Ter., a fine lithograph of that flourishing city, which so completely took our breath that we could not find words to mention it in our last issue. The city claims a population of 30,000, with many manufacturing establishments. We see no reason why Tacoma should not become a very important city.

Mrs. I. U. Jennings has rearranged her millinery rooms and received a large and new stock of spring and summer millinery which she will sell at her usually low prices. [52-1]

The action of the council upon the bond question last night was taken too late for us to publish in this issue but everything previous to the meeting indicated an early call for the election. The former proposition of the home company was modified to meet the reasonable objections that had been made and now the question is all ready to be submitted. We believe this is the last chance we have to obtain this road as it is to be built this summer anyhow and if it does not come here through these bonds it will come so near that it will kill Crookston "deader'n a smelt." It seems to us that we have no choice in the matter, that in self-defence we are obliged to do this whether we believe in it or not i. e. if we care a straw for the future of our city. The road has already taken steps to build from Fertile west, intends to do it and will do it. It remains for us to say whether that shall be by way of Crookston or not and we may count ourselves lucky to get that chance. It is all very well for us to sit back on our haunches and say! "Oh, well, what's the use of voting bonds. The road wants to come and will come anyhow!" We have seen how that works once and that lesson should suffice. The position today is identical with that and we know by experience that it is possible for a road to miss Crookston. Fortunately that loss was not irreparable, but what think you of a road going past us on the south five or six miles? In order to be benefitted by it we would have to lay out the intervening country in town lots and absorb the territory and who will build upon the lots? We have no fears but that the bonds will carry. They surely will if the good sense of the city prevails.

Eh?

"Twelve creameries and two cheese factories have begun operations at Crookston!"

We find the above stunner in the Minneapolis Evening Journal of the 20th inst. Sampson's bond bill passed the house on Saturday last, but we hardly thought it would take effect so quick.

The D. & W.

The status of the D. & W. Railroad remains the same as at the opening of the session, the House having by a vote of 55 to 31 rejected the Senate bill to forfeit the grant. This leaves the question for the courts to decide, and the ability to secure the necessary capital still a matter of doubt. The company had arrangements all made for the necessary capital in case the Legislature had, by giving a three years' extension of time, settled beyond a doubt the question of title, and while the rights of the road remain the same as before and will until an act of forfeiture is passed, yet the position gives rival roads an opportunity to so harass the D. & W. that capital will be more timid about investing where a fight is sure to follow, than where all is clear sailing. To the Senate this country owes the prospect of having to go for years without this much needed road and to the action of our own member—B. Sampson—is largely due that action, in fact we may say, wholly, for at one time the question was so close that his vote and his influence could have turned the scales in our favor. The building of that road into Polk County means from $100 to $1,000 a year gain to every farmer in it, and yet Mr. Sampson refused to stand by the road. In order to have been faithful to the sacred trust reposed in him by the people when they sent him there to represent them and protect their interests, Mr. Sampson should have given them something better, if he did not see fit to respect their wishes and give them the D. & W. But what does he give them in return for defeating the road? Nothing, absolutely nothing. What Mr. Sampson receives for his distinguished services we know not, and it is not our province to discuss, but it is absolutely certain that he can by no manner of means have received an equivalent for the loss of the road to the people. For years the Manitoba road has fought the D. & W. bitterly, contributing in no small degree to the defeat of the project and how any man in this valley could take the same view, admits of but one construction, and that one not very flattering to that man. The future of the D. & W. is still problematical. If indomitable pluck and energy can overcome the obstacles thrown in its way by this country, (its representative for the time being is this country) it will be built, as the company will relax no effort for the accomplishment of the object. If it should succeed in getting into the Valley the cities and villages will no doubt be called upon to aid it. Had our representative acted in accordance to the wishes of the public, this would not have been required of us.

Bro. McGrew says we were wholly mistaken in our reply to him as he "simply said" we had made no report. If Mr. McGrew means to say that he did not mean to insinuate that we left our bills unpaid as a member of the state central committee and that it was not possible for us to tell the truth, then we were mistaken, but we don't know anything about the English language if those insinuations were not plain. Again he misconstrued what we said about his services as a soldier, and tried to belittle that; now he says if we wish to champion the fight against him he will accept the situation cheerfully, &c. What fight? Who has made any fight against Mr. McGrew that we are championing? Mr. McGrew himself made an unjust and wholly uncalled for attack upon McGuire, Eiken, Walsh and Williams, and we answered his unjust attack. Now he poses as a martyr with an attack of what? Dyspepsia? If he has been attacked by anybody else it has "simply" been in self defense to repel the onslaughts of the gentleman himself. THE JOURNAL "simply" stated its view of the case without consultation with the parties in interest and wholly without their knowledge, on the principle that it has always followed of standing by its friends, and if Mr. McGrew thinks by menace to shut us up, he is very much off his base. We shall stand by our friends as long as they are subject to such attacks as he has seen fit to make upon them, whether Mr. McGrew likes it or not, because we are in the right.

Penelope.

A very pleasant evening's entertainment was afforded by the rendition of this comic operetta by home talent, on Tuesday evening. Manager Rapin had put the hall in apple pie order and an air of comfort pervaded the room induced by the change. He seems to have spared no pains to please his patrons. The curtain was rung up at the usual hour to listen to instrumental music by Miss Mamie Ayers, W. C. Kelso and Mel. Milne, followed by a trio excellently well rendered by Miss Cassie Mix, Miss Allie Veroneau and Miss Clara Aaker. The young ladies were in excellent voice and met the entire approval of the audience. Mrs. Jarley's Wacks Worx, as introduced by Mrs. S. M. McKee was a decided success, well seasoned with decidedly spicy local hits and the "statoots" were a marvel in their way after they had been duly planted and wound up by Marlon Hart and Jud Carruth. There was "Mrs. Winslow," with her celebrated "Soothing Syrup" the which, after being duly wound up she dosed out in a manner as soothing as the syrup itself, and the wonderful singer who gave evidence of being a regular barn-stormer until the mainspring broke, and Stanley discovering the interior of Africa, and the Lord High Executioner who handled the axe all the same like that was his regular business, the boy what stood on the burning deck, the Chinese giant Sampson, who was altogether too long for this world and who had a mouth on him as big as the Mammoth Cave; the dwarf who was the personification of agility brushing a fly off his left ear with his foot as gracefully as it could have been done by hand. "Penelope," with Miss Minnie Ayers in the title role was the dessert after the feast. Miss Ayers' interpretation of the character was faultless and highly appreciated. Miss Cassie Mix' rendition of "Mrs. Croaker" left nothing to be desired. Fred Mix as the milkman was good, but he was evidently handicapped by a cold which put him at a disadvantage. Geo. Graves as "Tosser," surprised the natives. He was in excellent voice and good spirits and he held his own with F. L. Durand, who, as the policeman was extremely funny—as usual. The entertainment was voted a great success worthy of repetition before any audience. It was thoroughly enjoyed by a houseful and a huge crowd at the windows who hadn't time to come inside.

Council Proceedings.

SPECIAL MEETING APRIL 20, 1889.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council held April 20, 1889. President Watts in the chair. Meeting called to order. Members present, Alds. Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Steenerson, Walter, Bjoin, Marlette, Jerome, Buhn and Jennings.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald. Jennings that a committee of three be appointed by the chair, to draw up rules and regulations to govern the actions of the council, and until such time to be governed by Roberts rules of the order.

The comptroller presented his report, which on motion was accepted and adopted.

The report of the treasurer was presented, and on motion was accepted and adopted.

TREASURER'S REPORT, APRIL 20, 1889.

Cash on hand		$14589 07
Bonds purchased for acc't sinking fund		5180 00
		$19769 07
At credit of the following funds:
City Improvement Fund	$1982 91
Interest	1969 95
Sinking Fund	11843 28
Street Fund	3915 80
Bridge Fund	6 00
Firemens' Relief	129 94
Specific Fund	207 52
Sewer Fund	2930 46
Ward Fund	770 87
	$23756 73
Less gen'l fund overdrawn	3987 66
		$19769 07
Less bonds purchased		5180 00
Cash on hand		$14589 07

Streets as Cr.

Main	$218 03
Oak	330 64
Ash	418 40
do	23 56
do	8 25
do	189 84
Front	37 50
Pine	42 15
Sheridan	79 83
Sixth	189 06
Fifth	73 00
Fourth	131 90
Third	53 43
Second	169 64
Fletcher	148 44
Hunter	339 33
Robert	292 77
Elm	223 90
Seventh	324 83
Houston	330 78
Cowing	261 23
	$3915 80

Respectfully submitted,
L. C. COUVRETTE,
City Treasurer.

COMPTROLLER'S REPORT APR. 20, 1889.

TO THE HONORABLE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CROOKSTON.

GENTLEMEN:—Herewith please find statement of monies in the hands of the treasurer, showing the accounts as they appear upon the treasurer's and comptroller's ledgers.

Cash, (in treasurer's hand)	$ 14,589 07
Bonds for act. sinking funds	5,180 00
	$ 19,769 07
At the credit of ac'ts. as follows:
Improvement funds,	$ 1,982 91
Interest,	1,969 95
Sinking fund,	11,843 28
Streets,	3,915 80
Bridge,	6 00
Fireman's relief,	129 94
Specfic,	207 52
Sewer,	2,946 46
Wards,	770 87
	$ 23,756 73
Less Gen'l fund overdrawn $3987 66	$ 19769 07

In this connection I would recommend that as much as the general fund shows a deficit of $3,997.60 and assume that the same has been drawn from the sinking fund, that a due bill drawing interest at 7 per cent. per annum be given the sinking fund commissioners for the amount. This would nevertheless require a temporary loan of say $2,500 to meet current expenses. Would recommend that the city give its obligation to the sinking fund for that amount, drawing the usual rate of interest, and payable on or before July 5th, 1889. After such proceeding would further recommend that the balance in the sinking fund, together with bonds and obligations be immediately turned over to the commission for that purpose. I would recommend further that there is to the credit of various streets the amount of $3,915.80 which is now of no benefit whatever, would suggest it be placed to the credit of the permanent improvement fund, in as much as the ward fund takes care of such work, as heretofore was chargeable to the streets and whereby derive a benefit from an otherwise dead fund. Would also recommend the placing to the permanent improvement fund the item of $6.00 now to the credit of the bridge fund. There is to the credit of the specific fund $207.52 it is impossible to ascertain what this fund was created for, in order that it may be of some use to the city, recommend it to be placed to the credit of the interest fund. Assuming control of the city finances, I wish to impress upon your minds the necessity of a conservative policy for the next twelve months, an almost depleted treasury will admit of nothing else.

Respectfully,
E. W. WILK, Comptroller.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the city printing for the ensuing year.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of the Crookston and Northern Railroad Co., was presented, and on motion was accepted and adopted as follows:

TO THE HONORABLE CITY COUNCIL.

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee to whom was referred the petition and proposition of the Duluth, Crookston & Northern R'y Co., regarding aid for their proposed line of road, beg leave to report as follows:

We found said petition bear the names of one hundred and thirty-four (134) signers, and we here sought for information as to whether they were resident freeholders, from the two sources of information which we deemed most likely to lead us to correct conclusions viz., by searching the records in the office of the register of deeds of Polk County, and secondly, by inquiry of the individual signers, where the records did not give us the desired information. Our examination has been an exhaustive one, and as a result in our best judgment of these signing as above stated, Ninety (90) are resident freeholders, the title of whose property is shown by the records, and O K'd by the register of deeds, six (6) claim to hold deeds to real estate within the corporate limits of your city, but their deeds are not of record and they failed to produce, or allow your committee to examine the same. Two (2) signatures are those of persons owning real estate within the city limits who are not themselves residents of the city. One (1) holds his lands under contract with the St. P., M. & M. R'y Co.: Eight (8) have bonds for deeds only, while twenty-seven (27) have no real estate in their own name. As your committee is not skilled in the law they have not tried to decide which of the above, other than the ninety, first mentioned are resident freeholders within the meaning of the law under which we are acting, but report the facts as shown, subject to your own conclusions.

All of which is respectfully submitted
E. D. CHILDS,
I. U JENNINGS,
MARTIN LALLY.
} Com.

NOTICE

Fontaine & Anglim's

BOOTS AND SHOES SHOW WINDOW

THIS WEEK.

Exhibiting a Large Line of Ladies's Fine Shoes at $2.50. Regular price $2.75 and $3.00.

HERE IS A SAMPLE.

THIS WEEK ONLY! 2.50

This Ladies' Fine Dongola Kid Button Boot

Medium weight stock, overlap quarters, fancy top lined, oak sole bottoms, flexible sole, opera toe and heel, well worth your best attention,

We invite the Ladies of Crookston and vicinity to inspect our Large Stock of Ladies' Fine Shoes. Competent and gentlemanly salesmen to wait on all callers.

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

The committee to which was referred the subject of negotiating with the Duluth, Crookston & Northern R. R. Co. beg leave to report that they met with the officials of the said company and received from said company an amended proposition which is embodied in the annexed petition herewith presented, and which is accompanied by affidavits of each signer as to the genuineness of the signatures and qualifications of the signers. We recommend that said new proposition be agreed to and said petition granted April 20th, 1889.

H. STEENERSON, Chairman.

Upon the call of ayes and nays Alderman Morrisey, Steenerson, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome and Buhn voted in the affirmative. Aldermen Lally, Childs Marlette, Jennings and Watts in the negative. The report was declared carried.

Ald. Steenerson offered the following resolution;

Resolved, that the petition of J. H. Thomas and others attached to the proposition of the Duluth, Crookston & Northern railroad company, be, and the same is hereby granted, and an election pursuant to the special act of the legislature, be, and the same is hereby ordered for Tuesday May 7, 1889.

Alderman Childs offered the following amendment which was seconded by Ald. Lally: Resolved, that the petition and proposition of the Duluth, Crookston & Northern railroad company, presented by Hon. H. Steenerson be referred to a committee of three to be appointed by the president of the council, to ascertain whether it contains the names of 100 freeholders as required by law. Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Lally, Childs, Bjoin, Marlette, Jennings and Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative: Morrisey, Steenerson, Walter, Jerome and Buhn.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 20th day of Apr. 1889.
WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.
Approved this 22d day of Apr. 1889.
Attest: JAMES W. LILLY, Mayor.
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

The chair appointed Alds. Steenerson, Bjoin and the city attorney to ascertain if the petition contains the names of one hundred freeholders as required by law, and to report on said petition at an adjourned meeting of the council to be held April 24th 1889.

On motion council adjourned until April 24th 1889.
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 16th day of April 1889, Alderman J. E. Morrisey offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Jennings;

Resolved, that this council order the construction of a grade and sidewalk on Robert St., from the railroad to the bridge leading to Sampson's Addition and the city engineer is hereby ordered at the expiration of notice required by law to have said grade and walk established, the sidewalk to be five feet four inches in width, and to have handrail where required. The payment of these expenses to be taken from the permanent improvement fund and not to exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars. Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows: Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Walter, Steenerson, Bjoin, Jerome, Marlette, Buhn, Jennings and Watts, Aldermen voting in the negative: none. Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried, by the president of the council.

Passed this 16th day of Apr. 1889.
WM. WATTS, President of the Council.
Approved this 17th day of Apr. 1889.
Attest: JAMES W. LILLY, Mayor.
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 20th day of April, 1889, Alderman Childs offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Lally:

Resolved, That in accordance with the recommendation of the city comptroller, the city treasurer be, and is hereby directed to carry the several sums of money now standing to the credit of the following street funds to the credit of the permanent improvement fund, to-wit:

Main	$218 03
Oak	330 64
Ash	418 40
do	8 25
do	159 84
Front	37 50
Pine	42 15
Sheridan	79 83
Sixth	189 06
Fifth	73 00
Fourth	131 96
Third	53 43
Second	169 61
Fletcher	148 42
Huntar	339 83
Robert	292 77
Elm	223 90
Seventh	324 83
Houston	330 78
Cowing	261 23
	$3915 80

Upon the call of the ayes and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Lally, Childs Morrisey, Steenerson, Watts, Bjoin, Jerome, Marlette, Buhn, Jennings, Walter.

Aldermen voting in the negative, none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 20th day of April, 1889.
WM. WATTS,
President of the council.
Approved this 22d day of April, 1889.
Attest: JAS. W. LILLY, Mayor.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council held the 20th day of April, 1889, Alderman Morrisey offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Childs:

Resolved, That the city Treasurer deliver to the sinking fund committee the amount of bonds and cash in the sinking fund, less the sum of $2,500 needed for use of city for ensuing three months, and also less the sum of $3987.66 now borrowed from said sinking fund, or in all retain the sum of $6487.66, for which balance due the city give a note at 7 per cent. interest running till July 7th, 1889, said note to be signed by mayor and comptroller of the city.

Upon the call of ayes and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative, Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Steenerson, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Marlette, Buhn, Jennings, Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative, none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 20th day of April, 1889.
WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.
Approved this 20th day of April, 1889.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 20th day of April 1889, Ald. Morrisey offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Childs, Resolved, that the sum of $207.52, now in so called specific fund, be, and the same is hereby credited to the bond interest fund, also that the sum of six dollars, now in bridge fund be credited to permanent improvement fund as recommended by city comptroller. Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Steenerson, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Narlette, Buhn, Jennings and Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative; none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 20th day of Apr. 1889.
WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.
Approved this 22d day of Apr. 1889.
Attest: JAMES W. LILLY, Mayor.
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

To the Citizens of Crookston.

You are hereby notified to clean and disinfect all privies and out houses, and remove all manure, slops garbage or other material deleterious to health, from your premises, or premises in your possession before May 1st, 1889. Any one failing to comply with this notice will be prosecuted according to law.

By order of the Board of Heath.
M. VAN DYKE, Health Officer.
Dated Crookston, Minn., Apr. 22d, '89.

Marshall County Leader: F. O. Sustad, the Manitoba land agent at Crookston, met with quite a loss last Saturday. His renter was burning the stubble on his farm in the town of Sinnott, and lost control of the fire which caught in the buildings, burning his stable and granary. One of the buildings was insured for $125 which was much less than its actual value. The loss amounts to several hundred dollars.

LOST.

April 22d, in this city, a Chesapeake Bay puppy, dark brown, about 14 inches high with white strip on breast; had collar on. A suitable reward will be paid for the return of the dog.

A. C. COWING.

NOTICE.

Whereas, my wife, Hannah F. Nelson, has left my bed and board without reasonable cause, I hereby warn all persons not to harbor or trust her on my account, as I shall pay no debts of her contracting after this date.

Dated Rooms, Polk County, Minn., April 12th, 1889.
[52-2] OLE NELSON.

MARRIED.

BOOKER–PINKERTON.—At Ottumwa, Iowa, at the residence of the bride's sister Mrs. Irwin Watson, by Rev. W. H. White, Mr. D. Booker to Miss Emma J. Pinkerton, both formerly of this city.

The happy couple arrived in this city on Tuesday morning where they will visit with friends and relatives before proceeding on their way to Washington Territory and Oregon to make a home for themselves. The bride and groom have many friends here who will unite with THE JOURNAL in best wishes.

LIGHT RUNNING NEW HOME FREE!

EXHIBITION
—OF—
FANCY NEEDLE WORK,
Useful and Ornamental, of especial interest to t
LADIES!!

Do not miss this opportunity to visit o Art Display.

OUR NEW METHOD for EMBROIDERY and NEEDL WORK has met with great success in differe arts of the United States where it has be xhibited.

No labor or expense has been spared to ma his the largest, most complete and attracti ollection of HOUSEHOLD DRAPERIES s afore on exhibition.

ADMISSION FREE! LESSONS FREE! EXIT FREE!

Be sure and come. Remember, the fine displ f Fancy Work will remain only during date a place named below.

Corner Broadway and Robert Street, under Francis' Photograph Gallery, Friday, Saturday and Monday, April 26th, 27th and 29th.

HOLMBOE & LARSON,
Agents.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Meat Inspectors' Training School.

Inasmuch as the bill known as the Meat Inspection Bill has become a law of the state, N. W. McLain, the director of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, has issued the following circular:

In view of the urgent and immediate demand from all part of the state for the service of persons qualified to fil the office of Inspector, the duties of which are prescribed in the Meat Inspection Bill, the Board of Regents of the State University have instructed me to open a Training school for Meat Inspectors, at the State Agricultural Experiment Station at St. Anthony Park. This Training school will open Tuesday, April 30, at 10 o'clock a. m., and will close on Saturday, May 11. This special course will consist of primary instruction in the anatomy and physiology of domestic animals, and will embrace those sections in veterinary science which will be of practical value to the sanitary veterinarian.

The training school will be conducted by Dr. Olaf Schwartskopf, V. M. D., Professor of Veterinary Science in the State Agricultural Experiment Station. Dr. Schwartzkopf was for some years sanitary veterinarian in charge of the municipal slaughter houses in Berlin, Germany. The proprietors of the slaughter houses in Minneapolis and St. Paul have kindly consented to permit the doctor to accompany his class through the pens and houses, and the lectures and instructions will be illustrated in practical operation daily. Certificates will be given to those who attend the full course and pass a satisfactory examination. The course of instruction will be free to all who choose to avail themselves of it.

N. W. McLain,
Director Minn. State Agl. Ex. Station,
St. Anthony Park, Minn.

The Duluth & Winnipeg.

Duluth News.

The house of representatives has proven itself faithful to the interests of the state in the matter of the Duluth & Winnipeg. If it could not convince the senate that an extension should be granted, it could at least block the unfriendly schemes of the upper house and defeat its strangely antagonistic measures. And this it has done. The vote of the house to waive the forfeiture of the land grant, shows most clearly how thoroughly the people of the state at large are convinced of the justice of the Duluth & Winnipeg claim. If nothing has been accomplished by the present session of the legislature but to bring this question before the people of the state, it has done much for the D. & W. while all adverse legislation has been defeated and its projectors utterly routed.

The News some days ago predicted this action of the house, and said that the Duluth & Winnipeg would come out as least in as good form as it went into the contest. It has done more. It has aroused the sympathetic interest of the people of the state, and the company's interests are safer than they were before, and its members will feel renewed assurance that the state will honor its promises made in the past, and the company awarded its full amount of land.

Binding Twine Trust.

Northfield News: Speaking of the binding twine monopoly the Waseca Radical thus discourses: The Western Rural says hundreds of farmers have already expressed themselves as being pledged to not use a pound of twine—putting their grain up loose. It may seem strange to farmers in this vicinity, the stacking of grain loose, but that veteran farmer of Wisconsin, Hiram Smith, has been advocating for a long time the great saving in harvesting grain without binding. He goes on to show there is a very material saving in doing so. If something of this kind could be done quite generally by farmers it would soon bring the trust to limerick. And that is all that can be done, if the trust not only has all the manufactories, but all the ready material for making twine, thus controlling the entire field.

To Close Them Out.

I will dispose of coffins and caskets at very low prices until all are sold.

Swan Hovik.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

FOR SALE.

A Seeder and a Tiger grain drill.
Address, M. E. Bartlett,
Fairfax, Minn.

C. O. D. GRAND SALE.

Owing to the recent fire we offer our entire stock of Clothing at greatly reduced prices. Everything goes. Call and see. C. O. D.

Seaside Library, (original edition) 10 and 20 cents. Copies for sale at half price. A full line on hand of Lovell's and Seaside Library, pocket edition, school books, stationery, blank books, fancy goods. Cheapest line of albums in the city

L. Waldeland,
[22-tf] Robert street.

FOR SALE.

Three good work horses ready for spring's work and a pair of well matched two-year-old colts. Will be sold at a bargain for cash or on time to suit the purchaser on good paper. For particulars see M. E. Bartlett, section 9, Fairfax or call at The Journal office.

FOR SALE.

A full-blood Jersey bull calf 10 months old. Address M. E. Bartlett, Section Fairfax. P. O., address Crookston.

NOTICE.

City Clerk's Office,
Crookston, Apr. 22d, 1889.

Sealed bids will be received by the city council for the city printing for the ensuing year, bids will be received until May 14th, 1889, the council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the council,
John Paterson, Clerk.

SEED WHEAT.

I have some choice seed wheat for sale cheap, on time till fall. Call at Huggard, Larson & Co's.

[48-tf] D. Huggard.

SEED WHEAT.

I have some three thousand bushels of No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife wheat at my place which I will offer for sale for seed at one dollar per bushel. It is a choice lot. Call and examine it.

[48-tf] Ole Hovik.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

Licensed College Physician and Surgeon, Quebec.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—

Crookston, - - - Minn.

A. F. LAPLANT.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

PLASTERING

Done Order. All Work Warranted

CROOKSTON, MINN.

W. A. ROBERTSON.

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the Northwest.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. Brown.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

(FORMERLY BOX HOUSE.)

One-half Block from Depot.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom specially invited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

Sands Bro's, Main Street.

—THE ONLY—

Vesitbuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free. The only line to the

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
11:10 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
12:22 a. m.	Little Falls	3:00 "
1:10 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
4:05 p. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
4:05 "	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
6:40 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
9:30 "	Red Lake Falls	6:54 "
11:25 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
1:14 p. m.	Grafton	2:24 "
8:00 "	Pembin	12:33 "
6:00 "	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scandia-American

BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Eriesson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson,	St. Paul.

Gleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

Rudy Burkhardt.

FOUE NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

South Dakota.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana, the Golden.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundanse; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts! immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

Clifton Hotel

John B. Baker, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN.
[52-tf]

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN. - - - MINN

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to E. A. Wilkinson.)

Fousset Block
Room 5 Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon,
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on [illegible] Addition.

Crookston, - - - Minn.

FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

WORTH OF CLOTHING

AND

BOOTS AND SHOES

TO BE CLOSED OUT

WITHIN THE NEXT 90 DAYS.

C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MAY 2, 1889. NO. 2.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch.....	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch.....	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches...	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches...	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches...	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches...	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column..	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.

3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.

4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS. - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security.

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, S. F. Markham, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY.

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Minn

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising

STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods.

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET. - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Order for Hearing Proof of Foreign Will.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, special term. In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing purporting to be an authenticated copy of the last will and testament of Byron Culver, deceased, late of Cedar Falls, in the County of Black Hawk, and State of Iowa, has been delivered to this court. And whereas, James H. Wilson, of Cedar Falls, in said Black Hawk County, has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Byron Culver died in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of September, 1888, testate, that said last will and testament of said deceased was on the 8th day of November, 1888, duly admitted to probate in and by the District Court of said Black Hawk County, and that said petitioner is the Executor of said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters of administration with the will annexed be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate office in Crookston, in said county, on the 14th day of May, 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 15th day of April, 1889.

By the Court:

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

[52-3]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 28th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by Clement A. Brown and J. F. Brown, her husband, of the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to the Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of April, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded as a mortgage in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 29th day of April, 1887, at 1:40 o'clock p. m., in book 30 of mortgages, on pages 441 to 445 inclusive. And the said default having continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof, and that by reason of said default and declaration aforesaid there is claimed to be due, and is due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of sixteen hundred forty and 60-100 (1640.60) dollars, and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise have been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: Lots three (3) and four (4) of Section four (4), and lot one (1) of section five (5) all in township one hundred and forty-seven (147) Range forty-four (44), and the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼ of the sw¼) of Section thirty-three, (33) in Township one hundred and forty-eight, (148) Range forty-four, (44) containing in all one hundred and fifty-six (156) acres more or less according to the United States government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fees stipulated in said mortgage, to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of the County of Polk in the State of Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 13th day of May, A. D. 1889, at the hour of two o'clock p. m., subject to redemption at any time within one year in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, March 15th, A. D. 1889.

THE NETHERLANDS AMERICAN LAND COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

W. B. DOUGLAS AND BALL & SMITH,
[49-8] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., April 2d, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on June 17, 1889, viz: GEORGE JONES, H'd 8008, for the w½ ne¼ and w½ se¼ Sec. 19, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Rhesa Godfrey, Cyrus Morris, John Forsythe and D. T. Mitchell, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[51-4] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

SLUGGED A SCRIBE.

C. C. Brown, the Duluth Editor, Hammered by a Creditor.

The Proceeding has the Effect of Fetching a Partial Payment.

Special to the Globe.

DULUTH, Minn., April 24.—C. C. Brown, the well known newspaper reporter, railroad man and inventor, was this evening serenely getting coppy on the hook for to-morrow's issue of the Herald, when M. O. Hall, cashier of the State bank and a prominent politician recently removed from Granite Falls, came into the office and asked Brown to let him have $20 on a $40 note which Brown had been owing for some time. Brown refused, whereupon Hall sent his big fist twice in succession against Brown's forehead, leaving some ugly marks. A clinch followed, and both fell to the floor, Brown underneath. Hall repeated his demand, whereupon Brown at once complied, giving him an order on the Herald. Brown has obtained a warrant for the arrest of his assailant. Hall states that he has been greatly exasperated by the way in which Brown has treated him. The latter was in Philadelphia trying to get $100,000 on an alleged car-truck patent, and became penniless. He telegraphed to Hall, with whom he had never had any dealings, and the latter at once telegraphed him the necessary money to get home. Since then, Hall alleges that Brown has avoided in every possible way the payment of the money. For thirty days in succession Hall says he has sent one of his clerks to Brown, but the latter wouldn't pay. Brown promises to make it warm for Hall by telegraphing it to every paper on his list.

Turkey-Raising.

Mr. Thomas D. Baird gives his experience in raising turkeys, in a letter to the National Stockman and Farmer, from which we extract as follows:

For a long time writers repelled me from the attempt to raise turkeys, by representing that success involved great care. The young must have cooked eggs, milk and many other delicate foods; they are very tender and must be kept confined for the first three or four weeks, and after all this labor and cost many of them are lost, which makes the profits quite slim, if there be any at all; at least it takes such prices as are named to make it profitable. But in the spring of 1887, concluding to try my luck, I purchased some graded Bronze turkey eggs and hatched out a small gang. I kept them up of mornings until the dew was dried off, then they were turned out. I fed them a few days on corn meal dough, then wheat screenings only until they were grown, and I did not lose one.

Last spring I set the eggs under turkey hens. They came off with a nice brood. I paid no attention to them but let the hens take entire charge. I never fed them, and not one of them drooped or died. Their cost was but little. They run to my wheat field some, but I find insects are their chief food. I rounded them up with corn a few weeks before selling them by feeding them twice a day. My turkeys were larger than any others in market. They are very gentle, and come around the yard every day.

When one is limited as to range, they may require more care. They are very fond of cabbage, and when raised in close quarters I would feed cabbage to them daily. But when they can have the range of the farm I do not think they need to be fed. I think it best to hatch out rather late than early. This is my experience, and I expect to raise the same way this year. I find that my turkeys at five cents a pound, live weight, are much more profitable than pork at five cents per pound.

The Truth as an Old and Experienced Dairyman Sees It.

Editorial Correspondence Hoard's Dairyman.

MADISON, Wis., March 16:—There has been so much talking and writing on the art of profitable dairying that thousands of dairy farmers, who have gone along for years, thinking that they did not need to know much to run a dairy, are crying out, "Men and brethren what shall we do to be saved?" Maybe the sharp words and earnest entreaties of Hoard's Dairyman in some stray sample copy number, has let daylight into their minds, upset their silly conceit that they "know it all," and has shown them that they are floundering along a mile and a half from the highway of true dairy practice, where well-posted men are traveling. It would be the best thing in the world if these rock-rooted starvation dairymen, could once see themselves as others see them; could see how poorly they practice, and that their poverty stricken results are the legitimate wages of downright ignorance of dairy principles. The mischief is, such people really think they are as wise as other folks; that they have as good cows and make as much money from them as anybody. It is rarely that the Dairyman, or any other live paper reaches such people. But to the earnest souls, who have made up their minds to mend, the life wisdom of such a man as Hiram Smith is always welcome.

In his excellent address before the late meeting of the Wisconsin Dairyman's association, he gives us a clear view of the solid principles which he tied to years ago, and which have brought him such rich results. Here is the first:

"The successful dairyman must have rich land which should constantly grow richer. This can be, and is, done most cheaply by feeding liberally to his cows nitrogenous feed mixed with the cheaper productions of the farm. The odors of the stable should be absorbed daily, by the use of land plaster, dry muck, or dust from the road, and all the manure taken from the stable daily and spread upon the land."

How many of the readers of the Dairyman really believe and practice the foregoing sound principles. What does he mean by "feeding liberally of nitrogenous feed?" Simply this: Sell part of your corn, which is a carbonaceous food and buy bran, oil meal, or cottonseed meal, or grow peas, so as to balance up your daily ration. Learn that there is a principle involved.

Dairy feeding is not mere luck. It means sense and understanding, the same as feeding a threshing machine. You must not do such work with your eyes shut.

When he tells you to use land plaster in your stables to absorb the ammonia, thereby doubling the value of the manure, and besides, to spread that manure every day, as fast as made, he is telling you of something that has made him rich.

Here is another chunk of real wisdom:

"The crops grown should be such as produce the greatest number of day's rations per acre. Experience has proved that fodder corn of some Southern variety is the best, the kernels planted some ten or twelve inches apart in the rows three feet six inches apart, and cultivated every week until the corn is too large to work with a cultivator, which should never work more than two inches deep. This corn should be cut as soon as the corn matures to roasting ears, and cut into a silo, and fed at any time at the rate of 40 pounds per day, with bran, oil meal or oatmeal—whichever is the cheapest. Another feed of clover hay, barley or oat straw, mixed, about ten pounds each day per cow, with four to six pounds of nitrogenous feed mixed with it, making two feeds per day only."

How many of all the thousands that are blaming everybody and everything—but themselves—for their lack of success, adhere to the principles and practice as laid down in the above paragraph? We will guarantee that not one does it. If they did it they would not grumble. Mr. Smith does it and makes money by it. But then, what is that to them? They will never see Mr. Smith nor his farm, nor his bank account, and they will never know anything about it, because they avoid all such reading as much as possible. So far as Mr. Smith, or his example, doing them any good, they might as well live in Africa or Siberia.

Here is another chunk;

"That kind of cows should be selected, or raised, that will produce the highest per cent. of solids in milk for the amount of feed they consume."

How many of the average dairy farmers who select or raise cows that average only 3,000 pounds of milk a year and produce only 125 pounds of butter, believe the solid everlasting truth of that paragraph? Not one. Mr. Smith believes it; has practiced it for years, and it has made him rich. The average dairyman, with his kind of cows, don't believe it, and so continues to affectionately nurse that mortgage on his farm. Any such man can see at a glance that he is right and that Mr. Smith is wrong.

Here is another that tells the story of winter dairying.

"The larger number of cows should come in fresh in the fall, so that the largest flow of milk will be produced when dairy products are uniformly the highest in price."

Here is a chunk that folks can take to measure by, who devote three acres of pasture and two acres of meadow, all high-priced land, for the support of a cow that only yields 3,000 pounds of milk a year.

"As it has been repeatedly demonstrated that one acre of fodder corn or clover, nearly matured, will produce as much cow feed as three acres of pasture, therefore soiling should always be practiced on tillable land."

Here is a paragraph that we commend to those who are always thinking that the price they get, and not the cost of the article, is the true measure of profit.

"Success in dairying does not so much depend on the high prices of butter and cheese as it does on cheapening the production of feed. A rich soil ordinarily produces large crops; large crops provide for an increased number of cows. An increased number of well kept cows furnish the means to buy the nitrogenous feed to mix with the cheap food produced on the farm, and thereby make it profitable. It might as well be admitted now that no man is smart enough to make money keeping a summer dairy on pasture grass alone in summer and mostly on meadow hay in winter. These methods belong to a past age and cheap land; and are slowly passing away, and the new and improved system of dairying taking its place, substituting intelligence in place of ignorance, profit in place of loss."

At the close the "Old Man Eloquent" of all Wisconsin dairymen, sums up the true gospel of dairy practice as follows:

"The combinations essential to successful dairying will consist in enriching the soil with nitrogenous food through the cow, and the manure taken from the stable daily and spread upon the plowed land, instead of piling it in the yard to remain until the next autumn, and then plowed under eight inches deep to wait until the Resurrection for any returns. Also to change the combination of cow feed from expensive pasture grass, meadow hay and carbonaceous corn meal, to cheaper soiling, silage and nitrogenous bran, oil or oatmeal, and by so doing make it possible to extend the milking season from eight months to eleven months of the year. Also to change the practice of producing the greatest flow of milk when it sells for 50 to 60 cents per 100 pounds to such time as it sells for $1.30 to $1.60 per 100 lbs., with no increased cost of production. Also in spewing out the antiquated notion that any beef cow is a dairy cow any more than the dump cart makes the best sulky, because you can use it on the race-track one day and haul manure in it the next. Also exchanging the cold stable, ice water, and a hunt in the frozen corn fields for the noon meal, to a warm stable, warm water, remaining most of the time in the barn, to chew the cud of comfort. The modern improvements in dairy farming, stated above is no untried theory, but has been worked out in practice by hundreds of living witnesses that have come up through great tribulations, from the old methods, into the successful practice of the new."

We wish we could reach the average dairyman with these words of wisdom, wrought out of hard experience. Let every one who reads the foregoing tell it to his neighbor. Let every man lay it down that these are the solid principles of successful dairying.

SINCLAIR GARDENS,
LONDON, W.,
April 29th, 1889.

EDITOR POLK COUNTY JOURNAL;

DEAR SIR:—Knowing the interest you take in the general welfare and progress of your agricultural population, I take the liberty through your valuable paper to call the attention of your readers to an organization being arranged with a view to secure as nearly as possible direct relations between growers on your side and consumers on this. To effect this its proposed to establish the necessary connecting links by lake route, such as

1. Country receiving houses.
2. Elevator accommodation at Duluth or West Superior.
3. Storage at Buffalo.

Negotiations are in an advanced stage for the two latter. It now remains for independent houses at country points to signify their approval and accord their support. The Inter-State Commerce act, lately promulgated, with its stringent amendments, together with the Street bill, recently passed by the Dakota House, appear amply able to crush the monopolies which have hitherto paralyzed the energies of your district.

These acts will naturally increase the importance of transport by lake route, the only proper outlet to eastern markets for your produce, any divergence from which legitimate channel can only be brought about at the expense of the growers, on whom it is evident all uselessly increased cost of distribution must fall. Direct handling will also do away with the inducement to tamper with quality, which has so greatly interfered on our marts with the reputation so justly due to your grand wheat.

It will also allow of considerable modification in the vicious system of dockage now existing. Placing myself at your own and your readers disposal to receive any suggestions or give further information, and thanking you for your appreciated support, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
GAUTIER DE ST. CROIX.

Steenerson & McManus,

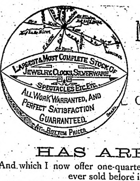
LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!



By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

Opposite Merchants' Nat'l Bank.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

☞ WE ARE AGAIN ON DECK ☜

WITH A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

FARM MACHINERY.

And are ready to Setve the Tillers of the Soil at a moment's notice.

WE HAVE A SPECIALTY TO OFFER IN THE

Dowagiac Shoe Drill.

This Drill reigns supreme as KING OF THE FIELD, and stands forth unrivaled as the most perfect Seed Planter extant. It will save to the farmer enough seed to pay for it the first season, besides doing the most complete work, and finishing as it goes. No wide-awake farmer can afford to be withou one. Guaranteed to work in any ground in which an ordinary hoe seeder will work.

☞ We can refer with pleasure to some of the progressive farmers in this vicinity who used them last year.

Sole Agents for the Dowigiac Drill.

McKinnon Bros., MAIN STREET, CROOKSTON, MINN.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W. Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices.

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.,
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 2, 1889.

'Round Home.

1 hard wheat 77.

W. W. Wood was down from Warren on Saturday.

J. L. Bailey lost a quantity of hay from prairie fire last week.

Always in the lead—Herb—for summer drink try Mountain Pink.

The offertory in Christ church on Easter Sunday amounted to $200.

C. W. Culbertson, a prominent citizen of Argyle, was in the city last Saturday

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Arnie Hill has opened a music and confectionery store in the Jacobus building, corner of Broadway and Robert Sreet.

M. G. Peterson was up from Garden last week. His health is very much improved since last winter and he has been able to attend to his spring's work.

Geo. Schoenamann, a Minnesota typo arrived on Thursday from an extended trip west as far as the coast and stopped off to visit his sister, Mrs. Wm. Dawley.

As appears elsewhere the election on the bond question was called for May 17th. So far no opposition has developed and probably the bonds will be voted.

Writing to renew his subscription Thos. Olafson, of Duluth, assures THE JOURNAL of his continued good health. We learn that Tom is doing a good business and coining wealth.

Too soon for summer drinks Oh, no! Herb says some'r drinking "Mountain Pink" "Mexican Sherbet" and "Dr. Bowker's celebrated Birch Beer." Try em. Found only at Herb's.

M. O. Malone's new residence on Jerome's Addition begins to loom up conspicuously. A. J. Arnold and Al. Jones are the master workmen who are making of it "a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

John Towey while coupling cars one day last week had the fingers on his right hand affectionately squeezed. Dr. Dampier patched them up and he will be all right in a few days but it was a wonderful close call for the band.

On Friday last a prairie fire consumed what was left of the buildings on the Dr. Evans place southwest of the city, a house, barn and granary. The wind was fearfully high at the time and nothing could be done to save them.

At the annual parish meeting of Christ church, on Easter Monday, the following officers were elected: Wardens—Roderick Smith and A. G. Gallasch. Vestrymen—C. L. Dyer, John Cromb, Joe Laurence, W. H. Barrie, W. J. Wyatt, W. R. Sweatt, D. D. Williams and Dr. Henault. Mr. Williams was appointed Treasurer and W. R. Sweatt, Secretary. Messrs. McManus and Gallasch were elected delegates to the diocesan council, which meets in Faribault on June 12th. A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring wardens and vestrymen for their noble efforts during the past year; also to Miss Brown, who so kindly played the organ free of charge, and to the choir for their able assistance in making the services both attactive and profitable, and to to the Ladies' Aid and to the Rector for their kind efforts in the interest of the church.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

Hon. Geo. R. Roberts passed through the city on route for home last week. Mr. Roberts has been a faithful, upright representative of the interests of the people of his district. He has been guided by their wishes in all matters, realizing that he was there to represent the will of the people, and not as a judge to decide what was best for them, without regard to what they might think in the matter. By an honest, straightforward course he has earned the good opinion of all, and he is welcomed back to his home with a "well done good and faithful servant," from the hearts of an appreciative constituency. No doubt but that he has been tempted oft to betray the sacred interests of the people for gold, or for some consideration beneficial to himself alone, but he has proved to be incorruptible, and now he can walk the streets among his fellows with the consciousness of every duty faithfully discharged, that he has done all he could to obey the wishes of his constituents,—the proud consciousness of an honest, upright man, worth more than millions corruptly obtained. No man can point the finger of scorn at him and say: "You have wronged me out of many a hard earned dollar by working to defeat the building of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad," for Mr. Roberts labored hard and earnestly for that road, and he carried his branch of the Legislature with him. He can now walk uprightly with the people of his district because he has been faithful to their interests; in every little local measure they desired they did not have to send from one to a dozen men to St. Paul all winter at an aggregate expense of more than his wages, and then be obliged through the efforts of the Sergeant-at-arms to pass the measure over his head while he sat like a flatulent bump on a log, powerless to prevent it. He did not presume to be the personified essence of wisdom, that he knew more about the needs of his district than any man and every man in it, and he did not promise his constituents faithfully to pass a certain measure and then plan and scheme how to defeat their wishes. He did not pair with a fellow representative on any committee meeting and then treacherously violate his sacred word of honor by appearing at that meeting. Oh, no! George R. Roberts was not that kind of a representative of the people, but by his course he has earned and enjoys their highest regard and confidence, which is worth more to an honest man than millions of money corruptly obtained. When again it becomes necessary to choose a representative the people, Marshall County will know where to find an honest man, and they will miss it if they do not send him to represent them in the senate.

See F. E. Hertz & Co's wall-paper.

R. A. Wilkinson was in to attend the celebration on Tuesday.

Geo. Riley, one of the good boys of Fisher was in the city on Saturday.

The new band leader is a dandy. If the city does not support this band we do not deserve one.

J. D. Knudson was down from McIntosh to attend the assessors meeting on Saturday.

There will be a meeting of the American lodge of the I. O. G. T. at the Scandinavian hall on Thursday evening May 2d at 8 o'clock, for the installation of officers. Let all members be present.

S. M. Hoff, formerly of St. Hilaire was in the city on Monday enroute to Milnor, D. T., where he is engaged in the hardware business. He purchased his brother's business while in St. Hilaire and will still continue to be interested in Polk County matters.

When John Hunter returned from St. Paul last week he wore a smile a mile wide all because he had completed arrangments with the Manitoba road to make a test trial of the utility of his patent switch. John is sanguine that he has a bonanza and his friends hope he has.

Very high winds prevailed for a few days last week and much damage was feared but no reports of serious damage have reached us. As very much of the grain was sowed with drills this year there is not so much danger as would have been the case with broadcast sowing.

A. C. Wilkinson returned on Monday morning from a brief vacation mid the trout streams near the old home at New Lisbon, Wis., bringing along a string of 76 fine speckled beauties to show as an evidence of his skill. He says he had a splendid time and returns refreshed to his duties.

Ladies do not fail to call and see the lovely new spring millinery goods at Mrs. I. U. Jennings.

Wm. Box Jr., and F. E. Whitney, of Warren, have started for the Rosseau country with a drove of 300 cattle, the nucleus for a cattle ranch which they intend to start in that country. The boys have high hopes for the future which we hope they will see amply realized.

T. K. Torgerson was around on Saturday looking up the internal revenue business. He reports business in his district fair. Says that M. S. Converse, of Detroit is likely to succeed him. No better selection could be made in our judgment and we hold up both hands in approval.

The G. A. R. Post will endeavor to observe Memorial Day in proper form. If our citizens will give it sufficient encouragment the Post will invite neighboring Posts and make the event worthy the day. A committee will visit our leading business men shortly and should receive proper encouragement to proceed.

E. W. Wile, A. C. Schmidt, H. F. Brown, August Wentzel, Wm. Heidrick and others went over to Grand Forks to attend the Seventieth Anniversary of the Odd Fellows. A grand banquet followed by a literary feast was highly enjoyed by the brethren and others in attendance, and Crookston was selected as the place of meeting next year.

We dropped in to see friend Fulton at the creamery on Monday. We found him just winding up a busy day's work. Everything as neat as wax and as slick as a whistle. One hundred and fifty pounds of choice butter was the result of Monday's work. There are cows enough tributary to this creamery to run the institution to its fullest capacity and if people appreciated the benefits it might confer it would be done.

Lena Hildebrunner a domestic in Max Ereson's family was on Tuesday adjudged insane. Mrs. Wm. Stuart thought she could take care of the poor girl but during the evening was obliged to call for help as the girl was too violent. Sheriff Paulsrud chanced to be near, who, when he saw how matters were, detailed two men to care for the girl until arrangments could be made to take her to St. Peter.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

News was received on Friday of the death of I. M. Underhill at Asheville, N. C. Mr. Underhill was formerly a resident of this city where for several years he practiced law. On July 18th 1883 he was united in marriage to Miss Cora Belle, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. U. Jennings, who with a young son survives him. Mr. Underhill had many friends in this city who will regret to hear the sad news and sympathize with the mourning relatives.

Prof. Thos. Casey was in from Fisher on Saturday shaking hands and smiling with his hosts of friends in the city. Tom calls THE JOURNAL to order for addressing his copy "T. B." Says he is no millionaire as that might imply, but just T., (simply everyday ordinary plain tea with no ruffles.) Well, "B." that as it may we insist that he is just as fine a gentleman as though he was rolling in wealth; no larger heart beats neath yest in the county, nor is there a better teacher than that same Tom.

Try Herb's Mexican Sherbet and you will want no other.

Many of our exchanges opposed to the new inspection law urge as one objection to it, that no farmer can slaughter meat for his own use without first having it inspected. We cannot see where they get that idea as the law neither says nor implies as much. Section 3 is probably their authority, but that does not make it a misdemeanor for any person to slaughter animals for their own use nor provide a penalty, but section 4 makes it a misdemeanor for any person to offer meats for sale that has not been inspected and provides a penalty. If the law intended that a man could not kill meat for his own use it would no doubt so specified and that would certainly have killed the bill. The point aimed to be covered was simply to prevent the sale of diseased meat on the market, and that point is plainly set forth and the penalty prescribed. Under the law a man has an undoubted right to eat all the diseased meat he is a mind to but he generally has no mind to. He prefers to sell that kind of meat and that is just what he can't do under this law.

Sampson's "White Caps."

Norman County Index.

Our subscribers have already read the notice recently sent to Senator Sampson, which read:

HON. SENATOR SAMPSON. Dear Sir: You are hereby notified to pass the bill to bond the city of Crookston, or we will make it hot for you when you return to Crookston. Take warning in time.

By order of, WHITE CAPS.

The senator preserved the notice and has had it photographed cabinet size. He has sent us one of them with the following letter:

D. C. LIGHTBURN: I send you a photograph copied from the White Caps' letter, which is a great honor to the city of Crookston. This is what a man receives for not passing bills as a railroad corporation at Crookston wants it; for objecting to give mortgage on every man's property and give away the land that belongs to the state. Let the railroad companies build their own roads, as the farmers have to build their own houses. But they are not satisfied with justice. I have attended to the legislature as a man ought to do if he should be true to his constituents.

Yours truly, B. SAMPSON.

To say nothing of the grammatical construction of Sampson's letter, (which betrays intelligence of a truly wonderful order) we deem it but justice to the city to call attention to a few points in the case. As to this letter, the city of Crookston does not endorse it—never did. It was written by a lad about 15 years of age who thought it immensely cunning at the time, but who, we are told, has since changed his mind and is heartily ashamed of his hasty action, and it hardly becomes the dignity of a great and noble statesman to go to the expense of photographing a boy's Hallow'een joke, scatter it broadcast over the district, conveying the impression that the city is responsible for the letter. That Mr. Sampson's position is quite uncomfortable seems quite likely, but if so, he has no one but himself to blame, for he could have done his duty by his constituents if he had chosen. He well enough knew that his duty was to attend to the wishes of the people; he knew that THE PEOPLE of Crookston desired that bonding bill to pass; he met the leading business men of the city and promised unconditionally to pass their bill; now he admits that he did not mean to pass it because he would not pass "bills as railroad corporations at Crookston wants it!" that the people white capped him. He does not say what a man receives for passing "bills as a railroad company at St. Paul wants it," which detracts from the interest of the situation very materially. This would enable one to grasp the situation in a clearer light, but was probably an oversight on the part of the Hon. B. "But they are not satisfied with justice!" The reader is somewhat in doubt there as to which one of the combinations is referred to there, whether the "R. R. Co.," "the people" or the "farmers," or whether the white cap letter is referred to as an act of justice and the people are not satisfied with that. If he refers to the last clause he considers that his district deserved the punishment his course inflicted. Well, there are those here who have hinted that the party deserved punishment and that Sampson's course was but justice to those who put him there, but we don't think Sampson means to acknowledge the corn. He seems in a vague sort of a manner to hint that Crookston don't need another railroad and that he tried his best to prevent the passage of the bill to secure it; that this country don't need the Duluth & Winnipeg road and he fought that. Almost to a man Crookston desired the passage of the bill in order to get another railroad. The Manitoba railroad does not desire a new road into Crookston. The building of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad would afford a short, direct road to the head of navigation. The interests of this country suffer materially for this road and the people all earnestly desire it, and have earnestly urged Sampson to support it. The Manitoba road has persistently fought the D. & W. from its inception to the present day. Our people did manage to pass their bill but Sampson did not do it. The D. & W. interests opposed by the Manitoba road were downed in the senate and we believe that if Mr. S. had stood by the people in that fight the road would have got its extension all right and the building insured. His excuse that "he did not want to rob the state" "nor the public schools" is the tune the Manitoba road sang exactly. We all know that was not the true object of the Manitoba road. What Sampson's true object was we don't know. We know it was not concern for the state and the schools for the simple fact is that if the D. & W.'s claims had been knocked out the lands did not go to the state nor schools but to the Brainerd & Northwestern railroad which is the Manitoba road. If we could conceive that Mr. S. was the most brilliant statesmen living or that he is the smartest man in this district then his statement that he has done his duty by this people might have some weight, for he has acted against their advice and wishes in both cases.

The Centennial Anniversary.

Crookston observed the 100th inaugural anniversary appropriately. Morning services at the churches were followed by a parade in the afternoon. Forming at two on Broadway, led by a platoon of the police commanded by Chief Hayes, followed by the Crookston cornet band and the fire department the procession marched for the school house. At G. A. R. hall Col. Cobham Post marched out and fell in next the department. Arrived at the Central school building 600 or 700 of the school children fell in, each school headed by its teacher. The procession then marched south on Ash to Fetcher up Fletcher to Broadway, up Broadway to Robert, west on Robert to Main, north on Main to Third and east on Third to the Central school building where the speaking was to occur. When the assembled thousands had became in a measure quiet speeches were listened to from R. J. Montague, H. Steenerson, Prof. Moore and J. G. McGrew, interspersed by music from the band and singing by the Crookston glee club. The streets were well filled all day by a happy crowd all bound to have a good time. The firemens ball in the evening was declared to be decidedly the event of the season highly enjoyed by all in attendance.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Crookston Chronicle:—"Since the editor of THE JOURNAL justifies the bosses in refusing to pay our bill for campaign work done at their request, we call upon him to show where he paid out one dollar of the $750, which came into his hands as a member of the state central committee, except $250 which the committee ordered him to turn over to John Cromb or to return it to them. Will he please show up?"

We presume that the public is getting heartily disgusted with this wrangle but since Mr. McGrew has seen fit to call our honor and integrity into question we deem it but an act of simple justice to ourself to place it in the right light before them. We do not and have not attempted to justify "the bosses in refusing to pay for campaign work done at their request" and McGrew knows it. He has claimed all the time that McGuire ordered the stuff that now he says was done "at their request." If McGuire did order the work why don't you quit the baby act and sue him? He is good for all he ordered. Will we account for $750 received from the state central committee? No sir we will not account for what we never had, but we will and do demand, Mr. McGrew, that you prove your insinuation, (for we presume you will try to crawl out again by calling it "simply" something else,) or stand convicted of being a base maligner and a liar, and you may figure in the $250 you mention for we were never ordered by the committee nor any other man to turn it over to John Cromb as you so positively assert that we was. You are just as correct in the one assertion as the other both being absolutely false.

F. E. LePage took possession of the St. Louis hotel on Wednesday morning, May 1st. A number of our citizens sat down to a royal feast at dinner to which ample justice was done. All proclaim LePage a jolly good host and wish him the good luck he amply deserves.

Turkeys Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

Attention, Comrades!

Are you going to attend the National Encampment at Milwaukee? If not why not? That city will spare no pains in providing an entertainment for the boys that will be well worth seeing. The naval battle alone will be a feature well worth the expense of the trip. Our Q. M. has promised to send the names of the members of Col. Cobham Post to the office of The Official Bulletin at Milwaukee and a copy of that paper will be sent each comrade whose name is sent, until after the encampment. It will post you up about the arrangments. See that your name has been sent.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

Another Comrade Gone.

Col. Geo. H. Johnston, the founder of Detroit, Becker County, died suddenly at his home in Minneapolis on Friday last of heart disease. He had been ailing during the past winter and his son-in-law, O. M. Holmes, of the Red Lake Falls Gazette was with him much of the time during his severest sickness. He was, however supposed to be out of danger and recovering. He was a native of the old Bay State serving during the war in a Massachusetts regiment. In '72 he founded Detroit on the Northern Pacific Railroad, and lived there until '80 or '81. He was a prominent politician and well known in the state. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn the loss of a kind husband and an indulgent father. He was nearly 65 years old and, last fall when in this city appeared good for many a year yet.

Our Own Paper-Hanger.

F. E. Hertz & Co., announce that they have secured the services of a first-class paper hanger and can furnish paper on the wall for the same price as is usually charged for the hanging. Good work or no pay guaranteed. Give us a trial order and be convinced. Call and see our neat new styles and get our prices.

Suicide.

We learn from the Fertile Journal that Jacob Peterson, of Twin Valley, committed suicide by shooting himself Monday evening, April 22d. At ten minutes after nine, Monday evening, a shot was heard in the hall of the Commercial Hotel, and on rushing to the spot the horrified spectators saw the unfortunate man reel and fall, with a bullet hole in his breast, dying almost instantly. Peterson was a hard drinker, and of late financial embarrassment and unhappy domestic relations had all tended to lead to this last desperate and fatal act.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

Whitney Baby Carriages.

Those Whitney baby carriges have now arrived—the second large invoice of the season. The rapid sales of these carriages prove how they are appreciated. Try the Whitney,

NOTICE.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE,
CROOKSTON, Apr. 22d, 1889.

Sealed bids will be received by the city council for the city printing for the ensuing year, bids will be received until May 14th, 1889, the council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the council,
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

Mrs. I. U. Jennings colors or reshapes straw hats and bonnets, cleans, curls or colors feathers and tips. [1-2]

NOTICE

Fontaine & Anglim's

BOOTS AND SHOES SHOW WINDOW

THIS WEEK.

Exhibiting a Large Line of Ladies's Fine Shoes at $2.50. Regular price $2.75 and $3.00.

HERE IS A SAMPLE.

THIS WEEK ONLY

2.50

This Ladies' Fine Dongola

Kid Button Boot

Medium weight stock, overlap quarters, fancy top lined, oak sole bottoms, flexible sole, opera toe and heel, well worth your best attention,

We invite the Ladies of Crookston and vicinity to inspect our Large Stock of Ladies' Fine Shoes. Competent and gentlemanly salesmen to wait on all callers.

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

MARRIED.

NESSET—RUDE.—At the residence of Rev. H. Roalkvam, by the same, on Saturday April 27th 1889, Torger H. Nesset to Miss Mary H. Rude, both of Garfield.

We were sitting in our lonely den on Saturday after dinner, trying to extract a bit of consolation from an old back-number cabbage leaf, yclept a cigar, when a tall handsome stranger, dressed in slick broad-cloth and a black moustache came in and seizing us by the hand left a bunch of fragrant havannas therein, and requested us to "smoke hearty." Due inquiry as to the whyness of such an unusual proceeding developed the fact that it was our old friend Nesset, in the role of a new bridegroom. Mr. N. is a prominent young granger of Garfield of which town his charming bride is also a resident. The happy couple took a carriage about 2 o'clock to catch the N. P. train at Burlington. THE JOURNAL wishes them a long and happy life.

HASELTON—ANDERSON.—In this city on Friday April 26th, by G. W. Lewis Esq., Mr. Carl Haselton to Miss Thilda Anderson, all of Polk County, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[63). First publication May 2d 1889.]

BE IT KNOWN, THAT ON THE SIXTH day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, Ferdinand Pepin and Mary Pepin, his wife, of town of Louisville, Polk County, Minnesota, made, executed and delivered unto The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis, one certain mortgage: That said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, on the sixth day of January A. D. 1881, at two o'clock in the afternoon, in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 462, 463, 464: That said mortgage conveyed the hereinafter described premises to secure the payment of four hundred ($400) dollars, in five years from its date, and the interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum, per annum, payable semi-annually: That default has been made in the payment of said principal sum with interest thereon: That there is hereby claimed to be due on said mortgage debt the sum of four hundred and fifty-three and 45-100 ($453.45-100) dollars: That no action, or proceeding, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: That said mortgaged premises are situate in Polk County, Minnesota, and are described as follows, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) range forty-five (45,) containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to government survey.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by reason of said default in the conditions of said mortgage, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said described mortgaged premises, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the fifteenth day of June A. D 1889, at two o'clock in the afternoon, of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 17, A. D. 1889.

THE FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK, of Minneapolis,
Mortgagee.
Edward M. Johnson,
Att'y for Mortgagee. [2-7]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

— OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

W. A. ROBERTSON

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT.

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block. - - Crookston, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot of a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON. - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given, that on Friday, the 17th day of May, 1889, an election will be held in the city of Crookston, in Polk County, Minnesota, for the purpose of deciding whether or not the city of Crookston shall issue to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company the bonds of said city in the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars, in accordance with the requirements of a certain petition, of which petition the following is the substance:

To the Honorable the City Council of the City of Crookston:

We, the undersigned, resident freeholders of the city of Crookston, Minnesota, hereby petition the City Council of said city, to appoint and designate a day for an election to be held in said city, for the purpose of voting upon the question of issuing bonds to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company, upon the proposition of said Company, (a copy of which proposition is hereto annexed and made a part of this petition,) and ask that the question of issuing said bonds may be submitted to the qualified voters of said city.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 18th day of April, A. D. 1889.

The Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company in its corporate capacity, hereby makes to the city of Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said city's corporate capacity as a municipal corporation, the following proposition, to-wit: If said city of Crookston, by an election duly had and held according to law shall, in accordance with a special act of the Legislature of the State of Minnesota, approved April 4th, 1889, entitled "An act to authorize the City of Crookston, in Polk County, to issue bonds to aid in the construction of any Railroad or Railroads which may hereafter run into said city, and to provide for bond commissioners to hold such bonds in escrow, and to deliver the same when earned," shall vote and agree to issue, and shall issue, to aid said corporation in the construction of its railroad tracks the bonds of said city of the par value of Fifty Thousand Dollars, said bonds to draw interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable annually, and to be fifty bonds issued in sums of One Thousand Dollars each, and payable thirty years after date of the issuance thereof; said Railroad Company hereby agrees to build and complete ready for operation by or before November 1st, 1889, a standard gauge Railroad from some point on the line of the Duluth & Manitoba Railroad between the village of Fertile, in Polk County, Minnesota, and the south line of Section 28, in Township one hundred and fifty, Range forty-four, in Polk County, Minnesota; to and into the city of Crookston in said county, and to give to the city of Crookston Railroad facilities for getting to Lake Superior and to St. Paul, Minnesota, otherwise than by any Railroad operated by the same Company now operating Railroads in Crookston. Said bonds to be delivered to said Railroad Company when said Railroad shall be built and ready for operation as above agreed. Said Railroad corporation agrees thereafter to maintain and operate said railroad, or cause the same to be maintained and operated as a part of one continuous Railroad system extending to Lake Superior and to St. Paul, Minnesota, and shall give good train service thereon.

R. J. MONTAGUE, President.
{CORPORATE} E. M WALSH,
{SEAL.} Secretary.

The polling places for said election in the several wards of the city of Crookston shall be as follows:

1st ward—At the City Hall.

2d ward—At the law office of William Watts, on Broadway.

3d ward—At the law office of Steenerson and McManus, on Broadway.

4th ward—At the sample room of the St. Louis Hotel on Ash street.

5th ward—At the Carman Hotel.

The polls will be open in the different wards of the city at 9 o'clock a. m. and will close at 5 o'clock p. m.

By order of the City Council of the city of Crookston.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 1st day of May, 1889.

JOHN PATERSON, City Clerk,
By A. B. GORGAS, Deputy.
WM. WATTS,
President of City Council.
JAS. W. LILLY, Mayor.

ED. POLK COUNTY JOURNAL:

DEAR SIR:—Since making my residence at York, North Dakota, I have been plied with questions on every hand. Perhaps it would be easier to answer all at once through your columns. In the first place I chose to settle at York because I like the country roundabout that point better than elsewhere. The soil is splendid, the country rolling and well watered. Just what is needed to make farming pleasant and profitable. Such a locality, with such soil, cannot remain long uncultivated. Just at present there seems to be a craze for the Pacific coast, but the people are getting their fill of Washington and Oregon's pine stumps and sandy valleys, with their long wet and long dry seasons, where it costs $250 per acre to clear a farm; Oklahoma, with its migratory brick dust will soon cease to attract, and stable old North Dakota will get her share of workers—not boomers, and land will be worth seeking after in a short time. I know a man who settled in Illinois on wild land which he sold for $40 per acre. Again he took wild land in Iowa which he disposed of for the same figure. He now has wild land in North Dakoth which he says will bring him $40 per acre in a few years, and I am one of those who believe it. Fifty years ago you could get all the wild land you wished in western New York, Ohio, Indiana, and other states. Why will not these rich lands be just as valuable in a short time? I know men who came to this country with nothing, who now have their farms under a nice state of cultivation, with a nice bank account; they have done it all by grain raising. You say this is an exception. Well, it is; but it is the exception which proves what the country can do with industry and proper management. If the majority of farmers are careless and shiftless it is nothing against the country. To sum it all up, I am going to own 320 acres of land in North Dakota, because I know it will be worth five times what it costs me when I get a title to it.

Come out to the farm with me and eat pork and beans and drink real milk. Harden up your muscles with honest toil and live long upon the land which the Creator hath given thee.

Yours, truly,
J. B. COPELAND.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

☞ CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST. ☜

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners.

CROOKSTON, Minn., April 25.

The Board of County Commissioners assembled at the County Auditor's office. All members present except Com'r Hunt. The minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The school petition of Ole E. Thoreson was granted, and his farm, to-wit: Nw¼ of Sec. 30, Tp. 152, R. 49, was detached from school district No. 31 and attached to school district No. 2.

The school petition of O. Marcille was granted, and his farm, to-wit; Sw¼ Sec. 17, Tp. 150, R. 45 was detached from school district No. 105, and attached to school district No. 20.

The school petition of August Nelson was granted, and his farm, to-wit: W½ nw¼ and se¼ nw¼ and sw¼ ne¼ Sec. 20, Tp. 152, R. 49, was detached from school district No. 31, and attached to school district No. 152.

A hearing was set at next meeting of the board in the matter of the school petitions of Emerie Page and others, of Lake Pleasant, and also J. P. Johnson, and others, and also that of C. Steenerson, and others.

The school petition of Joseph Zopecksy and others was presented and on motion same was granted, and school district No. 34 was organized comprising the following territory, to-wit? Secs. 1, 2, 3, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, Tp. 153, R. 49.

An auctioneer's license was granted for one year to J. B. Merrill, and his bond approved.

The official bond of Hugh Thompson as Surveyor General of Logs and Lumber in the Seventh district, was approved.

The committee on official reports of county officers was granted further time to complete their report.

Board adjourned until 2 p. m.

Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members present.

All road and bridge petitions presented were referred to the proper committee.

The following unorganized territory was attached to school district No. 115, to-wit: Sec's 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 10, 15, 3, in Tp. 151, R. 42.

The school petition of Peter Bankind and others was granted and school district No. 41 was organized comprising Sec's 19, 30, 31, 17, 20, 29, 32, Tp. 149, R. 48.

The petition of Remi Fortier and others for a county road, was presented and referred to a committee comprising the entire board, said committee to meet at the Gentilly House in the town of Gentilly, on the 27th day of May, 1889.

The petition of Martin E. Randkler and others as to certain liquor licenses was referred to the County Attorney for investigation.

Board adjourned to the 25th inst., at 10 a. m.

Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members present.

The County Treasurer was authorized to apportion a sufficient amount out of the uncollected tax collections to the credit of the poor fund to redeem the unpaid orders on said fund.

Com'r Rhinehart was added to the road and bridge committee by unanimous consent.

Board adjourned to 1:30 p. m.

Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members present.

The sum of $325 was ordered paid out of the county road and bridge fund to E. H. Draper, contractor, for amount due on repairs of St. Hilaire bridge in compliance with the report of the special bridge committee.

Application of B. Haggerty referred to the Auditor to report at next meeting.

The board of auditors designated the 1st National Bank of Red Lake Falls an additional county depository, and the bond furnished by said bank, with James I. Wyer, Joseph Smith, H. A. McClatchie, J. C. Hunter and W. A. Shreiter as sureties, was approved

The amounts allowed for repairs of county bridges at East Grand Forks and St. Hilaire were ordered paid out of the county road and bridge fund, and the chairman was authorized to issue his orders accordingly. (Comr. Kirsch voting against.)

The road and bridge committee presented their report, which was adopted, and the following amounts were appropriated out of the county road and bridge fund, to-wit: Town of Poplar River, $50; Tynsid, $250; Emardville, $100; Red Lake Falls, $50; Lake Pleasant, $50; Garden, $175.

The road and bridge committee recommended that the petition from the town of Fairfax for an appropriation for road purposes be laid over. The report was approved, Com'r Kirsch dissenting from the majority report on the ground that a special law has been passed leaving the control of these funds at the disposition of the county commissioner of the several districts, and recommend that said petitions be granted in accordance with said law.

The report of the investigating committee was presented and laid over to next meeting.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, A petition in due form of law has been presented to the Board of County Commissioners of the county of Polk, praying that the said board fix a time and place when and where the electors actually residing in the following described territory in said county, to-wit: Commencing at the southwest corner of section 3, in township 147, range 40, thence running east along the section line between sections 3 and 10, 160 rods, thence north 160 rods to the center of section 3, thence west 320 rods, thence south 160 rods, thence east 160 rods to place of beginning, may vote for or against the incorporation of a village to be called the village of Fosston, and

Whereas, The signers of said petition have in all this complied with the provisions of the law in such case provided, therefore

Resolved, That the prayer of said petitioners be granted.

Resolved, further, That the 4th day of June, 1889, be fixed as the day, and the school house in school district No. 142 in the township of Rosebud as the place of holding said election.

Resolved, further, That I. I. Hillestad, Lewis Lohn and O. L. Larson, residents of said territory, are hereby appointed to preside and act as inspectors at such election.

The following claims were allowed:

N. O. Paulsroud, sheriff's fees of $463.50, allowed at	$450 00
J G McGrew, printing and stationery	169 63
O C Knappen, printing and stationery	135 00
J G McGrew, printing and stationery	9 64
Paul P. Bodeen, printing and stationery	117 57
E F Elliot, cash disbursements,	41 55
Thos Moren, witness fees justice court	1 12
Elizabeth Moren, witness fees, justice court	1 12
Thos Murray, constable fees	8 00
C U Webster justice fees	7 10
G W Lewis, " "	3 80
Chas Grindell, witness fees	1 06
Wm Beiswinger, " "	1 06
A Robinson, material for bridge,	11 45
Soren Knutson, boarding a pauper, bill of $60, allowed at	48 00
S H Parkhurst, house rent for pauper	6 75
Dr. F. H. Knickerbocker, medical attendance on Mrs Louis Huesby, bill of $16, allowed at	10 00
Wm Marin, carpenter work at the court house	12 00
David Paull, constable fees, bill of $21.45, allowed at	12 25
H M Webster, livery hire in the case of State vs. Dunn, bill of $8, allowed at	4 50
The County of Grand Forks, D. T., for board of patient, Erick Olson, in hospital	35 00
Dr H Lankester, med attendance to pauper	12 00
Daniel Johnson, boarding pauper, bill of $77, allowed at	62 00
L Jenson, wit. fees justice court,	1 12
J C Heuler, " "	2 12
Daniel Paul, " "	1 12
Jos Dargan, " "	2 12
J H Pelham, constable fees	14 75
C S Spendley, justice fees	4 60
A Stromberg, boarding and care of pauper, bill $22.50, allowed	7 00
H M Webster, livery hire in the case of State vs. Dunn	4 50
F M Scott, wit fees, justice court	1 06
P McDonald, repairs at East Grand Forks Co bridge	454 80
D F McDonald, services as officer at inquest	10 55
F Rosenthal, wit fees J C	2 12
M Dargan, " "	2 72
Wm Dargan, " "	2 84
G W Lewis, justice fees	3 14
W T Spillane, wit fees J C	1 15
M B Hayes, city marshal fees	2 42
Ole E Sonstellie, justice fees	5 25
Martin Purcell, " "	3 80
G H Barlow, constable fees	10 85
E F Elliot, fees for service of school notices	14 35
Michael O'Riely, constable fees and exenses bill of $32.50, allowed at	25 00
Henry Shepard, fees and disbursements as coroner	24 10
N O Paulsrud, sheriff fees	2 50
H N Twedten, boarding prisoners	82 84
A Holmboe, mdse to paupers	5 00
Holmboe & Larson, mdse for prisoners	1 10
J Knutson, labor and material on judicial road	13 00
Alderman & Sylvester, livery used in seed distribution	10 90
Geo D Barnard & Co., records	30 25
Pioneer Press Co., record books and blanks	96 75
Pioneer Press Co., seed grain register	85 75
I U Jennings, freight advanced on seed wheat	36 78
J W Lowe, constable fees	40 10
M Shultz, witness fees	3 20
Herman Shultz, witness fees	3 20
Adam Zeh, justice fees	17 65
" "	18 90
Chambers Bros., hardware and bridge repairs	5 66
J J Howe & Co, lumber	72 33
Ed Dakin, boarding pauper	7 00
W F Cyr, special constable fees,	9 15
Plaindealer Co., record book	15 00
M B Hayes, marshal fees	8 15
Peter Burke, witness fees justice court, bill of $3.64, allowed at	2 64
Wm Burgdorf, witness fees, justice court	2 28
J H Locken, mdse to paupers	14 48
E Wichterman, wit fees, J C	2 64
Geo Wichterman, wit fees J C	2 28
Peder Zahl, serving school notices	2 00
J H Locken, mdse to Co jail	3 85
" " paupers	20 98
W Welch, labor at court house,	3 00
N S Gervais, mdse to paupers	1 80
J P Johnson, 3 days committee work	9 00
J P Johnson, commissioners fees and mileage	32 00
Hugh Thompson, commissioner fees and mileage	24 40
M E Kirsch, commissioner fees and mileage	72 20
M E Kirsch, house rent for pauper	27 00
O H Lucken, cash disbursements	38 78
A C Rinehart, com's fees and mileage	60 30
M Cornelius, cash disbursed in distribution of seed grain	8 25
S Hovik, pauper expenses	17 75
Frank E Hunt, com's fees and mileage	64 62
Frank E Hunt, wit. fees in J C	1 12
P J McGuire, cash disbursed for express charges, postage, copies of special acts of the legislature and telegraphing	36 90
Henry Hennemuth, services in connection with distribution of seed grain	9 00

Claims rejected as follows: Plaindealer Co., Arthur Perras, Elzar Dubord, Narcisse Robidoux, P. Bisson, Minnie Kindler, John Kushel, Joseph Eldelbas, Peter Champaigne, Chas. Dubord, T. Robidoux, Peter Burke, John Duforge, A. J. O'Keefe, Latie Kushel.

The following claims were laid over: Ole J. Hanson, E. O. Flanders, Chris Sathre.

The bridge petition from Russia Tp. was laid over.

A hearing was set at the next session in the matter of the school petition of David Corbin.

Refunding of taxes against certain indemnity lands were ordered made in the following cases: Elie Benoit of Gentilly; Nerie St. Marie, of Kertsonville; Moses Dubuc, of Kertsonville, Lou Dubuc, of Kertsonville; Willet Bronson, of Halstad,

The real assessment of W. S. Taylor was ordered corrected as prayed for.

On motion board adjourned until May 28th, 1889, at 9 a. m.

P. J. McGUIRE, Clerk.

NOTICE.

Whereas, my wife, Hannah F. Nelson, has left my bed and board without reasonable cause, I hereby warn all persons not to harbor or trust her on my account, as I shall pay no debts of her contracting after this date.

Dated Roome, Polk County, Minn., April 12th, 1889.

[52-2] OLE NELSON.

Council Proceedings.

ADJOURNED MEETING. APRIL 24, 1889.

President Watts in the chair. Members present Alds. Lally, Childs, Morrisey Steenerson, Walter, Bjoin, Buhn Marlette and Jennings.

The minutes of the last meeting were read, and on motion of Ald. Childs the clerk was instructed to insert in Ald. Childs amendment, that the resolution be so amended, to strike out all that part of Ald. Steenerson's resolution from the word resolved, and that the amendment be inserted in lieu thereof. Carried.

The petition of G. W. Truax and others, requesting a sidewalk on Ash street, was referred to the alderman of the fourth ward.

The bond of the Scandia-America bank was presented and on motion was approved.

Moved by Ald. Morrisey, seconded by Ald. Steenerson:

The first proposition for aid made by the Duluth, Crookston & Northern railroad company, not being accompanied by a petition containing the names of a sufficient number of resident freeholders as required by law, and said company having asked leave to withdraw the same, resolved that such leave be granted, and said proposition and petition is hereby declared withdrawn from the council. Carried.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 23d day of April 1889, Ald. J. E. Morrisey offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Steenerson: It is hereby resolved, that for the purpose of deciding upon the question of issuing bonds in the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) to aid in the construction of the railroad tracks of the Duluth, Crookston & Northern railroad company, and pursuant to the proposition of said company and the act of the legislature of the State of Minnesota, approved Apr. 4th, 1889, entitled

An act to authorize the city of Crookston, in Polk County to issue bonds to aid the construction of any railroad or railroads which may hereafter run into said city, and to provide for and appoint bond commissioners to hold such bonds in escrow, and deliver the same when earned. Friday the seventeenth day of May 1889, be, and the same is hereby appointed the day for such election pursuant to the said act of the legislature, and be it further resolved, that the city clerk of said city be, and he is hereby authorized and required to give notice forthwith that such election will be held at the several polling places, used at last city election in said city on said date, pursuant to law. Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Alds. voting in the affirmative; Childs, Morrisey, Steenerson, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Marlette, Jennings and Watts.

Ald. voting in the negative; Lally.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 24th day of Apr. 1889.

WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.

Approved this 25th day of Apr. 1889.

Attest: JAMES W. LILLY, Mayor.
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Childs that the 4th day of June 1889 be substituted for holding the election on the bond question instead of the 17th of May. The resolution was lost.

Moved by Ald. Steenerson seconded by Ald. Morrisey, that the question of who shall shall pay for the expenses of the election shall be submitted to the city attorney to report on same at once to the mayor and president of the council and that they be empowered to act on same. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morrisey seconded by Ald. Walter that the report of the committee with reference to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern railroad be accepted and adopted. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Childs seconded by Ald. Morrisey that the bill of W. M. Ross, for $200 be allowed at $100, provided that he gives a receipt in full. Carried.

The report of the finance committee was presented and on motion the following bills were allowed:

Crookston fire department attending fire	$ 56 00
M Van Dyke, services as health officer	48 00
H E Cooke, printing	20 65
L G Scott, copying fire ordinance	1 50
O Vieu, attending chemical engine	80 00
Crookston fire department attending three fires	198 00
Chas Vanarsdale, clerk election	6 00
G H Holt, constable fees	1 45
A E Flanders, drayage	1 25
L G Scott, clerk of election	4 00
A Munn, judge of election	6 00
R G Marlette, " "	9 00
C S Spendley, justice fees	5 70
" " "	7 95
Henry Funk, clerk of election	6 00
S L Collins, " "	2 00
A Walter, judge of election	9 00
W S Booth, poll list	2 30
John Sinholt, witness fees	1 12
J Netzer, balance due for repairing city hall	80 20
Frank Jerome, judge of election	9 00
L Rejamball, clerk of election	2 00
I U Jennings, judge of election	6 00
Red River Lumber Company, lumber	23 72
H R Nolan, judge of election	6 00
Martin Lally, " "	6 00
J W Lilly, certified copy of law relating to the poor	1 50

On motion council adjourndd.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

Wide Awake for May brings to a close Trowbridge's popular serial, "The Adventures of David Vane and David Crane," to give place to Charles R. Talbot's story of "Sybil Fair's Fairness;" it brings to a pause, too, Margaret Sidney's "Five Little Peppers Midway," to go along with them next month however it the fresh tale of "Five Little Peppers Further On." Mrs. General Fremont has a long story in this number, entitled "Besieged," a tale of the wild mining days of 1840 in California; a stirring, brethless tale of her own experiences. "Teddy" is a story by E. S. Thornton of two beautiful dogs, real dogs, known to many Boston young people. "Little Cy Downer's Ride" is a swinging civil-war ballad of a brave little chap, by Mrs. Clara Doty Bates. "An English May Day," by Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey, gives an account of last year's May Day celebration which the author enjoyed with the children of a little English village. A chapter of the Children of the White House series, by Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, is entitled "The Household of Andrew Jackson," and is full of anecdotes and pictures, twenty illustrations being given; it throws a ruddy firelight glow over the grim old warrior-President. "Men and Things" is delightfully readable, full of original anecdotes; notable among them is "Tad Lincoln in the White House Kitchen in 1862," and "John G. Whittier's little dog and the Singer."

There is a "Behavior Letter," by Mrs. ex-Governor Claflin, a "May Song," by Mrs. Whiton-Stone, an article upon "Walking," by Louise Imogen Guiney who is a noted pedestrian herself, with many other articles, stories and poems.

We notice that the Wide Awake children who have undertaken to build the dining-room in the Ramona school (the Helen Hunt Memorial Building) have received a gift of $500 to their fund from Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury of Cleveland, Ohio.

Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston.

Texas is the home of the Angora goat industry in this country, but these goats are coming more and more into notice in other states and sections, and their hardiness and fleece-producing value are attracting much attention to the breed. They will endure great vicissitudes of dry heat and cold and are remarkably useful in clearing off brush pastures, thriving in flesh and fleece on the diet of twigs and shrubs. They are raised principally for the fleece of mohair, but the flesh of the young animals has been experimented with in the Chicago markets and a favorable verdict of its value as mutton has been given. A series of illustrations of imported and native Angora goats forms the first page of the American Agriculturist for May. The illustrations were made from the flock at San Antonio, Texas, and show a group of imported animals, another group, Texas-bred, a shearing scene, animals in full fleece, etc.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite
Wm. Anglim's residence.

D. H. BATES,
—DEALER IN—
Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,
(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

S. L. COLLINS
—PROPRIETOR OF—
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person.

NEW MEAT
MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)
Fournet Block Room 5 | Crookston, Minn.

Scandia-American
BANK.
Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:
Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton,
A. E. Johnson,	St. Paul.

FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

WORTH OF CLOTHING

AND

BOOTS AND SHOES

TO BE CLOSED OUT

WITHIN THE NEXT 90 DAYS.

C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MAY 9, 1889. NO. 3.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Minn

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising

STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET. - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Order for Hearing Proof of Foreign Will.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, special term. In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing purporting to be an authenticated copy of the last will and testament of Byron Culver, deceased, late of Cedar Falls, in the County of Black Hawk, and State of Iowa, has been delivered to this court.

And whereas, James H. Wilson, of Cedar Falls, in said Black Hawk County, has filed therewith his petition, representing, among other things, that said Byron Culver died in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of September, 1888, testate, that said last will and testament of said deceased was, on the 8th day of November, 1888, duly admitted to probate in and by the District Court of said Black Hawk County, and that said petitioner is the Executor of said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters of administration with the will annexed be to him issued thereon.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate office in Crookston, in said county, on the 14th day of May, 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of said instrument.

And it is further ordered, that public notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested by publication of these orders for three weeks successively previous to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 15th day of April, 1889.

By the Court:

C. O. CHRISTIANSON, Judge of Probate.

[52-3]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 22th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by Clement A. Brown and J. F. Brown, her husband, of the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, mortgagors, to the Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of April, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded as a mortgage in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 29th day of April, 1887, at 1:40 o'clock p. m., in book 30 of mortgages, on pages 441 to 445 inclusive. And the said default having continued for a period of more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage is hereby declared to be due and payable as stipulated in said mortgage in case of a failure to comply with the conditions thereof, and that by reason of said default and declaration aforesaid there is claimed to be due, and is due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of sixteen hundred forty and 60-100 (1640.60) dollars, and no action or proceedings at law or otherwise have been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and conveyed thereby, viz: Lots three (3) and four (4) of Section four (4), and lot one (1) of section five (5) all in township one hundred and forty-seven (147) Range forty-four (44), and the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter (sw¼ of the sw¼) of Section thirty-three, (33) in Township one hundred and forty-eight, (148) Range forty-four, (44) containing in all one hundred and fifty-six (156) acres more or less according to the United States government survey thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fees stipulated in said mortgage, to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of the County of Polk in the State of Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 13th day of May, A. D. 1889, at the hour of two o'clock p. m., subject to redemption at any time within one year in manner provided by law.

Dated Moorhead, Minnesota, March 15th, A. D. 1889.

THE NETHERLANDS AMERICAN LAND COMPANY, Mortgagee.

W. B. DOUGLAS AND BALL & SMITH,
[49-3] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Crookston, Minn., April 3d, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on June 17, 1889, viz: GEORGE JONES, H'd 8006, for the w½ ne¼ and w½ se¼ Sec. 19, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Rhess Godfrey, Cyrus Morris, John Forsythe and D. T. Mitchell, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[51-4] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[63]. First publication May 2d 1889.]

BE IT KNOWN, THAT ON THE SIXTH day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, Ferdinand Pepin and Mary Pepin, his wife, of town of Louisville, Polk County, Minnesota, made, executed and delivered unto The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis, one certain mortgage: That said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, on the sixth day of January A. D. 1881, at two o'clock in the afternoon, in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 462, 463, 464: That said mortgage conveyed the hereinafter described premises to secure the payment of four hundred ($400) dollars, in five years from its date, and the interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum, per annum, payable semi-annually: That default has been made in the payment of said principal sum with interest thereon: That there is hereby claimed to be due on said mortgage debt the sum of four hundred and fifty-three and 45-100 ($453.45-100) dollars: That no action, or proceeding, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: That said mortgaged premises are situate in Polk County, Minnesota, and are described as follows, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) range forty-five (45,) containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to government survey.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by reason of said default in the conditions of said mortgage, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said described mortgaged premises, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the fifteenth day of June A. D. 1889, at two o'clock in the afternoon, of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 17, A. D. 1889.

THE FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK, of Minneapolis, Mortgagee.

Edward M. Johnson, Att'y for Mortgagee. [2-7]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot at a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Fergus Falls Ugeblad of April 24th says:

We informed our readers some time since that our countryman Senator B. Sampson from Crookston was hung in effigy at said place and that his life has been threatened for the reason that he voted against the granting of the state lands to the D. & W. railroad. He desired that the disputed land which is considered to be worth $9,000,000 should revert to the state or the people as the railroad company has lost the grant by failure to construct the road. It might be very interesting to learn from what side this opposition against Senator Sampson comes. It is principally the two newspapers in Crookston which the whole time since the assembling of the legislature has been trying to run him down and for what reason they know best. It can certainly not be in the interest of the people as the people nowadays are not very much in favor of donating big grants of the public domain. It has also come to light that E. D. Childs from Crookston, a member of the city council is one of the directors of the Duluth & Winnipeg company and has during the whole winter lobbied in the legislature for the company referred to above. The same can be said about H. E. Cooke editor of THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL. Besides there is another organized company in Crookston whose directors call it the "Lake Superior & Northwestern." The officers of the company are all from Crookston and Senator Sampson should of course be their obedient servant but he said no. They wanted him to help them get Crookston to issue bonds to the amount of $50,000 for the road. Senator Sampson knew that the whole project only consisted in a branch line which could be built for $10,000, and for that reason he was against their project. Senator Sampson's duty was to represent the people and not to be the medium to aid or abet projects of this kind.' For this reason the alarm was also given in the camp. Nine million dollars worth of lands and $50,000 worth of bonds are great plums and when they fall beyond the grasp of the projectors they become desperate.

For some reason Mr. Sampson seems very much exercised in his mind over his actions in the senate last winter, and, we are told that he is filling the Scandinavian papers of his district with screeds of which the above is a fair sample. For the benefit of the Ugeblad, and papers of that ilk that do not seem to appreciate the situation we deem a short notice of that article not inappropriate. We wish to say, as we have said before that the hanging in effigy of Mr. Sampson was not done by the intelligent citizens of Crookston, nor by anyone who has the interests of the city at heart. By such that action is heartily condemned and deplored and the good name of the city should in no way be made to suffer for it as earnest efforts have been made to discover and punish the guilty parties. We do not believe Sampson's actions against the D. & W. were inspired by the motives which Ugeblad alleges because he must know, as everybody else does, that the lands in question would not revert to the state or to the public school fund if forfeited by D. & W. but to the Manitoba road. This was made more plain by the action of the senate in refusing to consider a forfeiture of the lands to the Brainerd & Northwestern, (or the Manitoba road.) Not only were the newspapers in Crookston anxious to secure the extension of time asked by the D. & W. road but they reflected the sentiment of the entire district in that desire and this fact Mr. Sampson well knows. It certainly is directly in the interest of the people to have that road built for the building of it means cheaper transportation and that is for their interests clearly. Ugeblad says that it can be said of the editor of THE JOURNAL that he is a director of the D. & W., a member of the city council and that he lobbied all winter in the interest of D. & W. So it would seem, but the saying so don't make it so for there is not a word of truth in it; however it is just as true as the balance of the entire article which is a tissue of misrepresentations from beginning to end. Again, the charge against the officers of our Crookston company. They were acting under instructions from the citizens, and for them, and Mr. Sampson did not say "no" to their request. On the other hand he met with a number of our leading citizens, in this city in February and faithfully promised to pass the bill. Now he claims that he refused to pass the bill claiming it as a scheme. This subterfuge is pretty thin and deceives no one who knows anything about the situation. The people of this district desired Sampson to aid the D. & W. road. The Manitoba road opposed the building of the D. & W. The citizens of Crookston desired the passage of the bonding bill. The Manitoba road was not anxious to have that bill passed. That is the whole business in a nutshell and how can any candid judge decide that Sampson represented the people in these matters? Ugeblad truly says it was his "duty to represent the people;" why did he not do it?

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

BELTRAMI, April 23, 1889.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ohl's many friends here are pleased to learn that they have come back to stay. Welcome back, friend Charley.

We believe that K. O. Flakue must be putting himself in training for a foot race, as a few days ago he had a race with a full grown jack rabbit and, strange to say, captured it.

C. W. Kimberly was in town Saturday in the interest of Stone & Taylor, of Crookston.

J. Fulton, one of Norman County's genial young farmers, was here last week visiting his brother Dave.

Much heartfelt sympathy is expressed here for Mr. and Mrs. Austad, of Ada, in their sad bereavement. May He who maketh all things work together for good to them that love Him, comfort and sustain them.

Miss La Due, who is teaching in district 67, deserves much credit for the manner in which she observed "Arbor Day." The pretty trees which she and her pupils set out on that day add much to the beauty of the school grounds.

Our people are very much interested in tree culture, and many who were unable to observe Arbor Day will set out hundreds of trees before the season is over.

Our farmers will be pleased to know that we now have one of the best blacksmiths in the county.

A good landlord can make money here by renting the Dykeman Hotel.

A vigilance committee has been organized here consisting of about twenty young men in this neighborhood. Tar and feathers have been purchased, and nails procured, and the next time a certain party here, who is well known in Crookston, especially by the Sheriff, abuses his family he will be treated in such a way as becometh the wretch.

John R. Williams, who has been in Washington Territory for some time, is with us again. We hope he will remain. EDNA.

Do Not Over-Feed the Young Chickens.

American Agriculturist: It is very easy to over-feed a brood of young chickens. This produces various diseases—dysentery, which destroys so many; paralysis, which prevents the use of the limbs and causes the chicks to flutter about helplessly and perish; apoplexy, which causes them to fall over and die suddenly, and others which kill off fully one-half of them. A chick, or a young turkey, or duck, requires food a little and often; a tablespoonful is enough for a dozen of them, and the food should be given six times a day.

Holsteins for the Dairy.

Cor. National Stockman: It is with no small amount of reluctance that I venture to reply to Jason Jones in regard to the Holstein for dairy cows. One not familiar with Holsteins, and dependent on the opinions of some prejudiced person, would naturally infer from Mr. Jones' article that the Holsteins were not of any use in a butter dairy, and only fit for the milkman who only cared for the quarts, regardless of the quality. The impression that he makes is very unfair, taking perhaps the report of the best Guernseys and Ayrshires and the poorest Holsteins to found his article on. I have some grade Holsteins, and those I have made a test "stand up" in butter equal to his Ayrshires or Guernseys. I made a test last winter of a three-year-old three-fourths bred Holstein that gave 23 to 30 lbs. of milk which made from 22 to 23 ozs. of butter a day. And this was not for one day but for weeks in succession. I have others that will do still better, taking their occasional tests as a guide for a week or month. If my memory serves me correctly, I think there are more Holsteins that have produced 100 lbs. of butter in a month, or 20 lbs. in a week, than of all other breeds put together during the time the Holsteins have been successfully bred in this country.

The old belief that Holsteins gave nothing but skim milk, only fit to feed pigs, has long since died away in the public mind and the demand for them is greater than that of any other breed—"I think and at a better price.

The Ayrshire Breed of Cattle.

American Agriculturist: The Ayrshire is eminently a dairy breed. The cows are active, hardy, and will flourish and give good yields of milk under considerations that would starve pampered cattle. They have great power of endurance, healthy appetites, good digestion and ready adaptiveness to all vicissitudes of situation and climate. They are remarkably free from tendency to disease; tuberculosis and other affections of the respiratory organs being unknown among them. They are long lived, often improving in milking qualities up to ten years of age.

The general form of the Ayrshire cow has been described as resembling a band-saw, with the small end forward. The head is fine and lean; face rather long and slightly dishing; horns slim and waxy; neck fine and slim; udder large and well spread out rather than pendent; teats small, often too small for convenient milking. The characteristic colors are red and white, though brown is not unusual. The reds are of various shades, from light brick color to deep cherry, and the white is in spots of various forms and sizes, but never mingled into a roan. The average standard weight is about one thousand pounds.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon. Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

St. Paul
Largest & Most Complete Stock of
Jewelry, Clocks, Silverware,
Spectacles Etc. Etc.
All Work Warranted, And
Perfect Satisfaction
Guaranteed.
At Bottom Prices

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

Opposite Merchants' Nat'l Bank.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

☞ WE ARE AGAIN ON DECK ☜

WITH A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

FARM MACHINERY.

And are ready to Setve the Tillers of the Soil at a moment's notice.

WE HAVE A SPECIALTY TO OFFER IN THE

Dowagiac Shoe Drill.

This Drill reigns supreme as KING OF THE FIELD, and stands forth unrivaled as the most perfect Seed Planter extant. It will save to the farmer enough seed to pay for it the first season, besides doing the most complete work, and finishing as it goes. No wide-awake farmer can afford to be withou one. Guaranteed to work in any ground in which an ordinary hoe seeder will work.

☞ We can refer with pleasure to some of the progressive farmers in this vicinity who used them last year.

Sole Agents for the Dowigiac Drill.

McKinnon Bros., MAIN STREET, CROOKSTON, MINN.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDY,

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good, thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1888. E. W. Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices.

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 9, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat No. 1 77 cents.

J. E. Bradley has gone to Montana.

Bill Young is praying for rain—saves oats.

Two buffalos were exhibited in the city on Tuesday.

Always in the lead—Herb—for summer drink try Mountain Pink.

Reports reach us of great damage by the high winds of Saturday.

John Wyand says if he was Smith he would not mind a little three-for-a-quarter bet.

P. C. Schmidt, A. C. Wilkinson and H. Steenerson were in attendance at court in Ada.

Mat Cornelius is fixing up his premises on Jerome's Addition in elegant shape.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

A Sture, of Black River, started for a trip to Sweden on Tuesday. He expects to be gone four months.

Mrs. Walter Alexander has the cutest little green house in the city. Those beautiful flowers are the envy of the elite.

We handle four different kinds of washing machines. We can suit you and at reasonable prices.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

The sufferers from the fire are all doing nicely and desire to return sincere thanks to all who extended much needed aid in their sore distress.

Too soon for summer drinks? Oh, no! Herb says some'r drinking "Mountain Pink" "Mexican Sherbet" and "Dr. Bowker's celebrated Birch Beer." Try 'em. Found only at Herb's.

Rudy Burkhardt will enlarge the Cleveland House to prepare for the big boom bound to come when the new road arrives. Rudy is bound to put the Cleveland House at the front.

P. C. Schmidt reports that Attorney O. Mosaness of Moorhead told him that Fargo had a cyclone of no small proportions on Monday, blowing down the electric light tower, houses etc. No lives lost.

Bert Duntly on Monday received the the sad news of the death of his mother, which occurred at her home in Evart, Oseola Co., Mich., on Wednesday May 1st. Bert left his home just seven years ago on May 1st and has never seen his mother since.

The generous donation of $64 by the fire department to O. P. Hathaway and family supplied them with much needed necessaries of life and enables them to start again comfortably. The family desires to return thanks to the boys for their generous action.

By special request, Penelope will be repeated on Tuesday evening May 14th, as a benefit to Miss Minnie Ayers. We are told that Madame Jarley will not appear with her justly celebrated wacks worx, and that the program will be otherwise varied. The entertainment as first presented is hard to beat.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

The delivery team of Fontaine & Anglim took a lively go-as-you-please up Main to Loring, up Loring to Broadway, along Broadway to Robert, where the sorrel took a header on the crossing and was dragged several rods, landing on her feet all right. This check afforded an opportunity to the bystanders to catch the team, which was promptly done with no damage to the team or rig.

The board of health met on Saturday evening and appointed Mike Leguee and Hector Longevin meat inspectors for one year, fixing its fees at 25 cents per head for cattle and 15 cents per head for hogs, sheep and calves, providing arrangements are made to do all the slaughtering at one place. Both men are experienced veterinarians and the appointments meet with universal approval.

Try Herb's Mexican Sherbet and you will want no other.

Geo. H. Meguier, of Pembina, was in the city on Tuesday. While chatting with his old-time friend Ex-Senator Steenerson somebody wanted to bet that our senator weighed more than Meguier. "The gentleman from Pembina" accepted and the scales showed: Meguier 228, Steenerson 227. This suggested height and the test showed no difference. From a legal standpoint we would bet on our Ex-Sen. two to one.

Mr. A. Fanson, of Danville, Ills., arrived on Tuesday afternoon with a fine five-year-old English Coach horse, which he offers for sale to a single individual or a company of farmers on one, two and three years time at 8 per cent. The horse is a beautiful dark chestnut, stands over 16 hands high and weighs 1800 pounds. We have examined his pedigree and find him to be all right. We also find by the Breeders' Gazette, of Chicago, the leading stock paper of the United States, that the firm of A. Fanson and Son are among the heaviest of the leading importers and breeders of the country and their warranty is as good as gold. They warrant all stock sold. Call and see this fine animal at Bjoin's stable, and learn full particulars.

Jack McLaren went to Minneapolis on Friday last.

Geo. Goodrich was down from Woodside last week.

Hon. and Mrs. H. Steenerson went to St. Paul last week.

W. C. Kelso has been to the Rosseau country for a hunt.

Dan McKinnon has moved into rooms in I. U. Jennings' house.

I. Fortier has moved into the Walsh house, on the corner of Broadway and Fletcher.

City Surveyor Hamery has set the stakes for the new sidewalk from the depot to the bridge to Sampson's Addition.

Mrs. Judge Reynolds is in the city this week, en route to California where she goes to live with her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Ellis.

Herb has got the fountain running again. On Wednesday Jake tapped the main and turned the river loose in Herb's place.

Largest stock of paints in the city. We sell the Northwestern brand, which we guarantee to be first-class.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,
Stoves and Hardware.

Conductor and Mrs. Walter Alexander and Mrs. Ed. Wile went to the saintly city on Wednesday of last week, returning Monday morning.

The familiar sound of the old mill whistle waked the echoes on Monday last. It looks like business to see the sawmill wake up again.

Saturday's wind storm was the worst of the season and much damage from drifting is reported. Many pieces of grain will require re-seeding.

Jens Walback, who lives near Fisher, returned on Wednesday from a visit to his native land, Norway. Is glad to get back to his adopted land once more.

Chris. Hoch has re-papered and repainted his place throughout. The best in the city was good enough for him so he had A. C. Schmidt do the work.

Fred and Stuart Chapin spent Saturday in the city. Fred is on the road as usual while E. S. still holds down his situation in a lumber yard at Osnabrock, N. D.

Lee & Herrick are now running their flouring mill at its full capacity to fill orders from Dakota and Montana. All who try Lee & Herrick's best desire more of it.

Bishop Walker will hold a confirmation in Christ church, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. At 6:30 o'clock same evening there will be a baptismal service in the church.

John E. Van Tuyl came down from Mentor last week to transact some business and chat with friends. Reports everything booming in Maple Lake country.

Dr. C. W. Barnes, formerly a dentist in this city spent the Sabbath in the city. The doctor looks much younger than when he was running a farm at Euclid in the early day.

And now it is Al. Jones who is passing the cigars, all on account of a young carpenter who arrived on Friday last. Al. says he don't believe a word about Friday being an unlucky day.

The Brainerd Dispatch says that the meat inspector's fees in that city were placed at a dollar a head for cattle and fifty cents a head for hogs and sheep. That inspector must have a picnic but it is tough on the farmers.

Wm. Munch has greatly improved the appearance of his residence grounds by putting out a row of trees along the sidewalk, front and side. He had one of the neatest places on Sampson's Woodland Addition before.

We are headquarters for all kinds of dairy supplies, of our own manufacture. They are good and prices are right.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,
Stoves and Hardware.

Sheriff Paulsrud, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Stuart took the insane girl, Lena Hildebrunner to St. Peter last week. The girl was very violent and at Minneapolis they were obliged to put her into a straight jacket to prevent her harming herself.

Charles and Fred Dickenson received notice on Sunday of the sudden death of their father, which occurred at his residence at Lakeland, Washington Co., Minn., at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The boys left on Sunday's train for Lakeland.

Hon. H. Burkhardt arrived last week with his family to make his home in this city for the coming summer. Mr. Burkhardt represented Wabasha Co., in the Senate and stood by this county on the D. & W., the drainage and our local bonding bill.

Many sturgeons were taken from the river last week. It is said that ten were taken last week with hooks some of them weighing over thirty pounds each. Some do not seem to know that there is a law against fishing with nets. This law should be enforced or abolished.

G. L. Swift, who was a candidate before the republican convention for sheriff last fall, was in the city last week calling on his old friends. He is a republican of the right stamp; though defeated he took right hold for the good of the cause. He should be remembered next time.

Mr. A. N. Hixson was one of the most generous hearted who contributed to the relief of O. P. Hathaway and family, who lost their all in the fire of Thursday morning. He contributed $10 spot cash. This fact we have from Mr. Hathaway, who feels very grateful for the generous act.

The Rev. I. C. Fortin informs us that Prof. Brewer, of Windsor, England, is expected to arrive here next week. Mr. Brewer is a musician of a very high order and should meet with a liberal support from the people of Crookston. He will take charge of the choir and organ of Christ church.

Peter Cornelius reports that he has sowed 700 acres to wheat and oats and has 200 yet to sow to oats and barley. Pete has been hard at work for a few days plowing with oxen which violent exercise has reduced his fighting weight but gives him a wonderful appetite and a glow of perfect health.

Bert Duntley is developing into a great fisherman. He has got so far along as to be able to go down on the banks of the river and sit for hours gazing at the turbid waters and wish he had a fishpole, line and bait. Sometimes he brings a goodly string of fish home—when the small boys have had good luck.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

The wife of Chas. Jefferson died on Wednesday May 1st of consumption. Mr. Jefferson has been a resident of Crookston for ten years. A large concourse of friends gathered at the house on Friday at 10 o'clock to pay the last sad tokens of respect to a departed neighbor. The remains were laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery.

Mr. M. Rood was down from Maple Lake last week with a carload of wood. Mr. Rood has one of the finest locations for a summer resort to be found on the lake and will be prepared to entertain a limited number of guests during the season. Campers who desire to do so can make suitable arrangments for tenting in his beautiful grove.

One day last week as Herb was lighting his after breakfast cigar a railroad man came along with Tom Adams and said: "Give me a light, Herb!" Herb handed him his cigar, whereupon the r. r. man coolly put it into his mouth and walked off remarking to Tom: "It beats thunder how many suckers there are in this city! Did you ever notice it, Tom?" Herb thinks so too.

Bedlam seems to have been let loose in the city on Wednesday night of last week. Signs were torn down and misplaced, the doors to business places blockaded with breaking plows and all sorts of things and high carnival seems to have reigned supreme. This is said to have been the work of small boys and an investigation is quietly going on to find out who they were.

Hon. Geo. R. Roberts and J. P. Lundin came down from Stephen last Wednesday evening, staying over Thursday. Mr. Roberts' reception in the city was a perfect ovation, everybody being anxious to grasp the hand of a faithful representative and to personally thank him for his efforts in behalf of the people on the D. & W., our bonding bill, and other matters important to this section.

At the fire on Thursday morning the boys were bothered by the continual bursting of rotten hose. Had there been a good stiff breeze from the north it would have been an impossibility to have saved the Bergland house adjoining and probably the Markham residence. As it was the Bergland house was damaged by heat more than it should have been and more than would have been had the hose been in proper condition.

We sell the following reliable goods:
Baker Barb Wire.
Quick Meal Gasoline Stoves.
Jewell Cook Stoves.
Favorite Barrel Churns.
Cedar Rapids Pumps.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Barnes, of Barnes & Slocum presented a bill to Wm. Welsh for payment. High words ensued and Mr. Barnes was knocked into the ditch from the sidewalk. A warrant was issued and placed in the sheriff's hands to serve. The sheriff says, that as he was attending to getting ready to leave for St. Peter with the crazy girl he gave the warrant to Policeman Gonyea to serve. For some reason the warrant was not served that night and next and morning Mr. W. was under arrest charged with complicity in the assault on John Zenholt.

Register Dickmann early last week received a letter from his son who is at Guthrie, in the famous Oklahoma country. He does not write like he thinks that the best country he ever saw but says that much money will be made there for a time. When he arrived along with the first he pitched his tent on a "claim" and stuck his stakes, not knowing whether he was in the street or not. Later a man with a speculative turn of mind came along and offered him $350 for his claim. He took it and lit out to find another. He says he went to work making out land papers at $25 apiece but is now, in company with a young man from Fargo, engaged in selling groceries and proposes to stick to that as long as there is the money in it as present. Everybody has money which makes business not only safe but pleasant. Hundreds are constantly coming and going and as long as that state of things lasts the boys will have a bonanza.

WANTED.

Situation on a farm by man and wife. Address H. H., Box 368, Crookston, Minn. [4-6]

A Dastardly Outrage.

Just before the fire broke out on Thursday morning as Policeman Gonyea stepped into the cooler where he had but a few moments previously confined several suspicious characters, he met a pitiable object, clothed in an over-coat and a pair of arctics, with a rope around his neck. At first he did not recognize the man but later saw that it was Jack Senholt, night clerk at the Cleveland house who said that he had been taken from his cot sometime after midnight, gagged, tied to a board and conveyed to a point near Darkow's slough, fearfully beaten then tarred and feathered and left for dead. He said that Nick Funk, Wm. Blethorn, Toby Valaer, Wm. Welsh and three or four others whom he did not name had committed the outrage. Gonyea told him to make himself as comfortable as possible until he could summon help and started to arouse Chief Hayes. When he reached the street he saw the fire at Hathaway's and ran to ring the bell after which with Pat he hustled the hose cart to the scene of the fire. Chief Hayes soon appeared and Gonyea told him of the outrage and they immediately proceeded to arrest the parties Senholt had accused. After attending to that, Senholt was placed upon a cot in the city hall. At ten o'clock the prisoners were brought before Judge Lewis who fixed their bail at the ridiculously low figure of $300, however that could not be had in all save Funk's case, who managed to secure the necessary $300, was released and the others committed to await trial on Thursday May 9th at 10 a. m. After the trial the victim was placed under the care of Dr. L. B. Tooley who thoroughly washed him, dressed him in a new suit and took him to his residence on Ash street. He got along nicely until Monday when indications of lung fever set in. This is the most outrageous affair that ever happened in this city and excitement ran high on Thursday. Hundreds came to view the victim of mob fury as the poor victim lay helpless and insensible with the rope still where it had been left, and covered from head to foot with tar and feathers. He had evidently lain for some hours before recovering sufficiently to crawl to the nearest house where he obtained an overcoat and overshoes, then made his way as best he could to police headquarters.

A Serious Fire.

On Thursday morning, at 3:45 the clangor of the fire bell disturbed the peaceful slumbers of our citizens and soon it was discovered that the residence of O. P. Hathaway was in flames. The department got there in double quick time and soon had two streams playing on the fire. Had the hose been of any account the fire would soon have been subdued before the goods were totally destroyed, as the building was a small one and the boys got there before much damage had been done. The family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway and two boys, aged respectively 10 and 12 years, were sleeping soundly when the fire broke out, the boys in the attic and the parents below. The first Mr. H. knew of the fire the oldest boy came down through the ceiling on his head and shoulders, and the younger one come tumbling down the ladder leading to the loft. Mr. H. at once ran out and gave the alarm. The larger boy got out a few things before he began to realize that he had been badly singed himself. Upon this discovery being made he, together with the younger one, who was then found to be suffering also, was sent to the office of Dr. A. A. Just and a messenger dispatched for Dr. Van Dyke to assist in dressing the burns. After the excitement had somewhat died out Mrs. Hathaway discovered that her face and hands were severely burned also. Arrangements were at once completed for necessary furniture and they were taken to the Houston house in the afternoon, meanwhile Mrs. Griffith kindly cared for the sufferers at her boarding place on Broadway. The neighbors were all extremely kind, helping in various ways to alleviate the sufferers and render their lot as endurable as possible. It is such acts as this that give our city the good name it so justly has—no worthy objects ever being allowed to suffer within her borders if in the power of her generous citizens to prevent. At present writing the family are doing nicely and no serious results are now apprehended.

A Little Excitement.

On Tuesday, about 10:15, as Holmboe & Larson's delivery horse was quietly standing in front of the store, the wind blew the seat out of the buggy upon him. Unused to that kind of a deal, he suddenly turned around to see about it, and in a twinkling that delivery cart became good kindling wood. The horse was caught before he had run very far and a few dollars judiciously expended will make everything O. K. again. Our wagon makers must live.

A Generous Act.

At a meeting of the fire company on Friday evening the company voted to devote the amount due them from the city to the relief of the stricken family who had lost their all in the flames. The amount, $64, went a long way toward the purchase of new furniture, bedding etc. The boys are entitled to great credit for this generous act which shows that their hearts are in the right places.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE

Fontaine & Anglim's

BOOTS AND SHOES SHOW WINDOW

THIS WEEK.

Exhibiting a Large Line of Ladies's Fine Shoes at $2.50. Regular price $2.75 and $3.00.

HERE IS A SAMPLE.

THIS WEEK ONLY

2.50

This Ladies' Fine Dongola

Kid Button Boot

Medium weight stock, overlap quarters, fancy top lined, oak sole bottoms, flexible sole, opera toe and heel, well worth your best attention,

We invite the Ladies of Crookston and vicinity to inspect our Large Stock of Ladies' Fine Shoes. Competent and gentlemanly salesmen to wait on all callers.

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark, Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

"Listen to My Tale of Woe."

It must be hard lines to be a doctor! No matter where he is, even if it is only to see his best girl, when the call from the sick bed comes, he must go! Andy Stephens can tell the balance of this tale of woe.

Dan O'Connor was in the city to take in the fireman's ball last Wednesday evening. He recently took a hunting trip to Kittson County, but, somehow, is very reticent about that trip. The item from the Hallock News, elsewhere in this issue may explain why.

The St. Paul News says: "There is a man at Warren who has a cow that can talk."

Yes sir! We'll bet that is a Holstein cow and that she belongs to Billy Box. She can "talk" at the pail about 60 pounds and in the dairy three pounds a day. You bet the Holstein cow gets there every time.

S. N. Sorensen is prepared to do all work in tin and metals and guarantees all his work. Shop over Stewart & Spottswood's hardware store.

Northfield News: There seems to be a misunderstanding of the Meat Inspection Bill among the editors of the state papers. Several of the papers claim that the owner of an animal can slaughter it for his own use without inspection but could not sell it without a certificate. Dr. C. N. Hewitt, Secretary of the State Board of Health, says in a recent issue of the Red Wing Republican that the law excepts no one in this regard. So it would appear that every animal used for meat must be inspected within twenty-four hours before being killed. Judgment should not be passed on this law until it has had a fair trial.

Well, supposing the farmers do not have all the animals they kill for their own use inspected, what then? How are you going to punish an act that the law does not make a misdemeanor nor provide a penalty for? That point was brought up in the Legislature and fully discussed and the supporters of the bill claimed that it was not the intent of the law to oblige the farmers to have the animals inspected that they kill for their own use. What the law does make a misdemeanor is the offering for sale of any fresh meat that was not inspected 24 hours before slaughtering.

Turkeys Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

Shot his Horse.

Hallock News: Last Monday Dan O'Conner and Jim Elsworth, two of Crookston's crack shots, hired a rig and went out for a day's shooting. Knowing that game abounds in abundance in the unsettled part of the county, they started toward St. Vincent. They had gone quite a long distance and were beginning to feel discouraged when they came upon about twenty chickens, presumably a flock that had strayed away from some neighboring farm house. By Jupiter! keep the horses quiet now! and Jim seized a six shooter that was reclining gently by his side, raised it to his shoulder, shut his eyes and b-a-n-g—the horses had started at a mad gallop over the prairie, leaving our hunters lying prone upon their backs on the prairie, while the chickens were looking wonderingly around trying to find out what all the racket was about, anyway. Later on when the horses were caught, it was found that one of them had received the lead meant for the chickens, and not liking that kind of treatment they retaliated by running away. Messrs. Elsworth and O'Connor have our sincere sympathy in their misfortune, which is all the more discouraging as they were practicing with a view to competing for the prize at the next shooting match at St. Paul. Keep up your courage, boys. You'll get there yet.

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.
[3-tf] M. ROOD.

Whitney Baby Carriages.

Those Whitney baby carriages have now arrived—the second large invoice of the season. The rapid sales of these carriages prove how they are appreciated. Try the Whitney, at Herb's.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

NOTICE.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE,
CROOKSTON, Apr. 22d, 1889.

Sealed bids will be received by the city council for the city printing for the ensuing year, bids will be received until May 14th, 1889, the council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the council,
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given, that on Friday, the 17th day of May, 1889, an election will be held in the city of Crookston, in Polk County, Minnesota, for the purpose of deciding whether or not the city of Crookston shall issue to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company the bonds of said city in the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars, in accordance with the requirements of a certain petition, of which petition the following is the substance:

To the Honorable the City Council of the City of Crookston:

We, the undersigned, resident freeholders of the city of Crookston, Minnesota, hereby petition the City Council of said city, to appoint and designate a day for an election to be held in said city, for the purpose of voting upon the question of issuing bonds to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company, upon the proposition of said Company, (a copy of which proposition is hereto annexed and made a part of this petition,) and ask that the question of issuing said bonds may be submitted to the qualified voters of said city.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 18th day of April, A. D. 1889.

The Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company in its corporate capacity, hereby makes to the city of Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said city's corporate capacity as a municipal corporation, the following proposition, to-wit: If said city of Crookston, by an election duly had and held according to law shall, in accordance with a special act of the Legislature of the State of Minnesota, approved April 4th, 1889, entitled "An act to authorize the City of Crookston, in Polk County, to issue bonds to aid in the construction of any Railroad or Railroads which may hereafter run into said city, and to provide for bond commissioners to hold such bonds in escrow, and to deliver the same when earned," shall vote and agree to issue, and shall issue, to aid said corporation in the construction of its railroad tracks the bonds of said city of the par value of Fifty Thousand Dollars, said bonds to draw interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable annually, and to be fifty bonds issued in sums of One Thousand Dollars each, and payable thirty years after date of the issuance thereof; said Railroad Company hereby agrees to build and complete ready for operation by or before November 1st, 1889, a standard gauge Railroad from some point on the line of the Duluth & Manitoba Railroad between the village of Fertile, in Polk County, Minnesota, and the south line of Section 28, in Township one hundred and fifty, Range forty-four, in Polk County, Minnesota; to and into the city of Crookston in said county, and to give to the city of Crookston Railroad facilities for getting to Lake Superior and to St. Paul, Minnesota, otherwise than by any Railroad operated by the same Company now operating Railroads in Crookston. Said bonds to be delivered to said Railroad Company when said Railroad shall be built and ready for operation as above agreed. Said Railroad corporation agrees thereafter to maintain and operate said railroad, or cause the same to be maintained and operated as a part of one continuous Railroad system extending to Lake Superior and to St. Paul, Minnesota, and shall give good train service thereon.

R. J. MONTAGUE, President.
{ CORPORATE SEAL. } E. M WALSH, Secretary.

The polling places for said election in the several wards of the city of Crookston shall be as follows:
1st ward—At the City Hall.
2d ward—At the law office of William Watts, on Broadway.
3d ward—At the law office of Steenerson and McManus, on Broadway.
4th ward—At the sample room of the St. Louis Hotel on Ash street.
5th ward—At the Carman Hotel.

The polls will be open in the different wards of the city at 9 o'clock a. m. and will close at 5 o'clock p. m.

By order of the City Council of the city of Crookston.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 1st day of May, 1889.

JOHN PATERSON, City Clerk,
By A. B. GORGAS, Deputy.
WM. WATTS,
President of City Council.
JAS. W. LILLY, Mayor.

WINNIPEG JUNCTION, Minn., on board train, 2 o'clock a. m., May 5th, 1889.—There was a collision yesterday morning about 9:30 on the N. P. at Crystal Springs, Dak. Engineer and one mail clerk, by the name of Ed. Slattery, of St. Cloud, were killed. The two other clerks, C. Lounsbury and R. N. D. Evans, were seriously hurt.

FRANK BENOIT.

M. M. VAN DYKE

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON. - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $35, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law,

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

A Solid Man.

Northfield News: There are very few public men who retain all of the good will and praise of their political friends after being retired to private life. The number is still less who add to their circle of friends after being defeated in a political contest, but it is our good fortune to know of some who can. While the defeat of Mr. D. M. Sabin in the recent senatorial election was doubtless a great disappointment to him, he accepted the verdict with that spirit of prompt and quiet submission to the majority decision which can only be found in men of strong character. It takes more than an ordinary man to make the caucus speech Mr. Sabin did; no small man could do it if he would. In the hour of defeat he arose above any exhibition of disappointment and greeted his victorious opponent in a spirit of friendliness which marked him a gentleman and showed his friends that they had never been mistaken in their estimation of him. What a handsom thing it was when Mr. Sabin took Mr. Washburn's arm and walked with him to the platform in the senate chamber when the latter was sworn in. Who could be more courteous? A man who can rise above self, disappointments and little things is a great man; he is a man of strength and character.

During his term in the senate, Mr. Sabin had always the best interests of his state at heart, and an application for information or assistance was never so unimportant as to escape prompt and personal attention. He never went back on a friend; and his enemies were treated with pleasant courtesy. He was truly a servant of the people in its highest sense. By his manly and straightforward course Mr. Sabin has won the esteem and friendship of many who never knew him before the late contest; and it is safe to say that no man in the state has more friends than he. It is not often that a man out of office shows the strength he does. We do not know whether or not Mr. Sabin is a candidate for any political office, but we do not know that he has more warm, fighting friends than he ever had before.

The Creamery vs. Private Dairying.

Henry Roethe, of Grant County in an article in the Lancaster Teller, recently on the dairy question had the following on the modern method of conducting that business:

"Why sell cream in preference to making butter? Ask the patient house wife and the female help which is more pleasant on a hot summer day, when the sun pours down in scorching splendor, and the cows give such an abundance of milk, when there is so much to be done that our fair ladies are overburdened with work, which is more conducive to health and comfort, to toil for hours over the churn and working butter, or to simply get cream ready and have the driver take it at your ease? Which requires the least labor and leaves the time for other work? The answer is unnecessary. But a great many people say, what is time? There is nothing to us; we don't care so much about time—it is money we want. Very well, admitting this to be true for the sake of argument only, let us see. I have kept careful track for several years of the prices paid for butter at the same time, and I find as the result of my observations, that during the summer months when the yield was highest, and the bulk of the butter made, that the price paid for cream was as high, and even higher, than the prices paid for butter. Which, then, is the more profitable? But here, some good butter maker goes a step farther and claims that he can make dairy butter that is just as good as creamery, and commands just as high prices. This is all true enough in some instances, but can or do they all do it? For every one that does make that high grade butter, there are nine others who do not. It is so with the majority. With due respect, I will not claim that all do not make good butter for I will take every farm wife's word for it, and say they do. However we might class butter as good, better and best, discarding poor altogether. Then for every farmer that makes the best butter, you will find only two that make the better butter and seven make the good. Now the idea is right here: Creamery butter sells from three to ten cents a pound higher than the ordinary dairy. If we can buy your cream, paying you just the same price for it, or even more than you would receive had you churned it into butter, saving you all this extra time, trouble, labor and expense, and if we manufacture butter from it that sells on the average for at least five cents a pound more than it otherwise would, is not a saving of five cents a pound on every pound of butter made in the creamery a great saving to the country? Think of what it does, that simple five cents gained. It is left right here amongst yourselves. It does not wander into the capacious pockets of milionaires or bloated corporations—it is clear gain to you. It helps support some of your families; it buys some of your surplus products; it helps your various industries. Take it in figures if you please: During the six summer months, the creamery here turns out about 120,000 pounds of butter. The increase of value gained thereby, the net gain figured at five cents per pound, coming right home to you, would mean a saving to Fennimore annually of the snug little sum of $6,000; it would mean a saving to Grant County of the enormous sum of $50,000. Is it worth while to support a creamery.

St. Paul News: Representatives Dunn and Eastman plucked victory out of defeat in great shape yesterday afternoon, when the libel law was under consideration. The pending measure allows a weekly paper to tell a lie one week and retract it the next. The daily papers have this privilege now and use it ad libitum. There is no reason why the weekly papers should not be similarly treated. Where a man only has a chance to explode once a week he needs more latitude than a daily editor, who can perpetrate six or seven libels in the same period of time. But the house voted to indefinitely postpone the bill, and its enemies moved to reconsider as a parliamentary move, to clinch the nails in the coffin, expecting the motion to be voted down. But it wasn't. And Messrs. Dunn and Eastman took advantage of the reconsideration to "rustle" and secure a passage of the bill. It is evident that the house did not know what an editor could do when he gives his mind to the subject. The bill went to the senate this morning, as it was amended, and it met with a little rebuff owing to the absentees but in a few days it will be all right and the weekly editor can then be just as mean as the daily editor and have the same immunity. This is equal and exact justice.

Grand Forks Herald: The band boys at Crookston entertained the public to a grand ball in the opera house of that city last evening. Hall's orchestra from this city discoursed the music. The affair was no common place hop—everything was in first-class style and the courtesy bestowed by the floor managers—notably Messrs. Gravell, Morris, Mason, and Eldredge, to strangers, was laudable. Success to the Crookston band!

Farmers and Binding Twine.

Farm, Stock and Home.

In the eastern and middle states, where the wheat acreage is comparatively small, and where the population is more dense, binding grain by hand is practicable and will be attended with less inconvenience and pecuniary loss than in the northwest, where wheat fields are large, help scarce, and where dependence must be placed upon machine binding in harvesting. In the first named region we are glad to note expresions of determination on the part of farmers not to use binding twine if the price is kept unreasonably high. If such a course is persisted in the consumption of twine will be so reduced that lower rates in the northwest are possible. In short, the place to "fight the twine trust" by abstaining from the use of twine is in the region of the small wheat fields; we do not see how it can be done, how it will be possible, in fact, to harvest the 6,000,000 acres of wheat which will possibly be grown in Minnesota and Dakota without using self-binders. In urging farmers to "down the trust" by harvesting without twine it would be well to suggest where the battle ground should be where a victory would be most likely to be won.

So far as the sentiment is concerned we would like to see only just enough of the American Cordage company's rope or twine used this year to hang every member of it, but, unfortunately our northwestern farmers are not in condition this year to see their wheat rot on the ground in order to punish the "trust." The smaller fields in the northwest even will undoubtedly be harvested without twine, but the great bulk of wheat in this region cannot be so handled. But our prayers and blessings are with our more eastern and southern farmers who can and will get even with the robber twine makers by having no truck with them or their goods.

⁂

In this connection we would call attention to the desperate efforts the American Cordage Banditti are making to convince their victims that there is no "trust," and that the advanced price is made necessary by scarce and high-priced raw material. They even pretended to shed tears over the woes of the "poor farmer," and are making themselves absolutely nauseating. It is no use, gentlemen, you cannot make us believe that you are the innocent babes you profess yourselves; to the crime of stealing do not add the sin of lying.

A Blow at the Twine Men.

Fergus Falls Journal.

Wm. Hoefling has received the following letter from the McCormick company which explains itself:

You have doubtless seen in the papers that some one had succeeded in perfecting a simple device to be quickly interchanged with the twine knotter for binding grain, thus enabling the farmer to use either twine or wire, and by this device effectually preventing the purchaser of a machine from being subject to any combination or trust on twine, or in any manner suffering from the cause of scarcity of twine which is liable to occur.

We hardly need tell you that it is McCormick who has perfected the device above referred to. It is practically our old wide-famed wire binding device much simplified, which is, if possible, even more simple than our simple knotter.

Just how many of these attachments we will be able to furnish this season is impossible to tell at this time, though we think sufficient to supply a moderate demand; but we can make no positive promises on this subject. They will readily attach to any of our chain drive binders of previous years' manufacture. By tests and comparisons we might say that, with wire at 10 cents to the farmer and twine at 20 cts., wire would be about 80 per cent. the cheaper material; further it is proof against the fraud and deception which are so much practiced by twine manufacturers, and is also insect proof. We hardly need instruct either you or the farmers as to its advantages. We only need refer to the advantage of owning a machine that can successfully use either or both. We shall be able to supply this attachment to the farmer the small sum of $15.

This will not necessarily reduce prices of twine to any great extent this year for all the twine now made and all the fibres that can arrive in time to be manufactured into twine will be needed to bind the crop of 1889. The fibres for making it have been purchased by twine manufacturers at a price that will not stand much reduction, and if the crop mature favorably, as is now indicated throughout the world, there is very liable to be a great demand at harvest time that cannot be supplied and price will not cut much figure—it will be twine, twine at any price. You are as well aware of the fact as we are that harvest will be much earlier this season than for years previous, materially reducing the time in which the available fibres may be made into twine in time to save the crop of this year.

The Dairy Cow.

The Holstein-Friesian Register.

At the present time our agricultural press is more or less filled up with articles from "special purpose men" on the "general purpose cow." The writers of these articles are a motley throng. Some endeavor to be witty while others are abusive, but one and all of them show a most profound ignorance of the subject upon which they write. Holstein-Friesians are their honor, and as no other breed is crowding the Island cattle hard enough to waste so much energy upon, you may safely put it that all the articles are especially written with a view of belittling this popular breed.

They draw pathetic pictures of the dear public having to eat the "old cow beef after the animal has been used 15 years as a profitless dairy cow." The man too "who bought the heavy hoe for work in the garden, so he would have a few more pounds of old iron to sell when it was worn out," is another chestnut that should be worn out by this time, but no, they appear with surprising regularity. Now my idea of a dairy cow is one that will pay her owner a handsome profit in the way of butter, milk, or cheese over and above her cost of keep and handling. This cow may weigh 800 or 1600 lbs. as the case may be. Her steer calves may be butchered at birth as worthless, or may be profitably fed and make 1400 pound steers at three years of age. All these items cut no figure with the cow so she is yielding a profit in herself.

Most of these special purpose writers strongly insist that we are feeding 800 lbs. excess weight, they offer no proof nor cite comparative experiments, yet loudly proclaim it as a fact. Where or how they have arrived at the knowledge of the exact weight a dairy cow should be is a mystery. Certainly Jersey cows vary in weight from three to four hundred pounds, how comes it then that they are all perfect, surely some must be either above or below the standard, if so they should be disposed of to less intelligent dairymen, or slaughtered.

Now as to Holstein-Friesians, can any sane man look over the records made and published in the past five years, and not at once acknowledge them a superior dairy animal. True they are large and we will admit that they consume a large amount of feed, but it is all assimilated easily and well returns a profit for the investment. The attempt to feed a Jersey for a larger record than 14 lbs. per week is like driving a half-inch bolt through a quarter-inch hole; it can be done, but it is liable to cause considerable wear and tear on the hole.

H. B. DAGGETT.

—THE ONLY—

Vesitbuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free. The only line to the

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
11:10 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
12:22 a. m.	Little Falls	3:00 "
1:10 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
4:05 p. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
4:05 "	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
6:10 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
9:30 "	Red Lake Falls	5:51 "
11:25 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
1:14 p. m.	Grafton	2:24 "
3:00 "	Pembin	12:32 "
6:00 "	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent,
Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul. Minn.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates— $2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf]

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler deceased

Notice is hereby given, To all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, late of the County of Polk deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of said county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate, at his office in Crookston in said county, on Monday the 7th day of October 1889; and that six months from the first day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court, for creditors to present their claims.

Dated this 8th day of April, 1889.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

KATHERINE OEHLER,
Administratix of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, deceased. [8-6]

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jeromes' Addition.

CROOKSTON. - - - - MINN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN. - - - MINN

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson.)

ourust Block Room 5. } Crookston, Minn.

Scandia-American

BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendrickson, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendrickson,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson,	St. Paul.

FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

WORTH OF CLOTHING

AND

BOOTS AND SHOES

TO BE CLOSED OUT

WITHIN THE NEXT 90 DAYS.

C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum.

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MAY 16, 1889. NO. 4.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.

3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.

4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.

WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.

CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs

Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrup, A. A. Miller

E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby

Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Minn

They Still Come.

The Western Rural.

The people are pouring in their names attached to agreements not to use twine at trust price. They are not paying the slightest attention to papers that are railing against the movement or to the squirming of the trust. The people mean business and mean it strong. The Farmers' Alliance No. 1 of Gosper Co., Neb., passed a resolution that they will not pay more than twelve cents for twine. The undersigned farmers of Douglas Co., Neb., propose to bind their grain by hand or stack it loose if the twine trust refuses to sell twine at a reasonable price: Elijah Allen, F. A. McArdle, J. C. McArdle, Claus Sievers, Henry A. Kruse, Mads Thomsen, H. R. Avery, Allen Root. From Rockton, Ill., we have received the names of sixty-four farmers who write: We endorse the policy of The Western Rural and that we will not pay over last year's prices for twine. These gentlemen belong to Coon Creek Farmers' Alliance No. 106. The president, Mr. E. J. Hollowman, and secretary, Mr. Samuel Johnson, send us the resolution adopted by the Randolph Co., Ill., F. M. B. A. Assembly: Whereas, the price of binding twine has been raised exorbitantly by a trust; and whereas, the price of wheat scarcely pays the cost of producing and marketing the crop with twine at former prices; and whereas, if the farmers encourage said trust by buying their twine, other schemes of extortions will be sure to follow, reducing labor to starvation wages and ourselves to destitution and want, and levying taxes upon us that actually amount to the confiscation of our homes, therefore be it resolved that we, members of the F. M. B. A., do agree not to buy any twine if the price exceeds that of last year. The Rural desires to express its warmest admiration of the grand work which the F. M. B. A. has done in this fight. From Polk Co., Neb., the following farmers have agreed to pay no more than twelve and one-half cents per pound for binding twine. They are willing to take care of their grain in any other way than to pay more than this. L. Beckman, C. F. Fledman, John Tongue, A. G. Lindburg, Gust Lindburg, A. P. Adolfson, James Sealey, John A. Johnson, A. Johnson, A. W. Runquist, P. J. Sundling, John Donley, Andrew Thonall, J. E. Stevens, John Adolfson, Fred Beckman, Bauet Peterson, Nils B. Johnson, C. W. Lindmark, A. Hansen, C. Johnson.

F. W. Marshall, of Wisconsin, says: You may put me on record as not buying one pound of binding twine, unless it can be bought for twelve cents. I will spend a day talking the matter up with my neigabors and send you the results. A Weeping Water, Neb., correspondent writes: I am a member of the Cascade Farmers Alliance, No. 432. At one of our late meetings we declared we would not pay trust prices for twine this year. I was also a delegate to our county alliance and at that the delegates declared they would not pay over twelve cents per pound for binding twine this year. I have talked to a large number of farmers that are not alliance men but they will stand firmly with us in the fight to down the twine trust. H. E. Cooke, of The Polk County Journal, Crookston, Minn., has been doing first-class work on this matter, and writes us "Keep it hot!" We will. A letter from Castleton, Dak., says: At a farmers' meeting held here it was resolved to investigate the matter of making binding twine from flax. Committees were appointed to get all the information possible, and if favorable, farmers will sow large quantities of flax thit season. The Rural is just delighted to see the farmers moving in all directions. This correspondent inquires for factories that make binding twine of flax. Factories will be operated in new places, if it is decided to do this. A Nebraska correspondent says: I have gathered in a few of the twine agreements and have 400 names, 400 men who have agreed that before they will pay more than twelve cents per pound for twine they will stack their grain loose. But we do not propose to stop here. We have organized a county alliance since I circulated those agreements, and at that meeting the alliance ordered one hundred copies of the agreement struck off and put into circulation. The following comes without address: We all pledge ourselves not to use a single pound of twine for the year 1889, unless it can be obtained at twelve and one-half cents per pound or less. S. D. Dutton, A. W. Sexton, Wm. Dustin, J. T. Green, R. G. Rumsey, G. W. Austin, Ira Austin, Harvy Austin, Alvia H. Austin, A. J. Richards, John Fundus, Alex Searl J. H. Taylor, George Francis, Siths Rohr, Wm. F. Stevens.

We have taken the above from the pile of agreements that lay before us, just as they come. The declarations are strong and show a commendable determination. The movement has nearly scared the twine people to death; and has already frightened them into making lower prices than they intended making. One of the largest houses in Chicago said recently to a representotive of The Rural: The trust must come down with their prices, for the farmers do not intend to buy the twine, and if the twine cannot be sold, some of the twine people will be swamped financially.

The Crop Outlook.

Prairie Farmer.

In another column we give local reports of crops, plowing, etc. Our general correspondence shows that in Michigan and Northern Indiana, winter wheat, on April 25th, was 4 to 6 inches; in Northern Ohio, 6 to 8 inches; in Southern Ohio, 10 to 12 inches; in Southern Indiana and Southern Illinois, 12 to 20 inches high; in Kentucky, 16 to 18 inches; in Tennessee, 18 to 20 inches; in Southern Missouri, 12 to 16 inches; in Northern Missouri and Central Illinois, 8 to 10 inches; in Northern Kansas, 10 to 12 inches; and in Southern Kansas 18 to 24 inches. In California, wheat stands in full head, and 36 to 44 inches high. It is heading out in those districts marking 20 inches in height.

The weather, as a whole, is favorable to all growing crops. In the great corn-belt of the West, planting is now being rushed, and some fields are ready for the cultivator. Except in the far Northwest, spring wheat is out of the ground and growing fast. The seeding in Northern Minnesota and Dakota is finished, the season being fully four weeks ahead of last year. In Texas rust is reported on fall-sown wheat in a few sections. As a rule, the seeding of spring wheat in the principal belt for that grain was completed as early as April 20th, with rather dry weather. There has generally been a deficiency of rain in the West, but not to the injury of growth. On the whole there has seldom been so good an outlook for growing grain at this season of the year. Grass promises to make a heavy growth of hay. Corn is generally up in Tennessee and Kentucky and in Texas it is reported about 12 inches high.

Reports from Iowa show a good outlook for crops. In the central and southern counties considerable corn been planted; some of it is up, and cultivators will be in operation the first week in May. No damage is reported from frosts. In fact, in states west of the Mississippi, northward to Minnesota and Dakota, the weather continues favorable for all crops and fruit, as it has been east of the river. Reports from the South also continue favorable. Heavy rains have been experienced on the Atlantic south from New York to Georgia; with good rains in Florida, Georgia, and over the Eastern Rocky Mountain slope, from Texas north to Dakota, with seasonable rains in New England, the lower lake region, and Ohio, extending into Indiana and Michigan, Northern and Central Illinois. Indiana and Wisconsin would have been better with more rain. In the West, generally, the temperature continues about normal for the season.

Good Security and Cheap Money.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

The discussion of the prevailing rates of interest has been general the past winter, and many state legislatures have lowered the legal rate of interest. It is a little remarkable, however, that the rate of interest on unquestioned security is always lower than the legal rate, showing that, after all legislation has but little to do with the rate of interest; low rates going with security which involves no risk or trouble to the lender, while high rates are asked for the class of loans which are difficult to collect, and which have no security, or very little. It follows, therefore, that all laws which diminish the lender's security, or make collections difficult, tend to make interest rates higher. In Minnesota, before the passage of the Lucas lien law, which has lately been declared unconstitutional, money was beginning to be offered on the best real estate security at five per cent., but as soon as his law was passed, notice was given of its withdrawal, as the effect of the law was to make property subject to unrecorded liens, of which the lender could not have warning, before placing the loan, and the low-priced money, which was seeking absolutely safe investment, was taken to states that had wiser legislatures. Nothing but harm resulted to all classes as the result of the passage of the law, as it did not protect the working man any more than the old law, and led to numbers of unnecessary suits and great expense which chiefly benefitted the lawyers. The laws to secure low rates of interest are those which promote honesty and debt paying. Cheap money may be coaxed in by such measures; it can easily be driven out by laws which make dodging debts and hiding property easy. These laws need not conflict with laws giving borrowers protection from the avarice of shylocks.

Reform and Progress.

The Western Rural.

I. As a representative of the agricultural interest, The Rural demands such conditions of general trade and commerce as shall secure to the producer the result of his labor, and condemns, without fear or favor, all methods which rob him of its equivalent in marketing his products or obtaining his supplies.

II. The central idea of all proposed reformation of to-day is economic in character and as the system of public education is closely related to the general welfare, the present theoretical teaching of the schools should be supplemented by agricultural and manual training to the end that all labor may be dignified, that the people may be made self-supporting, crime lessened and the tendency to crowd into the great centers of population, corrected.

III. The Rural insists upon general organization among farmers. It gives them social advantages for intellectual improvement, and is the most potent force for self-protection. It is the farmer's perfect defense against the evils which assail him. Without organization farmers are in constant danger of being the victims of scheming scoundrels who organize capital into "trusts" and "combines." The farmers must save themselves through organization and act as one man in the interest of American agriculture. Should each and every farmer unite with the alliance, grange or similar organization, and sustain the paper that affords a means of communication between the different societies, blending all into one grand brotherhood, any desired reform may be affected, and no trust could withstand the assault of the united army.

IV. The Rural and its army of readers oppose any and all "trusts" which may be formed to enrich the few at the expense of the many. The purpose of a trust is to control prices, destroy competition, corner the market, prevent the operation of the law of supply and demand, to gather where it has not sown, to get something for nothing. When capital combines for this object, the anomaly is presented of a king in a republic laying a tax upon the people through the agency of the iniquitous trust which it has created in sugar, coal or cordage. Notorious among the many plots to rob the producer is the binding twine trust. In January, The Rural sounded the alarm and advised to avoid the use of twine in all practical ways. Already more than 500,000 farmers, directly and indirectly, have responded that they will not buy twine at an unreasonable price. The upward tendency of the price of twine has been checked. Had it not been for the determined stand taken, there is no doubt but the trust price would have been from twenty to twenty-five cents. The magnitude of the monetary interest at stake was great, but the real impelling force of the movement against the trust was the principle involved in the contest. The spirit of opposition to oppression animated the farmers in this contention with a trust which mainly affects them as a class, and The Rural is with them in the fight from the beginning to the end.

It is possible to still further reduce the price of twine if the farmers continue to stand with a bold front against this giant monopoly.

Save the Money.

Western Rural: Saving money is a good trait. It is not necessary to be niggardly either in personal expenditures or in business or in government. There is such a thing as being penny wise and pound foolish. Every man should spend enough to make himself and his family comfortable, if he has it to spend. He should spend all that the necessities of his business require, and the government should expend all that may be necessary to properly transact its business. But no man has the right, as an individual, in his home or his business, or as an official, to throw away money. Economy is a good thing, and the more economical a man can be and properly conduct his affairs, the more praise he deserves. But the trouble in the world is, that when the average man gets his hands on other people's money he is less careful than he is when handling his own money. He is not careful in counting the cents and too often not careful in counting the dollars. That is the trouble with our officials. That is the trouble with those fellows down at Washington who say that a congressman cannot live on five thousand dollars a year. It is noticeable, however, that there are a number of congressmen who, after the expiration of their term in congress, are mighty glad to get a position in Washington for three thousand dollars or even two thousand. They cannot live on five thousand simply because they think that they have an opportunity to get more to squander.

Trust Organs Say Scarce Sugar.

Prairie Farmer.

The organs of the trusts are just now lamenting that the sugar crop in Brazil and the West Indies is short, that speculation in Europe and in Cuba is putting up prices, that there is no possibility of beet sugar supplying the deficiency, and that it is not a factor in the market. In the fact that beet sugar manufactured in Europe constitutes full three-quarters of the cane sugar (sucrose) of the world, the statement is evidently inspired by the sugar trust. Refined sugar has advanced about 1½ cents per pound within the last 60 days, and it is going higher. This advance comes out of the pockets of every person, old and young, in the United States, and goes directly into the pockets of the manufacturers within the trust.

There was never a country in the world where the people were so taxed as is now found in the United States. This state of things will exist and continue in intensity until the people demand of their legislators that a small class shall not be allowed to pile up vast fortunes, stolen from the necessities of the people. Farmers, however, through the actions of the Grange, the Alliance and other organizations are awakening to the necessities of the hour. They are beginning to assert at their meetings that trusts and other swindling corporations must go. When the voice is fully united, they will go, but probably not until pot-house legislators are supplanted by men who cannot be bought with the money of lobbies. The lobbies must also go.

The Prairie Farmer's plan to scotch trusts will yet be accepted. Knock off the tariff temporarily on articles governed by trusts. Among the papers which have caught this idea is the Baltimore American, which in dealing with the subject of taking the tariff off sugar, says: "It is about the only way that the iniquities of the trust can be remedied."

The California Collapse.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

Probably no country ever experienced such a real estate boom as California, and in no country has the reaction been more severe. The real estate sharpers reaped a rich reward, as they sold practically for cash, their terms being generally one-third cash, one-third in sixty days and the balance in ninety days. They expected the crash and stood from under, and yet the drop was so sudden that many victims had not made their deferred payments. The whole country where speculation ran wild is being foreclosed on, and hard times prevail, such as the Northwest has never had a taste of. People who counted themselves rich, are now bankrupt, and cannot pay their grocery bills. Those who could have left the country. No money is in circulation, and none is likely to be brought in for years, as the memory of the "boom" and the "bust" will not die out in this generation. The lesson of all this is that the man who is content to follow a legitimate business and take legitimate profits is the safest and happiest, and in the long run the most successful.

Needs Inspection Himself.

St. Paul Globe: J. Woolslencroft, of Heron Lake, Minn., has been appointed meat inspector for that village and township. He became so impressed with the importance of his office that he forthwith sat down and indited a letter to the secretary of state: "I write you for definition of the law. Now, can the farmer kill for his own use or the use of his family with the animal being inspected before killed or not?" Having mailed the letter, Mr. Woolslencroft returned home and awaited developments. Yesterday the reply was forwarded: "Yes; the law only applies to meat for the market, not for that to be used by the family for purely domestic purposes."

Fertile Journal: Dr. Nelson has received a very encourging letter from U. S. Senator Davis in regard to his application for the position of consul to Copenhagen. The doctor is without doubt qualified for the performance of the duties of the office, and is well worthy of the position; and moreover, the faithful and efficient work he has done for his party in political campaigns cannot be overlooked.

Northwestern Agriculturist: The Holstein-Friesian breeders have scored wonderful triumphs during the past five years, and more is being done systematically to develop profitable qualities in this breed than in all the rest combined, and what has been done has been done wisely, in the direction of still further development of points where the breed is already strong. No Holstein-Friesian men are talking beef points, or breeding toward beef, while many of the Shorthorn men are advocating the policy of trying to make dairy stock out of that grand beef breed, instead of still further perfecting it in the direction of beef.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE,
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
AT BOTTOM PRICES.

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

Opposite Merchants' Nat'l Bank.

☞ WE ARE AGAIN ON DECK ☜

WITH A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

FARM MACHINERY.

And are ready to Setve the Tillers of the Soil at a moment's notice.

WE HAVE A SPECIALTY TO OFFER IN THE

Dowagiac Shoe Drill.

This Drill reigns supreme as KING OF THE FIELD, and stands forth unrivaled as the most perfect Seed Planter extant. It will save to the farmer enough seed to pay for it the first season, besides doing the most complete work, and finishing as it goes. No wide-awake farmer can afford to be withou one. Guaranteed to work in any ground in which an ordinary hoe seeder will work.

☞ We can refer with pleasure to some of the progressive farmers in this vicinity who used them last year.

Sole Agents for the Dowigiac Drill.

McKinnon Bros., MAIN STREET, CROOKSTON, MINN.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1889. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

Scandia-American

BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital.........$200,000
Paid in Capital.........50,000
Surplus.........2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson, Crookston.
O. H. Lucken, "
Lewis Ellington, "
A. G. Gallasch, "
T. J. Thorsen, "
Max Ericsson, "
A. D. Stephens, "
E. P. Pierce, "
J. H. Locken, "
Carl Hendricksen, Grafton.
A. E. Johnson, St. Paul.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 16, 1889.

'Round Home.

Vote for the bonds.

Wheat, 1 hard, 77 cents.

H. W. Cleveland came down from Mentor on Tuesday.

C. O. Christianson will celebrate the 17th in Moorhead.

Carpets are washed nicely at the Crookston Steam Laundry. [4-6]

Anderson & Co. received a large consignment of banannas on Tuesday.

If you don't want a road four or five miles south of the city vote for the bonds.

Sheriff Paulsrud returned on Tuesday morning having safely escorted Williams to St. Peter.

Miss Edith Copeland came over from York to attend Penelope returning on Wednesday morning.

Arnie Hill has the leading sewing machine in the market and extras for all machines. Call and see.

Cashier Louis Ellington returned on Monday from a pleasant visit below, looking refreshed, and handsomer than ever.

H. B. Jennings started this morning for Tacoma. If he likes the country he intends to remain and grow up with it.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Boucher have been called upon to part with their little one-week-old daughter who died on Sunday morning.

Fresh fruits and confectionery and the choicest of cigars and tobaccos always in stock at Arnie Hill's. Call and sample 'em.

Hon. H. Steenerson reports that snow fell at Moorhead while he was there on Tuesday. He rode to Glyndon through quite a snow storm.

C. H. Saake has opened his branch jewelry store on Robert street where Fred Rauch may be found ready to attend to the wants of their customers. Drop in and look the new place over.

Harry, the fifth ward merchant says he is doing a booming business; those little rats (the mewls) have all they can do to deliver his orders. Serves you right, Harry, we hope you will have to get an additional delivery team to enable you to keep up.

We handle four different kinds of washing machines. We can suit you and at reasonable prices.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

"Where's Ham?" has been the query for the last ten days, as everybody noticed that Ham Thompson was not on deck in the barber shop. The Prof., who has located at Butte, Montana, sent for his son, and ergo Ham is now in Butte.

McIntosh will celebrate the 17th of May in due and ancient form. If you have decided to vote against the issue of the bonds you can more profitably employ your time for yourself and your city by going to McIntosh to celebrate. They want a lot of just such fellows to help 'em out.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands or the northwest. [1-tf]

On Saturday about 6 o'clock Sheriff Paulsrud's son was at the creamery with Martin Williams, when Williams took it into his head to light out, which he did followed by the boy in hot pursuit. Alarm was given and the police rendered valuable assistance to Sheriff Paulsrud re-capturing Williams which he did a few miles south of the city.

Sampson is reported to be doing a good deal of hard work against the bonds. This is consistent with his attitude all through but will not be sufficient to defeat the bonds any more than he was able to prevent the passing of the bill. It would be odd if in a short time he should come before the city as a suppliant for $10,000 or so to re-build his mill. The city will be under no obligations to him.

We are headquarters for all kinds of dairy supplies, of our own manufacture. They are good and prices are right.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,
Stoves and Hardware.

Judge Ives should give the figures which he says he has in relation to the cost of building that road as the subject is one of great importance to this people and if he has any good reasons why the bonds should be defeated he should show them up. We do not accept his statement as to cost of the road, being pretty well satisfied that the cost will exceed over four times the amount asked, however, be that as it may it cuts no great figure, the question of importance to us being, "will it pay?" We think it will not pay us to risk the Fort Stevenson line going south of us five or six miles, and we think the building of this line will pay for it will be the Fort Stevenson line. The Northern Pacific could not afford to build a spur, and leave it so neither is this contemplated. We are surprised that the Judge, who has advocated the building of a line here should take the position that he does upon the bonds. We attribute it wholly to a mistaken idea as he has ever been very zealous in his efforts for the good of the city and county.

Mayor Lilly and Judge Montague made a brief visit to St. Paul last week.

A. V. Eastman was in the city from St. Paul this week.

J. W. Wheeler steps high. A ten pound baby girl Tuesday morning. All doing nicely.

Harris & Glenn moved A. C. Schmidt's old paint shop to the rear of his present shop, last week.

Dr. M. Van Dyke, Miss Alice and Mrs. A. Allen went to Maple Lake on Saturday, returning on Tuesday.

Will Cleary left for Larimore on Wednesday morning to accept a position offered him in the Register of Deeds office.

Tom Harris went up to Warren last week to replace a warehouse that had been blown from its foundations across the sidetrack.

A. H. Smith returned on Tuesday evening from a trip to Park River, D. T. Says business is good and crops looking nicely over there.

Arnie Hill has just received a consignment of pianos, organs, and all kinds of musical instruments. When you want a reliable instrument call and see Arnie Hill, corner Broadway and Robert.

Joseph Bakken, who was some time since arrested on a charge of stealing timber, and gave bail, was surrendered by his bondsmen last week and lodged in the county jail. Later he gave new bail and was released.

Dan. Patterson came down from St. Hilaire last week with M. Williams, who was thought to be crazy. He was taken before Judge Christianson for examination and sent to St. Peter on Saturday night in care of Sheriff Paulsrud.

William Godfrey, Jr., went to Montana last week to try the realities of western life. He goes out to where Jack Coufair is, who writes that business is on the boom just now and everybody getting rich. Sam Godfrey has the bee in his bonnet also and may be carried off.

It is rumored that the mill hands have been notified that they forfeit their place if they vote for the bonds. We do not believe that report as, if such was the case, it would be too easy to prove, and would place the mil company in an exceedingly uncomfortable position.

Chief Hayes took occasion to give us a racket in the Times last week. If the chief had exercised his usual good sense we think he would have saved that spectacle of himself, as the cause of his complaint was a matter that had been reported to us and was so stated too plainly to be misunderstood, unless a person was bound to, anyhow.

Some graceless whelp has been destroying shade trees for Frank Haseltine, our genial nurseryman. Such a wanton destruction of property is worthy a term at Stillwater, and if Frank can find out who did it no doubt some such a happenstance may occur. When a person can find no better employment the world would be well rid of him.

Reports from the crops are more encouraging this week. While much damage was done, it does not appear to be as extensive as was at first feared and many pieces that appeared to be ruined are coming out with but little loss. Some who had commenced to re-seed have quit, finding that they were doing more hurt than good. There seems to be considerable moisture yet in the ground from frost.

THE JOURNAL is in receipt of a neat little catalogue of Hope Academy, Moorhead, printed by the News. This flourishing institution has an efficient corps of instructors, among whom we notice the name of J. P. Mattson, formerly editor of the Warren Sheaf. It is singular to what lengths newspaper men will go—some have even been sent to the legislature to serve a term, but that calamity has never yet happened to a Red River Valley editor, that we are aware of.

Will. McManus was down from the Thirteen last week telling how Dept. Sheriff Grundyson and himself killed the bear. After chasing bruin until he got tired of that music he reversed the order of things and the boys had to fly for their lives. The deputy did not think it prudent to arrest the bear without a warrant and before he could obtain one the bear had removed to Red Lake. Will thinks had not their sand run low at the critical moment they could have killed the bear.

On Thursday, at 10 o'clock, the prisoners accused of the assault on Senholt were brought before Judge Lewis for trial. Nick Funk, who had given bail, did not put in an appearance and the bail was declared forfeited. The accused asked for a change of venue which was promptly granted and the case sent to Judge Spendley. Under the old law a change of venue was not admissable and many a justice would have been led to the commission of a fatal error in the case by refusing to grant it. But Judge Lewis proved equal to the emergency, showing that he keeps himself well posted on the laws. He said that it was a pleasure to him to give others a chance to enjoy some of the rich blessings of such cases, so he would send the case to Judge Spendley. The prisoners were taken back to jail, and at 2 o'clock were brought before Judge Spendley, when it was found that Senholt was too sick to attend the examination, so bail was fixed at $1,500 and the prisoners went back to jail. The case is to come up to-day.

D. Jacobus left for St. Paul on Sunday night.

The cool weather of the past week has been very beneficial to crops, helping them to withstand the effects of the lack of rain.

Miss Alice Van Dyke arrived from Pennsylvania on Thursday morning to spend the summer with her brother, the doctor.

Mr. L. K. Aaker has been appointed Receiver of the Land Office in place of Mr. Dunlava, whose appointment had never been confirmed.

W. H. Jewell, one of the old settler engineers, goes to Grand Forks to take a north run for awhile. We hope "Duke's" absence will be a brief one.

Will Van Dyke was mourning a lame ankle last Saturday, caused by a pail which had just left the hand of a friend and filed a claim in his vicinity. Will is now O. K. again, but still feels a little pale himself.

Harry Attix, the rustling Fifth Ward merchant, sent us a sample of Iowa cheese that just melts in your mouth. It costs no more than cheese that won't melt and is worth double. Harry says he is having a good trade.

Glyndon News: F. J. Rothpletz, who was many years ago station agent at Glyndon, and subsequently in the newspaper business at Perham, Red Lake Falls and Crookston, has blossomed out as a real estate boomer in Knoxville, Tenn.

We sell the following reliable goods:
Baker Barb Wire.
Quick Meal Gasoline Stoves.
Jewett Cook Stoves.
Favorite Barrel Churns.
Cedar Rapids Pumps.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD.

One more sad warning has been added to THE JOURNAL'S frequent admonition to the boys to keep off the fatal logs in the river. Almost daily can be seen small children playing in a skiff, or perhaps gathering wood from the river, until the wonder is that so few accidents occur.

As the fire department in the Fifth Ward were practicing on Saturday night, a small boy, son of Joe. Cloquet, was run over by the soda fountain and quite seriously injured. The boys were running to put out a fire that had been set for practice, and did not see the lad in time to save him. At last accounts he was getting along nicely.

D. H. Beecher, a former citizen of Crookston and still a large taxpayer here writes about the proposed issue of bonds for another railroad: "I'd like to be there and able to cast 100 votes for the issue of bonds. I'll gladly take the chances on paying my proportion of the increase of taxes caused by all such improvements, if you will vote them."

The department were summoned on Sunday at a little after 1 o'clock to attend a fire in a Norwegian boarding house across the river. Upon their arrival it was found that the fire had been extinguished with slight loss, but everybody along the line had made arrangements to get out, as the wind was just right to make a clean sweep had the fire got a good start.

Largest stock of paints in the city. We sell the Northwestern brand, which we guarantee to be first-class.
STEWART & SPOTTSWOOD,
Stoves and Hardware.

A petition was presented at the council meeting on Tuesday evening asking that the salary of the chief of police be raised to $75 and that of the rest of the force to $60 per month. If the duties are faithfully performed those figures are not too much, as they are required to put in longer hours than the ordinary laborer. St. Paul pays patrolmen $50, but they are only required to be on duty certain hours, while our patrolman has to put in as near the whole 24 hours as a man can do and live. If $50 per month is sufficient, then there should be at least three patrolmen to do efficient service. It strikes us as a ridiculous idea to require a man to do two or three men's work, and that at wages that men receive for ordinary ten hours work. The city needs an efficient police force, and a few dollars extra expense that tends to destroy that efficiency is poor economy.

Penelope.

The charming little operetta, "Penelope," was again rendered on Tuesday evening with Miss Minnie Ayres in the title roll. Part first of the program consisted of vocal and instrumental music, well rendered, and the reading of "The Battle of Ivry," by S. W. Vance Esq. Miss Ayers, as "Penelope," was as charming and vivacious as ever, while Miss Cassie Mix, as "Croaker, the Missus" was just splendid, meriting justly deserved applause. Her rendition of "Say to them" was exceedingly fine, expressing the heighth of sarcasm and scorn intended, in a manner almost perfect. She made a decided hit when the slipper which she threw came in close proximity to the fifth ward merchant's proboscis. "Pitcher" and "Tosser" were in high feather, sustaining their parts perfectly. Fred Mix, as "Chalks, the Milkman," was in excellent voice and his rendition of that character left nothing to be desired. Numerous bouquets found their way to the stage, but the one presented to Fred Durand was the cap-sheaf, being something less than six feet high and gaudy in proportion. The hall was well filled and all apparently enjoyed the entertainment hugely.

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE!

ALLL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS $8.00

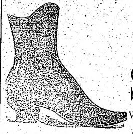
GRAND ARMY SUITS $8.00

Warranted GENUINE SLATER FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED Fast Colors, OR MONEY Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT —THE ONLY— C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT OF THE KIND IN THE NORTHWEST.



Fontaine & Anglim's SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrated Factory of E. P. REED & CO., The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

A Sad Drowning.

On Saturday afternoon two boys, sons of Ole Erickson, were at play on the river bank back of the residence of their parents, together with two little French boys, when Ole, the older of the brothers jumped upon a log in the river. On attempting to jump back to land he missed his footing and fell in, whereupon his little brother, Andrew, jumped in to save him. The boys on the bank at once started for help, the one running to call the father of the boys who was at work upon his new house, and the other to where Benjamin Geroux was plowing a garden near by. Mr. Erickson, upon arriving, saw the form of one of the boys and jumped in, caught hold of the boy, but the water was deep and the boy's frantic struggles were proving too much for Mr. Erickson, when Mr. Geroux fortunately arrived and catching Mr. Erickson's hand helped them both out. The boy proved to be Andrew, and as he appeared to be yet alive, vigorous efforts were at once put forth to resuscitate him, while a messenger was dispatched post haste for a doctor. Dr. Just was soon upon the spot and the boy was taken into Isaac Knudsen's house where the doctor worked over him until it was clearly demonstrated that the vital spark had fled. Meanwhile Mr. Geroux had succeeded in obtaining the body of the other boy which he also brought into Mr. Knudsen's house. Ole was 10 years old and Andrew 8, and they were the only children. The funeral was largely attended on Sunday.

(Communicated.)

GROVE PARK, May 9, 1889.

We feel proud to mention that we have a citizen by the name of Jacob Berg, an American by adoption, who proved himself loyal to the oath he took by faithfully discharging his duty as a soldier in the late rebellion, and he showed on centenial day that he still possessed the same patriotic spirit by ringing the church bell one hundred times, as requested, in memory of the events that took place one hundred years ago, which have proved to be so great a blessing to all American citizens from that day till this. But we are sorry to learn that we have a young man, an American by birth, who rode up in great haste to know what the bell was ringing for, and who was so excited when it was explained to him that he remarked: "No one but an old fool would ring the bell!" Mr. Burg replied: "I never was before called a fool by such a snide as you; and, Charley, I didn't think that of you!" and then finished ringing the bell. We hope our young friend will yet learn to so appreciate what the early pioneers suffered to establish a free government and what the old veterans passed through to maintain and perpetuate the same and keep the stars and stripes unfurled to a free breeze, that he will hereafter take part in celebrating every national holiday, instead of insulting an old soldier while he is celebrating.
X.

The following items we clip from the Fosston Thirteen Towns:

Fire has been raging in the timber the past week and considerable damage is reported. A barn, belonging to Ole Anderson, was destroyed Saturday and he narrowly escaped losing his horses and cattle. Torgerson Bro's lost their granary, together with 200 bushels of wheat. The old logging camp and saw mill of the Queen Saw Mill Company, together with several hundred cords of oak slabs and about 3,000 feet of lumber were destroyed. It would seem that these repeated warnings of destruction of property would prevent the lighting of fires under unfavorable circumstances, but it is likely to continue until some one is punished for it.

A nine year-old son of ex-county commissioner, O. H. Bergdahl, died at the home of his parents, in the town of Brandsvold, on Friday last, of brain fever. The funeral services took place on Tuesday from the house, Rev. L. J. Jerdee officiating.

Hon. H. Steenerson went to Moorhead on Tuesday.

Nap Rapin has re-papered, re-painted and carpeted his place and put in electric lights.

Warren Sheaf: Sands Bros., of Lower Snake, shipped to Montana on Monday, April 30, 36 head of young cattle. They are wanting to buy young cattle, yearlings, for which they will pay cash. This is an enterprising firm and are doing a first-class business in farming.

Beltrami Telaugraphs.

BELTRAMI, May 13, 1889.

During the wind storm last Monday afternoon the windmill on the water tank was blown all to pieces.

Prof. J. G. Flemming is studying telegraphing in the office of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba R. R. Co.

Much grain in this vicinity has been uncovered by the sand storm and a number of our farmers talk of re-seeding, Hayes Bros., and D. T. Herriot have already began to re-seed.

N. A. Mott, of Ada, was here Saturday buying cattle. He will ship them to Montana.

A. Boddy has opened a real estate and insurance office on Atlantic ave.

Rev. Mr. Millard of Glyndon missionary for the American Sunday School Union was here one evening the past week and re-organized the Beltrami Union Sunday school. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year, Supt. E. W. Johnson, Asst. Supt. Mrs. D. McMillan, Sec. Willie McMillan, Treas. J. G. Flemming, Librarian K. O. Flakne. Services every Sunday in the Beltrami school house at 11 a. m. All interested in the study of God's word are invited to come.

Miss Irene Taylor an earnest, faithful laborer in the Master's cause will conduct divine services in the school house in District No. 104, next Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

D. McMillan and J. Jensen "took in" the county seat on Saturday.

Married on the 2d at the residence of the bride's parents, by Squire Nickle, John C. Williams to Minnie Price, all of the town of Reis. We wish them many happy prosperous years.
EDNA.

$25 REWARD.

I will pay $25 reward for information leading to the conviction of the parties who destroyed my house and stove on Sec. 33, in Tp. 150, R. 46.
[4-5] JAS. GREENHALGH, SR.

HERDING.

The undersigned will herd cattle the present season on the following terms: Where owners tie up their cattle evenings, 75 cts. per month; where I tie up cattle evenings, $1 per month.
JOHN NICHOLSON.

Whitney Baby Carriages.

Those Whitney baby carriages have now arrived—the second large invoice of the season. The rapid sales of these carriages prove how they are appreciated. Try the Whitney, at Herb's.

Turkeys Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.
MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

LIST OF LETTERS.

List of advertised letters in the P. O. Crookston for the week ending May 12th 1889.

Berg, E P
" A K
Chureillier, O
Davis, Mr
Ellis, J W
Flowers, Herbert—2
Greinwood, C B
Gunderson, Kile
Hanson, John M
Holoyer, Michiel
Heroerson, Maggie—2
Heltland, Ludvig
Halvorson, Christine
Lund, John
Johnson & Knudsvig
Loduce, Agnes
Melland, Agusta
Mero, Sarah Miss
Markley, A S
Messon, C L
McBride, Will
Olson, Gustaf
Olson, Peter
Thom, Chas
Toreson, John
Williams, W S

ALEX McKINNON, P. M.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given, that on Friday, the 17th day of May, 1889, an election will be held in the city of Crookston, in Polk County, Minnesota, for the purpose of deciding whether or not the city of Crookston shall issue to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company the bonds of said city in the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars, in accordance with the requirements of a certain petition, of which petition the following is the substance:

To the Honorable the City Council of the City of Crookston:

We, the undersigned, resident freeholders of the city of Crookston, Minnesota, hereby petition the City Council of said city, to appoint and designate a day for an election to be held in said city, for the purpose of voting upon the question of issuing bonds to the Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company, upon the proposition of said Company, (a copy of which proposition is hereto annexed and made a part of this petition,) and ask that the question of issuing said bonds may be submitted to the qualified voters of said city.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 18th day of April, A. D. 1889.

The Duluth, Crookston & Northern Railroad Company in its corporate capacity, hereby makes to the city of Crookston, in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said city's corporate capacity as a municipal corporation, the following proposition, to-wit: If said city of Crookston, by an election duly had and held according to law shall, in accordance with a special act of the Legislature of the State of Minnesota, approved April 4th, 1889, entitled "An act to authorize the City of Crookston, in Polk County, to issue bonds to aid in the construction of any Railroad or Railroads which may hereafter run into said city, and to provide for bond commissioners to hold such bonds in escrow, and to deliver the same when earned," shall vote and agree to issue, and shall issue, to aid said corporation in the construction of its railroad tracks the bonds of said city of the par value of Fifty Thousand Dollars, said bonds to draw interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable annually, and to be fifty bonds issued in sums of One Thousand Dollars each, and payable thirty years after date of the issuance thereof; said Railroad Company hereby agrees to build and complete ready for operation by or before November 1st, 1889, a standard gauge Railroad from some point on the line of the Duluth & Manitoba Railroad between the village of Fertile, in Polk County, Minnesota, and the south line of Section 28, in Township one hundred and fifty, Range forty-four, in Polk County, Minnesota; to and into the city of Crookston in said county, and to give to the city of Crookston Railroad facilities for getting to Lake Superior and to St. Paul, Minnesota, otherwise than by any Railroad operated by the same Company now operating Railroads in Crookston. Said bonds to be delivered to said Railroad Company when said Railroad shall be built and ready for operation as above agreed. Said Railroad corporation agrees thereafter to maintain and operate said railroad, or cause the same to be maintained and operated as a part of one continuous Railroad system extending to Lake Superior and to St. Paul, Minnesota, and shall give good train service thereon.

R. J. MONTAGUE, President.
{ CORPORATE SEAL. } E. M WALSH, Secretary.

The polling places for said election in the several wards of the city of Crookston shall be as follows:

1st ward—At the City Hall.
2d ward—At the law office of William Watts, on Broadway.
3d ward—At the law office of Steenerson and McManus, on Broadway.
4th ward—At the sample room of the St. Louis Hotel on Ash street.
5th ward—At the Carman Hotel.

The polls will be open in the different wards of the city at 9 o'clock a. m. and will close at 5 o'clock p. m.

By order of the City Council of the city of Crookston.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., this 1st day of May, 1889.

JOHN PATERSON, City Clerk,
By A. B. GORGAS, Deputy.
WM. WATTS,
President of City Council.
JAS. W. LILLY, Mayor.

WANTED.

Situation on a farm by man and wife. Address H. H., Box 368, Crookston., Minn. [3-5]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:50 o'clock p. m., in book "30" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100,) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.
THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.
A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

A Statement That Bonds of the Duluth and Winnipeg are Sold.

Duluth Evening Herald.

It is stated, and apparently on good authority, that General Manager Fisher, of the Duluth and Winnipeg road, has telegraphed from New York that bonds of the road are practically sold and would be placed, without doubt, in a week or two. Work on the road has been stopped since the adjournment of the legislature, because of the unfriendly action taken by that body regarding land grant matters. It has not been believed by anyone that the stoppage was anything more than temporary, to allow the road to get over the blow given it by the legislature and find another spot in the money market for sale of bonds. If a realization of capital is assured from the sale of bonds, as intimated by Mr. Fisher, work will begin as soon as possible and will be pushed as rapidly as possible to and beyond the Mississippi to the northwest. Unless the unexpected should occur Messrs. Fisher and Markell, together with the contractors, Foley Bros. & Co. will be in Duluth in a few weeks to start work at the end of track.

The officers of the company have advised sub-contractors not to have their supplies and teams any distance from the scene of operations, believing that construction would surely be pushed before the close of the season. Just at present all leading directors and officers of the railroad and the construction company connected with it are absent in the east or elsewhere, and but little possitive information can be learned. Enough is certain, however, to insure the statement that whatever may be the result of Mr. Fisher's New York mission in selling bonds, money will be raised and the work go on. The Herald has not been among those who believed the work done on the line last year was in the way of buncombe or bluff, and it is certain that the twenty miles built is the initial section of a great road, soon to take its place as one of the trunk roads of the west. Too much has been done, and there are too many heavy capitalists back of this scheme to ever allow it to go by the board, let alone the practicability of the road and the certainty of a flourishing business from the start. The definite news of a recommencement of operations will be a good thing ror Duluth.

Progressive Farming Pays.

T. P. Montfort, in Prairie Farmer.

Why is it so many farmers persist in rearing the very commonest and least profitable breeds of stock, when it has been demonstrated time after time that they are committing financial suicide in so doing? Over and over again it has been made apparent that scrub stock does not pay, and that it is just as easy to rear good steck, and yet there are hundreds of farmers in every county throughout the west, who will not, or at least do not make any effort to improve the stock on their farms. I do not know to what this apathy or disinterestedness on their part is to be ascribed, unless it be to the fact that they are rut-bound. It is probable that hey have become so accustomed to the old methods and the old habits that they cannot break away from them. I know this is the case with many farmers. They remember how their fathers farmed, and they follow in their tracks, never for a moment stopping to consider that the world moves and that mankind must take up with new discoveries and advance to the front, if they expect to make farming profitable.

In farming, as in every other branch of business, competition is close, and it needs good judgment, care and watchfulness to make it pay. It requires economy, and there is nothing more economical than good stock. One good, sound, reliable horse is worth two or three poor, broken-down plugs, and yet he is no more expensive to keep than one cheap plug. Here is a saving of a saving of a good many dollars in the course of a year.

Then in the matter of cows, there is the greatest waste in keeping the scrub stock. Everybody admits that one good blooded cow is worth more to the farmer than two scrubs, yet, hundreds of farmers hold to the scrubs, and no amount of reasoning will induce them to change.

There is no sense in getting set so firmly in one's ways that no reasoning will change them. Because your father, and your grandfathers for generations back had a particular method of doing a thing, it does not follow that it is applicable to your case, no matter how invaluable it was at a previous time. The breeds of stock have been improved and advanced every year, and the common scrubs, although they once answered all purposes well enough, are too far in the rear to prove valuable property.

Successful farmers keep abreast of the times, and drop the old things for the newer and better ones. They realize that the world moves, and that progress is just as essential on the farm, as elsewhere.

Cheap Potatoes.

W. E. K., in Northwestern Agriculturist: The discussions on potato culture in the eastern agricultural press are extremely interesting and no doubt instructive, but at the prices Dakota farmers have to pay for labor, some of the methods of culture recommended would bankrupt us. We have to reduce our labor bills and depend on our rich soil to make up the deficit. Our problem is, not how to raise the largest number of bushels of tubers per acre, but how to raise potatoes at the smallest cost per bushel. I have found it profitable, to plant my potatoes while plowing the ground. The seed potatoes (usually small) are cut into small pieces. These are dropped in every third furrow, so that the rows will be from three to three and a half feet apart, according to the size of the plow. Care should be taken to drop the seed on one side of the furrow, so the rows will be straight. One man will drop seed as fast as one team will plow and when the plowing is completed the planting is done. The land is then thoroughly baerowed at once. This packs the earth over the seed and insures quick germination. The land should be harrowed once or twice a fortnight until the potatoes are six or eight inches high and very little after cultivation will be necessary. The plow reduces the cost of potato growing to a minimum, and if the harrowing is thoroughly done, the yield will be as satisfactory as by any other method. Of course they should be dug with a plow.

The Farmer a Business Man.

New England Farmer.

The man who knows only how to turn a good furrow, prepare the soil for the seed, stop the growth of weeds and promote the growth of plants, has not mastered the art of successful farming. Nor has the man who knows only how to raise fine horses, sleek cattle, or fat swine, or how to fertilize his fields to the best advantage, raise the best corn or potatoes, or the highest yield of oats or barley.

The man who to-day really makes a thorough success as a farmer must combine all these elements of knowledge and many more.

It used to be said that any fool could be a farmer; but at the present day people begin to realize that the farmer needs the most education. The time has gone by when hap-hazard slip-shod, go as-you-please methods of farming can be made to pay.

What would be thought of the manufactuer who did not know to the fraction of a cent the cost of the raw material and labor put into a yard of cloth, or the manufacture of leather who did not know the exact cost of the material or labor required to make a case of boots and shoes, or the manufacturer of oleomargarine—he knows what it costs per pound, and laughs in his sleeves at the farmer's giltedge butter.

And yet how many farmers can tell the cost of a pound of butter or pork, a bushel of potatoes or corn, or a ton of hay? They sell their products for what they are offered, not knowing whether they are making or losing.

The remedy is this: When farmers come to realize that farming is a business as much as manufacturing or banking or buying and selling goods, and by a careful keeping of accounts learn to figure the cost of every article they propuce, then a successful beginning will have been made. Let them keep debit and credit with every acre of corn or potatoes or beans or grain.

Charge each acre with interest its value, the probable amount of fertilizing material used by the crop, the cost of labor in its care. Credit it with the market value of the crop produced. The difference between the two will represent the profit or loss.

A like account should be kept with the herd of cows. If any of the number entails a loss upon you, dispose of her.

Keep a strict account with the orchard, if you have one. Debit it with the labor employed in its care and in harvesting of its fruit. Credit it with the value of its golden product, and learn from the balance on the right side of the ledger that it is one of your best friends. I have said that the farmer needs to be educated for his business. One branch of study I would particulary recommend: that is bookkeeping. I speak from personal knowledge and experience, and know it pays. It is like the compass to the mariner.

The farmer's book is one of reference to which he can at any time refer for date or article bought or sold, and price given or received for the same. The book will solve the great problem. "Where does our money go to?" and perchance lead to a more carefnl consideration and economy.

Having learned to calculate the cost of the products of the farm, the next business is to learn how to sell them. Make a study of the market, and learn for yourselves the prices of those things you wish to sell. If you cannot fix your own prices, you can at least prevent being taken advantage of by unscrupulous traders.

The Rich Man.

The Northwestrn Agriculturist.

There are two kinds of rich men in the world; one grows rich by the misfortunes of others, and the other by the force of genius develops new industries, invent new devices which economize labor, or discovers and utilizes great natural sources of wealth. The first are robbers and grow rich from plunder, the second are public benefactors and create wealth by adding to the world's comfort and convenience. The man who, like Jay Gould, becomes rich by wrecking railroad systems, in which the fortunes of thousands are invested, is a specimen of one class, and Edison, the inventor, belongs to the other. The public are not discriminating in their judgment of rich men, and, according to their natures people fawn upon or condemn without much consideration of the means by which wealth was won, and yet this is the vital question and ought to fix the place a rich man is to occupy in the opinion of the public.

Carleton College, according to custom, issues its catalogue for the academic year now closing. The college is located at Northfield, Minn., a town admirably fitted to be an educational center. It is a Christian, but not a sectarian institution; its methods and standards are those of the best eastern colleges, and it annually attracts a large number of young people of both sexes. Its roll for the current year numbers 301, of whom 66 are in the collegiate department, 105 are in the courses preparatory to college, 79 are pursuing shorter or irregular courses, and 119 are taking music. There is also special instruction in drawing and painting, in elocution, in stenography and typewriting, and in the Scandinavian languages. The institution offers all its advantages to both male and female students. In certain departments,—music, for instance there is, naturally a larger number of ladies than of gentlemen; but in the collegiate courses, and in the courses preparatory thereto, the number are very nearly equal, with a slight preponderance of gentlemen. Among the new features introduced during the year is military drill, under a competent instructor, for such students as choose to avail themselves of it. A fine cut of the new observatory appears as a frontispiece, and the astronomical department continues as heretofore to be a prominent one in the college. Its enterprise was shown in the sending of three professors with full astronomical and photographic equipment to the Pacific cost to observe the total eclips of the sun in January last.

With the June Roses comes "Peterson," as fresh as the first blossoms of the month. The steel-engraving and the full-page wood-illustration is each a gem in its way. The double fashion-plate presents a charming array of the latest summer costumes; and there are, besides, numersous and varied patterns for dress and needlework. The open-story, "Dick Morton's Messenger," is a capital sketch and fitly illustrated. Indeed the entire literary contents merit unqualified praise. Miss Elizabeth Scovil, superintendent of the Newport Hospital, contributes one of her invaluable "Talks by a Trained Nurse," and Mrs. Luck H. Hooper, a letter full of the freshest Parisian fashion-gossip. Terms: Two dollars a year. Address Peterson's Magazine, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dairy Schools.

A. B. Allen, in N. Y. Tribune: I favor the establishment of dairy schools in winter wherever the plan is feasible. Farmers' wives and daughters have more leisure at this season, and the schools tend at the same time to a greater degree of agreeable sociability. It may be objected that few cows are then in milk, but as dairymen have found lately that it pays best to have a part of their herd come in in autumn, instead of all in the spring, a sufficient number of winter-milkers may be found hereafter for the requirements of the dairy schools. Another thing, as it is rather more difficult to make butter in winter than in summer the instruction would probably be more thorough and advantageous.

Richness of Milk.

Northwestern Agriculturist: Tests made at the Wisconsin Experiment Station indicate that there is much more difference in the richness of the first and last milk drawn from the cow than has been generally supposed. In one test the first pint showed a proportion of fats which would require 75 pounds of milk for one pound of butter, while the thirteenth pint was rich enough to produce a pound of butter to a little less than 11 pounds. This fact shows that it is any easy matter to cheat in milk, and in cases where milk is pooled for the manufacture of butter or cheese a very great advantage could be gained by pooling the first part of the milk from each cow, and keeping the last drawn for butter, to be made at home. This unfairness can only be prevented by frequent tests of each pataon's milk.

Fancy Butter.

J. Gould, in Northwestern Agriculturist: The ten thousand grades of colors of butter are not warranted by the original quality of the milk. That diversity can only be secured by art (?) of manufacture. Ten thousand butter-makers of every state are totally ignorant of the needed qualities of fine butter and yet go on making for a market that long ago discarded that kind of butter to spread on bread, so it must be sold not for choice food, but for manufacturing purposes. When remonstrated with and shown wherein they might do better, they say such butter is "fancy," as much as to imply that it is made of some other substance than cow's milk and by a method that was a born secret in a few elect families and so scout both its possibility of general manufacture and their ability to succeed at at.

Winter Dairying.

H. Smith, in Northwestern Agriculturist: When I commenced the dairy business in 1857, there was only summer dairying in practice. I began making cheese during the summer and pursued that line until I had forty cows, managing to make enough to pay the hired man and board him. So little was known about the business that it was difficult to make much at it, except to do a large amount of work. With fifty cows on the farm the sales amounted to about $1,900. This didnt'pay. Upon changing to winter dairying it was soon discovered that the cows were giving from 500 to 1,000 pounds of milk more in the year that by the old method. Soiling and the silo were next adopted, and with their use, which greatly increased the stock-keeping capacity, so increased that at present the net profits of the dairy amount to more than did the gross sales of the product by the old method. The increased receipts are due mainly to three things—dairying, soiling and the silo; improvement in the quality of the cows kept also helped towards results. It is not owing to any superior knowledge in selling the product. There is abundant demand for first-class butter at all times in winter dairying.

Holsteins for the Dairy.

Northwestern Agriculturist: Prof. Johnston, of Michigan, in an address before the Holstein-Friesian association urged breeders to cultivate the dairy qualities of their favorites and not to sacrifice them to make better beeves. In this view he is supported by the most successful and most thoughtful champions of the breed. The fact is that the dairy qualities are of the most money value and the most difficult to secure and maintain, as the present development of the milk and butter producing quality in the best dairy cows is abnormal, while taking on flesh is a provision of nature. It requires much more skill and care to succeed as a breeder of dairy stock than with any of the beef breeds. Prof. Johnston also stated what breeders of Holsteins have found out by experience, that this is a thrifty breed, growing with wonderful vigor and making pounds as rapidly as any of the beef breeds. The points against them for beef are they mature slowly, and do not put the most flesh in the choice cuts. This is what has been many times stated by The Agriculturist. To make money out of grade Holsteins, raise the heifers for the dairy and feed and sell the bull calves as veal, or as "baby beef" soon after a year old, before the "calf fat" has disappeared.

The Silo and Ensilage.

The Northwestern Agriculturist.

The silo is the most singular of all the late inventions of importance to agriculture. At first it was made and filled in the most expensive way. All the original theories about it have long since been exploded. Every year cheapens and simplifies it, and it seems likely now to become a part of every man's barn. The first silos were built of stone with a water-tight and air-tight lining of cement, and were filled in haste, covered with air-tight covers and heavily weighted. Gradually, by blunders of one kind and another, it has been found that boards and building paper make better walls than stone, that slow filling makes sweet ensilage, while haste makes sour, and that weighting is worse than useless. Indeed, it has been discovered during the past winter that two or three inches of mold that forms on the top of the bin is the best kind of a cover, it follows that any other cover is useless and a waste of money and labor. It has also been shown that partitions are useless, one large bin being just as good as three. Another still more important thing has been proved, that ensilage is not only good for cattle but for any kind of live stock that eats grass and thrives on it. No discovery has been made which is so important to the northwest, as it solves the problem of cheep feeding for our long winters. A breeder of considerable experience said to us a day or two since that a good silo would have saved him $10,000 during the past five years. He has watched the silo doubtfully for a long time, but built one last fall, and for the first time has fed ensilage this winter. If breeders of live stock were making good profits, a large number of silos would be built this year, so convincing have been the tests made during the past winter.

S. L. COLLINS

—PROPRIETOR OF—

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Byron Culver, late of the County of Black Hawk and State of Iowa, deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of this county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate at his office in Crookston in said Polk County, on the first Monday of each month, for three successive months, commencing with September 2d 1889, and that six months from the 15th day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated Crookston, Minn., the 14th day of May A. D. 1889.

JAMES H. WILSON,
Executor of the estate of Byron Culver deceased. [4-7]

THE
St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Ry
IS THE
DIRECT AND POPULAR LINE
TO PRINCIPAL POINTS IN
MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, MONTANA
Also to St. Paul & Minneapolis.
FOR ALL POINTS SOUTH AND EAST.
THE ONLY LINE RUNNING TO THE THREE GREAT CITIES OF MONTANA, GREAT FALLS,
HELENA AND BUTTE.

Their "Montana Express" will be put in service November 10th, with a Train Equipment unexcelled, furnishing Splendid Day Coaches Palace Sleepers, Free Colonist Sleepers and Superb Dining Cars of latest design.

"Manitoba-Pacific Route"
To Puget Sound Points.
Affords Cheaper Rates than via any other.
Fast Time, Comfort, Courteous Attention.

LAND This Company has for sale in Minnesota 2,000,000 acres of Excellent Farming, Grazing and Timber Lands, at very low prices and on favorable terms.

For Maps, and general information inquire of your own Ticket Agent, or

J. BOOKWALTER, Land Com'r.
F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn
A. MANVEL, V. P. & G. M.
W. S. ALEXANDER, G. T. M

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom specially invited,
Terms $1.00 per Day.

QUE EN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price, Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DVNISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Beatie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.——— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets, at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block: Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vesitbuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free. The only line to the

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
11:10 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
12:22 a. m.	Little Falls	3:00 "
1:10 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
4:05 p. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
4:05 "	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
6:10 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:10 p. m.
9:20 "	Red Lake Falls	5:51 "
11:25 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
1:11 p. m.	Grafton	2:34 "
3:00 "	Pembin	12:33 "
6:00 "	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Gleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 16, 1889.

Trust Robbery.

The Western Rural.

One of the ways in which a trust argues the innocence is to point to the trifling sum that it steals from each individual. Such presentation of the subject is not fair. Pretty soon after The Western Rural had unearthed the existence of a binding twine trust, and began to urge farmers to strangle the conspiracy by refusing to use twine, the trust and its apologists began to deny that there was any trust, though why the big cordage companies should have sent agents wherever there was any twine left over from last year, with directions to buy it at any price, has never been explained. In time, when it was ascertained that thousands of farmers were adopting The Rural plan and were sending in their written agreements to use no twine at a higher figure than was paid last year, the trust found it necessary to make some sort of an explanation as to cause of higher prices. The explanation was that there was a legitimate short supply. Be it so, said the farmers, but we will not pay the contemplated high prices, whatever may be the cause. Then the trust addressed itself to the work of showing how small was the robbery that was to be perpetrated upon the individual farmer. The Rural had figured out that the aggregate amount that would be filched from the grain growers of the country would be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. We did not suppose that when it was known that one industry was to be robbed to the tune of $2,000,000 anybody would care to take the trouble to find out how much the individual farmer would be fleeced; and we never have taken the trouble to estimate it. Life is too short to trifle away in making that sort of an estimate. It is enough to know that if $20,000,000 are wrongfully taken from our producers, the whole farming community is so much the poorer. Public improvements cannot be so perfectly made; schoolhouses cannot be so easily built or maintained and so on. When the farmers of a county are robbed of even five hundred dollars, the farmers of that county are poorer, and their interests will or may suffer in different directions in consequence.

But the trust claims that the extra sum which the farmer must pay for binding twine at the contemplated prices will be only about eight cents an acre. That is a ridiculous estimate, but let it go for the sake of argument. If there are ten acres of wheat the grower would be robbed of eighty cents. Has the wheat grower who grows only ten acres of wheat never seen the time when eighty cents would have been mighty convenient? Well, if nothing were done to throttle the trust, it would maintain itself and continue its robbery. Next year there would be another eighty cents' loss to the farmer. In ten years it would be eight dollars; and while in ten years the twine trust would have robbed the farmer of eight dollars, the sugar trust would be robbing him of eight dollars more; the coal trust directly and indirectly would clutch its eight dollars; the oil trust would come in for its eight dollars; the gas trust in the cities that furnish gas in shops and factories, and stores which supply the farmers with implements and goods would levy its eight dollars; the railroad would get its share of course, and even at the absurdly low estimate that every trust and combination got only eight dollars in ten years, even the few combinations that we have named would get fifty dollars out of him. But as a matter of fact some of these combinations steal more than eight dollars from the farmer every month. The farmer finds it necessary to take care of the pennies and it is a good thing for everybody to do.

The truth of the matter is that this contemplated binder twine robbery is a monstrous conception in its dishonesty and monstrous in the aggregate sum that it would filch from the pockets of our farmers if they did not resist the conspiracy.

In some respects it is no doubt fortunate that the greed of these people led to the formation of this trust. It gives the farmers a chance to show their power as scarcely anything could. Farmers are the only purchasers of twine, as we have frequently said. If they do not buy it nobody else will; and if nobody buys, the trust cannot live, and some of its members will be ruined. But while most of the trusts have patrons among other classes than farmers, and hence, in a measure, are independent of the farmers' patronage, the bursting of this twine trust will strike terror to all of them. Somewhat in line with the fight against the twine combination is The Rural's suggestion that we boycott the sugar trust, first by reducing our consumption of sweets, and second by paying more attention to the growing of sorghum; and all the time that we are at work upon these lines, we should be putting forth our best efforts to compel our legislatures to make it a penal offense for men to combine for the purposes that trusts are organized to accomplish. The Rural is ready to stand where the fire is the hottest in any effort to down the polite brigands that are studying and concocting the best means through which the people can be robbed.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, - - - MINN

Money Money.

The Western Rural.

One of our dailies remonstrates with some of our Western farmers against their demand for a larger circulating medium. It threshes over plenty of old straw, such as there being plenty of money at low rates, etc. There is not plenty of money, and an idiot ough to have pretty nearly sense enough to know it. There is locked up in the United States treasury the largest pile of money that the world ever saw; the circulation of silver is discouraged to the utmost; the banks have curtailed their circulrtion; the greenback circulation has been cut down, and the result of all is that the per capita circulation of the United States is the smallest of any nation in the world. The most of the business of the country to-day could not be done at all if it were not for individual checks that are made to pay anywhere from two to a dozen debts before they reach their banks. No sensible man advocates an unlimited supply of money, but every sensible, honest man ought to advocate a sufficient volume of currency to float the commerce of the country.

But how shall the money be got in circulation? Shall the government make a present of it to the people? These are questions that the daily referred to foolishly asks. It is not stupid enough to be sincere in asking such questions. The first trouble comes from not compelling the bank to maintain a full circulation. Good borrowers are ready to take money if they can get it at reasonable rates. If the banks were compelled to carry a circulation sufficient for the needs of the country, money would not be locked in their vaults until some man who could get along without the money, upon a pinch, applied for it. The banks would seek borrowers instead of the borrowers seeking the banks, and that is what ought to be.

At present the money of the country is made an article of commerce, and as the banks are permitted to say how much "stock" they will carry, they can and do limit the supply, and are dictators in the strictest sense of the word. The government can say how a banking business, which is directly under its patronage, shall be managed. It does not say so now. The banks say how they propose to manage the business, and the government agrees to it. The time will come, we believe and hope, when the government will manage the banking business of the country in the interest of the people.

Northwestern Agriculturist: If men's pocket books influence them, the scrub cannot long survive with farmers. A few years ago one cent per pound was a large advance of price in the best qualities of beef over the scrub carcass. Now the difference is from three to three and a half cents, and the difference appears to be widening instead of decreasing.

Notice to Road Builders.

TOWN CLERK'S OFFICE,
HUNTSVILLE, Polk Co., Minn.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the town clerk's office in the town of Huntsville, Polk Co., Minn. One grade between sections twelve and thirteen, eleven and fourteen, about one and a half miles. Dimensions of grade, ditches two feet at the deepest part, nine feet wide, also two miles, commencing at quarter stakes between sections thirty-five and thirty-four, half a mile south, then on the town line one mile west, then half a mile north between sections thirty-three and thirty-four, ditches eighteen inches deep at the back and nine feet wide, roadbed twenty feet wide and four feet space between ditches and bed. Bids must all be in at the clerk's office on May 20th, 1889. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated Mallory this 7th day of May A. D. 1889.

O. OSMUNDSON,
[4-5] Town Clerk.

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.

[8-tf] M. ROOD

BRIGHT

—AS A—

New Dollar!

The St. Paul Globe

The GLOBE is The Chief Paper of the Northwest, and is Recognized Throughout the Country as the One Exponent of that Great Wonderland of the Future lying between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, of which Minnesota and the Dakotas are the center. Its complete success and phenomenal growth during the past four years have attracted the attention of the reading world, and all is comprehended when it is said the GLOBE for 1889 will be better and greater than ever. During this non-partisan period the GLOBE will address itself to the interests of the wide section it represents, without regard to party or faction, clique or clan. With improved and unrivaled mechanical and news facilities, it will present, in compact and readable form, the doings of the world with such accuracy as to fit it for a text book in the schools of the commonwealths.

The scenes and incidents of the administration of Gen. Harrison will be brightly and graphically described, and his policy fairly and freely detailed.

By Mail; Postage Paid.

	One Year.	Six Months.	Three Months
DAILY	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00
DAILY and SUNDAY	10.00	5.00	2.50
SUNDAY	2.00	1.00	.50
WEEKLY	1.00	.50	.25

Send Postal Note, Money Order or Registered Letter. Address

LEWIS BAKER,
St. Paul, Minnesota.

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler deceased

Notice is hereby given, To all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, late of the County of Polk deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of said county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate, at his office in Crookston in said county, on Monday the 7th day of October 1889; and that six months from the first day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated this 8th day of April, 1889.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

KATHERINE OEHLER,
Administratix of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, deceased. [3-6]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., April 3d, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on June 17, 1889, viz: GEORGE JONES, H'd 8006, for the w½ ne¼ and w¼ se¼ Sec. 19, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Rhesa Godfrey, Cyrus Morris, John Forsythe and D. T. Mitchell, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[51-4] H. H. DICKMANN, Regiser.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[63]. First publication May 2d 1889.]

BE IT KNOWN, THAT ON THE SIXTH day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty one, Ferdinand Pepin and Mary Pepin, his wife, of town of Louisville, Polk County, Minnesota, made, executed and delivered unto The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis, one certain mortgage: That said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, on the sixth day of January A. D. 1881, at two o'clock in the afternoon, in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 462, 463, 464: That said mortgage conveyed the hereinafter described premises to secure the payment of four hundred ($400) dollars, in five years from its date, and the interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum, per annum, payable semi-annually: That default has been made in the payment of said principal sum with interest thereon: That there is hereby claimed to be due on said mortgage debt the sum of four hundred and fifty-three and 45-100 ($453.45-100) dollars: That no action, or proceeding, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: That said mortgaged premises are situate in Polk County, Minnesota, and are described as follows, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) range forty-five (45,) containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to government survey.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by reason of said default in the conditions of said mortgage, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained; said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said described mortgaged premises, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the fifteenth day of June A. D. 1889, at two o'clock in the afternoon, of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 17, A. D. 1889.

THE FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK, of Minneapolis,
Mortgagee.
Edward M. Johnson,
Att'y for Mortgagee. [2-7]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon. Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE
DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N, B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

New Tonsorial Parlors

—AND—

BATH ROOMS,

J. E. BRADLEY Proprietor.

Having rented the shop recently occupied by Prof. Thompson, on Robert street, I have re-papered and repainted the institution and am now prepared to welcome all my old patrons and friends. Have had a long experience in baths and am prepared to give any kind desired.

Everything in my line in the Latest Styles of the art. GIVE ME A CALL.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUEHBUEHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot of a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTH-WEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

H. STEENERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Crookston, Minn.

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to C all nd Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

FOUE NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitobc Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on June 27d 1889, viz: WILLIAM N. ANDERSON, H'd 11,424, for the e½ sw¼, lots 3 and 4 S. 19, T. 148, R. 42. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: T. J. West, Edward Leo, Henry Green, Woodside, Minn., P. E. Misgen, Crookston, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[4-9] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

☞ See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $55, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jeromes' Addition.

CROOKSTON. - - - MINN.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)
Fournet Block } Crookston, Minn.
Room 5

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MAY 23, 1889. NO. 5.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch.....	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch......	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches.....	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches.....	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches.....	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches.....	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 60	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column...	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, E. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Minn

A Minnesota Farmer in Montana.

Editor Farm, Stock and Home.

Montana free lands are just now attracting much attention and enquiry, as quite an effort is being made to attract settlers to this region, chiefly by transportation companies and those who are seeking to build up towns along the railroads. Necessarily the minds of those who read the articles extolling this country are filled with doubts as to the truth of statements made.

The writer resolved to see for himself, discover the facts, and tell what he saw. He arrived in Great Falls on the 26th of April. The direct route here is over the Manitoba railway, and although much of the road is new, we were surprised to find the roadbed well ballasted, the cars running as smoothly as on old roads, and the equipments satisfactory, especially the "colonist sleepers," which are admirable, just the car needed for families; they are more convenient than any other car. We found the train men of every division attentive, and desirous to secure to passengers the greatest comfort and pleasure attainable; they do not "forget what they are there for." It will therefore be the fault of emigrants if they do not enjoy the trip. The emigrants must furnish bedding, provisions, and such simple cooking implements as they desire to use, as well as wash basin, soap and towels. The car contains a cooking range and sink for washing in.

But the main question is: Do emigrants want to come here? We reply, that depends on the emigrant; if he expects to get a "soft snap" and get on without work, no, unless he has enough money to buy such places; they are here, but live men are here, too, and have taken the first pick. In the opinion of the writer there is much more good farm lands here than has been supposed, as the soil on all those "bench lands" is—if the writer is a judge—amply fertile to make farming a success in ordinary seasons.

Rainfall is the chief thing to consider. There is evidence that this region does not get as much rainfall as would suit our Middle States farmers. This is the driest spring ever known here—old settlers say—there having been but little snowfall in winter, the usual March snow an entire failure, and no rain since last August until to-day (April 28). This is the condition at this time, but fields of wheat on the highest, driest bench lands hereabouts look splendidly, of a dark green color, and altogether as well as could be desired at this season.

This soil stands the drouth well—all subsoil is clay or gravel and clay mixed. There seems to be a desire on the part of the old time stock ranchers to discourage settling on those bench lands, as they are the great grazing lands of the herds.

Great Falls is admirably located in an elbow of the Missouri River, at its confluence with the Sun River, just at the upper end of the series of rapids and Falls. The river here is but a few feet below the plateau on which the town is located. The water is pure and sweet. Probably no town in the United States has so many natural resources as Great Falls. All that is claimed for mining is here; all that is claimed for this water power is here, and the writer believes that the agricultural resources are underestimated. He believes that millions of poorer prairie lands are in cultivation in Dakota and else-where than are these bench lands, and that the inconveniences to be overcome are not as great here as in most other timberless regions.

Just now this is a poor place for men seeking labor, as but little is being done here now. There a branch land office located here. The lands hereabout are surveyed and ready for homesteaders. Claims can be taken as homesteads, pre-emption and tree claims, all three, but only two can be taken at once—a home-stead and tree claim, or a preemption and a tree claim.

W. MUZZY.

Great Falls, Montana.

War is Declared.

How Dakota Farmers Will Exterminate the Little Gophers.

HOWARD, Dak., dispatch to St. Paul News, May 14.—The farmers near here have declared war. The enemy is in their midst but has recently suffered an inglorious defeat. Some time ago the people of Clearwater township organized what they called the Clearwater Gopher club, with two captains. These two captains "chose sides" from their members, and this month both sides started out over the prairie in search of the enemy. It was agreed that the side that killed the smallest number of gophers was to furnish a dance for the entire township. The campaign lasted a week, and 1,428 of the little pests gave up the gopher ghost and departed to the eternal cornfields. The defeated captain is organizing a grand ball to be given to-morrow night.

Concerning Binding Twine.

If so Resolved, be Prepared to Abstain from its Use.

Farm, Stock and Home.

In view of the existence of a "trust" in binding twine, there is a widespread determination on the part of farmers to refrain from its use during the coming harvest. Farm, Stock and Home cannot do otherwise than commend the determination, though it does so with grating teeth, rising hair, and other signs of intense anger. It is mad all through to think that in the present depressed condition of our agricultural interests—at a time when our farmers need all the material, moral and prayerful support possible, just after after a year which proved to be full of direful disaster to multitudes of them, and vouchsafed no more than a fair living at any of them—they should be compelled to make costly sacrifices or pay exorbitant tribute to the greed and tyranny of organized capital!

But this is no time for blood-spitting anger nor unavailing denunciation. This matter of abstaining from the use of twine is purely a business one, and it involves a necessity for that foresight and prudence which should accompany all business ventures. Resolving now that you will not use twine at harvest time means, in all human probability, that you will not use it, even if you would. This being true, it is none too soon for all to begin making arrangements to do without twine, to decide how you are going to harvest without it, and to make arrangements accordingly.

It may be found much easier to resolve now not to use twine than it will be to get along without it when the grain is dead ripe and the danger of its being spoiled before it can be harvested is imminent. To "beat the twine trust" is no boy's play, unless the game be played as if by boys, resulting in the former being being "beaten" instead of the trust. Will the proposed method of harvesting require more labor or longer time than if twine was to be used? If yes, then provide for these contingencies in ample time, to the end that your efforts to beat the trust may not be a victory for it, as victory it will be if at the eleventh hour great eagerness be manifested to buy twine at almost any price to provide for an emergency.

To impress the importance of ample preparation on our readers we would warn them of the improbability of their being able to get twine if they should, as a last resort, conclude to use it. The custom of American manufacturers is to work very largely on advanced orders. Early in January last jobbers of clothing, cloaks, underwear, hosiery, etc., were given orders for next winter's supplies, and the same is relatively true of nearly all manufactured articles. If binding twine makers ere not getting their usual orders, in all probability they are not making the usual quantities, and if there should be any considerable number of farmers trying to buy twine on the afternoon of the last day, they are liable to be grievously disappointed. Nothing will please the trust more, nothing will make it and similar ventures more certain of success in their future efforts to extort from farmers than would a late demand for binding twine which could not be filled.

The present attitude of farmers and the twine trust is one of war; the success of a military campaign depends almost entirely upon previous preparation; so that if farmers expect to be victorious in the fight they must not find themselves forced to surrender to the enemy on the eve of battle, because of their want of preparation. "Don't use binding twine" is the almost universal admonition of the agricultural press; Farm, Stock and Home would supplement that with the still further admonition to be prepared to do without twine, and also prepare to suffer the deprivation with the least possible loss and inconvenience.

Fence or no Fence.

New York Tribune: The question is "up" in Florida, the law there apparently permitting the running at large of stock. A "colonel" complains that the annual cost of repairing fences in his county, to say nothing of the original cost of building them, "would buy all the hogs and cows in it and several other counties thrown in." A "general" in a speech before a farmers' convention said he had to make $2,000 worth of fence a year "to keep out of his corn and cotton about half a dozen 'razor-back' sows and a parcel of grunty shoats and pigs worth altogether not more than $50." The "no fence" Floridians should take courage, for common law requires those owning stock to take care of it. Our state passed through a similar tribulation near half a century ago, and the no fence party won, as it always will.

The Minnesota Farmers' Alliance.

Farm, Stock and Home.

The Minnesota Farmers' Alliance deserves to be congratulated on at least having resolved to devote itself to some distinctive objects—objects, which, in their very nature, will make the order more cohesive, more fraternal in its character, and more effective in its work. The state executive committee has organized a co-operative hail and cyclone insurance association, to which members of the alliance only will be eligible. This association is modeled after that of Dakota, which has proven to be entirely satisfactory in all respects. Losses have been paid promptly, and the cost of insurance proved to be very much below that charged by companies organized for the purpose of private gain. Life insurance has also been made one of the objects of the alliance. This feature is to be conducted on a purely co-operative plan, after the manner of that which has proven so satisfactory in many fraternal societies, as, for instance, the Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Honor, Rayal Arcanum, and many others. In those associations the cost of life insurance is reduced to the minimum, there are no opportunities for frauds or swindles, no private gains are expected or desired, no high-salaried officers are tolerated, in short, very nearly every cent paid by members goes directly to the representatives of deceased brothers. The life insurance feature of the alliance is to be made national, as it should be.

We do not propose to discuss the details of these insurance plans at present, but we want to commend the alliance for adopting them. They will lend an interest to the order never before known; they will serve to show that it has something to live for that it returns something for the money paid to it, and will give it a cohesiveness, solidity, stability, influence and force that it has been a stranger to in the past.

Paying an occasional assessment to a brother who has lost his season's work by hail or wind, or to the widow and orphans of a deceased brother, will be the means of ultimately making of the alliance a brotherhood in fact as well as in name. Members will soon begin to realize that a fellow feeling is growing up in their hearts which will result in a spirit of co-operation and mutual help, and will mold them into a body that will be practically irresistable if it sets about righting any public abuse or wrong, for it will have learned to put little petty bickerings and differences behind it, and to look only to higher things; it will have loftier aims, and hence will command infinitely more respect and have infinitely more influence.

We do not understand that insurance is to be the only object of the alliance henceforth, but the object of this feature is to make the order more attractive, more directly useful, and hence stronger and better able to do effective work in upbuilding the cause of agriculture, both in relation to the fields it tills, the laws that bless or curse it, and the wrongs it is made to suffer.

There is abundant cause for a powerful farmer organization in every state Union, but it must be an organization in fact as well as in name, in work as well as in resolve, in political campaigns as well as in "times of peace." The members of farmer organizations have ever been prone to run off after the first red wagon they saw which carried a wheezy brass band and floated the flag of their pet party, entirely forgetful of their organization, or the use of such a thing—until after election. But when features analogous to those referred to above become common with such organizations, it is almost certain that they will have the ability to stand the strain of an average political campaign without going to pieces! We hope the alliance in every state will adopt these and other co-operative features of a practical character, for they will surely prove to be stepping stones to a power and influence which else may not reasonably be looked for.

An Unsound Horse.

Says Kendrick: What constitutes an unsound horse, or other animal? Perhaps the best definition is that given by an English judge, a good many years ago, and which has been often quoted in the courts since: "If at the time of the sale the horse has any disease which either does diminish the natural usefulness of the animal so as to make him less capable of work of any description, or which in its ordinary progress will diminish the natural usefulness of the animal, or if the horse has either from disease or accident undergone any alteration of structure that either actually does at the time, or in its ordinary effects will diminish the natural usefulness of the horse, such horse is unsound."

Corporal Tanner.

He Will Give Justice to the Poor Soldier.

Grand Forks Daily Herald.

Washington, May 14—Commissioner of Pensions Tanner has returned from his visit to Columbia, Tennessee, where he had been in attendance upon the Irish convention assembled in that city. One would not imagine as the "corporal" is seen passing rapidly along the corridors of the pension bureau carrying only a light walking stick that artificial legs support his burly form in lieu of the originals he lost in the service. To a reporter he said that the sentiments he expressed in his speech before the convention were deliberately spoken and that he proposed to carry out the policy he had already inaugurated. "For long years," he said, "I have had one conscientious conviction in my heart which is stronger today then ever before, namely, that it is the bounden duty of this great republic to see to it that no man who wore the blue and laid it off in honor, shall ever feel the necessity or be permitted to crawl under the roof of an alms house for shelter. The wolf of want must be driven from the door of the maimed or deceased veterans and of the widows and orphans of those who have already laid down their lives."

WHAT HE SAID AT COLUMBIA.

"After giving some statistics showing the number of prisoners receiving different rates from $1 per month up to $75 per month, the commissioner said: For twenty years and under varying ciacumstances, I have pleaded the cause of my comrades who wore the blue. For twenty years I have been able only to plead, but now I am thankful that at these fingers tips there rests some power, and as that power is mine I broadly say that I propose just as soon as possible to call in every one of the certificates of pension, the figures of which I have named, and reissue them on the basis of the truth that no man ought to be down on the pension roll of the United States for less than the miserable pittance of $1 per week, though I may wring the hearts of some of the God-save-the-sur-plus-people. This and other things too numerous to go into details are about what I propose to do if my life be spared and my official existence be not cut short. I am clearly of the opinion that I voice the dominant sentiment of this country when I unhesitatingly declare that a wise policy demands that in treating with those who have just claims before this country, I should cease to hunt for merely technical reasons with which to defeat those claims and to devote a little of our time to helping those claimants who in the past did not hesitate to help the country in its hour of dire peril."

Mr. Robert's Gift.

St. Paul News: Frank Robert, chief clerk in the judge of probate's office, thought the judge's desk looked a little bare and presented Judge Morrison with two handsome bronze groups, one Paul and Virginia and the other Hermann and Dorothea. They have been placed on the rail at the rear of the desk and look very fine.

How to Hold a Horse.

Country Gentleman: If you have a horse that is hard in the mouth, or takes the bit in his back teeth or grinders and holds it so you cannot control him, you will find the following contrivance just the thing you need: After you have your horse harnessed and checked up, take a strap long enough to reach over the top of the horse's head and come down on each side through the rings of the bit. Have a small ring fastened to each end of this strap, and put the ends of the strap through the rings of the bit. Have a small ring fastened to each end of this strap, and put the ends of the strap through the rings on the bit from the inside to the out. Then snap or buckle your lines in these rings in the end of your strap, and by pulling on your lines you will find that you can pull the bit out of the horse's teeth up in his mouth, and by this means hold the hardest-mouthed horse in the country. It is a good plan to fasten the strap to the bridle on the top of the horse's head so that it can slip neither way. Many runaways and accidents may be avoided by this simple device.

Pap for the Boys.

Martin County Sentinel: Minnesota newspaper boys seem to be coming in for a liberal share of the government patronage under the Harrison administration. And why not? With few exceptions they are all hard working, poorly paid, and public spirited, and they put in more gratuitous work for county and party than any other class of citizens. This talk that newspaper men should not hold public offices is the worst kind of rot.

Steenerson & McManus,

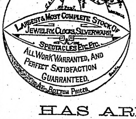
LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!



By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

Opposite Merchants' Nat'l Bank.

☞ WE ARE AGAIN ON DECK ☜

WITH A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF

FARM MACHINERY.

And are ready to Setve the Tillers of the Soil at a moment's notice.

WE HAVE A SPECIALTY TO OFFER IN THE

Dowagiac Shoe Drill.

This Drill reigns supreme as KING OF THE FIELD, and stands forth unrivaled as the most perfect Seed Planter extant. It will save to the farmer enough seed to pay for it the first season, besides doing the most complete work, and finishing as it goes. No wide-awake farmer can afford to be withou one. Guaranteed to work in any ground in which an ordinary hoe seeder will work.

☞ We can refer with pleasure to some of the progressive farmers in this vicinity who used them last year.

Sole Agents for the Dowigiac Drill.

McKinnon Bros., MAIN STREET, CROOKSTON, MINN

Horses Worth Having.

L. B. Pierce, in the New York Tribune, says: In Akron the other day, I saw a six-year-old Cleveland bay mare, weighing probably 1,275 pounds, without a blemish or puff, and handsome as a picture. Strong, active, fleet, she could be hitched to any of the numerous family rigs used in cities and trot off briskly with four or five passengers. The man who raised her sold a gelding of same parentage two years ago for $400, and now has two matched four-year-olds closely related valued at $500 or $600 for the pair. It is certain that the sire of the horse I saw was not a crooked-legged, spavined, ill-tempered old screw, or the mother a walleyed, ringboned, windbroken mare, only "good to raise colts." Perfection never comes from such sources. It took no larger stable, no bigger pasture, no more feed to raise her than to raise a scrub, but she is worth $350 the most. And then there is the mental pleasure and growth to be derived in developing and handling so beautiful an animal.

Viciousness Descends.

New York Tribune: Viciousness is inherited, as much as the virtues are. Breeders should, therefore, be on guard against using vicious animals for breeding, and as far as possible train and manage their stock to secure the most docile disposition. This is not only a great convenience, but is economical and profitable. That noted horse, Messenger, was very savage, and transmitted this quality to some of his most valued descendents; Royal George, in particular, was so vicious that his owner kept him in a stable four years idle, for fear of him, and he killed one groom and severely injured others. This quality of docility is invaluable in the dairy, for many valuable lives are yearly sacrificed by the ill-nature of bulls. It is equally valuable for beef cattle, for a quiet animal is fed much easier and quicker than an unruly and fretful one

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA,

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 23, 1889.

'Round Home.

John Buhn was in from Mentor on Friday.

Swan Anderson was in from Wylia on Friday.

Prof. Casey was up from Fisher last Saturday.

P. J. McGuire took a run up to McIntosh last Saturday.

W. F. Zwickey took a run to St. Paul for a few days last week.

Bro. Knappen, of the Fisher Bulletin, was on change on Monday.

Ed. George returned last Wednesday from a three-weeks trip below.

Att'y A. R. Holston, of Red Lake Falls was in the city last week.

Judge Woodruff was over from Grand Forks on Saturday of last week.

Harris & Glenn have gone to Fosston to introduce that city to the depot.

Only 127 votes against the bonds and the majority of them non-tax-payers.

A. H. Baker was up from Fertile during the splendid rain of Thursday last.

Geo. H. Walsh was over from Grand Forks to learn how to vote bonds last Friday.

A steady all day rain last Thursday did a world of good to the growing crops.

Mike Leguee made a trip through the St. Hilaire country on veterinary business last week.

The Crookston Furniture Co. uses the Markham building for their undertakers department.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Mr. Sampson's claim that it was "only a few schemers" who directed the bonding bill, was knocked silly on Friday.

Alderman Lally held a levee on Robert street on Friday evening after the vote had been counted. "Phwere's thim min?"

On Thursday last N. A. Mott and J. A. Gregerson went through with three carloads of young stock for Fort Assiniboine, Montana.

Miss Eunie Copeland came over from York on Friday for a few days visit in the city. Farming seems to agree with the little lady perfectly.

When one man attempts to set up his will against a whole city, he is liable to be sat down upon extremely heavy. See the majority for the bonds.

D. H. Beecher came over from Park River last week to find out how the bonds went and to rejoice over the fact that Crookston will have another road soon.

The Polk County Bar Association has had its memorial in honor of the late Judge Reynolds neatly written upon a large card for framing and will send it to Mrs. Reynolds.

Peter Cornelius brought in his wool crop for shipment last week. Peter says 500 or 600 lbs. of wool to sell every spring helps out, to say nothing about the mutton during the year.

Halvor G. Dale was up from the town of Hubbard this week. Says considerable damage has been sustained by the wind storms but that the recent rains have helped matters out wonderfully. The prospects are that an average crop will be harvested.

Mr. L. K. Aaker secured his bonds on Saturday and forwarded them to Washington. As soon as they are accepted he will enter upon the discharge of his duties as receiver in the land office. Mr. A. is an old hand at the wheel and thoroughly posted in the business.

On Thursday last, Tobias Valaer, Wm. Welsh and Wm. Blethorn were brought before Esq. Spendley and held to the grand jury. Failing to secure $1,500 bail they were remanded to jail. Senhold was able to appear and testified that these parties were the ones who assaulted him.

S. F. Markham returned from his California trip on Thursday evening. He visited various points along the coast but made his headquarters at San Francisco principally. He is not dead struck on that country, thinks it has been very largely over-boomed and it is now feeling the effects of it.

Anderson & Co. complain that THE JOURNAL last week failed to note the arrival of a carload of oranges direct from California. We had the item, with one or two others, that for some inscrutable reason best known to the compositor, failed to appear in cold type. The boys deserve due credit for their enterprise.

If, while strolling in the ambrosial shades of Dobson's Park, with your best girl, you should be taken with an irrestible desire to mount a stump and indulge in a regular 4th of July spread eagle speech, "soaring into the blue empyrean" as it were, you should be careful to see that there is no cruel wire fence to wound your classic features or lacerate your nice silk tile in case you should happen to tumble off.

Carpets are washed nicely at the Crookston Steam Laundry. [4-6]

Dr. Leguee indulges in a new sulky so as to be better prepared to attend to calls from the country in all kinds of weather. Mike is getting a big run of business in veterinary surgery and deserves it, as he is an A No. 1 veterinary.

C. B. Palmer arrived from Tonica, Ill., on Monday morning glad to get back to civilization again. Says times are fearfully dull everywhere he has been. Congratulates us on the prospects for another road in the near future.

E. D. Childs returned on Tuesday morning from a flying trip to St. Paul and Chicago. He brings good news to the effect that the contractors on the D. & W. have been ordered to complete the road as far as the Mississippi at the earliest possible date. The contractors think they can do it inside of sixty days. The prospects are that the D. & W. will be built into this country before another session of the legislature. It is plain now that it would have been had the senate been friendly.

The firm of G. G. Alden & Co., of Chicago, sixteen months ago commenced the compilation of an Illustrated Album of Biography, including the Red River Valley and Park Regions. The work has finally been completed and delivered, the last of the edition having been distributed several days ago. The volume is elegantly and substantially bound, and finished in the highest style known to the book makers art, and no pains or expense has been spared to make it complete and correct. The work is a valuable addition to the historical literature relating to the Northwest.

It seems strange that there are people in the county who do not yet know that there is an inspection law requiring a certificate for all fresh meats offered for sale but it would seem so from the fact that almost every day the carcasses of hogs and sheep are offered for sale, that, upon inquiry it is found have not been duly inspected according to law. Heretofore our inspectors have been very lenient in such cases but they have no right to pass such cases and they cannot always continue to do so. The laws have been published in every paper in the state and if there is one man in the state who does not know about the inspection law, he alone is too blame. It is the duty of every one to know what the laws are and every one who takes a paper published in the state can know by reading the laws therein published.

Ugeblad, of Fergus Falls, says that the translation of its article, which appeared in our issue of May 8th, was incorrect, as Ugeblad did not intend to say that the editor of THE JOURNAL was a director in the Duluth & Winnipeg. The translation was made by a thoroughly educated Norwegian, who says that possibly Ugeblad only intended to say the editor of THE JOURNAL lobbied in the interest of the D. & W. The point is wholly immaterial, having no bearing upon the question at issue, which was an attempted defense of Sampson in his opposition to the will of the people. The taxpayers of the city of Crookston, in mass meeting assembled, decided that they desired another railroad, and they appointed a committee to attend to the necessary preliminaries. This committee organized a railroad company composed of several of our leading business men, which company is, and has been, under control of the committee. A bonding bill was drafted and sent to Senator Sampson, together with a petition representing over two-thirds of the taxable property of the city, requesting the passage of the bill. Mr. Sampson said he would be home in a few days and "consult with the people" about it. He came, and a meeting was held whereat the proposition was discussed thoroughly, and he gave his unqualified promise to pass the bill. Time passed along, and Sampson made no motion toward passing the bill, so a mass meeting was called and the people's committee instructed to take the matter in hand, go to St. Paul and procure the passage of the bill, either by Sampson's consent or over his head. And the business had to be done in that way or it would never have been done at all, and all this extra work and expense had to be incurred after the people had already paid Sampson for doing their work, simply because Sampson, for some inscrutable reason, did not see fit to obey their wishes which had been made so plain to him. Ugeblad says it was Samson's duty to do the will of the people. Does it pretend to say that he did it in this case? Mr. Sampson well knew in the start that the people demanded the passage of that bonding bill, and Ugeblad can now read that fact in their verdict at the polls last Friday. Mr. Sampson has been clearly in the wrong in this matter as well as his attitude on the D. & W. road, did not represent the wishes of his constituents on these questions, and his efforts to relieve himself, by trying to throw the blame upon "a few schemers," as he has been pleased to call the people, has caused THE JOURNAL to take the stand that it has in defense of the people. The verdict of last Friday shows how much of truth there has been in Mr. Sampsen's claims, and THE JOURNAL is endorsed by an overwhelming majority. Will Ugeblad take as much pains to give the proper version of this matter as it did to misrepresent the facts?

Is that an "Uncle Tom combination,' Aleck?"

E. S. Corser is up looking after affairs on the farm.

Geo. J. McManus started for St. Paul Tuesday evening.

Uncle Robert Knowles was in from Mentor on Wednesday.

Dr. Dampier's mother left for home on Tuesday evening.

Al. Kaiser came in on Tuesday evening on his way to Moorhead.

A. G. Gallasch takes a trip out to Lambert and other towns this week.

Miss Jennie Carr, who is teaching near Mentor, came in Saturday to spend the Sabbath with her parents.

Mike Leguee has bought a dandy sulky to match that two-year-old colt. Mike has a colt that the best of 'em need not be ashamed of.

A. N. Hopkins secured bonds as assistant weigher at Duluth on Saturday, and on Monday entered upon the discharge of his duties.

See the notice of the Board of Health in relation to meat inspection. It is a matter of interest to all who have meat to buy or sell.

Judge Ira B. Mills has accepted an invitation to deliver the Memorial address on Decoration Day. The Judge is said to be a fluent orator.

Judge C. O. Christianson has returned from his visit to Fargo. Says he had an A 1 time and would have enjoyed a much longer visit if he had time.

Hugh Thompson was up on Tuesday. He has had a severe time with an abscess that was not only painful but very dangerous, and he is happy to be able to get about so soon.

The firm of J. H. & A. Locken have papered their store in fine shape and will repaint it outside and in. They will have as neat and tasty a store as can be found, when completed.

Dr. Howard Lankester was up from Fisher on Tuesday. Since going out of the newspaper business the doctor has grown young wonderfully fast—has got quite good looking, in fact.

Eben Lancaster says: "We must have a line of street cars put on as far at least as the oil tank." You see Eben is the new oil inspector for Polk and can't afford to hoof it any longer.

Mrs. McManus has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to accompany her son Will when he went to his home in the Thirteen Towns on Tuesday. She is still quite weak however.

Messrs. Walsh & Bjoin intend to deepen the well at the creamery to obtain a greater supply of aqua pura for their business. There's no danger of getting too much water on the side in that business.

Fred and Charles Dickenson returned last week from the funeral of their father. Elsewhere in this issue will be found a notice of Mr. Dickenson' death and burial, taken from the Hudson Star and Times.

Wight says he has been studying the new Illustrated Album of Biography and thinks it affords a valuable assistance to him in his labors as assessor. It makes some of 'em scowl when he refers them to that record.

St. Vincent New Era: We congratulate Mr. Ed. F. Mockel, of Crookston, on Railway Postal Clerk, under the Civil Service rules; and we doubt if Chief Inspector Perkins has a more faithful and gentlemanly subordinate than Mr. Mockel, who has the run between Crookston and St Vincent.

Some wires upon the pole at the corner of Broadway and Robert street one night last week came in contact with the electric wire and became charged to such an extent as to be dangerous. Fortunately it was discovered before anyone was injured but it might easily have been a serious matter had anyone chanced to take hold of them. They were cut down as soon as discovered.

Rev. O. P. Vangness, of Minneapolis, is spending a portion of his summer's vacation looking over the Red River Valley. Is visiting the city this week and says it is the finest city he has seen yet. Is much surprised at the progress that has been made in so short a time as the Valley has been settled. He will hold services at the Swedish chapel on Sabbath next, at 11 a. m.

The Plaindealer enjoyed the sensation of a strike on Saturday and on Monday sent over to this city for help in the emergency. The Plaindealer, ever an excellent paper, has lost none of its vivacity since Rev. Mendenhall took charge of its destinies—we do not wish to say that it is a better paper because Murphy has not left that city yet, but we will say it is altogether too good a paper to be busted by one strike.

It strikes us, in view of the confusion that reigns in the minds of some in relation to the provisions of the meat inspection bill, that it would be well for the board of health to publish their ruling on the point as to whether a man is obliged to have the animals inspected that he is about to kill for his own use. Some have an idea that they are obliged to submit to an inspection. We differ from that view because the law does not make the killing of one's own meat a misdemeanor nor provide a penalty therefor, which it would had it been so intended. What the law does do is to make it a misdemeanor to offer for sale any meat that has not been inspected, and to provide a penalty therefor. It would be well for our board to make a ruling on this point.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Memorial Day, the 30th inst., will be observed in this city under the auspices of Col. Cobham Post, G. A. R., the following being the program order of exercises so far as completed up to time for going to press:

The procession will be formed on Broadway at 1:00 o'clock p. m., by Marshal Louis Fontaine, and E. W. Wile, assistant, the right resting in front of City Hall, and will be in the following order:

Platoon of City Police,
Queen City Band.
Mayor.
City Council,
City Officials.
Crookston Fire Department,
Select Knights,
St. John's Society,
Sons of Veterans,
Col. Cobham Post G. A. R.
City Schools.

LINE OF MARCH.

The column will move down Broadway to Third, along Third to Main, Main to Fletcher, Fletcher to Ash, Ash to Houston Avenue, Houston Avenue to Broadway and thence along Broadway to the Opera House where the column will open order for the Sons of Veterans and Grand Army to pass through to their post in the hall, after which the column will close order and march in as placed in line.

ORDER OF EXERCISES AT THE HALL.

Selection by the Band.
Reading of Orders,
Salute the Dead,
Address of Welcome,
Music by Male Quartette.
Prayer by Rev. O. H. Elmer.
Music by mixed quartette.
Memorial Poem by Mrs. Milne.
Solo, by Miss Ayers.
Address by Judge Ira B. Mills,
Selection by the Band.
Strewing of flowers for the dead.
Hymn—America,
The Benediction.
Selection by the Band.

The citizens are generally requested to donate any flowers which they may be able to spare, and if possible send them to the G. A. R. Hall, on Broadway, on the morning of the 30th, before 10 o'clock. If any of the citizens are mourning the loss of soldier friends, whom they wish to remember with us, if they will send or bring their wreaths or bouquets to the hall, accompanied with a card, giving name, company, number of regiment and state, they will be properly placed.

R. W. Johnson, who has been in Dakota taking a rest for the benefit of his health, has returned. Says he could not get much rest owing to high winds that prevented his being out doors much. Says his boys have got in a large crop of wheat, injured somewhat by high winds.

Rudy Burkhardt has the cellar nearly ready for the new addition which will be built out on a level with the street very much impriving the appearance of the building and giving much needed room. The hotel will be thoroughly re-fitted re-furnished and will be put in first-class condition in every respect.

Deacon R. Bain was up from Fisher on Friday attending to business and shaking hands with his numerous friends in the city. The deacon gets around livlier and is more ambitious than many a man who is not as near three score and ten as is the deacon. Long may he live to be a credit to this new land.

John Steenerson on Monday entered complaint against Ole A. Winger, Hans A. Winger and Edward A. Winger for assault and battery which occurred on Monday in the vicinity of John's countenance. John looked as though he has encountered a wild and woolly Minnesota Chief Thresher, feeding without band cutters and he naturally wants to know if such things can be allowed to happen in this man's country. The sheriff went after the machine on Tuesday.

N. H. Fulton reports that business at the creamery is picking up, making an average of over 300 pounds daily. He would like to see, and expects to see that increased to 500 pounds per day. When we compare our creamery butter to the average that is brought to our stores for sale, we wonder very much that the creamery does not get all of the cream in the country to manufacture. The facilities the creamery has insure a uniform grade impossible to obtain where everybody makes it in small quantities.

Tuesday forenoon, as Charles Eckerlund and his son, of the town of Bray, were unloading a load of wheat at the roller mill, the old man suddenly fell in a fit. The young man ran hastily into the office where Mr. Arnold and Mr. Bugg were sitting and wildly begged for help, saying that his father was dead. They rushed at once to where the old man lay, and Mr. Arnold raised him from the dust in which he had fallen on his face, and commenced to chafe his body and limbs, while the young man and Bugg went up town to summon a doctor. Dr. Van Dyke was soon on the ground and pronounced it a case of heart disease. He soon revived sufficient to admit of his being removed and he was taken to the Sherman House. He was around apparently all right at 6 o'clock. The young man was nearly crazed at first, and says he remembers nothing that took place after his father fell in the fit until he was pronounced out of danger. The doctor says that Will Arnold's prompt attention doubtless saved the man's life.

The Vote on the Bonds.

Nothwithstanding an immense amoun of hard work done by a few who opposed the issue of the bonds, the result was an overwhelming victory for the bonds by a majority of 406 out of 660 votes cast. Mr. Sampson has set up the claim that it was only a few schemers who desired the issue of bonds. The vote of Friday, which is as follows, shows how much of truth there is in his claim:

	Yes.	No.	Maj.
1st Ward	149	24	125
2d "	120	32	88
3d "	64	17	47
4th "	193	34	159
5th "	7	20
	533	127	406

A Great Game.

For some time the Red Lake Falls nine has been spoiling for a set to with Crookston. As Crookston has no regularly organized ball club, but did not wish to appear churlish, a scrub nine was picked up and on Tuesday met the famous Red Stockings. The score was 16 to 23 in favor of the Red Stockings. Crookston does not feel bad, boys. Come again.

Carelessness.

One night last week as one of our business men was standing on a street corner he was struck a violent blow on the head by a ball thrown by one youth to another who failed to catch it. Probably it was not intended but nevertheless very careless and it might have been more serious as the blow came on the man's right temple, the force being partially broken by the stiff hat the man wore. Had the hat been a soft felt it might have been a serious affair all 'round. The sidewalk is hardly the proper place to indulge in ball playing.

At Rest.

On Tuesday morning the sad tidings was whispered about "Geo. Bucknam cannot live till noon." Contrary to general opinion, however he lingered until 11:30 p. m. when his tired spirit took its flight to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returneth. Mr. Bucknam was 35 years old last January, for several years has been a resident of this city and for some time bookkeeper for Hack & Gallasch. He has been ailing for some time but bravely kept his post of duty until a few weeks since he was forced to lay down his faithful pen and take to his bed. He leaves a wife a son and daughter to mourn his early death. George had also many warm personal friends, in fact all who knew him at all respected him for his genial qualities of heart and mind and all unite in sympathetic sorrow for his dear ones thus bereaved. At this writing the time for the funeral has not been fixed.

DIED.

DICKENSON.—At Lakeland, Minnesota, May 6th, 1889, James R. Dickenson.

He was born in Deleware County, New York, in 1826. At the age of eleven years he accompanied his parents to Bradford County, Pennsylvania, remaining with them till he was nearly twenty-one, then paying his father ninety dollars for the nine months yet due him, he began work for himself in an axe factory. Two years later he began attending the Canton Academy of Bradford County. Spending some time in Tioga County, in the milling business, he afterwards embarked in the mercantile trade, in which he continued until coming west in 1855. He pre-empted 160 acres in Star Prairie, Wisconsin, and later worked in the Shanghai mill at Lakeland and the next spring moved to his land at Star Prairie. Some time later he disposed of his property and located in Lakeland township in 1857. He engaged in lumbering, mining and milling at different times until 1878, locating at that time on his present farm, having 315 acres. His wife was Alice L. Smith. They have eight sons, Fred, Charles, Grant, Clinton, Daniel, Albert, Raymond and Burn. Mr. Dickenson was buried under Masonic rites, an unusually large concourse of friends having gathered at the church to do honor to his memory which is dear to all who were acquainted with him.

Saake has got fairly installed in his new place and is now ready with a fine new stock to offer greater bargains than ever.

A. G. Gallasch spent a few days in Grand Forks last week very enjoyably. He attended a dance—and says Grand Forks is a real nice place to visit.

Ed. Wile took a spin over to Devil's Lake with an eye sacred to business. It is said that he went to dispose of his surplus overcoats to His Majesty's subjects and sold forty suits to the fire department of the realm.

If there is a law against carrying concealed weapons and that law is disregarded by a would be prominent lawmaker, as is reported, why is not the law enforced? Or was it only made for the common herd while the Great Moguls can do as they please?

The Queen's Birthday at Winnipeg.

An excellent programe of sports, including base ball, horse racing, lacrosse, boat racing, etc., has been arranged for the Queen's birthday at Winnipeg. Round trip tickets will be sold at Crookston on May 23d and 24th, good to return on May 25th, at specially low rates. Our Canadian cousins promise visitors a warm reception and a good time. Take a holiday and enjoy a ride on the Manitoba's splendid fast coast train.

UNTIL

FURTHER

NOTICE!

ALLL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS

GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00 $8.00

Warranted

GENUINE

SLATER FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED

Fast Colors,

OR MONEY

Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE KIND IN THE

NORTHWEST.

[Communicated.]

NEILLSVILLE, May 20th 1889.

ED. JOURNAL:—A few days since a man, representing himself to be the Senior member of the firm of A. Fanson & Son, breeders of English Coach horses, of Danville, Ills., came here with a fine looking horse that he desired to sell to a number of farmers. Our farmers did not appear to know much about the English Coach horse, and they knew less about Mr. Fanson until the arrival of THE JOURNAL of that week, wherein it appeared that Mr. F. was all that he claimed to be, a reputable breeder, endorsed by that high authority the Breeders' Gazette. Many of your readers then began to take an interest in the matter and came to see the horse but Mr. F., failing to sell his horse at once had departed for Hillsboro. Two of our farmers went over there but he had gone from there to Fargo they were told, so they gave up the chase and returned. I think if Mr. F. had given us a little time to get our thoughts collected he would have sold that horse as a great deal of interest is manifest. I think the English Coach is just the animal for us to breed, as matched teams of that breed find ready sale in the St. Paul and Minneapolis markets, the horses, while lighter than the English Shire and the Clyde are by far more active, quicker walkers thus more valuable on the farm. I am told that Fanson & Son will send specimens of their stock to the fair at Grand Forks next fall. If this is true I hope THE JOURNAL will announce it as several of us desire a more intimate acquaintance with the English Coach horse and would like to see one brought into western Polk. Our farmers are all anticipating good crops howbeit some damage was done by high winds. FARMER.

[Anent the horse subject, THE JOURNAL would say that your experience was similar to ours as more inquiries were made after Mr. Fanson left here than before and we have not the slightest doubt that the horse could have been sold here had Mr. F. remained until Saturday. ED. JOURNAL.]

Beltrami Telaugraphs,

BELTRAMI, May 20, 1889.

Yesterday, a Union Sunday School was organized in district 104, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Supt., O. N. Olslund; asst. supt., E. W. Johnson; sec. and treas., W. J. Nickle. Services every Sunday at 3 p. m.

Those who have been guests of the Beltrami Hotel need no introduction to Joe or to his neat and amiable wife. Strangers who desire hotel accommodations will do well to consult former guests.

Wm. Street, Hayes Bros. and D. T. Herriot have re-seeded part of their land.

The suit before Justice Spendley, of Crookston, last week, entitled Webb vs. the St. P., M. & M. R. R. Co., was decided in favor of the R. R. Company.

The Pawtucket, R. I., Times, says: "Minnesota has passed a very stringent law for the punishment of drunkards, and they intend to enforce it for awhile, at least. It will probably fill the jails so full that extra ones will have to be built or the present institutions enlarged."

The hostler who tried to imitate some of the eastern coachmen and court his employer's daughter, and who was "fired" for so doing, can now be found at home in full sympathy with the old man.

D. Sullivan and Mary La Fave were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at her father's residence on Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by W. J. Nickle, J. P. All their friends wish them many years of peace, joy and prosperity. EDNA.

NOTICE.

CROOKSTON, May 22d 1889.

All parties are hereby notified that no meats brought to this city, not inspected by the local inspector can be offered for sale after June 10th 1889. Any parties offering any uninspected meats for sale after said date will be subject to the penalty provided by law.

By order of the Board of Health,
M. VANDYKE, M. D.
Health Officer.

Sealed Bids.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE,
CROOKSTON, Minn., May 17, 1889.

Sealed bids will be received by the city council of the city of Crookston, until June 1st 1889, for grading Robert street, in Jerome's addition, from the east end of the bridge to Washington avenue, according to the profile in the office of the city engineer, the council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the City Council,
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

$25 REWARD.

I will pay $25 reward for information leading to the conviction of the parties who destroyed my house and stove on Sec. 33, in Tp. 150, R. 46.

[4-5] JAS. GREENHALGH, SR.

Turkeys Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Council Proceedings.

REGULAR MEETING MAY 14, 1889.

Meeting called to order. President Watts in the chair. Members present Alds. Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Walter, Bjoin, Buhn, Jerome, Marlette, Jennings and Steenerson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The committee appointed to investigate the matter of throwing sawdust in the Red Lake River report as follows: We have ascertained that heretofore sawdust has been thrown in the Red Lake River to the detriment of the city's interest, polluting the water and obstructing the city pump. we therefor recommend the enforcement of the law in regard to same.

FRANK JEROME,
A. WALTER,
GEO. BUHN.

The report was accepted and adopted.

The report of the comptroller was presented and on motion was accepted.

The report of the committee with reference to the poor fund was presented and on motion accepted.

The petition of A. D. Stephens and others with reference to increasing the salary of the police force was refered to the committee on ways and means to report at next adjourned meeting.

The claim of Mathew Watts was referred to the city attorney and if found correct to report on same and that an order be drawn for amount.

The communication of Col. Cobham Post, inviting the council to participate in the services Memorial Day was presented and accepted.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald Morrisey, that the council accept the invitation tendered the council by the citizens of Fargo to participate in the fire tournament to be held in that city June 11th 1889, the chair appointed Alds. Marlette, Bjoin and Walter as delegates, and the clerk was instructed to acknowledge the invitation.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald. Lally, that the resolution passed April 11th 1889 with reference to sidewalk on Robert street leading to Sampson's addition be re-considered. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morrisey, seconded by Ald. Lally, that the treasurer be instructed to withdraw $100 from the general fund and place the same to the credit of the poor fund. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald. Lally, that the communication of the city comptroller be laid on the table until May 22d 1889. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morrisey, seconded by Ald. Jerome that the aldermen from the first and second wards be instructed to confer with the city comptroller with reference to sidewalk leading to Sampson's addition. Carried.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 14th day of May 1889, Ald. Jerome offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Lally. Resolved that the clerk be instructed to advertise for bids grading Robert street in Jerome's addition from the east end of the bridge to Washington avenue, according to the profile of the city engineer to be prepared as soon as possible. Upon the call of ays and nays the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Lally, Childs, Walter, Steenerson, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Marlette, Jennings and Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative; none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 14th day of May 1889.

WILLIAM WATTS,
President of the Council.

Approved this 20th day of May 1889.
Attest: JAMES W. LILLY, Mayor.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 14th day of May 1889, Ald. Jerome offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Lally. Resolved that a sidewalk on the east side of Ash street, intersecting a sidewalk now built at or near the northwest corner of lot 5 block 3, Clements addition, be built to the corner of Bertha and Ash streets, this walk to be built as to size according to the city ordinance. Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Walter, Steenerson, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn Marlette Jennings and Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative; none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 14th day of May 1889.

WILLIAM WATTS,
President of the Council.

Approved this 20th day of May 1889.
Attest: JAMES W. LILLY, Mayor.

Moved by Ald. Steenerson, seconded by Ald Jerome that the city clerk be authorized to appoint J. O. Mathews deputy city clerk without any remuneration from the city.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald. Lally that the purchasing agent be instructed to purchase 500 feet of paragon fire hose. Carried.

The following rules of order were unanimously adopted by the council:

1st calling meeting to order.
2d calling roll.
3d report of committees.
4th communications to council.
5th unfinished business.
6th new business.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

O L Hamery, monies paid for street labor	$ 70 51
H Dodge, witness fees	1 12
I Fortier, rent of office for election	5 00
T C Steward, rent of office for election	5 00
H Steenerson, judge of election	9 00
G O Buhn, judge of election	9 00
E D Childs, judge of election	9 00
W Watts, rent of office for election	5 00
Steenerson & McManus, rent of office	5 00
G O Buhn, blacksmithing	3 50
Alderman & Sylvester, m'd'se	6 50
Harris & Glen, repairing buildings	8 00
St P M & M R R, fence posts	2 40
J E O'Brien & Co., m'd'se	2 00
James Leo, clerk of election	2 00
C E Dampier, medical services	5 00
John Paterson, for printing poll lists	4 00
F E Hertz & Co., m'd'se	5 65
L G Scott, making poll list for annual charter election	7 50
M B Hayes, boarding prisoners	18 20
Crookston Fire Department, attending two fires	129 00
E W Wile, m'd'se	5 00
J E O'Brien & Co., m'd'se	9 15
J. H Locken, cash paid for street orders	10 00
J H & A Locken, m'd'se	50
A Rauch, witness fees	1 12
J P Johnson, labor on city burying ground	8 00
J Bemer, repairing bridge	10 00
O C Bergland, attending fire with team	5 00
Oakdale Cemetery, one lot	3 50
H E Cooke, printing	60 70

The bids for the city printing for the ensuing year were referred to the finance committee to report on same at next adjourned meeting.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrated Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

On motion council adjourned until May 22d 1889.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

Stillwater Gazette: All milk dealers must pay a license fee of $1 to the state dairy commission on May 1, 1889, or within thirty days thereafter. They must also send in the name, residence, place of business, number of carriages carts or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in selling said milk, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of milk, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legible placed on each outer side of all carriages, carts or other vehicles used by him in the conveyance and sale of milk, and he shall report to the state dairy commissioner any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells milk or exposes it for sale from carriages, carts or other vehicles, or has it in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section, shall for the first offense be punished by a fine of not less than ten ($10) dollars nor more than fifty ($50) dollars for a second offense by a fine of not less than fifty ($50) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, and for a subsequent offense by a fine of fifty ($50) dollars and by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty (30) nor more than sixty (60) days.

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough, and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.

[3-tf] M. ROOP.

Notice to Road Builders.

TOWN CLERK'S OFFICE,
HUNTSVILLE, Polk Co., Minn.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the town clerk's office in the town of Huntsville, Polk Co., Minn. One grade between sections twelve and thirteen, eleven and fourteen, about one and a half miles. Dimensions of grade, ditches two feet at the deepest part, nine feet wide, also two miles, commencing at quarter stakes between sections thirty-five and thirty-four, half a mile south, then on the town line one mile west, then half a mile north between sections thirty-three and thirty-four, ditches eighteen inches deep at the back and nine feet wide, roadbed twenty feet wide and four feet space between ditches and bed. Bids must all be in at the clerk's office on May 20th, 1889. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated Mallory this 7th day of May A. D. 1889.

[4-5] O. OSMUNDSON,
Town Clerk.

WANTED.

Situation on a farm by man and wife. Address H. H., Box 368, Crookston., Minn. [3-5]

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

☞ See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

W. A. ROBERTSON.

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 18th, 1839.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 10th, 1889, viz: PETER W. SMITH, H'd 7,703, for the se¼ S. 32, T. 147, R. 48. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. J. Kolstad, Jens J. Vigen, Ole Olson and Lars Knudson, all of Nellisville, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who wishes to protest against the allowanced of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witness of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. • ALL WORK WARRANTED

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop in and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Scandia-American BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

BRIGHT —AS A— New Dollar!

The St. Paul Globe

The GLOBE is The Chief Paper of the Northwest, and is Recognized Throughout the Country as the One Exponent of that Great Wonderland of the Future lying between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, of which Minnesota and the Dakotas are the center. Its complete success and phenomenal growth during the past four years have attracted the attention of the reading world, and all is comprehended when it is said the GLOBE for 1889 will be better and greater than ever. During this non-partisan period the GLOBE will address itself to the interests of the wide section it represents, without regard to party or faction, clique or clan. With improved and unrivaled mechanical and news facilities, it will present, in compact and readable form, the doings of the world with such accuracy as to fit it for a text book in the schools of the commonwealths.

The scenes and incidents of the administration of Gen. Harrison will be brightly and graphically described, and his policy fairly and freely detailed.

By Mail, Postage Paid.

	One Year.	Six Months.	Three Months
DAILY	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00
DAILY and SUNDAY	10.00	5.00	2.50
SUNDAY	2.00	1.00	.50
WEEKLY	1.00	.50	.25

Send Postal Note, Money Order or Registered Letter. Address

LEWIS BAKER,
St. Paul, Minnesota.

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to R. A. Wilkinson,)

Fournet Block Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon,

Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

THE

St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Ry

IS THE

DIRECT AND POPULAR LINE

TO PRINCIPAL POINTS IN

MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, MONTANA

Also to St. Paul & Minneapolis,

FOR ALL POINTS SOUTH AND EAST,

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING TO THE THREE GREAT CITIES OF MONTANA,

GREAT FALLS,
HELENA AND BUTTE.

Their "Montana Express" will be put in service November 10th, with a Train Equipment unexcelled, furnishing Splendid Day Coaches Palace Sleepers, Free Colonist Sleepers and Superb Dining Cars of latest design.

"Manitoba-Pacific Route"
To Puget Sound Points.

Affords Cheaper Rates than via any other.
Fast Time, Comfort, Courteous Attention.

LAND. This Company has for sale in Minnesota 2,000,000 acres of Excellent Farming, Grazing and Timber Lands, at very low prices and on favorable terms.

For Maps, and general information inquire of your own Ticket Agent, or

J. BOOKWALTER, Land Com'r.
P. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn
A. MANVEL, V. P. & G. M.
W. S. ALEXANDER, G. T. M

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees, Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1888. E W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.,
Crookston, Minn.

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price. Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Bessie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.—————— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets. at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

THE ONLY

Vesitbuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

THE

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free. The only line to the

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
11:10 "	East St. Cloud	4:03 "
12:22 a. m.	Little Falls	3:00 "
1:10 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
4:05 p. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
4:05 "	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
6:40 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
9:30 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
11:25 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
1:14 p. m.	Grafton	2:21 "
3:00 "	Pembin	12:32 "
6:00 "	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent,
Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[82-tf]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 23, 1889.

State Fair Preliminaries.

Farm, Stock and Home.

There seems to be an unwonted activity in State Agricultural Society circles this season. There is a manifest disposition to make the next state fair an exposition of the agricultural products of the state and an exponent of its agricultural interests in the highest possible degree. Opportunities are to be given for farmers to compete with each other only in pure bred and grade stock; great care is being taken to get superintendents of departments who are well qualified to discharge the duties peculiar to each department; special attention will be given to and proper facilities provided for county exhibits of agricultural products: this is to be made a very important feature, and we shall have more to say of it hereafter. In short, in more ways than we have space now to enumerate, the present state fair management is showing a correct appreciation of its duties and its obligations to the industrial interests of the state. We are more than pleased to be able to say this, and we trust no future act of the management will cause us to alter the good opinion we now have of it.

It is none too soon for farmers and others to begin to think about their duties in the matter, for they have duties as well as the management; there can be no successful agricultural fair without the hearty and extensive co-operation of agriculturists, tradesmen and others.

Good Cattle--Good Prices.

Farm, Stock and Home: Recent sales of cattle, both private and public, offered ample evidence that faith in them and their future is not entirely dead. Prices have been and are low, and the prices obtained for fine animals are not up to those of a few years ago, but they are satisfactorily large, nevertheless. There is one feature, however, that we should not overlook, and that is, that now, more than ever before, it is the good cattle that are bringing the good prices. Name and breed alone are not the passports to high prices; but individual merits cuts the figure now that its importance deserves. This promises well for future excellence, for when all breeders begin to discriminate in the quality of their animals, begin to realize that it is possible for them to be purely bred yet be without particular excellence or value, we will begin to see a more rapid improvement all along the line.

Does it Pay to Summer Fallow?

In a recent letter to the Jamestown (North Dakota) Capitol, Mr. W. Muir, a Red River Valley farmer, says:

"As many of our farmers will be summer fallowing portions of their farms with a view to clearing the land of weeds during this season, would it not be well, in the light of observation and experiment, to consider whether it is the part of wisdom to so treat our lands in the Red River Valley? I would say, examine the fields so treated, look at the condition of the soil; it is like wood ashes instead of being firm, as we all know is the condition to insure a good crop of wheat. Look at the condition of the field after seeding and a blizzard has passed over it. Where is your wheat? Even if you have used the most improved drill to put it in, you will find it almost uncovered and the best part of your soil blown away.

It is nearly a hundred years since President Jefferson wrote on the folly of exposing the soil during the summer without a covering of vegetation to shelter it from the scorching rays of the sun. The farmer president who invented the iron moldboard for our plows and took such a splendid delight in his occupation as a farmer, knew whereof he wrote when he declared against leaving the fields unsheltered during the summer. If it was bad to do so in Virginia, a hilly, timbered country, how much worse it must be on our Dakota plains with our dry climate and high winds. A better plan to kill the weeds would be to plow the lands in the fall and reserve that part of it which is most foul until after the 25th of May, then sow it to barley. All the weed seeds will by that time have germinated and many of them will be from two to three inches high. Then is the time to kill them forever with the drag and at the same time raise a crop of barley which will bring you as much money per acre as a crop of wheat, and leave the land in a condition to produce from four to five bushels of wheat per acre, for at least three successive years after this treatment, more than lands not so treated. At least this has been my experience. Land that has been summer fallowed in this valley, I believe, will not be as good as it has been until it is seeded down to grass and a sod is formed on it."

Northwestern Agriculturist: Uniformity in farm stock is always an attractive feature. An even lot of cattle, colts, sheep or hogs is not only pleasant to the eye, but is evidence of careful selection in the beginning and careful breeding afterwards. Uniformity in form, color, and general characteristics show a knowledge of the laws of heredity, and the power to breed what is desired, and this is the best result of the true breeders art.

Fancy Prices for Stock.

American Cultivator.

Many farmers neglect their own interests through prejudice. They will not pay what they call "fancy prices" for better animals than their own. But what if this so-called fancy price be based on real value, as it often is? A cow that with slightly increased cost for feed will make twice as much butter or give twice as much milk as one of the average herd, is worth a good deal more than twice as much.

Deduct the extra cost of keeping if you will; then take the extra product and regard it as so much interest or dividend on the cow's value during its years of probable life and usefulness. The fancy priced cow would either loom fully up to the prices now charged for her, or the scrub would decline so as to be hardly worth taking even as a gift. This is a kind of reckoning that the dealer in government securities does when reckoning their value. As well say that a 4 per cent was estimated at a fancy price because it sell higher than a 3 per cent, having the same time to run.

This is not, however, the whole superiority of the more productive cow. Every year she may drop a calf. That from the scrub would probably be like its dam, not worth raising. That from the good cow would be, if properly bred, as it is likely to be, worth more when dropped than the scrub animal ever is. The farmer who keeps good cows pays more attention to their breeding. He has a money incentive to do this, for he is reasonably sure that the produce from prejudice breeding will pay him better prices for his grain by feeding to it than he can get in the market. So he feeds not only coarse fodder, but grain at home. Thus he makes more and richer manure piles, and is on the high road to prosperity.

We have instanced cows, but the same truth holds good with all kinds of stock. No farmer in these days can afford to keep animals that are not somewhere near the top notch in value. When the farmer gets as near that point as his purse will allow by purchase, he will be all the more certain to breed up instead of down. Then with full knowledge of his capacities of his improved stock, he can estimate closely enough the fancy prices that he himself will charge. We look to see better stock of all kinds kept by farmers in a few years from this. Their necessities will oblige them to keep as good as possible, for only such will pay. Will there not then be a great lowering of prices? Perhaps what may be fairly called fancy prices will be lower than now, but the keeping of stock will never be, as a whole, unprofitable. Those who have good stock will make money, because a little calculation will show that high prices to them are really cheaper than to take poor stock as a gift. This rule in farming has been always operative; but the sharper competition that all branches of farming are now undergoing, makes it more obvious than it ever has been before.

The Benefits of Associated Dairying.

H. W. Sadd, in New England Farmer.

The benefits of associated dairying are many. It gives the farmer regularly, once a month usually, ready money, and although the amount may not be large, he has cash to buy with instead of the barter or exchange of his butter, as was the custom with the small producers a few years ago. This places the farmer on better footing. A better article of butter is made by the creameries than can be made in the old dairy way. There is a uniformity in the quality of the product that can be secured only by a uniform system. The milk, from the time it is drawn from the cow, and the cream from the milk, is cared for every day alike throughout the year. Every successful creamery has its regulations for feeding, care of stables, straining and setting the milk. An expert butter maker looks after all details at the factory, and is expected always to produce a first-class article.

Every step is taken in the best way to succeed in keeping up the standard of the product. This is what makes creamery butter command more per pound in market than dairy butter. In the circle of good creameries the number of cows keeps increasing, and this adds to the fertility for the farm; the land is enriched, more grass and grain is produced, and the progress is toward the almost inconceived productiveness of the soil.

American Dairyman: The University of Wisconsin has issued another bulletin that is most timely and instructive on the subject of constructing silos with the most practial suggestions we have yet seen, telling you just how to do it and plainly illustrating all the hard points. Then there are admirable remarks on how to paint the inside walls, handling fodder corn, design of rack for drawing fodder corn, instructions how long to cut it, use of a chute, and a vast number of minor suggestions that everyone should put in their heads before beginning to build a silo. Then there are instructions about the varieties of corn to sow, methods of planting, time of cutting, temperature and condition of ensilage, opening the silo, feeding rations and lots of other good things too numerous to mention. These are the kind of bulletins that the farmers are hungry for, and it is a good sign to see them coming out with great regularity, especially from the now famous University of Wisconsin.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 3d, 1889, viz: CHRISTIAN O. ESPE, D. S., 10,566, for the sw¼ S. 21, T. 148, R. 46. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz. C. W. Davis, Ole Olson, Jr., Edna, P. O., Minn., Edward Stowe, Fertile, P. O., Minn., O. S. Johnson, Crookston, P. O., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:50 o'clock p. m., in book "20" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100,) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22,) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Byron Culver, late of the County of Black Hawk and State of Iowa, deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of this county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate at his office in Crookston in said Polk County, on the first Monday of each month, for three successive months, commencing with September 2d 1889, and that six months from the 15th day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated Crookston, Minn., the 14th day of May A. D. 1889.

JAMES H. WILSON,
Executor of the estate of Byron Culver deceased.
[4-7]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston. Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on June 22d 1889, viz: WILLIAM N. ANDERSON, H'd 11,424, for the e½ sw¼ lots 3 and 4 S. 19, T. 148, R. 42. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: T. J. West, Edward Leo, Henry Green, Woodside, Minn., P. E. Misgen, Crookston, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[4-9] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler deceased.

Notice is hereby given, To all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, late of the County of Polk deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of said county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate, at his office in Crookston in said county, on Monday the 7th day of October 1889; and that six months from the first day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated this 8th day of April, 1889.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

KATHERINE OEHLER,
Administratix of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, deceased. [3-6]

MORTGAGE SALE.

1683. First publication May 2d 1889.]

BE IT KNOWN, THAT ON THE SIXTH day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, Ferdinand Pepin and Mary Pepin. his wife, of town of Louisville, Polk County, Minnesota, made, executed and delivered unto The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis, one certain mortgage: That said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, on the sixth day of January A. D. 1881, at two o'clock in the afternoon, in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 462, 463, 464: That said mortgage conveyed the hereinafter described premises to secure the payment of four hundred ($400) dollars, in five years from its date, and the interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum, per annum, payable semi-annually: That default has been made in the payment of said principal sum with interest thereon: That there is hereby claimed to be due on said mortgage debt the sum of four hundred and fifty-three and 45-100 ($453.45-100) dollars: That no action, or proceeding, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: That said mortgaged premises are situate in Polk County, Minnesota, and are described as follows, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) range forty-five (45,) containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to government survey.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by reason of said default in the conditions of said mortgage, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said described mortgaged premises, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the fifteenth day of June A. D. 1889, at two o'clock in the afternoon, of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 17, A. D. 1889.

THE FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK, of Minneapolis,
Mortgagee.

Edward M. Johnson,
Att'y for Mortgagee. [2-7]

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE
DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT.)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN. - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON.

Grading up the Herds.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

There is no other way to keep our lands fertile but keeping our cattle on them, and if times come when they do not pay either for beef or the dairy, other localities must sell first because we have the conditions present to defy all competition if we have good enough cattle. How are we to get them? We must begin with the native; there is no other way. We must improve what we have by a process of selecting among the females and particularly with especial care among the males. If you want to have good milking cows and care for nothing else, go at once to the milking herds. If you want fine beef go to the beef herds. If you want a cow that will milk well, whose calf will feed well, go to cattle that will combine both these charateristics in the same animal for the male. In building up a herd for both milking and feeding you must reject all heifers that are not good milkers and this rule must be observed strictly. I believe you can build up a good feeding and milking herd from either the Holsteins or the Shorthorns.

Spring Calves.

In my experience, says Prof. Henry, a calf born in fall or winter is worth two born in the spring for profit. A spring calf is so young that it gets very little good from pasture the first season, for by the time it can fight flies successfully and crop grass enough to really aid in nourishing it, winter is at hand and it is placed on dry feed. The fall-born calf comes out in spring time large enough and sufficiently vigorous to fight its own battles, and gets the benefit of the whole season's pasture. Whatever plan we pursue let us bear in mind that it takes fully half the food an animal can consume to sustain it and that our profits come from the last half only.

The Big Hog.

Michigan Farmer: Twenty years ago the hog which filled the barrel quickest was the best hog to raise, and gave the best returns to the breeder, the feeder and the packer. We had the "big hog" on the brain. Every neighborhood had one which the local press glorified as a bigger hog than any other big hog. That part of the hog business has, to use an Americanism, "played out." The next change was to a hog of lighter weight, light offal, and a perfect tub of lard. That hog has got to go with his illustrious predecessor, and in his place must come the "commercial hog," good for the feeder, because he can be put in the market early, and good for the eater or butcher because he will furnish the grade of meat which is demanded by the public.

FOUE NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, MAY 30, 1889. NO. 6.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

American Railway Tariffs.

To the Editor of "The Miller."

SIR:—The Inter-State Commerce Act, with the object of regulating and equalizing railway tariffs and fares was originally passed by the United States Government in 1886.

Great things were expected from its operation, and for a short time it answered expectations, reducing to something like order the chaotic labyrinth of tariffs hitherto so full of inexplicable anomalies. This improved state of affairs was, however, of short duration. The Commission, under original Act having power of its suspension promptly exercised their function and suspended the Act. This unexpected action, coming just when the beneficial influence of the Act was commencing to make itself felt, was probably due to pressure brought to bear on the Commission from the vested interests it attacked. The result was a return of confusion worse confounded than ever, as monopolists who had trembled when they found their privileges passing away, became even bolder than before in their new sense of security. Popular attention had, however, been awakened, the short-lived appreciation of a better state of things had been felt, and public opinion, once aroused, asserted itself with no uncertain sound, in satisfaction to which the outcome has been the passing of an amended Act of the most stringent nature, entitled

AN ACT TO REGULATE COMMERCE,

As Amended March 2, 1889.

The following is a brief summary of its provisions:

SECTION 1 brings within the scope of the Act all through rates passing through more than one state of United States, whether same is wholly by rail or part by water, and applies to through rates for export traffic.

SECS. 2 and 3 are directed against any preference or discrimination whatever being shown on any class of traffic, or to any individual corporation or locality.

SEC. 4 provides that tariffs shall be at relative prices in proportion to distance.

SEC. 5 makes illegal the pooling of different companies' earnings.

SEC. 6 obliges railway companies to publish two copies, and post the same in conspicuous places in each of their stations of all tariffs, no alteration being allowed without due notice. No departure whatever without due notice is permitted.

SEC. 7. All freights are to be treated as continuous between extreme points of shipment and destination, and no diversion whatever shall interfere with their being so considered.

SEC. 8 makes carriers liable to the extent of injury sustained to any person they may injure by the violation of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 9 provides how a sufferer is to proceed for recovery of damage sustained. He having right of complaint to the Railway Commission, to any district court in the United States.

SEC. 10 details penal clauses. Any infringement by a carrier granting rebate on freight or other preference. Any individual bribing or suborning any carrier or their agents or servants to obtain a rebate on freight or other preference, are equally liable. The penalty for either of above, and for each separate infringement being a fine not exceeding $5,000, or two years' imprisonment in a penitentiary, one or both, at discretion of court.

SECS. 11 to 15 details functions and powers of Commission. Endows them with full power to give effect and carry their decisions, and obliges them to enquire into all complaints made to them.

SEC. 16 fixes the limit Commission may mulct an offender at $500 per day for each and every day he may continue in default, by violating or neglecting to obey any order of Commission.

SECS. 17 to 21 prescribe manner in which commission shall conduct their business, salaries they are to receive, where sittings are to be held, control they may exercise over carriers' accounts, reports they are to make to Congress.

SEC. 22 gives power to any circuit or district court in United States to issue a writ obliging any common carrier to transport any interstate traffic on rates and conditions as favorable as granted to any other shipper.

There appears now little anxiety in America on the part of railway management to attempt to evade the provisions of the new act, but rather an anxiety to welcome the new order of things, which, it is natural, must be so much to the advantage of railway proprietors from a dividend earning point of view. The late reckless system, creating fresh lines through unsettled country, at time of creation practically barren, but to render which productive, immigration, the creation of towns, and fostering of new industries had to be compassed, by granting such rates for traffic in these sections as could be only continued at a ruinous loss. This policy had, however, its object by those controlling the destinies of the railways, and whilst under it dividends were seldom too big for the shareholders to conveniently carry home, the grandest railway system this globe is likely ever to see has been built up, and the country has been opened out and settled with a rapidity that reads like a fairy tale.

The importance of this act to the milling interests of this country is self-evident. Its very stringent enactments against any favoritism or preference being shown should now cause this most pregnant source of mischief to disappear, making private arrangements at rates below published tariffs impossible. The facility which grinding in transit permitted to millers situated between two extreme points, where a cheap through tariff existed, to break bulk in transit, manufacture grain into flour, and reship on through rate, is prohibited by the operation of Section 7. The provision that tariffs shall be relative in proportion to distance must naturally place each locality on a relatively equal basis. The enactments rendering carriers liable for any damage that may occasion by the violation of any of the enactments up to the extent of damage sustained, for the recovery of which rapid and inexpensive means are provided, is momentous as a practical deterrent to late vicious practices.

The old adage, "It never rains but it pours," seems well exemplified in the present rage and excitement over the railway question in America. Several states are legislating to control traffic within the boundaries of their own state. Among others, Dakota has just passed the Sheets' bill. This bill obliges railway companies to grant facilities to any private person, company, or combination wishing to construct elevators on railroad right-of-way. It also insists on all facilities, without distinction or preference being shown to anyone, being provided for shipment of grain over such road. Your readers are probably aware that quite a short time ago the whole of this state, now far ahead of any other state in quantity of wheat produced, was entirely controlled by railways, who declined to grant permission to construct elevators except under certain conditions. The importance of the literally throwing open of these vast resources, until lately so carefully controlled and manipulated to suit certain interests, will be easily appreciated.

By reference to a map of the United States it will be seen that the points of Fargo, Moorhead and Brainerd are the gates through which a considerable portion of the entire wheat crop of Dakota and Minnesota must pass. These districts include the Red River Valley, upper valley of James River, etc., the home of the most celebrated grades of hard wheat. It will also be seen that the points above referred to are about equidistant from Minneapolis on the one hand and Lake Superior shipping ports of Superior and Duluth on the other, which are the most important points of accumulation in the northwest. The wheats of the districts above referred to are equally tributary to both, which will now, therefore, enjoy about equal rates for transit from the interior.

The provisions of the Inter-State act, whilst limiting and controlling tariffs either wholly by rail or by railway and water, leaves free and unfettered the unparalleled natural advantages possessed for inland transport from the heart of the country to the seaboard through the magnificent natural lake waterway, together with supplementary canals, of which the ports of Duluth and Superior from the western extremity.

Competition for freights through the lakes over this free line is rapidly increasing, with a marvellous expansion in steam tonnage and size of individual steamers. Competent authorities look for very low rates of freight this season, not exceeding 3 to 3½ cents per bushel through lakes to Sandusky, Buffalo and Lake Erie ports.

As only an infinitesimal part of the united wheat crop of Dakota and Minnesota can be used therin for home consumption, although under lately existing condition an enormous milling industry has been built up within their boundaries for export, it will be interesting to examine under present conditions, what is the probable relative cost for transport to Atlantic ports of wheat from Duluth to Superior, as compared with flour from the principal point of manufacture at Minneapolis.

The present temper amongst American railway authorities appears to be one of sympathy with the act. In evidence of this the through rate from Minneapolis to New York has been generally advanced 2½ cents per 100 lbs., the lowest rate now being 27½ cents, made up of—

Minneapolis to Duluth or Superior	7½ cts.
Duluth or Superior to New York	20 cts.
	27½

Lake freights on wheats from present tonnage facilities point to the following range:—

	per 60 lbs.	per 100 lbs.
Superior or Duluth to Buffalo	cts. 3.50	cts 6.00
Transfer from steamer to barge at Buffalo	" 0.75	" 1.25
Buffalo to N. Y. by Erie Canal, late average	" 3.80	" 6.35
	8.05	" 13.60

There is thus a difference of nearly 14 cents in favor of wheat exported from Duluth or Superior to seaboard, as against flour from Minneapolis, and as former are equally well placed in rates of carriage to later for receiving wheat from grower in best district, this saving is evidently entire.

This difference is further widened as soon as lake navigation closes. For whilst manufacturers on eastern side of this waterway can secure the advantages of cheap lake carriage the year through, this by anticipating their winter requirements and providing for same being held on their side of lakes, it is evident manufactures situated west of lakes must pay winter railway rates on flour from their winter output, and this for about half the year.

Winter rates last season from Minneapolis to New York were 37½ cents, showing a difference in favor of wheat of 24 cents.

It will also be instructive to examine relative cost of transport of equal quantities of flour and flour imported in form of wheat, with result:—

Carriage to N. York from Minneapolis on 280 lbs. of flour at annual mean rate of 32 cents per 100 lbs.	91 cts.
Cost of carriage to N. York of 375 lbs. wheat at 13.60 cents	51 cts.
Difference in favor of wheat	40 cts.

Showing an average saving of 40 cts. on wheat.

The fact must not be overlooked, however, that 90 lbs. of offal have been carried, so to say, free to American seaboard.

These 90 lbs. would realise here, say		4s. 0d.
To be deducted—
Ocean freight at 4d. per bushel	0s. 6d.	1s. 9d.
Value of same west'n mill'g point	1s. 3d.
Net advantage United Kingdom miller		2s. 3d.

Producing a total difference of freight in favor of wheat imported and ground this side over imported flour OF JUST FOUR SHILLINGS PER SACK OF 280 lbs.

Trusting this may prove of interest to your readers, and appologising for space occupied—I remain, yours truly,

GAUTIER DE ST. CROIX.

1, Leadenhall Buildings, London, E. C.

HON. C. K. DAVIS.

Sketch of the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Pension.

Official Bulletin, G. A. R.:

Among the men who justly stand highest in the veterans' admiration and esteem is Senator Cushman K. Davis, of Minnesota, Chairman of the Pension Committee.

His face indicates at once a keen knowledge of affairs and unusual scholarship combined, with a friendliness which is direct and genuine. He was asked one day concerning his military record, and replied: "I only did my duty; with thousands of others." The fact is that he organized his own company, taking a lieutenant's rank out of the deference to another man, slept upon the ground, ate his hardtack, marched, fought and lay in hospital, "doing his duty" with the persistence and forgetfulness of self that is ever consistent with the true patriot. Asked one day concerning the honors conferred upon him by his state, he answered: "Nothing bestowed upon me has ever given me the pleasure I feel now in being able to aid in securing to my comrades what is justly theirs, or helping some poor, old widow who writes to me about her claims!"

Senator Cushman Kellogg Davis was born in Henderson, Jefferson Co., N. Y., June 16, 1838, and graduated from the university of Michigan, in 1857. He was first lieutenant in the 28th Wis., and knew all the hard experience of the volunteer soldier's life from 1862 to 1864, losing an eye in the service. In 1867 he was elected to the Minnesota legislature, and was United States district attorney for Minnesota from 1868 to 1873.

He served as governor of Minnesota from 1874 to 1875, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1887.

Personally he attracts his confreres to himself very closely, and already he has become one of the most popular men in the senate. A colleague, in speaking to the writer, said: "I don't wish to draw invidious comparisons, but if there is one man more than another in the United States Senate that I like thoroughly through and through and all the time as a splendid, big-hearted, able fellow, that man is Davis of Minnesota."

Like all generous men and soldiers, he is chivalrous to women, gentle with children, and very fond of animals, especially dogs. A droll illustration is given of the fickleness of one of his canine friends. A beautiful little skye suddenly saw fit to change its affection from his master to the senator's wife, and from that time forth the faithless little quadruped would forbid the lady paying her liege lord the smallest attention. Upon the slightest provocation the jealous little beast would grab the senatorial trowsers-leg and hang on as though dignity didn't count for anything in this life where a dog's affections were concerned.

If any of the Grand Army comrades are in doubt as to whether they have good friends on the pension committee, let them rest assured of the sympathy of Davis of Minnesota.

Wide Awake for June might well be called a "true-story number." It opens with a reproduction of Henry Bacon's beautiful painting, "The End of a Long Day," photographed especially for Wide Awake—a lovely picture. Then come the true stories—five of them: "A Plain Case" is by the now famous writer, Miss Wilkins, who grew her early laurels in Wide Awake; this story is most pathetic. The scene of Miss Risley Seward's brilliant story is on board an ocean steamer; it is entitled "The Naughtiest Boy I Ever Met." Mrs. General Fremont's is a California story, "The House that Jack Built." Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs' story is of the Confederate side of the civil war, a jolly tale, "The French Member of Company B." The story by Sara Trainer Smith, "Overboard in the Java Sea," will go to everybody's heart. The serials are excellent: Margaret Sidney's "Five Little Peppers Further On" has a tremendous surprise for readers; "Sibyl Fair's Fairness," by Talbot, will be enjoyed by Wide Awake's grown-up audience.

The number abounds with readable articles: "Relics of Torture," by Mrs. F. A. Humphrey, describes curious "machines" for punishment in old times which she saw in England; Mrs. Claflin's "Letter from Daisy" on behavior is excellent; Miss Poulsson's "Two Sermons" is exquisite; Sallie Jop White's "Volunteer Reading in School" is of great suggestive value; "Little People in the Studio," with its eleven pictures, is charming reading for everybody. "Men and Things," the new department, is filled with enjoyable anecdotes and talks, notably "The Footsteps of Genius, "Lord Tennysons's Chalk Pits," and Fish-Catching on the Potomac." The poems of the number are by Clinton Scollard, Mrs. Winton Stone, Marian Douglas, H. R. Hudson, Kate Putnam Osgood, Alice Wellington Rollins and Elizabeth L. Gould.

Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston.

Grand preparations are being made by the management for the Fourth Annual Exposition which opens on August 21st for a season of thirty-four working days. General Manager Byron promises an exceptionally fine display of the Industries, Arts and Sciences, and judging by the record made by this superb Northwestern Institution in the past, there seems no reason to doubt but that the promise will be fulfilled. As usual, the music will be the best procurable, the band being Innez' famous Thirteenth Regiment Band, of New York, under the leadership of the Wizard of the trombone, Mr. Fred Innez. The art display, too, will be a greater feature than ever; so taken as a whole, visitors will have no cause to regret the expenditure of time and money in visiting the "Big Show."

It would have sounded strange, a few years ago, says Hoard's Dairyman, if a man like Prof. A. J. Cook, of Michigan Agricultural College, had said it was a wasteful practice on the part of a farmer to pasture his cattle on good arable land. But he says it now; and though the stupid million are skeptical still, there are growing thousands who know it is true. These will practice on the knowledge, and get rich, ere the balance will "catch on."

Ration for Butter.

EDS. COUNTRY GENTLEMAN:—Please give ration for Jersey cows averaging 800 lbs., butter being the object without forcing to the detriment of health, from the following: Medium meadow hay (chiefly herd's grass and red-top,) $9 per ton; corn meal, $19; oats, 42c. per 32 lbs., or $25 per ton; wheat bran, $20; cottonseed meal, $28; O. P. linseed meal, $35. T. D. H.

Pittsford, Vt.

If T. D. H. would procure and study the book on "Feeding Animals," he would soon learn how to substitute one food for another having nearly the same composition. He will find on page 190, in answer to E. H., a ration close to his case. But the combinations which may be made out of all the different food presented by those who write for information to the Country Gentlemen are endless.

The prices of T. D. H.'s foods given are rather high, except the hay and corn meal, and present the anomaly of wheat bran higher than corn meal. It is appropriate here to remark that oats at 42c. per bushel is not an economical food by the side of wheat bran at $20 per ton and corn meal at $19. The digestible nutrients in oats and wheat bran render each of about the same value. Probably the most economical ration which can be constructed out of T. D. H's foods is the following: 16 lbs mixed hay, 4 lbs. corn meal, 6 lbs. wheat bran, 2 lbs. cottonseed meal.

It is presumed that this cottonseed meal is the best quality of decorticated. The price is certainly high enough for that. Linseed meal should be laid down there as low as $28 per ton, if purchased in quanty.

To show H. the digestible nutrients in this ration, the following analytical formula is given, in pounds:

	Albuminoids.	Carbohydrates.	Fat.
16 lbs. mixed hay	0.61	7.17	0.16
4 lbs. corn meal	0.34	2.25	0.19
6 lbs. wheat bran	0.70	2.76	0.18
2 lbs. cottonseed meal	0.70	0.44	0.12
Total	2.35	12.59	0.62

Nutritive ratio, 1 to 6.

It may be advisable, after H. has fed this ration for a few weeks, to add one pound of linseed meal. This would improve it. It is understood that this hay is to be run through a cutter, well moistened, and the ground feed, having been all mixed together dry, is mixed evenly with the hay. It may be given in two or three feeds, as may be most convenient.

But, as we have often said, this is rather a combination of food than an exact ration per head, although this is about the average ration that these cows will take, when properly fed. H. is no doubt aware of the peculiar nervous organization of the Jersey cow, and that there is no breed more affected by irregularity in feeding and making. No person should be permitted to have the care of this breed who is not distinguished for kindness to animals, and any change of milkers should be strictly avoided.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com'sr
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security.

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing,

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Minn

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

Largest & Most Complete Stock of Jewelry, Clocks, Silverware, Spectacles Etc. Etc. All Work Warranted, And Perfect Satisfaction Guaranteed. At Bottom Prices.

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros: Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY,

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 30, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, No. 1 hard, 73 cents.

The County Board met on Tuesday.

All kinds of summer drinks at Herb's.

Plenty of hay on the market at $4 per ton.

Memorial Day is being appropriately observed in the city to-day.

The opera house will be the popular resort next Tuesday and Wednesday.

You will need flags for Memorial Day. Herb can supply your needs in that line.

Several cool nights made garden stuff look tired where it had not been taken in or blanketed.

Mrs. John E. Van Tuyl, of Mentor, visited with Mrs. I. U. Jennings, in this city, last week.

Only 25 cents to see the broom drill next week at the opera house, everybody will be there.

A. W. Dawley while away met many old Polk County boys and most of 'em would like to get back again.

The surveyors reached Tilden on Monday, returned to the city at night, and on Tuesday started for Fertile.

Business continues good and steady, with prospects for a booming fall trade should the crops turn out favorably.

Look out for your real estate taxes before Saturday. Friday is the last day of grace before the delinquent penalty.

If you wish to see a perfect Japanese flower, fancy work booth, go to the Episcopal fair on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The train from the west was five hours late on Monday evening, caused by a wrecked freight train. Nobody hurt.

J. R. Clements and family arrived on Tuesday morning for the summer. It is interesting to hear Mr. Clements tel of his orange groves in Florida.

Advices from the country round about the city are to the effect that no considerable damage has been done to crops. Some garden stuff suffered somewhat.

Mike Leguee got two fingers on his left hand severely injured monkeying with a self-binder. Not the first man to get his fingers pinched handling agricultural machinery.

A Duluth jury has said that Millie Bunnell is not guilty of stealing those diamonds because he was drunk at the time. Rather a bad precedent to establish.

The new sidewalk is completed to the bridge on Sampson's Addition, which makes a decided improvement. It should be continued across the bridge, then it would be complete.

D. Jacobus returned from St. Paul on Monday morning full of a new project that he at present refuses to divulge, as his plans are not fully matured. He hopes to be able ere long to supply heat as well as light, fuel as well as water. He thinks the N. P. road will be built as far as the Northwest corner of Polk County this summer.

Chris. Houston is kicking. The survey for the new road already made runs through his granary and stables, and, should the track be laid on that survey will close up his artesian well. Chris. says that he can get along with moving his barn and granary, but he draws the line at the well. And he is right, for a good well determines the value of a farm.

By postal, the friends of H. R. Jennings learn of his safe arrival at Tacoma the Tuesday after leaving here, five days on the trip. Les Maley met him at the wharf when he landed, when Les McDonald took him in hand and walked him about the city until Tom Box came to the rescue with a fine team and drove him all over the territory. He writes that he finds the Crookston contingent well and happy. Mr. Perry is very much improved, being able to be out around.

If you thirst to-day call at Herb's for any kind of a summer drink you wish.

R. B. Gates and family arrived on Monday morning from a winter's sojourn in Florida. Mr. Gates is very reticent about his experience in Florida, but the fact that he returns to Crookston to stay is significant. He says "the climate is delightful and oranges plenty. One can go into the orchards at any time and pick up the luscious fruit that has fallen from the trees and thus get the orange in its perfection—having ripened on the tree. The fruit we get here, having been picked green, is not and cannot be as fine as when it becomes ripe enough to fall from the tree—however, I shall depend on Herb for my oranges in the future rather than to go to Florida. I will say nothing more about Florida, further than to state I do not advise any of my friends to go there if they have enough to eat here." He says that he thinks Chattanooga, in Tennessee, the lovliest place he saw on his travels. He does not seem to be very deeply in love with the southern country, however, and says that no man can convey an accurate idea of it to another; to fully appreciate it one must see it for himself. Having spent some time in the Sunny South ourself, we imagine we can fully appreciate Mr. Gates' feelings on the subject.

Mountain Pink by the glass, at Herb's.

Anything and everything you want for Decoration Day, Herb has.

Dept. U. S. Marshal, Gus. Beaulieu, was in the city on Tuesday evening.

Chas. Peterson, of Ruud & Peterson, Fosston, came down on Tuesday's train.

Stephen Sprague, of Red Lake Falls was a Commercial house guest this week.

Will Carlton, of Angus, was enjoying the sights and scenes of the busy city one day this week.

Frank Gravell went east along the line on Thursday raking in the orders. Al. Kaiser took 17.

Miss Alice Van Dyke went to Grand Forks on Tuesday morning to call on friends, returning on the evening train.

Bert Wells was across the two bridges on Tuesday to leave his autograph on mine host Bemis' big book.

Crookston is the best town in the northwest is the universal verdict of all outsiders. We kinder think that way ourself.

Tuesday is the day, Wednesday another when you can get a dish of good ice cream and strawberries at the opera house.

Alderman Morrisey has been away to such villages as St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago watching the operation of the machinery of city governments.

Call at Herb's for a refreshing summer drink.

Bro. Phillips, of the Ada Herald, was wandering about our streets on Monday noting our many improvements and trying to locate the N. P. depot.

Prof. Philips, an original Ohio man is in the city trying to organize a "Council." This is a new order similar to United Workmen, having insurance as its principal object.

A fair will be held at the opera house on Tuesday and Wednesday next, for the benefit of Christs church. Come and see the broom drill, wood-sawing contest, eat ice cream etc., all for a good cause and a little money.

Sauke has got the new place nicely fixed up and is now ready to supply all you need in the line of jewelry at exceedingly low prices or to repair your watches, clocks etc. Call and see him at the new store on Robert street.

Herb has made a change in the news stand. It will now be a shelf instead of a table. This will obviate the necessity of sensitive people getting down on novels and light literature. He has slicked the shop up considerably, also.

A fiery untamed broncho made a complete wreck of a road cart on Tuesday, and came to anchor forninst Rauenbuehler's harness shop, pretty near ready for a new harness. The road cart looked like it had been poorly stayed with.

Our enterprising nurseryman, Frank T. Haseltine was up Monday night keeping fires burning in his nursery to prevent the destruction of his garden stuff. He says it was a perfect success; thinks his loss would have been severe only for the fires that he kept burning all night.

Harry Attix made his first trip to Fargo early last week. Though he lived in Becker County several years before he came to Polk County he has never been as far west before. Says he thinks Polk County leads them all for farming purposes and Crookston for business. Harry's head is perfectly level.

Traveling men tell us that Crookston is the best point for business on their respective routes. They never fear to sell our business men all the goods they will buy and they never lose a dollar. Crookston's reputation in the commercial world is A. 1. With her new road Crookston will be the better prepared to lead the procession.

In conversation with many of our citizens on the subject of a 4th of July celebration, we find a decided inclination to see an old-fashioned celebration, and we are convinced that it could be gotten up very easily. In view of this fact we have suggested a meeting for next Monday evening at City Hall. Let every patriotic American citizen turn out—we are all American citizens; let us show our patriotism.

Geo. H. Bucknam was born in Dubuque, Iowa, on Jan. 28th, 1854, and died in this city on May 21st, 1889. His youth was spent in Dubuque where he received a liberal education. In 1877 he was united in marriage to Miss Sarah F. Lewis, who bore him two children, a boy and a girl. Mr. Bucknam arrived in this city on October 31st, 1879. He has been for a long time book keeper for the firm of Hack & Gallasch. He was a member of Crookston Lodge No. 141, A. F. and A. M., and for many terms filled the responsible position of secretary creditably. Besides his wife and two children he leaves a mother, two brothers and three sisters to mourn his untimely death. On Friday the Masons met at their hall and proceeding to his late residence escorted the body to the Episcopal church where services were conducted by the Rev. J. C. Fortin, afterward the body was escorted to Masonic Hall to await the evening train, when it was sent to Dubuque for burial. Bro. W. F. Zwickey was delegated to go along as an escort. Mr. Bucknam carried a life insurance policy in the Iowa Masonic Benevolent Association and his family are left in comfortable circumstances.

Court convenes on Monday next.

Fourth of July supplies in any quantity at Herb's.

Ole Qualley came down from McIntosh last Saturday.

Clergymen now have half fare rates to any point on the line.

Carpets are washed nicely at the Crookston Steam Laundry. [4-6]

Dick Lilly is helping Harris & Glenn turn Fosston out to pasture.

John McKinnon took a trip along the line as far as Mentor last Thursday.

Commissioner Johnson came down on Tuesday's train to attend the meeting of the Board.

Dr. Van Dyke will occupy the cottage just vacated by Att'y Falardeau, corner of Ash and Second streets.

Thos. Harris was down from Fosston this week. He hasn't got the town quite all hauled to the depot yet.

Mrs. M. E. Bartlett has sold a large number of turkey eggs and can supply a limited demand. She has the Rhode Island Bronze, the largest turkey known.

Sooner or later those who go away to better their condition return, saying that they find no better place than Crookston, no better soil than that of Polk County.

The Times goes for Commissioner Johnson in a manner that is libelous in the extreme if not true. If it is true the Board should investigate and if it is not true Mr. Johnson should.

The county road from Gentilly to the river engages the attention of the board principally this session. They had a big seance on Tuesday and as we go to press the end has not been reached.

Hugh Thompson is in attendance on the session of the board, though physically unfit. Most of men in his condition would be in bed and he ought to be.

Att'y Falardeau has moved his goods into Lachapelle's building for storage. It is said that Mrs. Falardeau goes east for a visit and that he will shortly go to to Red Lake Falls to engage in business.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a strawberry festival in the store building formerly occupied by Hartshorn, Hurlbut & Dawley, Friday evening, May 31st. All are cordially invited to attend.

It is reported that C. S. Ferson, who formerly had an interest in the Crookston Roller Mills, died in Illinois a few weeks since. He had been in poor health for some time, made one trip to Mexico in hopes to regain it.

Mr. M. E. Bartlett informs THE JOURNAL that he has a fine full-blood Jersey yearling bull for sale cheap for cash or on time. He has also a fine span of two-year-old colts that a reasonable sum would induce him to part with.

One of Spark's rulings, it is said, is the means of the loss of from $8,000 to $10,000 per annum to Crookston. We refer to the requirement of the land office to make out all the papers. This also is the cause of serious delays and should be changed at the earliest practicable date.

Mrs. F. L. Durand and little daughter went out to York last week to spend the Sabbath with Mrs. J. B. Copeland and family. Meanwhile, Fred out of pure revenge, got up a big Sunday dinner all by himself and invited conductor Copeland, and together they took cold, solid comfort, calling it a "bachelors dinner."

It had been decided to have the remains of Geo. Bucknam buried in Oakdale Cemetery and all arrangements to that end had been made, but upon the arrival of his sisters on Friday morning they were so anxious to have him taken to his old home in Dubuque that it was so decided. This necessitated a material change in the program arranged.

Wm. Box Sr. was in the city on Monday. Says he has started his ranch on the Rosseau with 250 head of stock as a nucleus. Will pay attention to the raising of beef cattle and horses. He says he has a magnificent location in as fine a country as lies out doors. He thinks stock-raising will be an important feature of that country in the near future.

I. S. Erickson came down from Fosston on Tuesday evening to interview our business men in relation to a novel copying book that he has for sale. The book can be used without a press or brush and is the most complete of its kind we ever saw. Mr. Erickson will call upon you and you will consult your interests by giving the new method a thorough examination.

A. W. Dawley and wife returned from the far west on Friday, satisfied that there is no place like home when that home is in Polk County. They have been in Seattle, which city Mr. D. considers the most important place in the west, bound to be the leading city. Mr. D. went west to avoid our cold winters but finds them preferable to the extreme dampness of the west. He thinks he will now be content to remain in old Polk County.

On Monday, May 27th, Simon Kjolhaug, a prominent resident of Rosebud, was united in marriage to Miss Annie K. Anderson. The ceremony was performed by Judge C. O. Christianson, at the residence of Geo. H. Holt, Esq. The happy couple left for their home near Fosston on Thursday's train amid a shower of slippers and rice for luck. Simon has drawn a prize in the matrimonial lottery.

Go and see the jolly minstrels to-night.

John Hunter has been appointed postmaster at Maple Bay.

Mexican Sherbit, Mountain Pink and Birch Beer found only at Herb's.

Comrade Holt went out to McIntosh last Thursday to view the landscape o'er.

H. Steenerson and Wm. Watts attended court in Marshall County last week.

Gum-chewing is a very fashionable divertisement these days. Even the cows have got it.

See notice of Beach & Bowers' Minstrel show for to-night. Box sheet now open at Tom Morris.

Geo. Whitcomb, ye noted machine man, sojourned with mine host Bemis for a while last week.

Dr. Hanson was called out to the Thirteen Towns last week to attend a serious obstetrical case.

The Salmagundi club, many of them went out to Maple Bay on Friday last, returning Saturday evening.

John Crawford went out to Fred Date's on his wheel on Thursday last, returning by train in the afternoon.

Don't forget to call at Tom Morris' store for a reserved seat to the minstrels if you have not already done so.

John Hunter and Geo. Ralph commenced the survey for the new road last week. They will run a line to Tilden and one to Fertile.

A. W. Dawley returned last week from a trip west. Has spent some time at Seattle. Says there is a great deal of country over there.

Jas. Novotny was down from Augus last week, accompanied by his son, J. W. Mr. N. thinks crops will be all right up there if there is plenty of rain.

Clerk of Court Walsh says there is a big calendar for this term of court, over 70 civil cases and a grist of criminal cases for the Grand Jury to act upon.

J. T. Johnson starts this week for Montana, overland route. He informs us that he should leave Tilden on Monday and be gone three or four months.

Harry Attix has had to employ another man to enable him to take care of the orders that come tumbling in too fast for handling in the old way.

What is the matter with a regular old-fashioned celebration? Nothing at all if we are a mind to wake up to it. We certainly have great reason to rejoice and be glad. Let us have an old rouser on July 4th.

Sheriff Paulsrud went up to the town of King last week and brought Soren Johnson before Judge Christianson. The man was kept at the county jail until Monday evening, then Sheriff Paulsrud took him to St. Peter.

The Duluth Herald has commenced the publication of a weekly edition. If it continues as it has started in it will soon rank among the leading weeklies or the state. The daily has improved wonderfully since the change in management.

J. R. Clements and family arrived from Florida on Tuesday morning. Mr. C. reports that the season there is very backward, oranges being no further advanced than they were the 1st of May last year. It is very dry there as well as here.

Jim Warren, while helping Harris & Glenn move buildings at Fosston last week, got his fingers badly pinched and had to be brought to Crookston. He went back on Thursday's train ready for work again, though one finger is pretty sore yet.

THE JOURNAL learns that A. Sture, who started for a visit to Norway and Sweden a few weeks since, was married to a lady in St. Paul; thus the trip will be a wedding tour. THE JOURNAL unites with Mr. Sture's many friends in congratulations.

The sheriff on his trip after the Wingers last week, charged with assault on the person of John Steenerson brought in Ole and Hans. Edward had given leg bail and located in Dakota temporarily. The two came before his honor, Judge Lewis on Friday, the trial lasted until Saturday afternoon. Ole was fined $10 and costs and Hans was released, nothing having been found against him.

Herb's place is headquarters for flags and 4th of July supplies of all kinds.

On Friday evening a lad about 6 years old, son of Geo. Wild, in the Fifth Ward, was seriously injured by being run over. A smaller boy was the only witness, except the driver, who for some reason made himself scarce as quickly as possible, and as near as can be got at the facts the boy was trying to climb upon a sulky plow, hitched behind a passing wagon and fell off, the plow wheel passing over him. Why the driver of the wagon did not stop and aid the boy is a mystery.

Fourth of July Meeting.

We would suggest that all who feel interested in getting up a celebration of the ever glorious, meet at City Hall on Monday evening, June 3d, at 8 o'clock, to discuss the subject and make arrangements. As the time is so limited, if anything is done it must be done at once.

"The Boy Preacher."

You have all heard of him? Well, it is said that he arrived at the residence of Rev. O. H. Elmer on Thursday, May 23d, quite destitute of this world's goods and that the Rev. gentleman is so well pleased that he will give him a good home as long as he requires it. We understand this is the first boy of the family.

WHY NOT CELEBRATE?

With the coming of the N. P. line we have every reason to jubilate, and the 4th of July would be the boss time to do it. Grand Forks, Ada, and every other village and hamlet will celebrate, and why should not Crookston? Our enterprising citizens should call a meeting and organize for a glorious celebration of our natal day. Get a move on you and let's whoop'er up in good old fashioned style.

Mexican Sherbit is the favorite at Herb's.

No Flies on Ed.

"I will fly for Grand Forks to-morrow" quoth Ed. George on Monday evening. As he appeared upon our streets as usual on Tuesday there would appear to be no flies on Ed.

A Trip to Fosston.

On Thursday last it was our pleasure to make a trip to the "city on the hill" as the ambitious Fosstonite is wont to call Fosston. The depot is located about three quarters of a mile from the old town but the process of moving has commenced and will continue until all are located about the depot. A neat church building has been erected and many new buildings are going up. The Fosston Thirteen Towns is already domiciled over the new bank where its proprietor, Al. Kaiser, may usually be found ready to greet all callers with a smile a mile broad or so. Our time being limited we could not make extensive calls but those of our friends whom we did see, seemed busy and happy and full of sanguine hope for a bright future for their young city. The genial and handsome postmaster, O. L. Larson, pretended to be happy in the thought that the post-office is gradually slipping away from him, but we could see traces of a vain regret that he had left the grand old party to wander away into the by and forbidden paths of democracy. He would return now only for the thought that his motives might be misconstrued by a cold and heartless world. Lewis Lohn was enroute for the new town bag and baggage on the backs of Harris & Glenn. I. I. Hillestad was busy at the store. Will soon be putting up a new one on the new site and is now glad that he had not erected an elaborate structure before. Mine host Benedict got up an excellent dinner for us and invited us to stay a week, and we regreat that we were unable to accept the invitation. McIntosh, an ambitious rival to Fosston, is a fine healthy infant of only a few months growth, has a number of fine stores, hotels, a large lumber yard a brickyard and two newspapers (two many, as it were,) and is pushing ahead with vigor. Erskine is as handsome a place for a village as we saw. Located on a beautiful lake, in a dense forest it is susceptible of wonderful development. Here is where our old friend D. Cameron located his claim and built a sawmill. The place shows that Uncle Daniel has a true artist's eye for the beautiful as well as good practical common sense, for the embryo city will no doubt develope wonderfully in the near future. All along the route we saw abundant evidences of the recent severe wind storms, however the crops were looking nicely. At nearly every station on our return were taken on board from one to a half dozen cream cans, bound for the Crookston creamery. This industry is growing every week and the country seems specially adapted to it as all the elements of a good dairy country are there.

TAKEN UP.

Came upon my premises, on Saturday, May 25th, two mare colts about 2 years old. One brown, with white face and one white hind foot, and one bay colt. Owner can recover by proving property and paying expenses. Address

[6-8] E. LANCTOT, Gentilly.

Flags?

Oh, yes, Herb has any quantity ranging in size from 1 inch to 14 feet long Herb is on deck for Memorial Day. Call and look over his stock.

OPERA HOUSE!

Thursday Evening MAY 30

BEACH & BOWERS

FAMOUS

MINSTRELS

—AND—

FINEST UNIFORMED BAND

IN THE WORLD.

25 TWENTY-FIVE DISTIGUISHED ARTISTS. 25

A VAST ORGANIZATION!

Beyond question Greater, Better and Superior to all Minstrels of the Past and Present, making in an Ideal and Real mobilization of all Monarchs of the Minstrel World!

☞ Absolutely an entire change of Program since our last visit. Watch for our Grand Jockey-Uniformed Band.

STREET PARADE AT NOON.

Admission 75c, 50c and 35c.

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE!

ALLL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS

GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted

GENUINE

SLATER FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED

Fast Colors,

OR MONEY

Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE KIND IN THE

NORTHWEST.

A Elopement, Mebbe.

While seated in our lonely den at 2 o'clock, 20 minutes 31½ seconds g. m., busily engaged standing on the sidewalk wondering what we should get to write about this week we were hailed by a prominent business man of Main street, this city who bore down upon us under full sail from the direction of Broadway. He was a handsome young man and short—very short—of breath, and as he hove alongside his bright blue eyes twinkled with glee or something akin to that as he quietly remarked "I'll bet's lopement that's what! You don't often see a good looking day like this; a lovely little boat in the river below Sampson's bridge, two handsome young men with black mustaches about 10 o'clock with two beautiful young ladies headed for Fisher and a preacher going down by next train unless it means something, you bet, all of which I am willing to affirm that I saw. If that is not an elopement I'd like to know what you would call it;" saying which he departed for the store. Being anxious to ascertain what there might be to this mysterious case we caused the roll of business men to be called and found one prominent physician and one handsome good-looking bank cashier among the missing, and a leading clergyman was going to be as soon as the afternoon freight departed for Fisher. Telegrams sent along the line as far as Grand Forks failed to bring any definite tidings and the affair remains as deep a mystery as ever.

Always speak a good word for your town. Write to your friends about it, and above all don't fail to patronize its business institutions to the extent of your patronage. It don't look well to be sending away for all you need to eat and wear, and it kills your town. Cities thrive upon the patronage of their inhabitants—the more patronage the more thrift. The more the city thrives the more the individual does. Never go back on yourself by going back on your town.

Masonic.

Special meeting Saturday evening, June 1st, at 8 o'clock. Work in 3d degree. Visiting brethren invited.

SID. F. MARKHAM, W. M.

Vandalism.

On May 2d Mr. C. P. Hathaway lost everything he had by fire. Upon the lot where the house stood he had some choice flowering plants and pie plants. He informs us that when he went to take them up to remove he finds that some generous hearted (?) individual has stolen everything of any value. Stealing, in the main, is bad enough, but the person who is mean enough to steal under such circumstances would need close watching at a funeral, if the corpse had pennies on its eyes. It seems almost incredable that human nature could stoop so low, but it must be, for animals have no use for flowering plants and if they had they would ask for them before they would steal them. Mr. H., hopes whoever despoiled his garden will enjoy the fruits thereof to the fullest extent that their conscience (?) will allow.

Oak Posts.

We have 1,500 good body oak posts for sale.

[6-9] HUGGARD, LARSON & Co.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th, at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

LIST OF LETTERS.

List of advertised letters in the P. O. Crookston for the week ending May 27th, 1889. Persons calling for any of these letters will please say "advertised."

Bonnas, Hannah.
Bolyron, Miss Lizzie
Barrett, Miss Annie
Engen, O L.
Ericssen, John
Gosslend, Ingeborg
Hawkins, P. S.
Johnson, Augusta
" E.
Karlson, C E.
Larson, Loseng
Moen, Marilva
McGuire, Miss
Osmervig, N
Petersins, John
Palmer, Lucy
Petterson, Daniel F
Rice, H M
" R B-2
Rudy, Olef
Skoglund, Swan
Symson, Miss Mary
Sonesson, Carl Peter
Trond, Charles
Wellend, R
Ward, L P—2
Worden, J C

ALEX. MCKINNON, P. M.

NOTICE.

CROOKSTON, May 22d 1889.

All parties are hereby notified tha no meats brought to this city, not inspected by the local inspector can be offered for sale after June 10th 1889. Any parties offering any uninspected meats for sale after said date will be subject to the penalty provided by law.

By order of the Board of Health,

M. VANDYKE, M. D.
Health Officer.

REPORT

Of the Condition of the Scandia-American Bank, Crookston, Minn, May 16, 1889.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$ 91572 71
Due from Nat'l and State Banks	10343 07
Cash on hand	4888 31
Checks and cash items	56 79
Furniture and fixtures	1763 01
Current expenses and taxes paid	2511 80
	$111140 69

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$ 50000 00
Surplus fund	2500 00
Undivided profits	4330 21
Individual deposits subject to check	36330 38
Demand certificates of deposit	17681 10
	$111140 69

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Polk, } ss.

I, A. G. Gallasch, Cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. G. GALLASCH, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23th day of May, A. D. 1889.

ANDREW P. HANSON.
Notary Public, Polk County.

Correct: Attest:
{SEAL.} E. P. PIERCE.
H. W. LOCKEN.
LEWIS ELLINGTON.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Council Proceedings.

ADJOURNED MEETING HELD MAY 22D '89.

Ald. Lally in the chair, the meeting was called to order, the following members were present, Lally, Childs, Jerome, Buhn, Marlette, Jennings, Walter and Watts.

The committee on ways and means reported progress and asked further time to report with referenc to increasing the salary of the police force which on motion was granted.

The committee on printing was granted further time to report.

Moved by Ald. Jennings, seconded by Ald. Buhn that the city engineer be and is hereby instructed to prepare plans and specifications for constructing the city sewers. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Jennings, seconded by Ald. Marlette that the chair appoint a committee of three to canvass the vote cast at a special election held May 17, 1889, for the purpose of issuing bonds for railroad purposes, the chair appointed Ald. Jennings, Marlette and Bjoin as such committee, the committee reported as follows:

To the City Council of the City of Crookston.

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee to whom was referred the election returns for the special election held in your city May 17, 1889, for the purpose of voting upon the question of issuing bonds to aid in the construction of a railroad to your city, beg leave to report, that they have carefully canvassed the certified returns and poll lists of the several election precincts and find the vote cast was as follows:

The total number of votes cast was six hundred and sixty (660) of which five hundred and thirty-four (534) were in favor and one hundred and twenty-six (126) were against the proposition.

The vote of the several precincts being as follows:

In the first ward there were 149 in favor and 23 against.

In the second ward there were 120 in favor and 32 against.

In the third ward there were 64 in favor and 17 against.

In the fourth ward there were 194 in favor and 34 against.

In the fifth ward there were 7 in favor and 20 against.

I. U. JENNINGS.
R. G. MARLETTE.
T. H. BJOIN.

Moved by Ald. Buhn, seconded by Ald Walter that the report of the committee to whom was referred the election returns be accepted and adopted. Carried unanimously.

In the petition of C. R. Boree, et al. asking the house known as the "Holton house" be closed as a house of ill fame, it is moved that the attention of the mayor be called to the same, and that it is the sense and wish of this council that he see that the prayer of the petitioners is granted and that the laws relating to prostitution and houses of prostitution in this city be enforced during the remainder of his administration. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald. Marlette that the petition of C. H. Jefferson, and others with reference to the construction of a bridge on Sixth street was referred to the city engineer, he to report at next meeting the probable cost of constructing same. Carried.

The opinion of the city attorney with reference to the construction of a sidewalk on Robert street leading to Sampsons addition, on motion was ordered filed for further reference.

Moved by Ald. Childs seconded by Ald. Marlette that the matter of repairing city vault be referred to the street commissioner, chief of police and the aldermen for the First ward, and to take what action they may see fit to repair same. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Childs seconded by Ald. Marlette that the ald. of the Fourth ward and the city engineer be appointed a committee to examine the bridge on Broadway street and to report on same June 1st 1889.

On motion council adjourned until June 1st 1889.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

IS THE C. P. COMING HERE?

Rumor That It Is Interested in the Duluth and Winnipeg Railroad.

Duluth Herald.

The Canadian Pacific now covers all the strategic points in the Northwestern commercial field. It has succeeded in establishing direct communication between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and in so far as this pertains, is a successful competitor with United States roads for through traffic. Did the Canadian country belong to the Union there would be no hindrance to the company pushing its feeders all over the Northwest, entering the wheat fields of Dakota and the mineral and grazing lands of Montana and Idaho and securing its share of freight. But just here lies the difficulty. Outside of its through between-ocean business, it must depend almost entirely upon the grain-carrying trade, and the focal point in which this centers is Duluth. And in order to compete with the Northern Pacific it is a matter of strictest necessity that the great Canadian line possesses direct communication with the Zenith city, the great head of lake navigation. The Manitoba is by no means an air line to this point, but upon this road the Canadian Pacific has been obliged heretofore to depend for its western entrance to this city. Upon the east it has virtually this communication with Duluth over the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic, but this, in itself, is of limited value, although it gives a desirable rail outlet to the East. About a month ago the Twin Cities legislature refused to recognize the right of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad company to land granted the corporation several years previous. Immediately after this blow was struck came the announcement that the road would be built, land grant or no land grant, although the legislative enactment would have proved disastrous to a company composed of even more wealthy men than the Duluth & Winnipeg capitalists. Hardly three weeks ago the news was received here that the company had succeeded in floating a block of its bonds in England, to which country R. S. Munger and others interested in the line had gone, and where, at the same time, several officials of the Canadian Pacific were. There was apparently no trouble in disposing of the road's securities and it is reported that the matter was greatly facilitated by Canadian Pacific stockholders, who, it is said, were the principal purchasers of the bonds.

The Duluth and Winnipeg is the one line needed by the Canadian Pacific to enter the lists as a competitor for the Duluth grain trade. With it—and there is every reason to believe that a deal giving it control of the Duluth and Winnipeg has been consummated—the Duluth and Winnipeg becomes paying property from the start. Not only would the Canadian Pacific make up a large share of its deficit, but the Manitoba, which threatens to prove a serious competitor for the Canadian grain carrying traffic, would be compelled to rely at a loss upon merely the local trade. And with the Duluth and Winnipeg and the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic the Canadian Pacific would find the one great obstacle removed in bidding for the through Eastern states' business.

Fontaine & Anglim's SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

Church Press: Don't be a grumbler. Some people contrive to get hold of the prickly side of everything, to run against all the sharp corners and disagreeable things. Half the strength spent in growling would often set things right. You might as well make up your mind, to begin with, that no one ever found the world quite as he would like it, but you are to take your part of the trouble and bear it bravely. You will be sure to have burdens laid upon you that belong to other people, unless you are a shirker yourself; but don't grumble. If the work needs doing, and you can do it, never mind about that other who ought to have done it, and didn't. Those workers who fill up the gaps and smooth away the rough spots, and finish up the jobs that others leave undone—they are the true peacemakers, and worth a whole regiment of growlers.

The Western Rural: Hiram Smith, the great Wisconsin dairyman, from a recent address, said: "The combinations essential to successful dairying will consist in enriching the soil with nitrogenous food through the cow, and the manure taken from the stable daily and spread upon the plowed land, instead of piling in the yard to remain until the next Autumn, and then plowed under eight inches deep to wait until the Resurrection for any returns." Also to change the combination of cow feed from expensive pasture grass, meadow hay and carbonaceous corn meal to cheaper soiling, silage and nitrogenous bran, oil or oatmeal, and by so doing make it posible to extend the milking season from eight months to eleven months of the year. Also to change the practice of producing the greatest flow of milk when it sells for fifty to sixty cents per 100 pounds to such time as it sells for $1,30 to $1,60 per 100 pounds, with no increased cost of production. Also in spewing out the antiquated notion that any beef cow is a dairy cow any more than the dum p cart makes the best sulky, because you can use it on the race-track one day and haul manure in it the next.

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.

[3-tf] M. ROOD

Sealed Bids.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE,
CROOKSTON, Minn., May 17, 1889.

Sealed bids will be received by the city council of the city of Crookston, until June 1st 1889, for grading Robert street, in Jerome's addition, from the east end of the bridge to Washington avenue, according to the profile in the office of the city engineer, the council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the City Council,
JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

☞ See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

H. STEENERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Crookston, Minn.

W. A. ROBERTSON.
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block. - - Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,
ROBERT STREET. - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot of a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes, to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

S. L. COLLINS
—PROPRIETOR OF—
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person.

Scandia-American
BANK.
Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital $200.000
Paid in Capital 50,000
Surplus 2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:
Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

BRIGHT —AS A— New Dollar!

The St. Paul Globe

The GLOBE is The Chief Paper of the Northwest, and is Recognized Throughout the Country as the One Exponent of that Great Wonderland of the Future lying between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, of which Minnesota and the Dakotas are the center. Its complete success and phenomenal growth during the past four years have attracted the attention of the reading world, and all is comprehended when it is said the GLOBE for 1889 will be better and greater than ever. During this non-partisan period the GLOBE will address itself to the interests of the wide section it represents, without regard to party or faction, clique or clan. With improved and unrivaled mechanical and news facilities, it will present, in compact and readable form, the doings of the world with such accuracy as to fit it for a text book in the schools of the commonwealths.

The scenes and incidents of the administration of Gen. Harrison will be brightly and graphically described, and his policy fairly and freely detailed.

By Mail, Postage Paid.

	One Year.	Six Months.	Three Months
DAILY	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00
DAILY and SUNDAY	10.00	5.00	2.50
SUNDAY	2.00	1.00	.50
WEEKLY	1.00	.50	.25

Send Postal Note, Money Order or Registered Letter. Address

LEWIS BAKER,
St. Paul, Minnesota.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to R. A. Wilkinson.)
Fournet Block Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

THE
St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Ry
IS THE
DIRECT AND POPULAR LINE
TO PRINCIPAL POINTS IN
MINNESOTA, DAKOTA, MONTANA
Also to St. Paul & Minneapolis,
FOR ALL POINTS SOUTH AND EAST.
THE ONLY LINE RUNNING TO THE THREE GREAT CITIES OF MONTANA, GREAT FALLS,
HELENA AND BUTTE.

Their "Montana Express" will be put in service November 10th, with a Train Equipment unexcelled, furnishing Splendid Day Coaches Palace Sleepers, Free Colonist Sleepers and Superb Dining Cars of latest design.

"Manitoba-Pacific Route"
To Puget Sound Points.

Affords Cheaper Rates than via any other.
Fast Time, Comfort, Courteous Attention.

LAND This Company has for sale in Minnesota 2,000,000 acres of Excellent Farming, Grazing and Timber Lands, at very low prices and on favorable terms.

For Maps, and general information inquire of your own Ticket Agent, or

J. BOOKWALTER, Land Com'r.
F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn.
A. MANVEL, V. P. & G. M.
W. S. ALEXANDER, G. T. M

Crookston Nurseries
Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock
A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1883. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price. Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:30 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Beasie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets, at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 8:00 p. m. Sunday School at 1:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vesitbuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free. The only line to the

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
8:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
8:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
11:10 "	East St. Cloud	4:03 "
12:22 a. m.	Little Falls	3:00 "
1:10 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
4:05 p. m.	Ashland	6:20 p. m.
4:05 "	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
6:40 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
9:30 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
11:25 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
1:14 p. m.	Grafton	2:24 "
3:00 "	Pembin	12:32 "
6:00 "	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent.
St. Paul, Minn.

Gleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call.
Terms $1. Yours truly,
RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prices.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, MINN
[32-tf]

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and refurnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., MAY 30, 1889.

A Calamity Averted.

St. Paul Daily News.

The Northwestern public, and especially the business men of St. Paul, will read with great interest the interview with Mr. Villard elsewhere published. It makes public a plan, the existence of which we have some time known, for the absorption of the Northern Pacific by the St. Paul & Manitoba.

While this was a gigantic scheme, when it is understood that the real objective point of the absorption would be to place the Northern Pacific in the hands of the Canadian Pacific, it can readily be seen that if it was a question of money only it could be acomplished. The Canadian Pacific could command English capital sufficient to absorb the Northern Pacific, if that road was on the market, and the use of the Manitoba road as a purchaser, was merely a very thin cover for a very transparent transaction. The recent changes in the directories of both the Canadian Pacific and Manitoba roads, whereby the leading financial men of the Canadian Pacific become directors in the Manitoba, and vice versa, shows that any transaction in which the Manitoba is interested is conducted with a view of an alliance with the Canadian Pacific.

No greater calamity could befall these cities and the Northwest than the practical consolidation of the Canadian and Northern Pacific and Manitoba systems, all competition would be utterly wiped out in a moment. The fact is too transparent to need comment.

While this scheme, which now seems to be thwarted, has been in progress, there has never been a question as to the loyalty of the Northern Pacific to our local interests. With Messrs Oakes and Villard at the helm of this great corporation, it can be rated, as far as Minnesota is concerned, as a home institution. There has never been any occasion for any misgivings relative to the traffic arrangement with the Wisconsin Central, and the success of the present management of the Northern Pacific in retaining control, is occasion for general rejoicing among our citizens. To be placed entirely at the mercy of a corporation foreign not only to our interests, but to the country as well, would be a calamity indeed.

With Mr. Oakes at the head of that great corporation, supplemented by the financial skill of Mr. Villard, we can count that we are in the hands of our friends, and the development just made public demontsrates very fully the importance of being in that situation.

Acres to the Cow

The Western Rural: One of our correspondents once wrote to The Rural and Stockman that it required one hundred acres to keep a horse in Montana. We laughed when we read it, but did not think it worth while to make any editorial comment, for a statement of that kind is its own comment. In Montana or any other part of the West—we mean the best sections—more animals can be kept to the acre than can be kept in the East. It requires, for instance eight acres and a half in New York to keep a cow. A cow could be kept in Dakota or Montana, or almost anywhere else in the West upon a quarter that quantity of land. It is because pasturing is so expensive in the East that soiling is growing in popularity in many sections. These vast acreages of pasturing, are injured by thoughtless pasturing, as for instance, pasturing too early, to close, etc.

The Holstein-Friesian Register: Mr. I. C. Wade, of Jamestown, writes: "The Valley Herd' of Holsteins made the round of the fairs and though just off grass, and with no particular fattening up, took their share of premiums. They won over every Holstein in the butter test at the Minnesota State fair. These are the true tests for dairy cattle and I hope to see fair managers make more of an effort to bring out the food qualities of the cows of all breeds. From thirty imported cows of my herd, I have had 61 calves during the past two years—all alive and doing well. I challenge any breeder to beat it. My cattle do not look well but their breeding is so superior and their milking qualities are so good that I have sold over $6,000 worth from my herd in the past six months, besides selling about $100 per month of cream to a near factory which really only pays half price, and yet many say thoroughbred cattle don't pay,

The Holstein-Friesian Register:—Messrs. Smiths, Powell & Lamb, of Syracuse, N. Y., write: "We find that seven of our cows have made butter records which average or thirty days 100 lbs. 1 3-4 ozs. each, as follows: Albino 2d, three-year-old 106 lbs. 14 ozs.; Clothilde, 2nd, 104 lbs. 3 1-2 ozs. Lady Griswold, 101 lbs. 10 ozs.; Aegis. 100 lbs. 6 ozs.; Aegis 2nd, 96 lbs. 5 1-4 ozs.: N. Dorinda, 96 lbs. 2 1-4 ozs.; Clothilde, 95 lbs. 2 3-4 ozs., and 19 cows, including one two-year-old and four three-year-olds averaged 92 lbs. 3 1-2 ozs. in thirty days. In every case the butter was made by the usual methods, without the addition or use of any ingredient of any kind except pure cold water, and was worked into good marketable condition and weighed before salting.

Good Cheese.

The Western Rural: Well, what is the cheese product to be in character this season? Will needed reform in making cheese strike our cheesemakers with sufficient force to fill the market with good cheese? Or will the sole leather cheese and adulterated cheese continue to be furnished to the injury of the market? The character of much of our cheese is a disgrace and the evidence of utter stupidity. The cry goes up almost constantly that the American people do not eat as much cheese as they ought to. The complaint is not well founded. they eat more than the character of much of the stuff that is sold for cheese warrants. Cheese is an excellent article and convenient article of diet, if it is good cheese. Adulterated cheese is not fit to eat, and the man who makes it and the fellow who makes adulterated butter ought to be put in the same sell, and cheese that is so tough that you cannot tear it apart is not fit for anybody or a dog to eat.

Pure Water.

The Western Rural: Pure water is an absolute necessity, if you expect to maintain the health of your cow and get good, pure milk. Some of the water that cows are compelled to drink is of such wretched character that humane feeling alone should be sufficient to prompt different arrangements for watering. In some pastures there is standing water, and it becomes stagnant; in some there are very slow running streams, and they become polluted by the cattle. We have seen cows drink water that was mixed with cow droppings because there was nothing else for them to drink. When it is practical there is nothing better than a trough in the pasture. Cows like water that is not too cold, and the only proper way to supply them with this is to have a trough, for the only other way in which they can get it, is to drink out of the pools. It is not always practical to have a trough in the pasture, but what we have said will suggest that we should do the best we can to supply pure water at any rate.

Corn Meal for Cows.

The Western Rural: Writing from Michigan a correspondent says: "I know how deeply impressed The Rural and stockman is with the idea that farmers feed too much corn. I read with interest your advice to feed less corn and more oats and similar foods, I am aware that you think an exclusive corn meal diet—with fodder—is not the thing for milch cows' but I beg to say that my experience shows corn meal to be precisely what the milch cow needs. It makes better milk and more of it than any other food." The Rural and Stockman will have to take issue with its correspondent. Not only is it an error to suppose that corn meal is the best milk producing food, but it is a fact that an exclusive and liberal corn meal diet will injure the cow. experiment has shown it and science proves it. The cow and every other animal needs some fat. The muscles require some fat for "bedding," and the cow should have enough of the fat forming foods to supply this necessary fat. It is also unquestionably true that some fat forming foods will help the milk. But, beyond the necessary fat, as discribed, the cow does not need fat. To be profitable, she must convert the most of her food into milk and she will convert more of the bone and muscle forming foods into milk than any other kind. Experiment, if carried on broadly enough, will show that. Some of our very best dairymen never feed corn at all. But our ration is the old one we so often give, ground oats, bran, and corn meal in equal quantities.

Getting Good Dairy Cows.

The Western Rural: It is not advisable to run into debt. That is a good general rule. But there are exceptions to all rules. If a man has the certain prospect of getting money at a definite time in the future to pay a debt, and absolutely needs somthing to make his business profitable, it is good policy to run in debt for the thing needed. The Rural and Stockman has gone into the question of losses from inferior dairy stock so often, showing what poor policy and poor wisdom it is to keep such stock that we need hardly go into it again. But many farmers have not the ready money to buy good stock, and they cannot see their way clear to get it. Now our breeders are always willing to sell stock on credit to good prrties. There is no reason why a man owning his farm should not become the owner of a good bull if he wishes to. The only question for him to settle is: Can he raise the money when the obligation becomes due, or can he raise it after one or two renewals of the note. As to whether such stock will pay him or not is not a question at all. The only question is the one stated. Dr. Pratt. the Holstein-Friesian breeder, of Elgin, always states that good parties can buy stock of him without money, and believes that he is doing the public a kindness by the statement. Other breeders make the same offer. Stock up with good stock; breed up your dairy stock. There is no reason why you should not do so.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 3d, 1889, viz: CHRISTIAN O. ESPE, D. S., 10,966, for the sw¼ S. 21, T. 148, R. 46. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz. C. W. Davis, Ole Olson, Jr., Edna, P. O., Minn., Edward Stowe, Fertile, P. O., Minn., O. S. Johnson, Crookston, P. O., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE,

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:50 o'clock p m., in book "30" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22,) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.
A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Byron Culver, late of the County of Black Hawk and State of Iowa, deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of this county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate at his office in Crookston in said Polk County, on the first Monday of each month, for three successive months, commencing with September 2d 1889, and that six months from the 15th day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated Crookston, Minn., the 14th day of May A. D. 1889.

JAMES H. WILSON,
Executor of the estate of Byron Culver deceased. [4-7]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on June 22d 1889, viz: WILLIAM N. ANDERSON, H'd 11,424, for the e½ sw¼ lots 3 and 4 S. 19, T. 148, R. 42. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: T. J. West, Edward Leo, Henry Green, Woodside, Minn., P. E. Misgen, Crookston, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[4-9] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler deceased

Notice is hereby given, To all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, late of the County of Polk deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of said county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate, at his office in Crookston in said county, on Monday the 7th day of October 1889; and that six months from the first day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated this 8th day of April, 1889.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

KATHERINE OEHLER,
Administratix of the estate of Godfried D. Oehler, deceased. [3-5]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[63]. First publication May 2d 1889.]

BE IT KNOWN, THAT ON THE SIXTH day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, Ferdinand Pepin and Mary Pepin, his wife, of town of Louisville, Polk County, Minnesota, made, executed and delivered unto The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis, one certain mortgage: That said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, on the sixth day of January A. D. 1881, at two o'clock in the afternoon, in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 462, 463, 464: That said mortgage conveyed the hereinafter described premises to secure the payment of four hundred ($400) dollars, in five years from its date, and the interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum, per annum, payable semi-annually: That default has been made in the payment of said principal sum with interest thereon: That there is hereby claimed to be due on said mortgage debt the sum of four hundred and fifty-three and 45-100 ($453.45-100) dollars: That no action, or proceeding, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: That said mortgaged premises are situate in Polk County, Minnesota, and are described as follows, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) range forty-five (45,) containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to government survey.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given. That by reason of said default in the conditions of said mortgage, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said described mortgaged premises, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the fifteenth day of June A. D 1889, at two o'clock in the afternoon, of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 17, A. D. 1889.

THE FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK,
of Minneapolis,
Mortgagee.
Edward M. Johnson,
Att'y for Mortgagee. [2-7]

ANNOUNCEMENT !

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE
DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

☞A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT.)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Hoard's Dairyman: It is a pretty hard blow Prof. E. W. Stewart gives to the raising of roots in America for feeding cattle, when he shows that the business in Europe, England, notably, is being abandoned, and silage substituted for the root crop. England has in favor of it cheap labor and most excellent soil for root-growing; and she has not the conditions and climate for raising the best known silage crop—corn—still with such silage as she can make, it is undermining the root crop. How much more plain is it, then, that in this land of corn, high-priced labor and penchant for using machinery rather than to bow the back to weed and lug roots, the silo will root out the root-growing business. Still, if they are more costly and troublesome, we think the dairy farmer may well have some roots for variety.

Turkeys Eggs for Sitting,

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUE NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

Order to Show Cause on Filing Petition to Sell Lands.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court. Special term.

In the matter of Guardianship of Roman Anderson, Julia Anderson and Aler Anderson, minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Martha Anderson, guardian of the person and estate of said minors, representing among other things, that said wards are seized of certain real estate in said County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and that it is necessary that all (or a part) of the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same at private sale. And it appearing to the court from said petition, that it would be for the best interest of the said wards to sell said real estate as prayed for. It is ordered and directed, that, the next of kin to said wards, and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the Judge of this court at the probate office, in the city of Crookston, in said county, on Tuesday the 16th day of July, A. D. 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, then and there to show cause (if any there shall be) why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate according to the prayer of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be personally served on the next of kin of said wards residing in said Polk County, and on all persons interested at least 14 days before the hearing of said petition as aforesaid, and by the publishing thereof for four successive weeks in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and publish at Crookston in said county, the last of which publication shall be at least 14 days prior to the said day of hearing.

Dated at Crookston, the 22d day of May A. D. 1889.

By the Court,
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.
[6-10]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 18th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 10th, 1889, viz: PETER W. SMITH, H'd 7,763, for the se¼ S. 22, T. 147, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. J. Kolstad, Jens J. Vigen, Ole Olson, and Lars Knudson, all of Neillsville, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who wishes to protest against the allowanced of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witness of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JUNE 6, 1889. NO. 7.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$6 00
1 inch	.75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
6 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, E. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Minn

AN OPEN LETTER.

To the Press of the United States.

GENTLEMEN: The men who sacrificed themselves to put down the rebellion which intended the destruction of the Nation respectfully ask that you give them "a day in court." They beg that you will give some time to the serious consideration of the pension question, in order that you may understand a matter which is very imperfectly understood by a great proportion of those who attempt to write about it.

The present is a propitious time for such a study. There is no other great question before you for consideration. It will be several months before any political campaigns open, so that you now have the opportunity to make the study without distraction by any pressing questions outside of it.

It is of the utmost importance to them that you make the study, and be in position to speak intelligently upon it, when Congress shall take the question up, as it will certainly do shortly after its organization next December. They are all growing old. Every year the grim old reaper, Death, cuts a continually widening swath through their thinning ranks. Every year's delay in the settlement of the question means a ruthless denial of justice to the tens of thousands of them, for they will have gone beyond the reach of earthly justice and gratitude, as well as of injustice and ingratitude. They want your powerful assistance in securing the passage by Congress at its next session of legislation which will render them approximate justice.

They ask of you that you give the pension system the same patient investigation and analysis that you give the tariff system, or the National finances. In those you are not frightened by an aggregate of millions, because, with a Nation so great as ours, all figures have a tendency to run into millions, which, however, represent but small sums for each individual.

We will take up first the great argument of the soldier-haters: "This country is now spending $80,000,000 a year for pensions, or a larger sum than any of the soldier-ridden countries of Europe pay for their enormous military establishments."

We will admit that $80,000,000 is an enormous sum. There are facts which should be considered in connection with this, which will change its significance. It represents payments to the survivors of an army fully twice as large as any put in the field by any nation, which did more hard fighting, contested more battles, and lost more killed and wounded than has been the case in the whole of Europe in three-quarters of a century! This is startling, but it is indisputable. Since the close of the Napoleonic wars in 1815, all the great countries of Europe—Great Britain, France, Germany, Austro-Hungary, Russia, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Holland and the Scandinavian countries, with their millions of armed men and their frequent wars, have not altogether fought as many and as bloody battles, killed and wounded as many men, and subjected their armies to such strains as we did the Union soldiers from 1861 to 1865.

You can confirm this statement by a very cursory examination; 2,320,272 men served an average of three years during our war. In this century no other war has lasted so long or has been filled with such continuous and sanguinary fighting while it did last. From April 13, 1861, to May 26, 1865, the enormous number of 2,261 battles and skirmishes were fought—many of them more destructive to human life than any battles in modern history.

In the prosecution of the war more than 400,000 men lost their lives. This is double the number of the entire army of Great Britain, 143,000 more than there are in that of Austro-Hungary, and four-fifths as many as France or Germany have on their rolls. It is more men than Napoleon arrayed against the famous Sixth Coalition of England, Russia, Prussia, Sweden and Spain, and twice as many as he had under him when he began his last campaign, which ended at Waterloo. Our war lasted nearly seven times as long as the Franco-Prussian struggle, and we lost over six times as many killed on the field of battle as the Germans lost in overrunning the whole of France.

These are some "comparisons with European countries," which should be made when considering the aggregate cost of the pension-roll. Germany spends $105,614,000, France $121,000,000, Russia $125,000,000, Great Britain $91,000,000, Austro-Hungary $50,000,000, Italy $41,000,000 a year—$433,000,000 in all in supporting armies which in 75 years have not done altogether as much hard fighting as the armies to which these pensioners who receive $80,000,000 did in four years.

We cannot forbear one more comparison with European standards to show how much bloodier was the fighting of our own soldiers. The charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, stands out in the history of all European wars as the most murderous loss ever sustained by a single organization in battle. It has been sung about, painted in pictures, and made the subject of countless pieces of masterly word-painting. What are the exact figures? It started upon the charge with 673 men, and lost 113 killed and 134 wounded; total 247, or 36.7 per cent of its number. This was its first and only battle. After that it rested on its laurels. There were scores of regiments in our army which lost more heavily than this in single engagements, after having suffered severely before, and which went on to other battles, where they suffered still more. Take, for example, the 1st Minn., which, after having fought valiantly at the first Bull Run, on the Peninsular, at the second Bull Run, Antietam, Fredericksburg and Chancellorville, found itself at Gettysburg, with the 1,080 men it started out with reduced to 262. At a critical point in the battle Hancock found it necessary to sacrifice it to gain a few minutes' time. He ordered it to charge into an overwhelming mass of the enemy, and capture their colors, which it did, though almost annihilated. It lost 75 killed or mortally wounded, and 149 wounded—224 in all, or 82 per cent. This did not stop its fighting either, for it lost in nearly every battle the Army of the Potomac fought. The Light Brigade's loss in killed was 16.8 per cent. The following table shows an equal or greater percentage of loss of some of our regiments in single engagements:

Regiment.	Battle.	Per cent killed.
27th Conn	Gettysburg	17.
9th Ill	Shiloh	17.
11th Ill	Fort Donelson	20.
22d Ind	Chaplin Hills	18.
87th Ind	Chickamauga	16.
7th Iowa	Belmont	18.
32d Iowa	Pleasant Hill	20.
1st Kan	Wilson Creek	16.
1st Me. H A	Petersburg	22.
6th Me.	Rappahannock Station	17.
9th Me	Petersburg	19.
46th Me	Fredericksburg	17.
12th Mass	Antietam	22.
15th Mass	"	17.
20th Mass	Fredericksburg	20.
25th Mass	Cold Harbor	23.
57th Mass	Wilderness	17.
2d Mich	Knoxville	18.
7th Mich	Gettysburg	16.
24th Mich	"	18.8
1st Minn	"	28.2
5th N. H	Fredericksburg	16.
5th N. M	Gettysburg	19.
7th N. H	Fort Wayne	16.
12th N. H.	Cold Harbor	21.
15th N. J	Spottsylvania	20.
5th N. Y	Manassas	23.
20th N R	"	19.
42d N. Y	Antietam	16.
48th N. Y	Fort Wayne	16.
49th N. Y	Spotsylvania	18.
59th N. Y	Antietam	18.
63d N. Y	"	17.
69th N. Y	"	22.
80th N. Y	Gettysburg	16.
93d N. Y	Wilderness	16.
111th N. Y	Gettysburg	22.
121st N. Y	Salem Hights	17.
141st N. Y	Peach Tree Creek	21.
147th N. Y	Gettysburg	20.
7th Ohio	Cedar Creek	17.
14th Ohio	Chickamauga	18.
38th Ohio	Jonesboro	20.
63d Ohio	Picket's Mills	17.
11th Ohio Bat'y	Iuka	18.
8th Pa. Res	Fredericksburg	16.
26th Pa	Gettysburg	17.
49th "	Spottsylvania	22.
61st "	Fair Oaks	16.
69th "	Gettysburg	21.
75th "	"	16.
83d "	Peninsular	20.
141st "	Gettysburg	24.
145th "	Fredericksburg	18.
2d Vt	Lee's Mills	18.
5th Vt	Savage Station	18.
8th Vt	Cedar Creek	16.
1st Wis	Chaplin Hills	18.
2d Wis	Manassas	17.
4th Wis	Port Hudson	20.
15th Wis	Dallas	16.
26th Wis	Bethesda Church	20.
37th Wis	Petersburg Mine	21.
7th U. S	Gettysburg	16.
10th U. S	"	23.
17th U. S	"	16.
18th U. S	Stone River	18.
6th U. S. Col'd	Chapin's Farm	76.
79th U. S. "	Poison Springs	23.

It thus appears that losses equal to the world-famous Light Brigade's were of ordinary occurrence in our war. There were hundreds of other regiments which lost in single battles nearly as large a percentage as those we have enumerated. And, as we said with reference to the 1st Minn., this did not begin and end their fighting, as the Light Brigade's charge did its. They went right on for years, fighting in the same determined way.

Looking at this exhibit one would say that a man who went through this terrible fighting should have no difficulty in being placed on the pension roll at once, and at a comfortable allowance. How sadly otherwise are the facts. The Commissioner of Pensions' report for 1888, shows that the 35,089 invalid pensioners who were put on the roll that year had been struggling to get there for from 1 to 26 years—more than half having been under examination for five years or longer. We will astonish you by giving his detailed statement of the length of time their applications had been dragging through the endless toils of circumlocution in the Pension Bureau:

No.	When filed.	Time Under Examina'n.
9	1862	26 years.
230	1863	15 "
191	1864	24 "
110	1865	23 "
177	1866	22 "
131	1867	22 "
61	1868	20 "
115	1869	19 "
161	1870	18 "
125	1871	17 "
144	1872	16 "
169	1873	15 "
230	1874	14 "
413	1875	18 "
444	1876	12 "
859	1877	11 "
1,065	1878	10 "
5,013	1879	9 "
1,100	1880	8 "
2,028	1881	7 "
2,720	1882	6 "
2,363	1884	5 "
2,600	1885	4 "
5,423	1886	3 "
6,383	1887	2 "
2,231	1888	1 "

Then as to the munificence of the provision which the veterans secure after their years of struggle to get on the rolls. One would naturally say that nothing less than a comfortable support was deserved by every man shown to have been disabled by participation in those years of fighting, where it was a common happening for one man in every four or five to be killed, and most of the remainder more or less severely wounded. Who doubts, for example, that it was the duty of the British Government to secure from want for the rest of his life every man in the Light Brigade who went through the fight, where one in six of the number were killed? But when we study the report of the Commissioner of Pensions we find that of the 326,835 disabled men on his roll—

289 get $1 a month, or 3 cents a day.
2 get $1.87 a month, or 6 cents a day.
31,722 get $2 a month, or 6⅔ cents a day.
3 get $2.12½ a month, or 7 cents a day.
4 get $2.25 a month, or 7½ cents a day.
3 get $2.50 a month, or 8⅓ cents a day.
7 get $2.66 a month, or 8⅔ cents a day.
28 get $2.66⅔ a month.
1,935 get $3 a month, or 10 cents a day.
1 gets $3.12 a month, or 10⅖ cents a day.
318 get $3.75 a month, or 12½ cents a day.
60,210 get $4 a month, or 13⅓ cents a day.
425 get $4.25 a month, or 14 cents a day.
1,442 get $5 a month, or 16⅔ cents a day.
2 get $5.25 a month, or 17½ cents a day.
13 get $5.33 a month, or 17¾ cents a day.
35 get $5.33⅓ a month.
66 get $5.66⅔ a month, or 18⅞ cents a day.
16 get $5.75 a month, or 19 cents a day.
47,661 get $6 a month, or 20 cents a day.
76 get $6.25 a month, or 21 cents a day.
2 get $6.37 a month, or 21 cents a day.
2 get $6.37½ a month.
2 get $6.66⅔ a month, or 22 1-5 cents a day.
3 get $6.75 a month, or 22½ cents a day.
225 get $7 a month, or 23 cents a day.
14 get $7.25 a month, ar 24 cents a day.
925 get $7.50 a month, or 25 cents a day.
1 gets $7.66⅔ a month, or 25½ cents a day.
21 get $7.75 a month.
63,142 get $8 a month, or 26⅔ cents a day.

That is, the vast number of 32,000 pensioners, or one-tenth of the entire number, get but $2 a month or less; 103,556, or nearly one-third the entire number, get $4 a month—13⅓ cents a day—or less; 152,237, or nearly one-half the entire number, get but $6 a month—20 cents a day or less; and 216,643, or over two-thirds of the entire number, get but $8 a month—26⅔ cents a day, or less.

Such facts as these need no comment, gentlemen. We feel that merely bringing them to your attention will be sufficient to enlist you among the warm advocates of the speedy adoption of a much more liberal and just policy toward the Nation's saviors.

Yours, hopefully,

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE.

STOPPED THE SHOOTING.

How One Dutch Private got to be a Corporal.

New York Sun.

Just before the fight at Williamsburg my company was on picket at the front. The man on the left of me, as I went on guard at 10 o'clock one night, was a Dutchman named Jake Klein. He was a good natured, obedient fellow, and not easily put out, but that night he was out of sorts, that as the rebel pickets were constantly firing in our direction Jake finally got his dander up. It was against orders to leave his post, but after a while he came lumbering through the bushes like an ox team, and growled out:

"Vell, shall we do sometings?"

"What can we do?" I asked in return.

"Take 'em some prisoner, eh?"

"You'd better go back and keep quiet."

"But dose rebels vahs shooting all der vhile. Dot vhasn't fair play. I pelief I go oafer und shtop him."

"Well hurry up," I replied, with a laugh; and to my surprise and consternation he started off in the direction of a rebel picket post. I called to him, but he answered back through the darkness:

"I vhas all right. I make dot feller behave herself or pring him in some prisoner!"

He was gone half an hour before I heard anything. Then there was a crashing in the bushes, some swearing and growling and Jake appeared with a full-rigged Confederate infantryman, having a firm clutch on his collar.

"Here vhas dose feller," he announced as they came to a halt. "He doan' promise to keep shtill, und so I pring him along."

"Drat the onery Dutchman," growled the Johnny. "He stole up behind me and jumped onto me like a mountain before I heard him."

"Who vhas some Dutchmans?" said Jake.

"You was!"

Look oudt a leedle, ole feller, or I knock off your head! I vhas only Dutch in my mouth; all der rest vhas Union. Come along und behave herself, or I make you dead as crowbars!

Jake had actually captured a picket on his post and brought him off a prisoner, and he did it as coolly as any of the rest of us would go out to drill. The reb was so mad he cried, but he was turned over to headquarters, and private Jake Klein had "corporal" as a handle to his name after a few days.

Business and Crops.

Farm, Stock and Home.

Business circles seem to be greatly elated over the present crop prospects. Every business interest, from a trunk railroad to a peanut stand, is building golden hopes on the assurance of a bountiful harvest. The past year has made many business men think of the farms and the farmers of the country, and of their dependence on them, as they had not thought for many years before. The gradually lessening ability of farmers to buy merchandise, machinery, etc., at last culminated in a most painful business depression. Now, in the promise of bountiful harvest business men see the star of hope brightly shining; they see, or think they see purchasing power growing with the growing crops; they see a debt paying power developing also, hence they are now holding a sort of carnival of joy.

There is one factor in the situation, however, which the average business man does not see, or at least does not accord it any weight; that is the factor of profit making by the farmer. In all commercial and industrial channels, except farming, magnitude of business done is the secondary consideration, net profit being the first. In farming the consideration are reversed; magnitude of business done is the first, and as a rule, the only consideration the business world gives to it. It evidently thinks that large profits are the inevitable accompaniments of large crops, but it would not think of so estimating the manufacturing or mercantile business. Large production will not save a manufacture from ruin if it costs more to make his goods than he gets for them, nor will large sales save from bankruptcy the merchant whose expenses are larger than his gross profits. It is as true that large crops may not increase the farmer's affluence. It is with him as with all other business men, a matter of net profit. If the farmer is making money the country must be prosperous, if he is only raising big crops the prosperity may still belong to the realm of the problematical; it is entirely a matter of profit making.

We have undoubtedy permanently entered a period of low priced farm products; If we have also permanently entered a period of correspondingly low cost of production, the prosperity of the farmer class, and of the whole country, is assured, and the bright hopes of our business men are justified. But this is a point which should be well considered by our business men, by legislators, by agricultural educators, by the learned and thoughtful in all walks of life, for it is a matter of vital importance to all.

It is not our intention to dim the hope that now looks so bright to business men, on the contrary we are as anxious as any to see it realized, but we deem this a good time to impress upon the sanguine the fact that they owe somthing more to agriculture than to absorb its spare dollars; and as they have recently been admonished how dependent they are on that industry, they should see the importance of studying the financial and economic situation from its standpoint, ever mindful of how much more importance is the prosperity of that interest than is the success or defeat of political parties, or the "booming" of towns and cities, building railroads, or any other business achievement. Good crops are always a great blessing, but be crops never so good this year they will not solve the economic problems of the day, nor bring us healthy, permanent prosperity.

Cost of Railroads Now and Then.

Farm Stock and Home.

In late years the actual cost of building and equipping railroads has been marvelously lessened. Labor emplyed in consruction is cheap; improved methods of grading, by which the work is performed largely by machines, have enormously reduced the cost of road-bed building; steel rails, lasting two to three times as long as the old iron ones did, now cost about one-fourth as much per ton as did iron in the early days of railroad building in the Northwest; Engines, capacity considered, cost less than half as much as they did twenty years ago; cars and all other equipments are correspondingly cheap, yet strange as it may seem, it costs just as much, often more, to build railroads now as it ever did.

One of the latest roads built in Minnesota, the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, now figures in the last report of the State Railroad Commission as having cost $40,137,85 per mile, while the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, one of the oldest roads in this region, is said to have cost $31,596; the Manitoba, $27,300,91, and the average of all the roads in the state, $40,823,23. It is rather a queer coincidence that the first named road should have cost so nearly that of the average of all roads; it is a circumstance calculated—and probably designed—to allay all suspicions about crooked construction accounts. In vindication, however, of the truth of the claim made at the outse of this article, we will say that from the entire claimed cost of the road, $35,065,521,36, the item of "Interest and discount charged to construction' $17,205,365,15"—in addition to a detailed statement of cost of construction and equipment—should be deducted, leaving the cost about $20,000 a mild, probably very nearly the correct figure. But the people have got to provide for interest and dividends on over $40,000 a mile, just the same as if the cost of railroad building had not been reduced, and the road being now on the list of high cost ones is in condition to kick against "unfriendly legislation" as hard as any of them; and from his new seat in the U. S. Senate the president of the road can do much to prevent any interference with or impairment of the sacred rights of property honestly (?) acquired.

A powerful type of draught horse is illustrated and described in the American Agriculturist for June. The English Shire horses, which breed has been introduced into America within the last ten years, adding a valuable element to the heavy draught stock, will be more generally bred both for farm work and for hauling in cities when the value of the breed becomes more widely appreciated. They are descended from heavy Flemish and German horses, and are in form and size nearly identical with the war-horses of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. So much interest and value are recognized in the breed in England that annual exhibitions are held of Shire horses exclusively. Many choice representatives of the breed are owned in this country.

Manufacturers all over the country are awakening to a sense of the importance of Minneapolis as the distributing point of the great Northwest, and are crowding the management of Minneapolis Exposition with applications for space. The result is that exhibits never before seen in this part of the country will be on view in the exposition, which in point of practical value will exceed that of any previous year. An exceedingly low rate will be made by every railroad in the Northwest, thus affording every one an opportunity of visiting the great institution. Visitors may be assured that they will more than get the worth of their money.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

Largest & Most Complete Stock of Jewelry, Clocks, Silverware, Spectacles Etc. Etc.
All Work Warranted, And Perfect Satisfaction Guaranteed.
At Bottom Prices.

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 6, 1889.

'Round Home.

One Hard wheat 71 cents.

Jas. McNulty is in from Tilden this week.

R. A. Wilkinson is up from St. Paul this week.

L. D. Marshall visited the twin cities last week.

Try Wilson & Thompson's Key West. It is a daisy.

W. J. Nickle was up from Edna on Thursday last.

Everybody seems to be in to attend court this week.

Lovely weather but all agree that we need rain badly.

Earnest Buse was in from Red Lake Falls on Tuesday.

Jas. Novotny, Sr., is serving his country as juror this term.

A. R. Holston, of Red Lake Falls, was in to court this week.

Knute Qvaunde, of Rocksbury, was in the city on Tuesday.

The public schools closed on Friday for the summer vacation.

Fred Benoit, town clerk of Kertsonville, is courting this week.

Charlie Rapp is down from St. Hilaire this week, on the grand jury.

C. B. Rockwood arrived on Thursday last to remain during court.

J. S. La Due, one of Fertile's prominent merchants, is in to court.

Geo. L. Swift and wife were down from Mentor on Memorial Day.

Wm. Sorsoliel, of St. Hilaire, was seen upon our streets this week.

Chas. Oehler, of Tilden, is taking in the sights of a busy city this week.

Engineer Fred Chapin greeted his many friends in the city last week.

Court convened on Monday morning, his Honor, Judge Mills, presiding.

J. M. Palmer and family, of Angus, were in the city on Decoration Day.

Dan Patterson is in from St. Hilaire this week to see how courting goes.

John C. Wells, of Fon du Lac, Wis., registered at the St. Louis on Monday.

Jos. Smith, a prominent merchant of Red Lake Falls, was on change this week.

C. Madson and J. A. Brown, East Grand Forks, registered at the Commercial on Monday.

T. Hoiland and L. Lewison, of King, came down on Tuesday's train to see what is going on this week.

J. W. Lane, Fred A. Lane and Mrs. M. A. Lane, of Red Lake Falls, registered at the Commercial on Monday.

A. L. Burrows, J. H. Bozard, A. S. Brooks and F. M. Brown, registered at the St. Louis from Grand Forks on Monday.

S. L. Bean, of Washington, D. C., was in the city last week enroute for Arvilla, D. T., where he has real estate interests.

One of the actors in Beach & Bowers' troupe, the comical genius, is a brother of band leader Cassad, of the Crookston Cornet Band.

Miss Minnie Ayers left for her home in Illinois on Friday evening. Rumor saith it is not for long and we trust that rumor, for once is correct.

Ten pounds of masculine humanity gladdened the heart of R. F. Leick on Monday evening. "Bob" moves about as though walking on springs.

Gen. G. P. Wilson and wife, from St Paul, were registered at the St. Louis, on Monday. They are visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. R. Sweatt.

John M. Boyle, John Watson, W. F. Spillane and C. F. Walker, of Red Lake Falls, left their autographs on mine host Bemis' big book on Monday.

Tom Morris returned on Monday morning from a snowdrift at Waupon, Wis. Tom says he is glad to get back to perpetual sunshine from that cold, inhospitable region.

M. W. Williams, who was sent to the insane asylum a few weeks since has returned apparently all right. The doctors down there said it was more brain fever than anything else.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thorson are visiting friends at Tacoma. They report a very enjoyable trip and it is rumored that T. J. contemplates the purchase of a boot and shoe business and remaining there.

Duluth Herald, June 1: Z. Daoust, of Crookston, was in West Duluth yesterday and to-day looking for a suitable location for a hotel or boarding house on a large scale. He has been proprietor of the Carman Hotel at Crookston for the past nine years. He thinks West Duluth is the liveliest town in the Northwest, and will without doubt locate here.

The Red Lake Falls News don't like our comments on the ball game one little bit, and gives THE JOURNAL a good deal of its space to vent its spleen. Don't feel bad, Mr. News, our article did not reflect on your nine—they are good players, and do full justice to their years of practice together. Our boys will have to practice together several weeks before they can beat 'em, and as that is what they won't do, you are liable to keep ahead some time. Don't worry.

D. C. Hallock, of Edna was in on Tuesday.

Philip Zeh of Red Lake Falls is courting in the city this week.

J. W. Hanson and E. M. Hoff represent St. Hilaire in the city court week.

Little Falls Transcript: Mr. W. B. Dawley, a prominent citizen of Crookston, is in the city assisting his old townsman, B. Clement, to get his new business into running shape.

John Ulstad, a resident of the Thirteen Towns, who one year ago last winter lost both hands by freezing, has received an artificial hand, with which he is in hopes to earn money enough to obtain another. The cost of two would be about $75.

Little Falls Transcript: B. Clement, who purchased the stock of goods from W. A. Butler & Co., will be at his old home in Crookston the coming week, looking after business matters. He will then return and give his attention to his general merchandise business in this city.

Senator H. Burkhardt and family arrived on Friday morning to make Crookston his home in the future. For the present he will occupy rooms in the Cleveland House. The senator did good work for our bonding bill also for the D. & W. road for which he has the thanks of our city and county.

When Mr. J. R. Clements went into his house upon his arrival last week he found things in a fearfully mixed up condition—looked as though it had been used for headquarters by a band of cowboys, everything topsyturvy and a few articles missing. It is thought to have been the work of the festive small boy and the matter is being quietly worked up.

W. N. Godfrey is in from Maple Bay doing jury duty this term. Elsewhere W. N. advertises his farm for sale. He has got an A. 1. stock farm, located on Maple Lake which he offers at a bargain for good reasons. Just the thing for anyone who wants a good big ranch; has plenty of pasture lands hay land and wood land and is well watered. It is a soft snap at the figures asked and a bonanza is waiting for somebody.

On Saturday forenoon a small boy, son of Stephen Duvall, whose residence is on Ash street south of the Catholic church managed in some way, known only to small boys, to set fire to the barn. Neighbors "caught on" to the situation and managed to save the cow but the barn was a total wreck. A nice double harness was overlooked and destroyed. The department got there in elegant shape and prevented the destruction of much valuable adjacent property.

Beach & Bowers minstrels held forth in the opera house on Thursday evening. The company is light, in numbers but very good, making up in quality what they lack in numbers and gave a very pleasant entertainment. The usual introductory overture was omitted and was not missed. The performing dogs were well trained sustaining their part with wonderful accuracy. The show was different from the usual run and an improvement.

Andrew Abar was in to observe Memorial Day and proceeded to decorate his interior with bug juice so profusely that when he started for home he was not in fit condition to drive a lively team, the result being that the whole outfit was wrecked in front of Mike Leguee's. Mr. Abar was picked up insensible, taken into Mike's house and Dr. Just sent for who worked over him a long time before he began to take any interest in earthly matters—fact it was thought for some time that he never would wake up. The boy, fortunately was not much hurt, Mike was up all night with Mr. A. until at dawn he laid down to get a little needed rest. When he awoke a few hours later he found that Mr. A. had arisen and lit out for home. The wagon was a total wreck and how both occupants escaped with their lives is a mystery.

Tom Erwin, of Fisher, who is taking a trip west, writes the Bulletin as follows: "I have been on the go ever since I have been here, looking the country over. Oregon is a fine farming country, but a poor place for a working man, and the same may be said of the Sound in Tacoma, Seattle and British Columbia. The towns are over-run with working men and little or no work to do, and hundreds without money to go elsewhere. I would consider the situation very serious. The reports we receive in the east are very far from being true. A working man is 100 per cent. better off in Minnesota, than he would be anywhere on the coast, as the real estate boomers are working hard to boom the towns, regardless of everything. It is quite common to have a man come pleading for enough money to buy a lunch, and men who have the best of references from all parts of the globe. I tell you the situation is serious to those who have to suffer it. I simply mention this, in case any one should contemplate coming here to look for work. It is a common thing when meeting a Minnesota man to hear him say, "I wish I was back in Minnesota again." The Willamette valley in Oregon is a fine fruit country, but they are booming that also. They ask from $80 to $100 per acre for land, and the same is very rough and hilly. It has rained every day since I got here. Strawberries are ripe, cherries nearly so, and roses are in full bloom. I expect to be home by the first of June, if all is well."

Memorial Day.

That Crookston is not behind in the march of human progress is shown in the manner in which this day, sacred to liberty, was observed. Early in the morning the town began to fill with hosts of patriotic citizens who came to take part in and to witness the solemn obsequies of the sacred day. The parade formed at the time announced and the order given in the program published, with the exception that the Beach & Bowers' Cornet band was placed in the lead. Upon arrival at the opera house it was found to be impossible for all to get in so the school children were left out which was a sad disappointment to them and to all. An appropriate program was well carried out. Judge Mills' speech was highly enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to hear it. The graves of the comrades in the cemetery were decorated by a committee from Col. Cobham Post. The most serious mistake made was in not having the exercises in the grove where all could have been accommodated.

A Fireman's Dance.

It is said that upon the return of the father of the young lad who set the fire on Saturday, the old man furnished the music for the dance which the young fireman had.

A Waterbury.

At the fire on Saturday a young man got his watch pocket full of water. When he took his watch out to see what time it was he found it full of water and stopped. Will Van Dyke, who chanced to stand near by, remarked: "That's what I should call a Waterbury."

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00 per 98 lbs.
North Star	2.75 " " "
Fife	2.50 " " "
Skip Jack	1.50 " " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

Why Not.

On Monday two loads of wheat from Grand Forks County, N. D., passed through enroute for Fertile to be ground. This frequently occurs, we are told, and many farmers about Crookston go to Terrebonne mills or to Fertile. Now, all this is wrong, as all this wheat might and should be ground here in Crookston if we had a grist mill. It would pay our business men to chip in and build a flouring mill to accommodate this class of trade, and there is enough of it to keep one large mill busy. It should be run on a plan that would give its customers every pound of their grain above enough to pay running expenses, thus it would encourage custom and bring trade from a large scope of country. When the farmers of Dakota seek other mills to grind their grain, the hint should not be lost on Crookston business men, and Crookston should be prepared to accommodate all such. Every branch of business would be benefitted directly or indirectly, and there should be found money enough for the enterprise.

J. E. Beim, of Sletten is in the city this week.

Tom Benson was in from Bygland on Tuesday.

Try Wilson & Thompson's Key West Havannas.

L. C. Hanson, was up from Hubbard on Tuesday.

John Gilbert is serving as grand juror this term.

Dick Lilly came down from Fosston on Tuesday's train.

J. C. Nordsving was down from McIntosh on Tuesday.

R. Nesbit was up from the town of Nesbit on Tuesday.

Axel Wahlstrom was over from Grand Forks on Tuesday.

W. L. Davies, of Angus, is doing grand jury duty this week.

J. W. Howes is down from Thief River Falls courting this week.

H. Hebert and C. DeMers, of Poplar River visited the city this week.

John B. Demarais, of Lake Pleasant is on the grand jury this week.

T. R. Darigan represented Black River at the county seat this week.

Newton Beers company will appear at the opera house some night in June.

Nels K. Anderson, town clerk of Sanders was looking us over this week.

Chas. E. Harrington, of Euclid registered at the Commercial on Tuesday.

Henry Nolan went down to Fertile this week to get acquainted with his family.

Martin Randklev came down from Rosebud to represent the town on the grand jury.

Supt. Elliot returned this week from a pleasant vacation refreshed for his arduous duties.

Wm. Welsh's mother came up to attend the trial of her son, in the Senholt case.

Mrs. Bert Duntley went up to Euclid this week to pay a visit to her parents Mr. and Mrs. M. Davis.

W. C. Nash, of East Grand Forks left his autograph upon the big book of mine host Bemis on Tuesday.

Miss Lizzie Zarracher is suffering an attack of scarlet fever, which materially interferes with her school duties.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Fourth of July.

A large and enthusiastic (but principally enthusiastic) meeting was held at the city hall on Monday evening to consider the question "shall we celebrate?" The universal verdict was: "We shall." The following gentlemen were appointed executive committee:

E. W. Wile chairman, D. Jacobus, H. A. Mason, H. F. Brown and Frank Hertz. The executive committee met at once and appointed the following sub-committees.

ON SPEECHES.

Hon. H. Steenerson, Judge Montague, Edward George Esq.

ON VOCAL MUSIC.

Fred Mix, Fred Durand. J. W. Wheeler.

ON FIREWORKS.

F. Hertz, Fred Anderson and H. A. Mason.

ON DANCE.

W. Walker, J. E. O'Brien, Andy Looken, Will Heidrick and Mr. Farley.

ON AMUSEMENTS.

D. Jacobus Max Ericsson, A. C. Schmidt, W. E. McKenzie.

ON GROUNDS.

Dave Robinson, Jack Carter.

The following officers were appointed:
President of the day—S. F. Markham.
Treasurer—A. G. Gallasch.
Secretary—W. E. McKenzie.

Arrangments will at once be perfected for raising funds after which all other arrangments will follow and Crookston will celebrate in due and ancient form. Our citizens are taking hold with a will and a determination to get up the grandest affair ever beheld in this city. If you are neglected by the committee on subscription don't be bashful about walking up to the captain's office and putting in an X or so. Let the eagle scream!

John E. Tice is in from Mentor courting.

Geo. Bunzy was down from Mentor on Tuesday.

F. Drinkwine was in from Mentor on Tuesday.

Andy Stephens seemed to tire of the Rebecca business.

Try Wilson & Thompson's Key West Pure Havanna filler.

H. L. Bloss, of Fargo, registered at the St. Louis on Tuesday.

Try Wilson & Thompson's Key West pure Havanna filled cigars.

Will Attix and J. E. Van Tuyl, of Mentor are caught on the jury.

R. C. Thompson, Canton, O., registered at the Commercial, on Tuesday.

Chas. Sweat and wife, of Fargo, visited their son in this city this week.

Arthur P. Toupin, town clerk of Poplar River is doing jury duty this session.

E. W. Wile went to St. Cloud last week to represent the Crookston Lodge I. O. O. F.

Miss Lota Jenks arrived from Larimore on Tuesday morning, the guest of Mrs. M. B. Hayes.

I. K. Messelt and his brother Herman came down from Winger on Tuesday for a visit of a day or so.

Mrs. P. H. O'Hara, Graceville, Minn., arrived on Saturday on a visit to her sister, Mrs. P. J. McGuire.

Grunde Tollefson, Nels Lofthus and Hans C. Sampson represent the town of Sletten in the city this week.

Cyprias Josselein and Peter Anderson, of Emardville were doing a land office business in the city on Tuesday.

The grand jury have brought in two indictments; one against Ludvig Arneson for the murder of Olaf A. Wig, and one against Fred Buse for perjury.

Jos. Laurence and wife left for the west this week for a few weeks tour through the western states and territory.

Geo. Winne is filling his yard on the corner of Ash St. and Houston Ave. which adds much to the value of that property.

J. P. Nelson, of Pasadena, Cal., took breakfast at the Commercial hotel on Tuesday morning, enroute for his old home at Warren.

Judge C. O. Christianson went over to Grand Forks on Tuesday evening. He took Dep't. Register of Deeds Russel along to introduce him.

Hon. W. D. Washburn is reported to be seriously sick with pneumonia at Washington. THE JOURNAL trusts that he will pull through all right.

I. I. Hillestad came down from Fosston on Tuesday enroute for Pelican Rapids for a visit of a day or so. Expects to be back by Friday morning.

Carl Hendrickson was over last week to see how the Scandia-Am. band is getting along. Louis Ellington took him out to Maple Lake for over Sunday.

Wm. Dawley returned on Sunday from his trip below. Has been at Little Falls assisting Ben Clements to get his new business started. Says Ben has a good store and fine prospects.

THE JOURNAL man is in receipt of an invitation to the reception and ball given by the citizens of Duluth, on Thursday evening July 6th, the occasion being the formal opening of the new Spalding House. We regret that circumstances over which we have no control render our presence there at that time impossible. The Spalding is one of the finest hotels in the state and starts off with a grand flourish of trumpets that should insure its success.

How is That?

The Chronicle has the contract for the printing, all the same the Times man seems to draw his little order for county printing.

J. L. Lee, representing Nordvesten, of St. Paul was in the city Wednesday enroute for a tour through Montana in the interest of his paper. Nordvesten is one of the best papers of its kind in the state in fact we could say with truth that it is the leading Scandinavian paper of the state, and if it wasn't for making Col. Listoe feel too proud we should say so; as it is we will say there are none better. The paper has a good circulation in Polk County. Mr. Lee's accounts of his travels will lend a new interest, as he intends to look over all the government lands now in market, and to come in by the pending treaty with the Sioux.

Council Proceedings.

ADJOURNED MEETING, HELD JUNE 1ST, '89.

Meeting called to order. President Watts in the chair. The following members were present: Ald. Childs, Lally, Morrisey, Steenerson, Marlette, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn and Jennings.

The committee to whom was referred the city printing, referred the same back to the city council without recommendation.

Moved by Ald. Morrissey, seconded by Ald. Jerome, that the bids for grading Robert street, in Jerome's Addition, be referred to the Ald. of the 4th ward. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morrissey, seconded by Ald. Jerome, that the bid of the Crookston Times newspaper for the city printing for the ensuing year be accepted. Ald. Childs moved to amend the motion of Ald. Morrisey relating to the city printing by striking out the words Crookston Times and substituting in lieu thereof the words POLK COUNTY JOURNAL. Upon the call of ayes and nays the amendment prevailed, and the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL was declared the official paper for the ensuing year.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of grading Robert street in Jerome's Addition recommend that the contract be awarded to F. Rejimball for the sum of 13 cents per cubic yard and $35.00 for grading and stumping same.

Moved by Ald. Childs, seconded by Ald. Jennings, that the bid of C. Cahoon be accepted at 12½ cents per cubic yard, providing that he would do the grading and stumping for the sum of $30.00. On motion the contract was awarded at the above figures to C. Cahoon, he having agreed to do the grading and stumping for $30.00.

The petition of J. R. Clements and others was referred to the Ald. of the 4th ward.

Moved by Ald. Morrisey, seconded by Ald. Marlette, that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to meet the county commissioners at their next meeting to confer with reference to the division of the poor fund. The chair appointed as such committee Ald. Morrisey, Buhn and Jerome.

Moved by Ald. Jennings, seconded by Ald. Marlette, that the city engineer be instructed to prepare a city map for the use of the city. Carried.

The committee appointed to examine the condition of the Broadway bridge presented their report which, on motion, was accepted.

Moved by Ald. Jennings, seconded by Ald. Morrisey, that the chair appoint a committee of three to assist the city engineer in preparing plans and specifications for the city sewers. Carried. The chair appointed as such committee Ald. Lally, Morrisey and Jennings.

The committee to whom was referred the subject of support of the poor beg leave to report, that applications from seven families have been received and aid has been extended to them, but your committee would respectfully recommend that in the future the matter of poor aid be entrusted to a supervisor of the city poor, to be elected by the council.

H. STEENERSON, Chairman.
FRANK JEROME,
G. O. BUHN,
R. G. MARLETTE, Committee.

The report was accepted and adopted.

Ald. Steenerson offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Jennings:

Resolved, That M. B. Hayes be, and he is hereby elected Supervisor of the Poor of the city of Crookston, at a salary of ten dollars per month.

Ayes, Ald. Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Steenerson, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Jennings and Watts; Ald. Childs not voting. Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried.

On motion council adjourned.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

LOST,

On Decoration Day, somewhere between Section 9, Fairfax, and the city a pair of gold-bowed spectacles in a case. Leave at JOURNAL office and receive reward. [7-9]

JAMES FITZGERALD,
BOOK BINDER,
ALEXANDRIA, - - MINN.
Correspondence Solicited.

UNTIL FURTHER
NOTICE!
ALLL
WOOL
GRAND ARMY SUITS GRAND ARMY SUITS
$8.00
Warranted
GENUINE
SLATER
FLANNELS.
GUARANTEED
Fast Colors,
OR MONEY
Cheerfully Refunded.
TRADE AT
—THE ONLY—
C. O. D.
CLOTHING HOUSE.
LARGEST
ESTABLISHMENT
OF THE KIND IN THE
NORTHWEST.

The Red Lake Commission.

The Work the Commission will Have to do, and who Compose the Board.

St. Paul Dispatch: A Washington dispatch was published yesterday morning to the effect that Secretary Noble had approved the instructions to the Red Lake Chippewa commission and that they had been forwarded to the Hon. H. M. Rice at St. Paul. The commission is composed of Hon. Henry M. Rice, Rt. Rev. M. Marty, bishop of Dakota, and Dr. J. B. Whiting, of Wisconsin. Bishop Marty is not expected in the city for some days, and a decision as to when the commission shall commence its labors has been deferred until his arrival. The commission has been appointed in accordance with an act approved on Jan. 14 last, and their duty is to negotiate with all the different bands or tribes of Chippewa Indians in the State of Minnesota for the complete cession and relinquishment, in writing of all their title and interest in and to all the reservations of said Indians in the state except the White Earth and Red Lake reservations, and to all and so much of these two reservations as in the judgment of said commission is not required to make and fill the allotments required by existing acts.

Iron Companies Incorporate.

Duluth Mining Syndicates Organize.

St. Paul Dispatch: The Vermillion Range Iron company and the Mountain Range Iron company, with headquarters at Duluth, filed articles of incorporation to-day. The capital stock in each case is $50,000 and the incorporators of each are the same. They are: Leonidas Merritt, Alfred Merritt and C. C. Merritt, all of Duluth; Clarke Chambers, of Owatonna and Kelsey D. Chase, of Faribault.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00 per 98 lbs.
North Star	2.75 " " "
Fife	2.50 " " "
Skip Jack	1.50 " " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

Bureau of Information.

Frank M. Reed has organized an institution intended to furnish information on all matters that come within the jurisdiction of St. Paul and Minneapolis or their telephone connections, such as matters pertaining to the U. S. Courts, Supreme Court, County and Municipal Courts the State Library or any other office in the State Capitol; all requests for the whereabouts of prominent men legal, railroad, mercantile, political, of a private or general nature or any other man. This Bureau, if properly conducted should be of immense benefit to business men in the state and the presence of F. M. Reed at the head of the concern is a sufficient guarantee that it will be properly managed. For any information you desire address "Northwestern Bureau of Information," 85 East Fourth St., St. Paul, Minn.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

FOUND.

Friday night, on Broadway, a purse containing a small sum. Describe, and address Box 466, City.

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.
[3-tf] M. ROOD

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

NOTICE.

CROOKSTON, May 22d 1889.

All parties are hereby notified tha no meats brought to this city, not inspected by the local inspector can be offered for sale after June 10th 1889. Any parties offering any uninspected meats for sale after said date will be subject to the penalty provided by law.

By order of the Board of Health,
M. VANDYKE, M. D.
Health Officer.

TAKEN UP.

Came upon my premises, on Saturday, May 25th, two mare colts about 2 years old. One brown, with white face and one white hind foot, and one bay colt. Owner can recover by proving property and paying expenses. Address
[6-8] E. LANCTOT, Gentilly.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners.

CROOKSTON, May 28, 1889.

The Board of County Commissioners met at the County Auditor's office; all members present. The minutes of last session were read and approved.

A petition from Black River Tp. was presented; also petitions from King, Grove Park, Fisher, Lessor, and other townships, asking for appropriations for road and bridge purposes. The petitions being duly considered, on motion, the following amounts were appropriated out of the county road and bridge fund, subject to the decision of the Polk County District Court in cases now pending, to-wit: To Black River Tp. $40; Red Lake Falls, $50; Fairfax, $100; Grove Park, $75; King, $50; Tabor, $150; Lessor, $25; Russia, $100; Fisher, $300; Parnell, $150.

The sum of $250 was appropriated out of the same fund for digging a ditch on the range line between Lowell and Fisher Tps., from county ditch to Red Lake River.

The tax application made by Louis Berthiaume (in person) was referred to the committee on taxes.

The se¼ of Sec. 24, Tp. 153, R. 47, was attached to school district No. 118.

The ne¼ Sec. 28, Tp. 153, R. 47, was attached to school district No. 71.

The Auditor was directed to issue his warrant for amount of premiums on court house insurance; also for jail insurance.

The road petition of Fred Tiedt, Sr., and others, was presented, and a committee consisting of Com's Kirsch, Hunt and Rinehart was appointed to examine the proposed route and report at next session of the board.

The claims of L. B. Tooly, Ole J. Hanson, A. E. Flanders, E. O. Flanders, W. J. Nickle and John Steenerson were laid over till next meeting. The claims of Ed. Dakin, J. B. Thurston and Toste Sathre were rejected.

The petition from citizens of Emardville Tp. as to county road, was laid over.

The school petition of E. Page and others was presented and a hearing given all parties interested. After proper consideration the prayer of the petitioners was granted, and school district No. 191 was organized, comprising all of Sec's 19, 30 and 31; also the west half of Sec's 20, 29 and 32, in Tp. 150, R. 44, said territory being detached from school district No. 32.

The road and bridge petition from King Tp. was referred to Com'r Johnson; also petition from Sletten Tp.

School district No. 192 was organized, comprising all of Sec. 16, and the south half of Sec. 9, Tp. 148, R. 41, said territory being detached from school district No. 120.

The school petition of C. Steenerson and others was rejected upon the recommendation of Supt. of Schools.

The claim of Minneapolis & Northern Elevator Co. was rejected.

The committee on reports of county affairs was granted further time to complete their report.

The county attorney was directed to institute proceedings against W. E. McKenzie, A. Kaiser and F. J. Duffy to recover amount overcharged for county printing.

Hearings were set at next regular session in the matter of the individual school petitions of John Mikuleckey, Henry Bourdon, David Corbin, Frank Kovar, Louis Martelle, Francis LaBanta and Francis Fendeau.

The tax applications of M. Rontley, Nels Jerengen and O. Berthiaume were favorably reported and amounts abated.

The report of committee on petitions for a county road from Gentilly bridge to the southeast corner of Sec. 36, Crookston, presented a report, recommending that the prayers of the petitioners be granted. Remonstrances against granting said petition were presented from Edward Lanctot, F. Regembal, Moses Regembal and Sylvin Langevin, which were duly considered, and the board determined the amount of damage sustained, as follows: Edward Lanctot, sw¼ and e½ se¼ Sec. 30, Gentilly, $200; Stephen Lanctot, w½ se¼ Sec. 30, Gentilly, $75; Sylvin Langevin, w½ sw¼ Sec. 36, Crookston, $75; F. Regembal, se¼ sw¼ and ne¼ se¼ and nw¼ se¼ Sec. 36, Crookston, $75; M. Regembal, ne¼ sw¼ Sec. 36, Crookston, $75, and the prayers of the petitioners were granted and the proposed highway was declared located, and the County Auditor was directed to notify the supervisors of the several towns in which said road is located.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, E. F. Elliot, Superintendent of Schools of this county, has absented himself from the county for some time, to the detriment of our school system, and has not signified any intention of returning to his post of duty in the immediate future, therefore

Resolved, That this Board considers such absence wholly unwarranted and inexcusable, and be it further

Resolved, That the Auditor is hereby instructed to notify Mr. Elliot to return to the county and resume his school work within 10 days, or in default thereof, proper and necessary steps will be taken to have the office of Superintendent of Schools declared vacant.

A correction was ordered in the assessment of lots 23 and 24, block 12, and lots 6 and 7, block 15, in Sampson's Woodland Addition to Crookston, as certified to by the affidavit of Henry Wight, assessor.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

Andrew Eiken, list m'tg's and office desk	$ 62 45
P J McGuire, cash disbursed postage, express, etc	23 20
" " disbursements for registered matter	10 90
" " disbursements and account of seed grain	7 75
J O Johnson, com. fees mileage	10 80
M E Kirsch, " " "	49 20
Frank E Hunt, " " "	21 80
John Nevill, services rendered, distribution of seed wheat	20 00
C I Lanman, " " "	6 00
Hendricks Bros., m'd'se to paupers	10 00
J M Desjardins, one pair shoes for John Senholt	4 00
Soderberg & Co., team hire for county physicians	6 00
C M Hanson, medical attendance on paupers	25 00
Halvor Thompson, witness fees in justice court	7 80
C C Knappen, stationery	99 16
Iarald Jenson, board and care of pauper	20 00
Aron Sakrison, " "	5 00
Henry Shepard, coroner's fees	5 20
John N Olson, board and care of a pauper child	8 00
A P Toupin, filing seed grain contracts	2 50
B G Gulseth, witness fees in justice court	4 40
A Simensen, boarding Lewis A Skidstad	25 00
H N Tweten, boarding prisoners	60 86
C E Dampier, physical examination of John Senholt	5 00
T Louden & T Kelly, labor at East Grand Forks county bridge	4 00
A E Brush, board and care of Ole Johnson	48 00
N N Tweten, boarding prisoners	17 14
" " " "	28 00
M B Hayes, marshal fees	6 25
N N Tweten, boarding prisoners	1 00
M B Hayes, marshal fees	1 45
N N Tweten, boarding prisoners	2 28
Adam Zeh, justice fees	7 55
T Richard, witness fees	2 72
N G Gulseth, " "	4 40
A Engesetter, constable fees	25 20
E O Studlien, witness fees	7 80
J G McGrew, stationery	85 32
Hans Robolt, witness fees	7 80
John Vig, justice fees	3 50
A Kaiser, printers fees	9 27
Ole Bjoin, livery incurred in distribution of seed grain	6 00
E M Lancaste, posting school notices	5 30
E M Walsh, half barrel tar paint	5 00
John Sandven, taking care of M Williams (insane)	5 00
Lars Elstad, " "	2 00
Daniel Patterson, constable fees	8 55
M O'Reilly, " "	2 76
G W Lewis, justice fees	1 95
David Paul, constable fees	18 27
" " " "	16 65
A P Sohnson, 15 days service as night guard at county jail	30 00
John Connery, witness fees in justice court	4 06
G W Lewis, justice fees	19 05
" " " "	2 45
" " " "	6 65
M O'Reilly, constable fees	3 80
" " " "	1 80
J R Logan, medical operation on Eric Olson	25 00
I B Lansoeck, witness fees	7 80
John Evenson, cleaning two vaults at county jail	18 00
Stewart & Laurence, m'd'se at court house	3 18
C N Menniston, medical attendance on prisoners at co. jail	16 00
Pioneer Press Co., assessment books and necessary blanks	149 65
Pioneer Press Co., blanks for seeriff's office	2 12
John Wyatt, repairs on county office	2 75
Mossefin & Lindell, clothing for John Senholt	18 95
N O Paulsrud, sheriff fees	7 50
C E Dampier, medical attendance on John Senholt	10 00
C E Dampier, witness fees in justice court	1 12
Pioneer Press Co., seed grain blanks	2 00
H M Webster, livery taking A Leplante to county jail	4 00
Knute Gertsoud, witness fees	7 80
Morris Sullivan, four days work at East Grand Forks county bridge	16 00
W E McKenzie, stationery for county sup't. of schools	15 45
N O Paulsrud, sheriff fees	92 50
" " " "	107 30
" " " "	22 60
" " " "	10 14
" " " "	27 30
" " " "	8 00
W J Johnson, medical services rendered T Tolakson Ose	35 00

Board adjourned sine die.

P. J. MCGUIRE, County Auditor.

A THOUSAND DEATHS.

A DAM GIVES WAY.

Conemaugh Lake, One Hundred Feet Deep, Does the Damage.

St. Paul Dispatc.

Greensburg, Pa., June 1.—Last night the great reservoir northeast of Johnstown gave way, the immense volume of water rushing down the valley, carrying every-thing before it. In order to understand the nature of this calamity it is necessary to describe the respective locations of the reservoir and Johnstown. The reservoir lies about two and a half miles northeast of Johnstown and is the site of the old reservoir, which was one of the feeders of the Pennsylvania canal. It is the property of a number of wealthy gentlemen in Pittsburg, who formed themselves into the corporation, the title of which is the South Fork Fishing and Hunting club. The sheet of water was formerly known as Conemaugh lake. It is from 200 to 300 feet above the level of Johnstown, being in the mountains. It is about three and a half miles long and from a mile to a mile and a quarter in width, and in some places it is 100 feet in depth. It holds more water than any other reservoir, natural or artificial, in the United State. The lake has been quadrupled in size by artificial means, and was held in check by a dam 700 to 1,000 feet wide. It is ninety feet in thickness at the base and the height is 110 feet. The top has a breadth of over twenty feet. Recognizing the menace which the lake had to the region below, the South Fork club had the dam inspected once a month by the Pennsylvania railroad engineers, and their investigations showed that nothing less than some convulson of nature would tear the barrier away and loosen the weapon of death. The steady rains of the past forty-eight hours increased the volume of water in all the small mountain streams, which were already swelled by the lesser rains earlier in the week. From the best information obtained at this time it is evident that some-thing in the nature of

A CLOUD BURST

must have been the culmination of the struggle of the water against the embankment. But two trains were sent out by the Pennsylvania railroad from the Union station at Pittsburg, and the first of these was the special train of the Associated Press., The Pittsburg, papers also sent out a special but up to 10:30 nothing reliable as to the details of loss of life or property has been ascertained. The tracks west of Johnstown are at some points entirely carried away and the roadbed gone. The river for some distance above the bridge is filled with buildings and drift forty feet high, which is on fire and likely to damage the bridge which is of stone. The fire is beyond control, and Johnstown is literally wiped out.

POSSIBLY THOUSANDS LOST.

The course of the torrent from the dam at the foot of the lake of Johnstown is almost eighteen miles, and with the exception of at one point the water passed through a narrow V-shaped valley. Four miles below the dam lay the town of South Fork, where the South Fork itself empties into the Conemaugh river. The town contained about 2,000 inhabitants. It has not been heard from, but it is said that four-fifths of it has been SWEPT AWAY.

Four miles further down on the Conemaugh river, which runs parallel with the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, was the town of Mineral Point. It had 800 inhabitants, 90 per cent of the houses being on the flat and close to the river. It seems impossible at this time to hope that any of them have escaped.

ALMOST WHOLLY DESTROYED.

Six miles further down was the town of Conemaugh, and here alone was a topographical possibility of the spreading of the flood and the breaking of its force. It contained 2,500 inhabitants. Woodvale, with 2,000 people' lay a mile below Conemaugh in the flat, and one mile further down, where Jahnstown and its cluster of sister towns, Cambria City, Conemaugh borough, with a total population of 30,000, on made ground and stretched along right at the river verge, where the immense iron works of the Cambria Iron and Steel Company, who have $5,000,000 invested in their plant. Besides this there are many other large industrial establishments on the bank of the river that are damaged, how badly cannot be estimated.

Oak Posts.

We have 1,500 good body oak posts for sale.

[6-9] HUGGARD, LARSON & Co.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Scandia-American

BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.

C O. Christianson, Vice President.

O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.

A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.

Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1883. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.

Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)

Fournet Block Room 5. Crookston, Minn.

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price. Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Besste streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets. at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:00 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
8:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:31 "
10:45 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Gleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call.
Terms $1. Yours truly,
RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN
[82-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 6, 1889.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
CENSUS OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1, 1889.

To the Medical Profession:

The various medical associations and the medical profession will be glad to learn that Dr. John S. Billings, Surgeon U. S. Army, has consented to take charge of the report on the mortality and vital statistics of the United States as returned by the eleventh census.

As the United States has no system of registration of vital statistics, such as is relied upon by other civilized nations for the purpose of ascertaining the actual movement of population, our census affords the only opportunity of obtaining near an approximate estimate of the birth and death rates of much the larger part of the country, which is entirely unprovided with any satisfactory system of state and municipal registration.

In view of this, the census office, during the month of May this year, will issue to the medical profession throughout the country "Physician's Registers" for the purpose of obtaining more accurate returns of deaths than it is possible for the enumerators to make. It is earnestly hoped that physicians in every part of the country will co-operate with the census office in this important work. The record should be kept from June 1, 1889, to May 31, 1890. Nearly 26,000 of these registration books were filled up and returned to the office in 1880, and nearly all of them used for statistical purposes. It is hoped that double this number will be obtained for the eleventh census.

Physicians not receiving registers can obtain them by sending their names and addresses to the census office, and, with the register, an official envelope which requires no stamp will be provided for their return to Washington.

If all medical and surgical practitioners throughout the country will lend their aid, the mortality and vital statistics of the eleventh census will be more comprehensive and complete than they have ever been. Every physician should take a personal pride in having this report as full and accurate as it is possible to make it.

It is here promised that all information obtained through this source shall be held strictly confidential.

ROBERT L. PORTER,
Superintendent of Census.

THE GREAT SÆNGERFEST.

Some Facts About the big June Festival to be held in Minneapolis.

The program for the great northwestern sængerfest and Gilmore's jubilee festival, to be held in Minneapolis June 20, 21 and 22, promises a raro and most exquisite musical treat. Nothing similiar has ever been attempted on so grand a scale in the northwest. Nearly all of the great masters of classical and modern music are represented on the program by selections from their most popular works, and the leading performers are all artists of national reputation. Of course, German music will be most fully represented, as the festival is due to German enterprise; but the French and Italian masters will have no reason to complain of having been neglected. Most, if not all, of them are on the program.

The great sængerfest chorus will be made up of 800 voices from the singing societies of Chicago, Lakeview, Freeport, Rockford and Rock Island, Ill.; Milwaukee, La Crosse, Madison, Watertown, Janesville and Sheboygan, Wis., Dubuque and Davenport, Iowa, and all the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Minnesota societies. The soloists who have been engaged are the following: Signorina Clementina De Vere, the great Italian soprano, who is sure to create a profound sensation; Mme. Blanche Stone-Barton, the best of American sopranos; Miss Helen Dudley Campbell, the brilliant and artistic young contralto; the great Campanini; the dashing Swedish tenor, Eugend de Banckwardt, from the Royal opera, Copenhagen; the popular baritone, Del Puente; and the greatest American basso, Myron W. Whitney. Added to these great vocal features will be Gilmore's world famous band, with the novel and sensational accompaniment of anvils, real booming cannon, etc. Three evening concerts and two matinees will be given.

All the railroads leading into Minneapolis have made a rate of one fare for the round trip, and it is certain that the great sængerfest will attractan immense throng of visitors. From Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin, not to mention Minnesota and Dakota, Germans will crowd into Minneapolis. There is no city in the west, however, with the exception of Chicago, that is better provided with hotels than the Flour City, and the throngs of visitors will, no doubt, be well taken care of.

The Points of a Good Dairy Cow.

American Agriculturist: A good butter cow should have a long face, wide between the eyes, the eye alert and expressive, and placed a long way below the horns. A cow with eyes near the top of the head does not know any more than a man with eyes so placed. She should have a large muzzle, a slim neck and a yellow skin, especially inside the ears; the breathing should be regular, the back and abdomen strong, the udder wide where it connects with the body, the teats squarely placed, and the tail slim. Over and above all these points, she must have the dairy form. The points at best are only indications. The dairy form is inseparably connected with a good butter cow. The desirable dairy form is always seen in the best types of Jerseys, Guernseys, Ayrshires and Holsteins. The best beef form is presented in the Shorthorns, Herefords and most of the polled breeds. The intelligent dairyman, with a knowledge born of experience, desire and capacity for the business, never makes a mistake of choosing his cow with a beef form.

While it is not difficult for a dairyman with a knowledge of his business to select a cow that will make ten pounds of butter a week, provided always such cow is within the drove or herd he is inspecting, cows that will make fourteen pounds of butter a week are not to be found in the droves that are driven about for sale. Such cows are seldom for sale except at breeders' prices. A novice might by chance select a cow that was making ten pounds of butter a week under the right treatment, yet if he kept her in a cold stable and give her ice-water to drink and feed her on timothy hay and ground barley and corn meal, all of which are lacking in protein, the cow would soon run down to three-and-one-half pounds a week and stay there, or make less and less. Another man who knew his business might have selected the same cow and kept her in a warm stable, given warm water, warm ensilage made from sweet corn well matured, two or three pounds of clover hay and a plentiful supply of wheat bran or middlings, ground oats and peas, or a little oil meal or any other food containing protein in liberal proportion, and the cow would probably have increased to twelve pounds a week if her limit permitted.

Putting up Grain Loose.

The Western Rural.

The Advance published in Minnesota, recently referred to The Rural's plan of putting up the grain loose, rather than pay trust prices for twine. It appears that it said that the plan would not recieve a second thought from those who had ever handled grain loose. The following letter to the Advance shows how little the editor knows:

Ed. Advance: In your column of local news, in your issue of April 17, 1889, near the bottom of the first column, you say The Western Rural advocates putting up loose, grain will never give the matter a second thought. Now I should not object to the above, if it did not have, as I think, a tendency to mislead some brother farmer and induce him to incur a useless expense in handling grain. I have been farming in Minnesota since '59, and of course handled grain every year, and after trying old foggy methods, I have settled down to handling grain loose as I can from the time it leaves the seeder, until it arrives in the half bushel from the threshing machine, sound dry and bright condensed for market when it invariably brings me the highest price, and some-times five cents extra on account of quality over that grown on similer land and harvested in old foggy style. I cut my grain handy, easily and rapidly. I have stacked at same expense as bound so far, and hope to reduce the work a large percentage the coming harvest by the help of improved apparatus and my expense of threshing has been as seven to ten in favor of loose grain ascertained by careful figures. I have had the cleanest fields, the most thorough separation of grain and straw, and the name of giving good machines (though not accustomed to my way of handling grain) their best jobs of the season. This is not an experiment of one or two seasons, but a thorough trial under the varying circumstances of nearly the last decade. The above advantages seem enough to satisfy any reasonable person, yet they are only a part of the real gain, as I find by experiences while the drawbacks are for lack of knowledge, or exist only in imagination. I feel strongly tempted to prepare and publish a book of instructions, so that others might know how to save some fifty dollars per year in handling grain on each quarter section, and be entirely independent of the twine trust, that at best is a useless expense to be repeated as often as we pay taxes. It is said by the Scientific American, that over seven million dollars are paid for twine yearly. Another thing for farmers to think of is, they have little hand in raising or making the twine, neither is the raw material produced mainly in this country. Every self and patriotic interest rightly directed, it seems to me, would lead all who can to adopt the process indicated above.

IRA RICHARDSON.

Steel Co Minn.

Drive the Work.

The Western Rural: Don't let the work drive you. Drive the work, keep the upper-hand of all your operations. Market gardeners know the value of this advice. If they permitted their work to get ahead of them, their profits would be gone. But keeping everything well in hand, their crops come on time and are marketed on time. We may not be engaged in market gardening, but if we have a garden at all we should take good care of it. All work on the farm should be done under a well regulated system. There should be no haphazard work; and if our system is complete and a good one the garden will not be neglecthd, and we shall not only have its products early but they will be good product. Our plan always is not to attempt to cultivate a foot of ground that cannot be well cultivated. It is ground thrown away and time thrown away to plant a crop and neglect it.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 3d, 1889, viz: CHRISTIAN O. ESPE, D. S., 10,966, for the sw¼ S. 24, T. 148, R. 46. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz. C. W. Davis, Ole Olson, Jr., Edna, P. O., Minn., Edward Stowe, Fertile, P. O., Minn., O. S. Johnson, Crookston, P. O. Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:50 o'clock p. m., in book "30" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100,) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22,) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.
THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.
A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Byron Culver, deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Byron Culver, late of the County of Black Hawk and State of Iowa, deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of this county will hear, examine and adjust claims and demands against said estate at his office in Crookston in said Polk County, on the first Monday of each month, for three successive months, commencing with September 2d 1889, and that six months from the 15th day of May 1889, have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Dated Crookston, Minn., the 14th day of May A. D. 1889.

JAMES H. WILSON,
Executor of the estate of Byron Culver deceased. [4-7]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on June 22d 1889, viz: WILLIAM N. ANDERSON, H'd 11,424, for the e½ sw¼ lots 3 and 4 S. 19, T. 148, R. 42. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: T. J. West, Edward Leo, Henry Green, Woodside, Minn., P E. Misgen, Crookston, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[4-9] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[639. First publication May 2d 1889.]

BE IT KNOWN, THAT ON THE SIXTH day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, Ferdinand Pepin and Mary Pepin, his wife, of town of Louisville, Polk County, Minnesota, made, executed and delivered unto The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis, one certain mortgage; That said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, on the sixth day of January A. D. 1881, at two o'clock in the afternoon, in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 452, 463, 464: That said mortgage conveyed the hereinafter described premises to secure the payment of four hundred ($400) dollars, in five years from its date, and the interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum, per annum, payable semi-annually: That default has been made in the payment of said principal sum with interest thereon: That there is hereby claimed to be due on said mortgage debt the sum of four hundred and fifty-three and 45-100 ($453.45-100) dollars: That no action, or proceeding, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof: That said mortgaged premises are situate in Polk County, Minnesota, and are described as follows, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) range forty-five (45,) containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, according to government survey.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by reason of said default in the conditions of said mortgage, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said described mortgaged premises, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the fifteenth day of June A. D. 1889, at two o'clock in the afternoon, of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 17, A. D. 1889.
THE FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK,
of Minneapolis,
Mortgagee.
Edward M. Johnson,
Att'y of Mortgagee. [2-7]

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Turkeys Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUE NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

Order to Show Cause on Filing Petition to Sell Lands.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court. Special term.

In the matter of Guardianship of Roman Anderson, Julia Anderson and Aber Anderson, minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Martha Anderson, guardian of the person and estate of said minors, representing among other things, that said wards are seized of certain real estate in said County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and that it is necessary that all (or a part) of the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same at private sale. And it appearing to the court from said petition, that it would be for the best interest of the said wards to sell said real estate as prayed for. It is ordered and directed, that, the next of kin to said wards, and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the judge of this court at the probate office, in the city of Crookston, in said county, on Tuesday the 16th day of July, A. D. 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, then and there to show cause (if any there shall be) why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate according to the prayer of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be personally served on the next of kin of said wards residing in said Polk County, and on all persons interested at least 14 days before the hearing of said petition as aforesaid, and by the publishing thereof for four successive weeks in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and publish at Crookston in said county, the last of which publication shall be at least 14 days prior to the said day of hearing.

Dated at Crookston, the 23d day of May A. D. 1889.

By the Court,
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.
[6-10]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 15th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 19th, 1889, viz: PETER W. SMITH, H'd 7,563, for the se¼, S. 22, T. 147, R. 45. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. J. Kolstad, Hans J. Vigen, Ole Olson and Lars Knudson, all of Neillsville, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who wishes to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross examine the witness of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. - ALL WORK WARRANTED

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JUNE 13, 1889. NO. 8.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch....	$ 50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch......	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches...	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches...	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches...	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches...	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY.

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Minn

The Silo.

A. J. Cook's Silo and Silage.

A silo is simply an an air-tight, water-tight box, in which green, succulent herbage may be placed and preserved as we preserve green fruit. It must not only preserve the contents from the air, but also protect against frost. Silage—ensilage is a less acceptable term for the same substance—is the material that has been preserved in the silo.

The great danger of American agricultural is the loss of fertility. Too much cropping, too little manure. Thus our soils become barren, our crops meager, and in the intense "struggle for existence" we go to the wall. What we most need—what we must have—is more fertilizers. The cheapest and by far the best fertilizer for the great majority of our farmers is barnyard manure. He who secures the most of this will win in the race. To secure this barnyard manure we must keep stock—cattle, sheep, hogs and horses—and the more the better. From my experience, I am free to say, that with silage properly secured we can increase our stock one-half. Many say the stock can be doubled. If the silage can be made a safe and healthful ration the year through, as I think more than probable, thus superseding the wasteful system of pasturing, then surely the last estimate above is entirely within limits. We thus score one—a tremendous one—for silage. Double the stock, double the manure, double the fertility, double the production. Again, silage is a succulent food, and so, like the green pasture of June, is appetizing, digestible, and assimilable, just the food that suits the needs of the animal. This is why the agricultural chemists erred, at first, so surprisingly regarding this food. They could find no added elements, and so insisted that it could have no virtue beyond that of the dried plants. They did not stop to think that a dried over-cooked steak of beef or mutton, though containing the same food elements of one juicy, tender, "done to a turn," was far less desirable. Silage is much more digestible then dried food, and thus the beef animal fed on it looks more sleek, and lays on fat faster; the milch cows give more and better milk; all animals, cattle, horses, sheep and hogs thrive upon it; and are more thrifty and healthy, because it ministers to their every need. Such men as F. D. Curtis, E. D. Powell and J. S. Woodward, of New York; J. Gould, of Ohio; and Hiram Smith, of Wisconsin, dairymen of the highest intelligence, who know their business from A to Z, all unite in the assertion that it adds decidedly to both the quality and the quantity of the milk. I recently saw in Secretary J. S. Woodward's barns, of Lockport, New York, a large herd of cattle, which had been carefully divided in the fall into two lots as uniform in condition as it was possible to make them. Each lot has been crowded to the utmost by free use of mixed grains. But one lot has had silage and the other the best of clover hay, otherwise the treatment has been the same. This was a wonderful revelation. The cattle fed silage, in condition both as to sleekness and fat, were surprisingly superior to the others. I said if all were turned into a yard, I believe I could select all the silage-fed animals with hardly a mistake. The other gentlemen present, Col. F. D. Curtis, Hon. Seth Fenner and Prof. E. F. Ladd, were as sanguine of the same ability as I was. Here then is our second score for the silage. It serves the needs of the animal, and is far more digestible than is dry food, and so pushes growth, lays on fat, fosters health and increases milk and butter as no dry food can do.

Again, if the silage is properly secured and preserved as it easily may be, the cattle, horses, etc., prefer it to other feed. This preference is a pretty certain indication of suitability and excellence. After one of my cows had had silage for weeks and no hay, I tried giving her, at the usual feed time, some very nice, bright, green hay and silage side by side. She ignored the hay, and commenced upon the silage as if ravenous with hunger. The hay was then replaced with some ground oats and corn mixed; to our surprise the grain was left undisturbed till the silage was all gone. Another score for silage: The cattle like it; and the cattle know what is good for them.

Beyond question corn is the most profitable crop for silage. It is a very sure crop. It grows very rapidly. And we get a very large yield per acre. From twelve to thirty tons are grown on an acre of land. As three tons of silage are worth one ton of the best hay, this is equal to from four to ten tons of hay per acre. Again this is the cheapest way to harvest corn, and puts it in a small barn space. Clover, millet and Hungarian grass can be more easily and cheaply harvested in the usual way. From my experience I have reason to think corn (of course I mean corn stalks and all) as silage a pretty good food ration alone. If it is desired to add more albuminoids, bran and oil meal are easily obtainable. It is quite likely that it may pay to make silage of clover, and mix this with the corn silage in feeding. I have had no experience with this. We know that variety in any food ration is relished, and so we may believe is wise and desirable. My success with corn silage is so marked and satisfactory that I believe it to be of first importance and highest value."

The Twine Conspiracy.

Wabasha County Herald.

B. H. Glover, president of the Kansas State Alliance and Co-operative Union, writes the Farmer of that state: Allow me through the columns of your paper to sound a note of warning to the farmers of the west, and Alliance men in particular. Beyond any doubt the most determined effort is being made to rob the farmers by reason of the combination known as the "twine trust." I need not stop to give the different opinions in regard to its origin. Political demagogues are also seeking to divide us on a question on which the issue was made last fall. This is not a question of politics, but of business, and must be met as such. The same amount of tariff has been heretofore collected that is now, so that be the tariff right or wrong, it cannot be said that it is the cause of the advance in the price of twine.

I have just received a copy of a paper called the Sunday Courier, published in New York, and its entire mission seems to be to convince the western farmer that he is the veriest "chump" on earth when he supposes that the twine manufacturers are anything but saints and that they are simply giving their time and money for our benefit. This Sabbath day journal actually quotes one manufacturer as saying that he is selling twine to the farmers for one to two cents per pound less than the raw material costs. Such magnanimity is truly astonishing. Another gentleman says that some of us ought to go to Yucatan and raise sisal so the cordage company could get their raw material cheaper. Another article is devoted to a humorous allusion to the Farmers Alliance and how the granger is so easily scared, and various "hits" at rural greenness. The West has doubtless been deluged with this so-called agricultural Journal, and I wish that every farmer could see a copy.

Alliance men, do your duty. Keep steady all along the line. Meet and confer together often. In multitude of counsel is wisdom. Watch the papers for a report of the Cowley County Alliance. One portion of the county raises more wheat than corn, and the other more corn than wheat. The wheat-raisers pledged themselves not to use corn at an exorbitant price. The corn-raisers pledged themselves to assist their brothers who raise wheat with all machinery at their command and by every device to assist in saving the harvest by other means than using twine. Self-binders can easily be changed to hand-binders, and there are thousands of drop machines still in the country, and they are much cheaper to buy than twine binders and are good mowers as well. Look on the bright side, brother farmers; and act with judgment and determination.

The infamous sheet to which I have referred tries to show that we cannot afford to refuse the twine on account of the machinery that would have to stand idle. But we must do so unless we are treated right. Buy no twine-binders.

The Anti-Twine Movement.

The Western Rural.

There is no lessening of the interest among farmers in a united opposition to the twine conspiracy; and there is no lessening of the scare among the people who cunningly hatched a scheme to rob the grain growers of this country. The judgment upon the crime was swift and over-whelming. From the moment The Rural sounded the alarm, the farmers of the country have been moving to protect themselves. Wagon loads of circulars have been issued by the twine people for the purpose of denying that there was any trust; journals have been induced to repeat the denial, and from the New York Sunday journalistic abortion down the howl of the twine press against the movement to protect farmers against the greed of a conspiracy has been loud and long; some of the agricultural journals have found on the wrong side congenial company, and the rank and file of the opposition to the people's interests have stood as one man, all singing one song and all hating every newspaper that has stood for right and justice in the matter. But all this has not retarded the popular movement. The agreements not to use twine come steadily in; meetings are still being held, and new banners on which are inscribed, "No twine at trust prices," are being unfurled every day. As The Rural has previously said, the fight has been one in which the farmer was on one side and those who would fleece him on the other. There have been no complications. There have been no side issues. There have been no intermeddling parties. If the farmer did not pay the prices asked they would not be paid. The producer has had and is having a splendid chance to fight for a principle. As a correspondent said in the columns of a contemporary, it makes no difference even though we should suffer an inconvenience or even loss, we are fighting for a principle, and we will fight it out. That is the kind of talk that makes things go and makes things tremble. It is the existence of the spirit that prompts such words that will win victory.

A body of people never made such a pitiable exhibition as the twine people have made in their attempt to induce the farmer to buy their twine. They say that there is a large number of independent twine factories, each of which is standing like a tub, on its own bottom. But you will notice that the price of twine is uniform. Not a singly one of these factories is cutting the price. Is not that rather a funny state of things, in view of the fact that there is such a fierce competition as the statement that there are so many independent factories would indicate? Who sets the price? Will either one of these "independent" factories attempt to raise the price? No. Who has set it then and who will raise prices, when they are raised? The Eastern cordage companies, and when they raise the price every factory in the land will raise it. But some of the factories claim that they cannot run because they have not a supply of the raw material. Ask them why they have not a supply, and they will tell you that the Eastern cordage companies have got the most of it. Still they deny that there is anything like a trust or corner. One twine paper says that Europe is ordering twine in the United States, because—now mark—because the Yankees got ahead of the Europeans, and secured most of the raw material. Now let us see how the matter stands according to these statements. The Yankees have got all the raw material; most of the factories are short of material; but sombody must have it, and it must, therefore, be in the hands of a few. There is just one possibility that might upset that argument. Perhaps there is not enough raw material to supply the demand. Is that true? Well, the same paper that affirms that the Yankees got ahead of the Europeans and obtained all the raw material, affirms that there will be twine enough to supply the demand.

But trust or no trust, corner or no corner, why should farmers be expected to pay an exorbitant price for twine? Why should a twine dealer or a newspaper urge grain growers to buy twine if they do not want to? That is what we cannot understand. Intelligent farmers look the matter over and conclude that it is better for their interests, all things considered, not to use twine. Now why should a newspaper take it upon itself to tell such farmers that it is their duty to use it? Why should the twine dealer and manufacturers deluge the country with circulars to convince the farmer, who has determined that he cannot afford to buy twine at present prices, that he is an infernal fool and does not know what he wants. Be it known and forever remembered that it is the high price of twine that first aroused the farmer's opposition. The gentlemen who are engaged in making and selling twine could, no doubt, have formed an iron-clad trust, without the slightest remonstrance, if they had lowered instead of raising the price of twine. But trusts do not work that way. In some way or another price were boosted. That much is not denied. The farmer rebelled. He first rebelled against the price and not against the cause of the price. He next sought the cause. He found that Eastern twine men were buying up all the twine they could get hold of, and if there was nothing else to lead him to believe that there was a combination, that alone was sufficient to cause such a belief.

It is not denied, however, by any of them that there was an attempt to form a trust. That fact is freely admitted by every one of the newspapers that are defending the gang and by every one of the gang itself. It is alleged that high prices resulted from the failure to form the trust, a likely story. Now according to the admission of the parties there was an effort made to organize a trust. That is sufficient we should suppose to put the farmer, who has it in his power to knock that idea clean out of the heads of the conspirators, upon his mettle. If the simple attempt to form a trust for the supply of binding twine would not be enough to set the farmer to fighting, he would be a veritable chump. The disposition of these people is clearly shown by their own free confession, and farmer has showed good sound sense in stepping on that disposition at once and with emphatic force. There will never be any more of a twine trust than there is now. There will never again be as much of a one as there is now. The twine fellows "bit off considerable more than they can chew," and while they are madder than hornets at the farmer they have a more sincere respect for him to-day than they ever had in all their lives.

A Holstein Dairy.

Prairie Farmer.

A correspondent of the National Stockman and Farmer, whose farm is near Pittsburg, contributes a statement which will be suggestive reading, especially to the admirers of the Holstein Friesians. The record is for two years. A synopsis is as follows:

The first year's work was ended April 1, 1888; the second, April 1, 1889, the number of cows being 12 head. The first year showed an average of 7,754½ lbs for each cow (equal to 10 quarts per day for every day of the 365), and the average earning over $109 per cow pe annum, (after paying freight to Pittsburg) at wholesale prices. None of these cows have had two calvings in any year to swell the year's record at the expense of the next. The details of the year ending April 1, 1889, are given at length. Average per cow, 7,289 lbs; which is 9 4-10 quarts for every day in the year. This is 6-10 a quart a day less than last year, and was by cow No. 5 meeting with an accident—the writer very properly holding that the accident ought to go in the records. Another cause was holding the cows back from service so as to bring them in fresh when milk brings the best prices. The following is the writer's own words:

Now I have never claimed these yields to be extraordinary. Some will remember that I stated that all these cows had been used to suckle several calves before we got them into dairy use, and they were bought to raise heifers for our own use. The noticeable fact is that there is not an unprofitable cow in the herd. Even No. 5 (which has not been fresh for twenty-eight months), gave four quarts a day in March, and for the year 1,000 pounds more than the average yield in all the dairy counties in New York State. She is now safe in calf, and is due soon.

Side by side with these cows I have had native after native fed as well, cared for the same, but I have not yet secured one that can show anywhere near the profit. We now have thirteen females from these cows, all registered, or eligible to registry. Eight of the number will be due to calve this summer and fall. They have cost no more to raise than common stock, but they surely have the promise of being able to earn more money.

It is my ambition to keep the females until the cost of the dams has been distributed over fifty head of cows in milk, and they will not have cost any more than good dairy cows bring every fall. From that time they will pay handsomely. Many a farmer has the capital to make the purchase of a few cows to start with, and every heifer calf cuts the price of her dam in half, and the Holstein Association pays $5.00 for every bull-calf that is slaughtered or castrated.

I wish I could stimulate every man keeping cows to weigh the milk every day. It takes a little time, but it teaches where the money is lost or made, and when a cow or calf is offered for sale, the buyer can see just what she (or her dam) has done day by day and year by year. I believe cows will soon have to show a record like trotting horses, and I want to have my records ready when lying or ignorant breeders are driven to the wall.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

OPERA HOUSE, CROOKSTON,

TO-NIGHT!

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

A ROYAL FEAST IN STORE!

LILLY GRAY'S

Colossal Gaiety Co.

SAM T. JACK, - - - MANAGER.

40 | HANDSOMEST LADIES In the World. | 40

Presenting the Gorgeous Spectacle of

"BEAUTY IN DREAMLAND,"

And a Dashing Version of

"ROBINSON CRUSOE."

Superb Double Bill.
The Rage of Two Hemispheres.
Proudest Success of Modern Times.

Reserved seats on sale at usual place.

Steenerson & McManus,

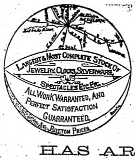
LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!



By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

—ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.—

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

Bayard Taylor's Famous Book.

Views Afoot or Europe Seen with Knapsack and Staff, by Bayard Taylor, the most popular book of travels ever published by an American author, of which large editions have been sold at $1.50, is now published in a handsome, big-type, cloth-bound volume of 481 pages at the remarkably low price of 50 cents, or three copies for $1.10, postpaid! This price is to continue till July 1, only. It is one of Alden's Literary Revolution schemes to attract attention to his large catalogue of standard books. He ought to sell a million copies! No traveler ever saw more than Taylor, or told his adventures in more vivid language. His pen-pictures are charming, his book an American classic. Aside from its literary merit, this story of the plucky lad who was determined to see Europe with or without means, serves as an inspiration to all young men to rise above their surroundings and make a like success of life. You may order the book direct, or through any bookseller or newsdealer. John B. Alden, Publisher, New York, Chicago or Atlanta.

North Dakota Firemen's Tournament at Fargo.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway will make reduced rates to parties wishing to attend the great Firemen's Tournament at Fargo on June 10, 11, 12 and 13, from Crookston and adjoining stations. An excelent program of sports has been arranged, and many of the best brigades and hose teams in the country will be on hand to compete for the valuable prizes offered. For fares etc., apply to the nearest agent of the Manitoba company.

Oak Posts.

We have 1,500 good body oak posts for sale.

[6-9] HUGGARD, LARSON & CO.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street. Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY,

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 13, 1889.

'Round Home.

Max' new delivery wagon is a posy.

K. D. Chase left for Duluth last week.

Levi Myers reports heavy rains along the west side on Saturday.

The Episcopal fair last week proved an enjoyable occasion, netting $300.

Prof. Thomas Casey left his autograph with Bemis for his dinner, Sunday.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Rev. J. C. Fortin left for Faribault on Monday evening, to attend council.

Bert Duntley's little child that was very sick last week is reported better.

"Ole Rhinehart, East Grand Forks," is the way it reads on mine host Bemis' big book.

C. O. Espe was up from Fertile this week enjoying the sights and scenes of the busy city.

Court will adjourn on Saturday until July, as the Judge has a term in Clay County next week.

I. I. Hillestad returned from his trip below on Friday morning, leaving for home on Saturday.

Sam. Hayes was among the number summoned on the special venire from the town of Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sawyer and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gravel went out to the lake for a few days last week.

Ed. George has accepted an invitation to orate at Hallock on the ever glorious. Ed. is a good speaker.

P. G. Falardeau goes to Red Lake Falls this week to make his home there in the future. Success attend him.

The prizes at the Episcopal fair wood sawing contest were won by Wanda Griffith, Minnie Walker and Rosa Ford.

A. G. Gallasch last week received the unwelcome news that his mother was very sick at Red Wing and left on Friday evening's train.

Charles Jefferson is making the improvement at the C. O. D. store. The second story front will be used for offices and the rear for children's clothes.

Ole Rude is in great luck. His well having given out he engaged a professional and put it down 30 or 40 feet, and on Saturday struck a 400 barrel flow.

Rumor hath it that W. W. Hartley, formerly of the Brainerd Tribune, has gone out west and raked in $225,000 in real estate deals. Good luck sometimes hits a newspaper man.

Don't get lost in the Opera House before Wednesday evening, June 26th when you will have an opportunity to get "Lost in London" with the Beers company at the same time.

Fred Date was in from Maple Bay last week enjoying a bit of a rest. Fred has his famous summer resort in apple pie order for guests. Many are availing themselves of the opportunity for an outing.

From Lewis Ellington we learn that A. G. Gallasch reached Red Wing just in time to see his mother alive. She died on Saturday soon after he arrived. Mr. G. has the sincere sympathy of many friends in his great bereavement.

Alvah Dewey, formerly of the Fisher Bulletin, was in the city last week, in the interest of a life insurance company. His anxiety to insure everybody in Polk County would lead one to the impression that he intends to start another paper soon.

The wonderful human machine, the man with 100 voices, Harry Gifford; also the noted contralto, Miss Kate Romaine, appears with Newton Beers, in Lost in London, at the Opera House, on Wednesday evening, June 26th. Don't fail to hear them.

W. A. Marin, one of the progressive farmers of Onstad, was in the city this week. Mr. Marin is a great stock fancier and is getting some fine stock of his own and many of his neighbors also are making commendable efforts to build up dairy herds.

By a copy of the Superior Wave, just received, we see that the Berthiaume Bros. are making things lively down there. They have bought out their competitor, are running two stores and have a half page ad in the Wave to tell about it. A good advertiser is always a hustler; and the boys were always good advertisers while here.

Photographer Ball was down from Argyle last week, for the first time in several years. He says he finds very many changes since the days wherein he took pictures for our people, Lang Syne. From his actions we mistrust that J. D. would like to get back again, and we should not be surprised to see him accomplish it. He is a good artist and a worthy man.

A number of prominent eastern gentleman, stockholders and directors of the Northwestern Guaranty Loan Agency, were in the city last week for the purpose of looking the country over with an eye to business. Paterson & Lilly attend to their business here and John took them around the country on a tour of inspection. The party consisted of L. F. Menage, president; Mr. Addeman, director, of Providence, R. I.; P. H. Neher, director, Troy, N. Y., W. C. Rodman and A. G. Elliot, stockholders, of Philadelphia, Pa. The gentlemen were highly pleased with what they saw of Polk County and our city.

J. I. Wyer of Red Lake Falls was down on Tuesday.

Save your dimes for Newton Beers who appears on June 26th at the opera house.

The dance at Chris Houston's on Monday evening is said to have been a big affair, many from the city going out.

Sheriff Paulsrud exhausted the county from Fisher to the Marais on Saturday in his efforts to obtain a jury in the tar case.

John Monroe reports that business in his line is good. John is one of the best horse shoers in the city that's the reason why.

Andrew Pederson, Iver Mjoin, Soren Peterson, Ole Estenson, Peder Thompson and Hans Berg represent Vineland in the city this week.

Mat Cornelius commenced on Monday to deepen the well on his fine farm near the city in hopes to obtain a sufficient supply of water.

The work of grading the new street on Jerome's Addition has been commenced, or, as Mat. Cornelius says, "the boulevard," is being graded.

We are prepared to furnish meat inspection blanks in any quantities desired, at rates as low as any. Leave your orders at THE JOURNAL office.

Delightful showers refreshed portions of Polk County on Saturday last, but in this vicinity there was a lack for some reason. But very little water fell.

Newton Beers will appear at the opera house in "Lost in London" on the evening of June 26th. When in the city before he was very much liked.

Albert Stondall, a former resident of Crookston, with his sister is staying awhile in the city, guests of Andrew Eiken and family. Mr. S. talks strongly of locating.

Mr. N. Rapin shows commendable public spirit in his efforts to furnish amusements. He donates the use of the hall for the Brewer entertainment on the 20th.

So far the lack of rain seems to have affected grass more seriously than grain, which is doing fairly well. Hay bids fair to be a light crop and late what there is of it.

Thos. Olafson is the happy father of a bouncing baby boy but we are not going to mention it until he sends up a box of Duluth cigars to his Crookston friends.

Henry Nolan has been around the country a considerable and says the crops are looking better than he has ever seen them in his twelve years experience in the Valley.

Mrs. E. Lancaster gave a picnic party to several of her lady friends last Friday. The party went out to a grove five or six miles up the river and had a good time, we are told.

Martin Randblev, of Rosebud, was down last week looking after some choice cows to add to his herd. He is one of those progressive farmers who believe in making every point count.

H. Simon, Andrew Thompson, L. S. Kolden, G. S. Shokali, B. J. Kolstad, Jens Vakin and Jens Sieverson were up from Hubbard on Monday by special request of Sheriff Paulsrud to see about jury business.

Swan Lee, of King, returned from a pleasant visit to Norway on Saturday last. Says business is pretty fair in the old country, but many of his countrymen would like to get away to come over to America where farms may be had for the taking.

V. W. Menger, of Chicago, representing the Campbell printing press was in the city on Monday looking up trade in his line. V. W. is a rustler from way back and is bound to sell a Campbell in this city. We shouldn't be surprised if he succeeded.

Halvor G. Dale was one of the dwellers in Hubbard who received a special invitation to appear before His Honor and show cause why, if any there be, he should not act as juror in the tar case. Promptness being a virtue with him, he put in an appearance early on Monday.

Mr. G. Brewer, of Windsor, England, arrived on Thursday last. Mr. B. has accepted the position of organist in the Episcopal church here. He is also an excellent pianist and will give an entertainment at the Opera House on Thursday evening, June 20th, to which all lovers of music are cordially invited. Elsewhere appears a very flattering notice in one of his home papers.

L. K. Aker, one of the prominent farmers of Hubbard was up by special invitation of the sheriff on Monday to see about the jury business. Mr. Aker is a great stock fancier and drives a span of well matched colts of his own raising. Says the stock interest is a growing one on the west side which has resulted in the introduction of some excellent stock. Says they were blessed with copious showers on Saturday yet need more for grass.

Mine host Benedict, of the Belmont, Fosston, arrived from Winona on Friday morning where he had been to attend U. S. court. Because a former employe, had given an Indian some whisky, Mr. B. was obliged to go to the expense of making several trips to Winona at a cost of over $100. When the case was called the Indian deposed that he had never procured any whisky of Benedict, so the case was dismissed, but it cost B. just as much. He thinks the system is a fraud, and he is pretty near correct.

One Way to Boom a City.

A certain would be "boomer"(?) writes a non-resident property-owner that there are over 200 vacant residences in Crookston. It is all right to get your rent reduced by all honorable means when you can but it is not right to tell such whoppers about it. It would bother that individual to find 25 vacant houses.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

Report of the Grand Jury.

To the Hon. Ira B. Mills:

We, the Grand Jury of Polk County beg leave to submit the following report:

Having examined the county jail we find it kept in good condition so far as cleanliness is concerned. We do not deem the present jail as safe as might be desired and would recommend that a new one be built as soon as soon as the finances of the county will permit. We find the prisoners well satisfied with the treatment they receive therein.

We have gone through the different county offices and find the affairs of each in apparently good order.

We condemn the action of County Commissioner J. P. Johnson, of the Fifth Commissioner District, in the distribution of seed grain wheat, it appearing that he has caused to be mixed three grades of wheat and sold the mixture at 94 cents per bushel; at which price farmers would have been entitled to receive first-class seed wheat samples of wheat furnished to farmers in the town of Lessor, Brandsvold and Rosebud have been shown to us, of so inferior a quality that it cannot in our judgment be worth more than from 25 to 50 cts. per bushel. Furthermore while the seed grain law stipulates that wheat remaining on hand after such seed distribution shall be sold by the county commissioners, we do not think the law justifies the Board in making up deficiencies caused by the loss on mixing wheat; nor does it show much business ability to have remaining on hand several hundred bushels more than was needed.

We would request the Governor of the State to appoint a commission with full powers to investigate the action of the County Commissioners in the distribution of seed grain.

Dated June 8th 1889.

By order of the Grand Jury.

WM. ANGLIM, Foreman.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

This is what the Windsor and Eton Express has to say of Prof. Brewer, the new organist of the Episcopal church:

A large circle of the music-loving public of Windsor and its neighborhood will hear with pleasure of the appointment of Mr. George Brewer, of Windsor, to the position of organist and choirmaster at Crookston, Minn., U. S. A. After quitting the Queen's schools, in Windsor Great Park (where he was educated) Mr. Brewer became a chorister in Eton College choir. Here he remained four years, and during the later portion of this period he became a pupil under H. R. Couldrey (organist at Holy Trinity church), and also a member of Holy Trinity choir. He made rapid strides in organ playing under Mr. Couldrey, and soon became a Fellow of the Guild of Organists, London, a member of the London College of Music (by examination) and Hon. Fellow of the Church Choir Guild, London. He was for some time organist at St. Andrew's Hospital, Clewer. Mr. Brewer, in addition to being a very proficient organist, is also an excellent pianist. He has composed several marches and other pieces, all of which exhibit no little talent. The appointment in Minnesota was obtained through the Guild of Organists' register, and, besides the position mentioned, there is also a good connection of pupils. Mr. Brewer is not yet 21, and the most cordial wishes for his immediate success in America, are echoed by all his fellow scholars and friends, and they are many. As accompanist at the entertainments given by "Our Boys" club, the Phœnix Athletic club, and others, Mr. Brewer will be missed.

In summoning the special venire on Saturday, Sheriff Paulsrud chanced to pick up five of Fisher's fire company. The boys were not anxious to serve, so they were excused.

Miss Carrie Estey will speak in the Congregational church next Tuesday evening, June 18th, at 8 o'clock. Those who have heard Miss Estey will not need a second invitation to avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing her again. Admission free.

On Tuesday Lewis Leibert, who lives on the river between Crookston and Fisher, came up and told Coroner Shepard that his hired man had been drowned in the river the day before. At least this was the supposition, as he had not been seen since Monday afternoon, and his clothing had been found in a boat. The coroner instructed Mr. Leibert to find the body then he would hold an inquest if deemed necessary. LATER.—From Pete Misgen who went to Fisher on Tuesday, we learn that the name of the hired man was August Benz. Parties had been searching the river all day but had not found the body at 5 o'clock.

For Sale.

A good running horse, at Collins' livery in Crookston. Do not fail to call and see him on Friday or Saturday.

Court Report.

Johnson & Marshall vs. Joseph Beaudro and wife. Passed.

Chas. B. Rockwood vs. J. W. Howes, D. Dwyer, A. Brooks, L. R. Brooks and D. F. Brooks. Tried June 4th. Brooks Bros. dismissed from action. Verdic for plaintiff for $700.

Mary R. Bottineau vs. Earnest Buse, Jr., et al, minor heirs of Eliza Buse, deceased, et al. Passed.

Ramsey & Furlong, vs. Sam Huggard. Dismissed.

C. Aultman & Co. vs. Ole Olson, Jr. and Ole Helgeson Rustad. Jury instructed to find for defendant. Stay of 60 days granted.

Clifford Holson vs. Milton Van Dyke. Continued by consent.

Perry & Co. vs. Corbin & LaDuc. Verdict for plaintiff $25.60. Stay of 60 days granted.

Michael Faleske vs. Asa Loveland. Verdict for plaintiff for $41.87. Stay of 60 days granted.

Joseph Kelso vs. Wm. M. Ross. Continued to adjourned term.

Peter Herbrandson vs. Peter J. Kopperud. Motion to dismiss by plaintiff.

Van Brunt & Davis Co. vs. John E. Van Tuyl. Verdict for defendant. Sixty days stay.

Anton O. Blegen vs. the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba R. R. Co. Case dismissed on motion of defendant's counsel on the grounds that the testimony on part of plaintiff does not show negligence on the part of defendant. Stay of 60 days granted.

Minnesota Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Association vs. Ludvig Olson. Stricken from calendar.

Frank Anthony vs. Patrick Casey. Dismissed by plaintiff.

The Hillsboro Nat'l Bank, of Hillsboro, D. T., vs. Otto P. Englestad. Verdict for plaintiff under instructions.

Edward L. Wichterman vs. Nils O. Paulsrud. Verdict for plaintiff. Stay of proceedings for 60 days.

Downe College vs. Elmer P. Webb and Isaac W. Webb. Motion to strike from calendar for want of sufficient notice. Motion denied. Court by stipulation.

Fred R. Whitman vs. Chas. F. Wisner. Appeal dismissed for want of proof of notice of appeal.

J. E. Chilback vs. J. O. Sargent. Settled.

State of Minnesota vs. Timothy Connery. Dismissed by County Attorney on the ground that offence is not indictable.

State vs. Horace LaBree et al. Judgment of court below reversed and defendant discharged.

State vs. Fred Buse. Perjury. Bail forfeited.

State vs. Chas. Kindler and Moses Lamphere. Grand larceny. Verdict of not guilty.

State vs. A. Brown. Wilful corruption in office. Arraigned June 8th. Demurrer to indictment argued and submitted.

State vs. Wm. Welsh, et als. Assault in 2d degree. Case continued until July 22d. A special venire had been issued in this case and 50 men brought in from which to obtain a jury. On assembling court Tuesday morning an affidavit from Toby Valear, to the effect that Nick Funk, an important witness was not present, that due diligence had been exercised to secure his attendance, but in vain, that said Funk's testimony would show who were the guilty parties, that said parties were not the accused, &c. Upon this showing the court had no recourse but to grant the request contained in the affidavit, so the case goes over to July 22. The affidavit alleges that Nick Funk is at Emerson and that himself or his affidavit will appear on the 22d.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

T. G. Thompson suffered a severe sprain in catch as catch can with the wiry city attorney on Monday. T. G. is no slouch himself, but accidents will sometimes happen in the best regulated families.

The report sent to the Evening Journal from Red Lake Falls alleging the death of two men, killed by a vicous stallion, at Gentilly, seems to be a canard as people living there know nothing about it.

Found.

Near Beltrami, a spring overcoat which owner can have by paying for this advertisement. S. B. PALMER,

[8-10] Lockhart, Minn.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs.
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

FOUND.

Friday night, on Broadway, a purse containing a small sum. Describe, and address Box 466, City.

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.

[3-tf] M. ROOD.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

TAKEN UP.

Came upon my premises, on Saturday, May 25th, two mare colts about 2 years old. One brown, with white face and one white hind foot, and one bay colt. Owner can recover by proving property and paying expenses. Address

[6-8] E. LANCTOT, Gentilly.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Polk. } ss.

Notice is hereby given, That applications have been made in writing to the City Council of said City of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on July 1st 1889, and terminating on June 30th 1890, by the following persons, and at the following places as stated in said applications respectively, to-wit:

M. E. BEAUPRE.

At the three story frame building, on the corner of Broadway and Fletcher Street, known as the Canada House.

JOHN W. O'BRIEN.

At the two story frame building situated on lot 6, block 5, in Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston, on Robert Street, in the City of Crookston, Polk Co., Minn.

M. ERIESSON.

In the brick building on Main Street, situated on lot 2 block 4, Fletcher & Houston's Addition.

MOISE LEFEBVRE.

In the one and one-half story frame building situated on lot 8, block 3, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston, Main Street.

A. K. & E. K. AUSTIN.

The two story frame building situated on lot 2, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's Addition, Main Street.

OLIVIER MERCIL.

The two story brick building on lots 17 and 8, block 6, corner Broadway and Robert Street, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to the City of Crookston.

L. B. FERAN & B. J. DUNTLEY.

In the two story frame building situated on lots 22, 23, 24, block 16, Original Townsite of Crookston.

NAPOLEON RAPIN.

In the two story frame building on Main Street situated on lot 5, block 1, Original Townsite of Crookston.

WM. O. WILSON & T. G. THOMPSON.

In the brick building corner Main and Robert Street, known as the McKinnon block.

LOUIS M. BERGQUEST & JOHN NYQUIST.

In the two story frame building situated on lot 16, block 5, in L. Fletcher's Addition to the Townsite of Crookston.

JOHN L. HANSON.

The two story frame building on Robert Street, situated on lot 12, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to the City of Crookston.

WM. HEIDRICH.

The one story frame building facing Main Street on lot 7, block 2, of the Original Townsite of Crookston.

C. C. HOCH.

The two story frame building on Main Street, situated on lot 3, block 4, Fletcher & Houston's Addition

O. C. ERICKSON.

In the one story frame building situated on Main Street, on lot 9, block 3, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston.

A. YVERNAULT.

The one story frame building situated on Broadway on lots 10, 11 and 12, block 5, of Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston.

J. A. BEMIS.

The two story building on the corner of Broadway and Second Street, known as the Commercial Hotel.

ERNEST ROLSCH.

In the frame building situated on the west twenty-five feet of lots 21, 22, 23 and 24, block 16, Original Townsite of Crookston.

R. C. BURKHARDT.

Lot 12, block 15, Townsite of Crookston according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds.

Said applications will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Crookston, at the City Hall, in said City of Crookston, in Polk County, State of Minnesota, on the 22th day of June 1889, at 8 o'clock p. m., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of June A. D. 1889.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 13th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 3d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages, on pages 576 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assignment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884 at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 614, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE!

ALLL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS

GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted

GENUINE

SLATER FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED

Fast Colors,

OR MONEY

Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE KIND IN THE

NORTHWEST.

WHO IS PAYING IT?

From the National Tribune.

Let us dissect this howl about money being "drained from the pockets of the people by oppressive taxation to pay enormous pensions."

Where does the money really come from to pay the Nation's debts to its saviors?

Not from the pockets of the "hard-working, tax-oppressed yeomanry," as the soldier-haters try to make believe. This class pay but a very small proportion of the revenue of the country, and of that proportion only a fraction is devoted to the payment of pensions.

The bulk of the taxes are paid by the men who distil whisky, brew beer, manufacture tobacco, or who buy French wines and articles of luxury, or who smoke imported cigars.

The receipts of the United States last year were $371,503,277, of which there came from—

Taxes on whisky, beer and tobacco	$118,823,391
Duties on barley (for beer)	1,033,687
Duties on fancy articles	2,940,350
Duties on kid gloves	2,092,438
Duties on foreign liquors, wines and beer	15,540,301
Duties on silks	9,127,758
Total	$156,969,178

Here we have nearly one-half of the entire revenue of the Government collected from articles of luxury—the greater part coming from those used by the wealthy or extravagant. The rest of the revenue is derived from duties imposed to encourage the development of our manufactures and agriculturial industries.

Of this $371,403,277 there was paid out—

To the Pensioners	$80,029,102
To the Army	38,561,051
To the Navy	15,141,127
To the Indians	6,194,523
To the Bondholders as interest	47,741,577
To the Officeholders, etc	85,264,825

That is, the pensioner got, stated roughly, about 16⅔ cents out of every dollar collected. He received one-sixth of the revenues, where the officeholders, the bondholders, the army, the navy and the Indians took five-sixths.

Now let us analyze this a little farther, and see how much each particular man's contribution is toward the support of the veterans of the Republic.

The tax on beer is $1 a barrel of 32 gallons. A skillful "beer-jerker" will draw from a keg of eight gallons—one-quarter of a barrel—from 90 to 125 glasses. Therefore the man who slakes his thirst with foaming lager, has to drink from 360 to 500 glasses, for which he pays from $18 to $25, before the brewer who makes the beer contributes $1 to the National Treasury, of which but 16⅔ cents goes to the pension fund. Evidently the beer-drinker is not "oppressed" by the size of the pension bills.

Suppose the gentleman prefers whisky to beer. The tax on whisky is 90 cents a proof gallon. A proof gallon makes about a gallon and a quarter of whisky of average strength. If we estimate the average drink at half a gill, and the average price at 10 cents, the drinker will have to swallow 96 good-sized drinks for which he pays "the gentlemanly barkeeper" $9.60, before the distiller contributes 90 cents to the revenues, of which but 15 cents goes for pensions.

Or, let us take tobacco. The tax on it and its manufactures is—

Cigars	$3 00	per 1,000
Cigarets	50	" "
Smoking tobacco	8	per lb.

A man has to smoke 1,000 cigars, or almost three a day for a year, before the manufacturer pays $3 into the Treasury, of which 50 cents goes for pensions. If his cigars have cost him an average of five cents each, he has paid the dealer in the meanwhile $50. Or if he is a consumer of the lung-poisoning cigaret he has had to smoke 10 a day for 100 days—more than three months—and pay the dealer $25, before the latter hands over 50 cents to the Revenue Collector, of which but 8⅓ cents goes for pensions.

If he prefers the more economical pipe, he will have to smoke 12½ pounds of tobacco, costing all the way from $6 to $25, before the dealer pays a tax of $1, of which 16⅔ cents goes to the pensioners.

As the internal revenue taxes are much higher ad valorem than any other, this will give some idea of the "oppressiveness of the pension bills," of which the soldier-haters prate so much.

The Farmer's Must Pay.

Northwestern Agriculturist: The Minnesota Legislature appropriated $7,500 per year for two years for Farmer's Institutes, provided that not to exceed $150 should be spent at any one Institute, and that no part of this sum should be used for hall rent or advertising in local papers, and yet this same legislature pays five dollars and more per day for a host of employes about the State House who had nothing to do, and even voted the reporters of the daily papers additional pay for doing work that they already been well-paid for. God bless the rich daily newspapers and the serviceable politician, but the farmers must pay their own hall rent and advertising for meeting, or, as is usually the case, the local papers do it without pay.

Northwestern Agriculturist: The prophets, who were sure that wheat would go to $1,50 before May 1st. proved false, and thousands have lost money by listening to and trusting their guesses, which were no better than the guesses of other people. It is a good rule to sell grain when a good market price, which brings a profit to the producer, can be realized. No man ever gets poor taking in profits. What makes men poor is selling when no profit can be realized.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

The Dairy Cow

Points Made by I. O. Wade, the Jamestown Stockman, in an Addess Before the Walsh Farmer's Institute in Dakota.

St. Paul Daily Globe.

My theme for discussion to-day before this body of farmers, is one of greatest interest to all. I take the ground that without the dairy cow the future of our grand territory must be a comparative failure, for it is, to say the least, doubtful if we can ever raise beef in competition with Montana. They can place a three-year-old steer in St. Paul and make a handsome profit at $25. We can scarcely raise him for that, but we have better grasses for grazing, and we can beat the world rasing roots, oats, barley and bran—the feed for the dairy cow, and from the very nature of things dairying will always pay here. The West will see many a day before it can raise its own butter and cheese. We are shipping tons of butter to the owners of thousands of cattle that cannot from their surroundings and habits ever make dairying pay. The raising of wheat is not always the success we would wish, but the cow is an every day affair, just about as certain as death and taxes. With these ideas before us, is it not time to look to the great helper of the farmer, and, in so many cases, the party that enables the farmer to make both ends meet?

HER FEED.

By her feed ye shall know her, is only a slight paraphrase of a truism, and of equal truth. My father taught me thirty years age, when feeding Shorthorns, that feeding was just as essential to success and needs of a cow as it was to a boy, and I had only to be sent back once or twice without my supper to attend properly to old Brindle or Crumple before I thoroughly learned that principle, and I have never forgotten it. Cows, like other manner of folks, don't want to be fed alike. I tried the experiment last winter on the Holstein, Shorthorn and Jersey standing side by side. I have fed thirty imported cows the past two years on bran and wheat straw, for the purpose of getting the best breeding results, and when I tell you I have sixty-one calves as the result, all well, all perfect, and in fect nearly all sold at an average of over $126 each, you may agree that the feed has done pretty well. This winter I am feeding a smaller number for milk, and I have cows that are giving from thirty to forty pounds a day, and have been giving milk since last April, and carrying calves since June and July. Hardly an item of the same feed is used. I only speak of this to show the difference of feeding, and there is still another feed entirely different from either of these that given by Uncle Willie Watson, the famous Doddie feeder. Of course, as you generally know, the difference is almost entirely in changing of flesh and milk-forming food, for the fat-forming foods.

But I digress. The dairy cow wants first not only good feed but plenty of it, but wants the food that will make the most milk and butter. Nor does she want the same kind of feeding the entire year; she ought to have her food changed occasionally, thereby increasing her relish and thus her capacity for taking food. For I look upon a cow as a machine, through which I must get as much food as possible, only looking to her health and breeding as a limit. All cows will not assimilate food alike, but I take this proposition: That in three years from now no farmer ought to have about him a cow that on generous feed will not, in her full milk form, give her owner at least 10,000 pounds per annum; and a calf each year, if a heifer, will be worth more than the present cow is. I say in three years, because it will take some time to discard the scrub and get a high grade of good milk breed. I think a vital mistake is made in keeping a cow that only gives milk six or eight months, or less, per year; you simply have, in all human probability, a beef animal, and should know better than to put her in the dairy.

THE FORM OF THE COW.

A model cow travels more on her shape than some people seem to think. The reverse of the beef type so well known is, generally speaking, pretty fair to judge a milk type by. But our dairy cow should have as a first necessity a large barrel, slanting ribs, open twist, large, fine, hairless rudder, and large tortuous milk veins extending as far forward as possible, with large apertures, and fine nervous system, shown in bright projecting mild eyes; these I hold to be important functions. Then in connection long, slim neck with fine head, wide and dished between the eyes, the long face and large muzzle and mouth, level open back, smooth and good handling, yellow hide (black and white hair) and rich secreting, small leg and hoof, tapering tail, and you have my model of a cow. Such a cow should give when two years old from 4,000 to 5,000 pounds of milk, and double that at five years old. If she does not, lay it to her breed and care, not to her shape. Don't be discouraged if a cow with her first calf is not a perfect success; often some unaccountable reasion is there which disappears later on. Though if lacking the above essentials beef her, or use her for beef purposes. Do not throw away time in trying to get milk from her.

THE BREED.

The breed! Possible I am traveling on ground it might be better not mention for fear of some one saying I am advertising, yet I think I can give justice to all breeds. For I certainly found my model cow in my father's farm yard thirty years ago, and she was a Shorthorn. But that form is certainly not typical of the breed. Jersey gives it nearly to perfection, only it is to the type as is the Exmoor pony to the French coach horse, well enough in her place—warm latitudes, short feed and only for a gentlman's cow for his door yard. But for the farmer for practical use certainly any who have tried the breed will agree the cow that has for centuries been the prize dairy cow of the world is certainly the best cow to choose. That cow, the Holstein, is way ahead for the purpose. in her capacity to lay on flesh when dry, the handsome veal the half-bred male calves make when not wanted for oxen' of which they make the best; her performance at the pail, where she stands preeminent, giving her weight, and sometime doble that amount of milk, with a butter record of three to four and a half pounds per day; the fact that she is the greatest cheese maker of the world; her wonderful docile disposition; her capacity for storing away the rich grasses of Dakota, as well as taking kindly to coarse foods, turning them into milk and butter; her superb constitution, certainly place her in the front rank for Dakota, when you want a choice dairy cow, and is the nearest to a farmer's general purpose cow there is. Don't say you cannot have them on account of cost. I thind I can safely say that a choice male could if all would take hold of the matter, be placed in every township in North Dakota. I know how earnestly our Holstein people feel about the matter. In summing up these. I fear somewhat desultory remarks, and I hope you won't lose trace for them or that reason, the points I wish to impress upon you are, when you wish to buy get a good one, stable her properly, feed her generously. Don't look at the feed, but at her. Care for her tenderly; remember her function is to bear the future dairy mothers, as well as to pay for herself many times over in butter and cheese while with you. Lastly, don't belive all you see and read, but treat every idea respect-fully and test it for yourself, and give your opinions when next we meet.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO''

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

Dressed Meats Excluded.

The Northwestern Agriculturist.

The first result of the law which excludes dressed meats from the markets of Minnesota, has been to raise the price of beeves in producers hands, without increasing the cost to the consumer. This is while the business is in a transition state. It is not clear, now, whether or not a monopoly within the State may not succeed the larger one at Chicago. The Chicago monopoly itself may come to the vicinity of the twin cities and go into a local slaughtering business. This would be an improvement on the concentration of the whole beef trade into two or tree great cities. It is certain that the passage of the law hurt this great monopoly. The fight they have made in all States where the bill was introduced is evidence that they believed it would work injury, and the howling they have done since is evidence that the blow was well aimed, but it is certain that we may look for attempted evasions of the law. Men who have enjoyed power and profit so long, do not let go easly, and they will exhaust all means to defeat the purpose of the people and hold on to their trade. The disastrous consequence of allowing this cut throat game against both producer and consumer to succeed, will be the devising of hundred of other similar schemes which will grasp what few products are left to the natural course of trade and squeeze the juice out of them for the benefit of the managers of new "trust." It is possible to handle any product of the entire country with a combination of capital big enough, and the success of the "trust" now in existence enables new combinations to get money to make more. How to defeat these schemers permanently is a question that will require a good deal of thinking. As it is, people at large are only beginning to realize what is hurting them. When they have borne it as long as they can, somebody else is likely to get hurt. To strike back wisely, so as not to injure the great industrial interests of the country, and yet restore the rights of American citizens to live and do business in freedom is a question that will require the wisdom of our wisest statesmen to solve.

Here and There.

Unclaimed Poet: I stood on the bridge at midnight, as drunk as a son-of-a-gun, two moons rose o'er the city, where there ought to have been but one. I could see their bright reflection in the water under me, and I experienced a feeling of wonder and great curiosity. If only one had been there, I would not have been in doubt, but what two moons were doing I could not well make out. The tide was slowly ebbing; I could hear the waters roll, as I stood in the wavering shadows to hide from the night patrol. How often, Oh! how often, in the days of auld lang syne, I have tried to cross at midnight, and got left every time. But to-night I was hot and restless, and my mind was full of care, and the walk that lay before me was more than I could bear. I had no latch-key with me, and locked would be the door, and would have to sit in the doorway, as oft had done before. I'd have to sit in the doorway in agony and in fear, till a voice said from the window, "Did the lodge hold late my dear?" So to-night I stood there dreaming, and watched the restless tide, till a cop came with a wagon and invited me to ride.

The Strawberry Season.

The Western Rural: The strawberry season has arrived and strawberry shortcake and strawberries and cream are in order. We have always believed that the large consumption of the strawberry was a capital illustration of the value of growing fruit that will please the eye. The fruit has not been improved in flavor by cultivation. The wild strawberry is one of the most delicious fruits that ever grew and perhaps the most delicious of all fruits. The cultivated berry has none of this exceedingly fine flavor. It is said to be very deficient in nutriment and the acid it contains is not beneficial to many people. The red raspbarry we think is a much better fruit. Yet everybody eats strawberries, and even those who once cared little for them, grow to like them. The fact is they catch the eye, and any fruit that catches the eye will win in the market.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah R. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Def't.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff. vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

Assessment Notice.

Notice is hereby given, That the Board of Review of the city of Crookston in Polk County, Minnesota, will meet at the city hall in said city on Monday the twenty-fourth day of June, 1889, (being the fourth Monday in June.) for the purpose of receiving and correcting the assessment of said city for the year 1889. All persons considering themselves aggrieved by said assessment, or who wish to complain that the property of another is assessed too low, are hereby notified to appear at said meeting, and show cause for having such assessment corrected.

No complaint that another person is assesed too low will be acted upon until the person so assessed, or his agent, shall have been notified of such complaint, if a resident of the county.

June 8th 1889.

HENRY WIGHT,
[6-9] Assessor of the city of Crookston.

JAMES FITZGERALD,

BOOK BINDER,

ALEXANDRIA, - - MINN.

Correspondence Solicited.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Scandia-American

BANK.

Crookston, - Minn.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken.	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days
AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

H. STEENERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson.)
Fournet Block
Room 8 } Crookston, Minn.

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price, Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Bessie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets, at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:21 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:15 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:15 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:45 "	Pembina	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent. Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward,

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

— OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET. —

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 13, 1889.

Grand Forks Plaindealer: On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. David H. Beecher met with the loss of their only child, a little girl about one year old. Very few had heard of the little one's illness until death had claimed it, as it had only been ailing about two days. The people all deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Beecher in their great bereavement.

Arrangements are now pending between General Manager Byron, of the Minneapolis Exposition, on the one hand, and Capt. Paul Boynton on the other, for the appearance of that distinguished swimmer in his aquatic exercises in the great pool in the Exposition building. The Captain is also the happy possessor of a marvelously well educated troupe of trained seals and monkeys, which he will exhibit in connection with his own wonderful performance. The Captain has a great reputation as a swimmer, having successfully navigated all the principal rivers in this country and Europe in a swimming suit of his own invention.

Pittsburgh Press: Standing room touched the premium long before the curtain went up at Harry Williams' Academy last evening, Lilly Clay's Gaiety company being the attraction. The first part consisted of a "Soiree musicale," the selections being new and the witicisms of Messrs. Van Osten, Sheeran, Emmerson and Cook were clever and not belonging to the distant past. The vaudeville features of the program were novel and well received. The principle attraction of the evening, however, was the production of the extravaganza, "Robinson Crusoe," which was beautifully set and unusually well rendered by the full strength of the company. The costumes of the ladies were bright, light and dazzling, and their efforts were rewarded with enthusiastic plaudits. Packed houses will rule at the Academy this week.

Marshall County Banner: The Argyle base ballists tried hard to beat the nine of Grafton, Dak., on their own ground; and learned by experience that Grafton could easily beat them; but our boys came home good natured and did not accuse their opponents of cheating. When the Argyle boys are beaten they admit it and do not go around whining like a school boy that has been pulling hair and got the worst of it, and then says the other fellow was six weeks older or belonged in another district. But Argyle leads all on the Minnesota side of the Red River from and including Crookston to St. Vincent. It was understood that the Crookston boys would play at Argyle last Saturday and the game had been extensively advertised, but owing to some misunderstanding they did not come; but you did not hear any of our people calling them vile names; they simply sent a man to Crookston to find out what was the matter, and to make new arrangements, which he did; and the Crookston boys, who are a fine lot of men, on last Tuesday, came, played, and lost by a score of 7 to 15 in favor of Argyle. The day was exceptionally fine and the game would have been much closer had it not been that Crookston had not played much this season; and for the first two or three innings, they fumbled the ball and the Argyle team got a start and held it.

A Letter from A. W. Mott.

Fertile Journal.

MURRAY, Idaho, May 26, 1889.

We arrived here Friday night in time for supper. We took the stage at Thompson Falls to this place. The distance is thirty miles and the roughest road I ever saw. The road runs right over the mountains. Murray is right in between two high mountains. The valley is very narrow from Thompson Falls to this place. It is heavy pine and cedar timber here. The valley and mountains are covered with very fine timber; the finest for saw logs I ever saw; also, fine cedar, just right for telegraph poles. Some of the cedar is large enough for big saw logs.

There is lots of gold here, but it is like everything else that is good, hard to get. The whole town and hundreds of acres besides is underlaid with gold. The trouble is, in the valley the river runs and makes too much water. The gold is so deep in the ground, and if they dig down to it, the water troubles them so; and up on the side of the mountains, north of Murray, there are good mines and they are working there some, but they have not enough water to get at the gold. They need enough water to turn on a stream large enough to wash away the whole side of the mountains. Some places it is from ten to forty feet down to the gold and so much dirt cannot be got off cheap enough in any other way except with water. I see that in mining there is a great deal more risk than in almost anything else. Many men spend thousands of dollars in a mine and never get it back; others make big out of it. I want no mining in mine.

Mr. Phelps' brother-in-law, Mr. Ives, lives here. He has several mines and is a very fine man. I had dinner with him to-day.

We start for Spokane Falls in the morning (Monday); go by stage, steamboat and railroad and get there Monday night. From there we shall proceed to look Washington Territory over. Spokane Falls is about four times as large as Crookston, and a lively town, so they say.

Here at Murray it is very hot in the middle of the day and so cold in the evening and night that they have to have a fire, and if a man goes outside after supper he needs an overcoat on. This place was at one time larger than Ada, but not such good buildings; but now it is very dull. One half of the buildings are vacant and others talk of leaving. So goes a mining town.

We are a long way from home, but have only just started. A person has no idea how far it is out here until he has come over the road.

Yesterday I was climbing mountains to see the mines, and Friday the ride on the stage made me feel very tired last night. I felt as if I had been chopping wood for a week, so I just rested up to-day.

A. W. MOTT.

Wedding Bells.

Three Couples Happily United on the East Side.

Grand Forks Herald.

Last evening, the residence of Mayor Brown, of East Grand Forks, was the scene of an interesting matrimonial event—three couples being united in the holy bonds of wedlock. The contracting parties were John C. Waldroff and Miss Charity I. Brown; Geo. A. Brown and Miss Eva L. Lasher, and Evelyn E. Beck and Miss Mary E. Lasher. Rev. H. G. Mendenhall spoke the mystic words uniting the happy couples for life. At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the residence of Mr. Lasher where a sumptuous wedding supper was enjoyed, and continued congratulations were extended the newly married couples. The Herald unites with the many friends in wishing for them prosperity and happiness throughout life.

Pig Feeding on a Dairy Farm.

The Western Rural.

We have been interested in reading the account of pig feeding on a French dairy farm, from the pen of an English writer. A Frenchman, who was in company with the writer said: "When we consider the question of the pig at liberty feeding upon weeds and skim milk it seems paradoxical, and the land was covered with weeds. M. Abbaye, the owner of the farm, has given up the manufacture of Livarot cheese. He attempted by condensation to extract the sugar at the rate of four per cent from the milk, but so far the experiment was not a success, and the idea of selling the milk for human consumption is out of the question on account of the great distance from any great center of population. The quantity of milk received converted into either butter or cheese is 12,000 liters, 2,643 gallons per day. Nine-tenths of this passes through the separator, so that the milk to utilize is very large in quantity. The analysis of the milk is as follows:

Sugar	4.00
Casein	3.50
Albumen	.70
Fat	.20
Ash	.80
Total	9.20

the balance being water. M. Abbye arranges with pig dealers to supply him with a quantity of lean pigs, which he feeds upon the skim milk and returns to them in a fat condition. When they arrive the pigs are turned out upon the land at perfect liberty, and they are supplied with nothing more than skim milk, which is poured daily into some wooden trough. When the skim milk passes out of the separator it falls into a metal reservoir, from which it is pumped into two barrels of 800 and 1,000 liters capacity respectively, and these are carried to the pig trough, which are moved from time to time to different parts of the soil, in order that it may be properly fertilized, and not too much trodden by the feet of the pigs. The whole of the work is simple in the extreme, the lean pigs need no piggery, they require no particular care, and it is found almost impossible to have too considerable a number. M. Lavarou, however, does not state how the pigs are protected in the winter season. At all events they are at liberty during the first portion of the fattening period. As, however, it is found that when at liberty a pig takes considerable exercise, and consequently fails to put on so much weight as he would do in confinement, he is brought into a piggery at the end of from six to eight weeks, where he is finished off. There is, however, no change in the regimen of feeding; he still gets skim milk and skim milk only, and that, as we have seen, contains a very small quantity of fat.

Here, however, he rapidly puts on weight, and at the end of a further six weeks he is fit for sale, having taken about three and a half to four months to convert the original sum of forty shillings, which he cost, to eighty shillings, for which he sells; for it appears that the price of sale is generally double the original cost. Let it be assumed that a pig cost forty franc, or £2, he consumes the thirty liters, or about six and a half gallons of milk per day for 100 days, at the end of which he is worth £4. The gross profit of £2 represents the value of 3,000 liters of milk which he has consumed, so that for each gallon a return of about three-quarter pence has been made to M. Abbaye. It is scarcely necessary to point out to the English pig feeder and dairyman that this is by no means a satisfactory sum, although it seems to be considered such in France, where in the country districts milk is of considerable less value than with us. It must also be evident that feeding upon skim milk alone is not an economical practice, for it has been shown time after time that by the addition of a carbonaceous starchy or fatty food, such as maize, or barley meal, that the return is relatively increased, and the pig pays more for his skim milk than when it is given alone.

M. Abbaye's experiment, however, is partially intended to show that his soil is increased in quality, and that the weeds are gradually exterminated, and valuable grasses induced to grow. The experiment is, moreover, a new lesson conveyed to dairy farmers, showing them the inadvisability of feeding skim milk without such an adjunct as the dry foods which have been mentioned. If, as we are taught by scientific men, the young pig of from three to five months old requires one part of flesh-forming to five parts of fat and heat-giving matter, or one part to six parts in older pigs, then it is evident that he who is giving skim milk is feeding to waste, for, according to the analysis which we have quoted, there are about equal parts of these two constituents. Consequently, it suggests that a considerable proportion of the flesh-forming or nitrogenous matter is absolutely wasted as far as the pig itself is concerned.

What Makes Beef so High.

Hartford Post: What makes beef so high? It is not because of a scarcity of cattle, or a scarcity of grazing land. It is the system by which the public is served, which returns but very small profit to the growers, and charges enormous profit to the consumer. This is the way it works: The cattle grower sells his cattle to a combination of slaughter-house men, who can fix their own price for his product, because they own or control most of the slaughter-houses. The ranchman gets about $18 or $20 for his average sized "critter" or steer. This is at the rang. It costs $5 to send the steer by freight to Kansas City, $12 for corn feed for three months, $1 for slaughting, $5 more for freight to New York, $5 for expense of retailing there, and say $1 for incidentals. That is to say, total cost, outside of middle-men, is $50. The average steer will dress up 800 lbs. of first-class beef. At the average rate per pound, the retail price amounts to $135. Somewhere between the grower and the consumer the profit is made and the consumer carries the burden,

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 3d, 1889, viz: CHRISTIAN O. ESPE, D. S., 13,966, for the sw¼ S. 24, T. 148, R. 46. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz. C. W. Davis, Ole Olson, Jr., Edna, P. O., Minn., Edward Stowe, Fertile, P. O., Minn., O. S. Johnson, Crookston, P. O., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., in book "20" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100,) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22,) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY of Connecticut, Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on June 22d 1889, viz: WILLIAM N. ANDERSON, H'd 11,424, for the e½ sw¼ lots 3 and 4 S. 19, T. 148, R. 42. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: T. J. West, Edward Leo, Henry Green, Woodside, Minn., P. E. Mitgen, Crookston, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[4-9] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE
DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices.

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Turkey Eggs for Sitting,

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitobe Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

Order to Show Cause on Filing Petition to Sell Lands.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court. Special term.

In the matter of Guardianship of Roman Anderson, Julia Anderson and Aber Anderson, minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Martha Anderson, guardian of the person and estate of said minors, representing among other things, that said wards are seized of certain real estate in said County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and that it is necessary that all (or a part) of the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same at private sale. And it appearing to the court from said petition, that it would be for the best interest of the said wards to sell said real estate as prayed for. It is ordered and directed, that, the next of kin to said wards and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the Judge of this court at the probate office, in the city of Crookston, in said county, on Tuesday the 16th day of July, A. D. 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, then and there to show cause (if any there shall be) why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate according to the prayer of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be personally served on the next of kin of said wards residing in said Polk County, and on all persons interested at least 14 days before the hearing of said petition as aforesaid, and by the publishing thereof for four successive weeks in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and publish at Crookston in said county, the last of which publication shall be at least 14 days prior to the said day of hearing.

Dated at Crookston, the 23d day of May A. D. 1889.

By the Court,
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

[6-10]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 18th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 10th, 1889, viz: PETER W. SMITH, H'd 7,763, for the se¼ S. 32, T. 147, R. 48. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. J. Kolstad, ens J. Vigen, Ole Olson and Lars Knudson, all of Neillsville, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who wishes to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross examine the witness of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JUNE 20, 1889. NO. 9.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch....	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch.....	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches...	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches...	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches...	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches...	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column..	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY.

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Minn

No Twine.

The Western Rural.

The great mass of The Rural readers has determined to use no twine. They have concluded to protect themselves from imposition and to show their power. The twine people have ridiculed the farmers who has taken this position; said that he would not regard his pledge not to use twine and impudently affirmed that he must buy twine. Papers like the Sunday Courier have declared that there is no trust and that there is no attempt being made to put the price of twine above what it legitimately should be, and these organs of the twine corner have bellowed themselves hoarse in opposition to the course that is being pursued by hundreds of thousands of farmers and by the journals that are standing by their interests. It is argued that it would be foolish to attempt to harvest the grain without twine and that it would be ruinously expensive.

But the grand army of farmers who are determined to assert their rights moves right along in a solid column and for weeks every man and every newspaper that are interested in twine have been frantic The twine people have but one thing to offer and that is their own denial that there is a trust or corner. The newspapers that support them have but one thing to offer and that is that twine the men deny that there is any skulduggery. No attempt has ever been made to answer a single argument to show the existence of a twine trust or combination. The Rural has shown over and over again that all the twine that was left over last year that could be bought up was bought up in the early spring and that an attempt was made to purchase every pound of it. Not a single twine paper has ever dared attempt an explanation of this. One of our contemporaries has shown that the supply of the raw material is much larger this year than last, and although some of the twine organs have pitched into our contemporary and called it about all the names that were not pretty language, not a word has been uttered in the direction of disproving its argument. The twine people themselves say that some of the companies have got such control of the raw material that they are compelled to pay for the twine they sell, pretty much all they ask for it, and yet in the next breath they affirm that there is nothing but a legitimate cause for the present high prices. Some of the factories have said that they would have to close, for they could not get the raw material, and yet there is not the slightest pretext that there is not twine enough to supply the demand, even if it was as great as last year, or practically to supply it. Somebody then must have the raw material and somebody must have the twine.

The claim has never been made that every factory and every twine house is in the combination. There are independent factories and dealers but they are as helpless as the farmer. There is a power behind the scenes that sets the price of the twine. That is abundantly proven by the fact that the price is the same all over the country. The conditions are splendid for sombody to undersell if he could. But it will be observed that there is an unusual and suspicious harmony in the business. It constitutes a happy family It is one of the most marvelous cases of the operation of the principle of "two minds with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one," that was ever seen. Here are a lot of men in competition, if they are to believed, and when one takes snuff the whole crowd sneezes. It is wonderful harmony in this selfish world where competition operates like a fierce conflagration. The crowd is like competing railroad under the old pooling system: If you don't like our prices go to the other fellow and he will sell you for the same price, and if you do not like to pay a twine house its price, perhaps you can find a newspaper that is handling twine and you can pay the regulation price to it. Talk about the millennium! Talk about the lion and the lamb lying down together! The millennium has come and the lion and the lamb have got into the same bed, in the twine business.

It is expected that some farmer will use twine at any price. It is their right to pay a dollar a pound for twine if they desire. We should not consider that we were doing justice to ourselves to do so. We believe that a solid front at this present time against an extortion will be worth millions of dollars to the farmers of the country. But if anybody thinks differently, he has the right to. It is the duty of a newspaper, however, to endeavor to show him the exact effect of his action. Then he must be left to do as he thinks best. It seems to be taken for granted by the special pleaders for the twine people that there is no other practical way of harvesting grain than by the use of twine. Some of the most thought-ful of our farmers have written The Western Rural that they believe that nine times out of ten grain may be harvested just as well without twine as with it; and against the selfish remonstrances of the twine apologists, thousands of farmers are preparing to harvest in other ways.

Those who are determined to use twine, however, may thank such papers as The Rural for taking the stand they have against the twine combination. When the war first opened it was announced that the price of twine would be from twenty to twenty-five cents. It was unquestionably determined to ask that price for twine. Journals that are now defending the high prices investigated and openly said that, that was the intention, and showed how large a sum would be taken from the farmers, adove the aggregate sum paid for twine last year. Since then the wind or something equally as powerful has caused some of these journals to swing round on the other side. But the prices came tumbling down. There is no twenty-five cent twine this year, thanks to the energetic action of our farmers. It is given out, howaver, that there will certainly be a rise in the price of twine when the harvest comes. The threat shows the intention of the gang, if it only dares to act in accordance with its disposition, and it shows, too, that the crowd has the power of a trust or corner. But the price will depend upon the action of the grain growers. If they refuse to buy the twine, twine will not advance and may go lower, and it is very certain that if they do refuse to buy it, there never will be another attempt to corner twine.

Butter Color Ideas from Texas.

ED. HOARD'S DAIRYMAN:—Much discussion, and not a little ill feeling is taking place over the question of coloring butter. With your permission I will offer a thought or two.

I have been for years, selling butter to consumers. Sometimes it is a little pale, for I never use any coloring save to try to provide a green bite for my cows at all times and as our climate is favorable, it is rare that my butter is not up to the standard. In such cases I would color if the consumers desired it; but I should tell them so. In fact sometimes my patrons have remarked that the butter was not so yellow as usual, but when I have offered to procure annatto, or annotto, or whatever it is, they have invariably answered, "Oh! dear no! don't dye my butter."

Now I make butter to sell, and as my trade requires light salting I only use one-half ounce salt to the pound; but would use two ounces if my patrons asked it, so I should color it if they demanded it but should tell them so, disguising nothing. And I have yet to find the consumer who uses the same article without artificial color would prefer the colored article. It may be different in the climate and markets of "the North."

So too in regard to the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine: If a man in Chicago chooses to make a sound article of food and a man in Austin choose to buy and eat the same, it is despotic in government to deny them the privilege. There should be no deception however. If my patrons or any other man's patrons wish to eat lard or even axle grease on their bread, it is none of my business. I can go at something else. The government is under no obligation to compel the consumers to buy my butter. It is however the duty of the state to protect all of its citizens from fraud, and when the state has compelled every seller to furnish exactly the goods for which he is paid, its duty is at an end in the matter.

L. B. GILES.

Country Gentleman: If one can raise mangel beets per ton as cheaply as he can raise green fodder corn and preserve the same in silo, then his question is already solved. for by feeding the requisite amount of mangel beets he will get the practical effect of the best ensilage. But it is generally supposed to cost twice as much in labor to raise a ton of mangel beets and harvest them, as to raise a ton of green corn and preserve it in a silo. This is the secret of the rapid progress made by ensilage as a food for milk and beef, and we have only to refer to the progress of ensilage in England to illustrate this point.

Ensilage has made greater comparative progress, in the last three or four years, in England than in this country, and if they cannot afford to raise roots to be fed in place of ensilage there, how can we afford to do it here? There is just as much difference between ensilage and dry fodder as there is between succulent grass and cured hay.

Statements, made by agricultural teachers, are not wanting, that a ton of succulent grass will produce no more beef or milk than the same ton of grass cured into hay. But it is a sufficient answer to this, to refer to the great practical fact, that cattle can be and are fattened, and cows caused to give a good quantity of milk upon succulent grass, but no one thinks of fattening or producing milk in any paying quantity upon hay alone. This theory is shallow nonsense.

Ladle Packed.

New England Farmer: A bill was introduced in the Illinois state senate by Senator Evans which strikes at a fraud upon the creamery men of Illinois, says the Chicago Herald. It is a bill to prevent fraud in the sale of butter, and requires that all packages containing re-worked or re-colored butter shall be plainly labeled or branded, so as to show the true character of the goods. The Dairy World adds:

"The intent of this bill is to prevent the sale of re-colored or what is commonly known as "ladle-packed butter" under creamery brands. For many years certain commission houses and creamery men in various parts of the United States have purchased unsalable butter from commission houses, country merchants and farmers, oftentimes at a merely nominal price, for the purpose of re-working and re-packing it. Many different grades of butter are taken and soaked in milk for a short time, then placed in a butter-worker, just in the same manner as the butter was originally worked. It is then re-colored and re-packed. The re-packed goods are branded with some "fancy" creamery brand and shipped to the markets of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, New York and other large butter consuming points, to be sold as creamery butter, and at prices which, it is claimed, have greatly injured the value of Elgin and Iowa creameries in those markets. The interested creamery men throughout the country have evidently stood this imposition so long that patience has ceased to be a virtue, and they now propose to ask protection from state legislation."

Laws Againts Trusts.

The Northwestern Agriculturist.

Trusts must be abolished; and the people should no longer put up with the quibbling subterfuges of public officials, who, bough thy these trusts, excuse delay by saying our laws are inadequate to deal with the evil and that it is questionable whether laws against trust should be enacted by the State or by the national government.

Trust are contrary to the most fundamental organic law of the land; a law so primary and universally admitted that it is not embodied in the written law; it is in the lex non scripta of civilized nations.

Governments are instituted to protect the people from just such evils as these trusts. To guard the masses, weak because unorganized and poor, against the strong—strong because rich, few and therefore easily organized—is the first purpose of government. It is the excuse and justification for government. For this protection the people surrender enough of their natural liberty for the institution of the State. And whenever the government does not afford this protection, the people have not civil liberty, but are unlawfully oppressed, the government no longer accomplishes the purposes from which it was instituted, and become an instrument of tyranny instead of a beneficent institution for the security of civil liberty.

To say that we have no law against trusts is to say that we have no law whatever, except the law of might. If our government as it now is, is not broad and strong enough to abolish trusts, then we have a government entirely unworthy. It is no longer a government of the people, by the people, for the people, but a goverment of the trusts, by the trusts for the trusts

Northwestern Agriculturist: Farmers used to think that no food could be too sour or too filthy for hogs, but the advocates of the American hog in his best estate, claim that swill is slow poison to a hog, and all milk should be fed sweet to get the best results. Good clover, with a grain ration makes good pork, oats being a good grain to feed, and Theodore Louis and Prof. Henry agree that such pork as this kind of feeding produces will command one-half to three-fourths of a cent per pound above the market price. Packers now want muscle—lean meat—and not lard in their bacon.

Northwestrn Agriculturist: The farmers of the Nortnwest have given little attention to raising lambs for early market. With warm barns or sheds and good shelter from storms, there is no reason why early lambs well cared for should not be very profitable, and the more so, because most farmers have nether the facilities or patience to raise them. The feed which brings a lamb to 100 pounds, will not add more than 50 pounds to his weight afterward. For this reason, the net profit in sheep, as in beeves, is in early maturity and an early market. These fact cannot be kept too prominently before all farmers and breeders.

The Mistake of Labor Unions.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

The farmer are not usually directly affected by strikes, which are such a serious matter in city life and business. Nor do they understand the causes and reasons of strikes any better than city people do. On the surface, the strike seems to be simply a question af fair wages on one side, and an attempt to get labor at a lower price on the other. Neither view is true. The question of wages is not important, The labor unions nearly always win so long as they do nothing to alienate public opinion from their side, and the public naturally sympathize with the laborer and wish him to get the best wages possible. If these unions simply attempted to regulate wages they could do so, without doubt, but they go further and attempt to dictate who shall be employed and who shall be discharged, and in various ways interfere with the management of the employer's business, increasing its risks and placing his capital and his success at the mercy of a few labor leaders who are rarely men of discretion, and not always unselfish. They also make a dead level of price for all workmen, good or bad, while every employer and every working man knows that many a man earns two dollars per day, while another at his side earns half as much and wastes the other half in breakage or material. So far as these unions protect the shiftless and undeserving, and bull-doze employers, they deserve no more sympathy than any other attempted monopoly. So far as they work for more liberal wages, a better standard of living, better homes, and fair play and a fair field for all, they deserve the the sympathy and support of all right-minded men. They will succeed wherever they make only demands that are just, and which will command the support of public opinion, which is, after all, the supreme court to which all social movements must finally appeal.

Farm Mortgages.

The Northwestern Agriculturist: The Western farm mortgages, which are troubling some Eastern people who do not like to see money coming west for investment, are given by men who are working their own farms independently for themselves and their families who could not purchase land enough to make a farm in the East, and if they had remained there, would have been hired men or tenants all their lives. This is the great cause of the wonderful progress of the Northwest. Hired men and tenants do not make great and growing States. The men who own the land in fee simple, are the public-spirited citizens who keep the wheels of progress going. The mortgages will get away with some Dakota farms, but a great majority of the farmers will get away with the mortgages and will finally own their farms, because they were early able to borrow and make wise use of another man's money, in cultivating and improving their homesteads.

Ration for Stock

Iowa State Register: By the bounty of Congress experimental stations are to be all over the United States, filled with the best and most learned chemists and scientist. They will naturally, and probably very correctly, tell the farmers what are the best rations for every class of stock on the farm. They tell us that it is necessary to feed bran, oil meal, corn fodder and hay, etc. But would it not be better for professoas to tell the farmers how to use to the best advantage what they do and can raise on their farms? No matter how much philosophy, chemistry, or nitrogenous agents they may hurl at the farmers they will feed what they can raise. They will not, and should not. haul to market and sell their corn to be skinned by Chicago scoundrels, and then buy and haul back to their farms oil meal, bran or any nitrogenous or albuminoid foods. They will not haul, and pay freight both ways; and lose the middle man's profits on both articles. Bran is scarce in Iowa, and will grow more so year by year. Oil meal is dear, and the mills are frequently a long distance from the farmer. But flax seed can be raised on any farm, so can oats. The object therefore should be to educate farmers how these things which can be profitable raised for stock, instead of insisting on such food as the farmers will never procure when corn, clover hay and oats can be so easily and cheaply raised. Let us have practical sense at our experimental stations, to recommend improved ways of using what we have. It is the only way they can be useful to the country, and the only way they can gain the confidence of practical farmers.

Western Rural: No office in the gift of the people goes begging because the salary is not high enough. There is not a shadow of reason why salaries should be raised and the people taxed to pay them. The argument used frequently is that higher salaries will insure a great degree of honesty. An honest man will remain honest in office, even on a dollar a day, and a thief will steal if you give a million a year.

Steenerson & McManus,

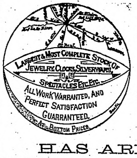
LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!



By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

—OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:—

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

—ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.—

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

Peterson for July begins the new volume with a tempting array of attractions. There are numerous fine engravings, and some of the prettiest dress and needle-work patterns that ever delighted a woman's eye. "A Chapter on Umbrellas" is very entertaining and is beautifully illustrated. The early chapters of Miss Bowman's serial, "In St. Tammany Parish" are full of striking interest. "The End of It," by Frank Lee Benedict, and "Benson's Romance," by Clarence M. Boutelle are capital stories, and there are various others of exceptional merit. "Woman on a Tricycle" is an amusing and instructive sketch, and the "Talks by a Trained Nurse" offers admirably clear and practical directions for giving aid in sudden accidents. Now is a good time to get up a club at greatly reduced rates. Send for a sample copy. Address Peterson's Magazine, Philadelphia, Pa.

Northwestern Agriculturist: Experiments in feeding stock has led to a better appreciation of the value of oats as food for all kinds of live stock. Two years ago, men who made a business of breeding and feeding hogs, would have ridiculed the man who asserted that oats are better grain to feed stock hogs than corn, and yet it is proven beyond doubt that oats are not only better food than corn for any purpose except putting on the final touches of fattening, but that exclusive corn diet is the cause of disease and lack of constitution in the hog raised in corn growing regions. The oat crop will grow in the good opinion of farmers and stockmen as knowledge is extended and careful experiment shows the real value of the grain as food, especially for young and growing stock.

Northwestern Agriculturist: The Northwest is full of men who have come here to retrieve losses suffered in other localities, and most of them succeed in doing it. Such men are ready to learn and always looking for light, and thus make the most progressive farmers. It is the farmers who know it all who do not keep up with the procession.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street. Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WIL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 20, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, 1 Hard, 70.

I. K. Messelt is in from Winger this week.

Try the Queen, Wilson & Thompson's new cigar.

Court adjourned on Friday until July 22d.

The first muddy streets of the season on Monday.

A new lot of those baby carriages just received at Herb's

Let us all rejoice and be glad at the glorious rains of this week.

E. M. Walsh left for St. Paul last week to see about the new road.

L. K. Aaker took possession of the receiver's office on Wednesday.

T. G. Thompson does not improve very rapidly. He received a severe sprain.

Everybody smiled on Monday. Casper was so happy one could see the roots of his back hair.

Don't fail to see the new lot of Whitney baby carriages just received at Herb's. They are daisies!

Fontaine & Anglim have put a new floor in the grocery department, oiled it up, and are now as slick as a whistle.

The C. O. D. front is completed and looks as neat as a pin with the new awning and all. The imitation stone is an improvement.

A. C. Schmidt is doing a fine job of papering at Max Ericsson's. A. C. is an artist whom no one in this city attempts to lay in the shade.

Tom Young says he had the first show of the season on Monday afternoon, as Nature was doing more sprinkling in a minute than he could in a day.

The last returns the creamery received from Chicago netted them 12½ cents per pound for their butter. They should have facilities for storing for better prices.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1 tf]

Tom Harris was in this week from Fosston. Has not got his job completed yet. Tom says that W. H. McCulough and John H. Date, who used to be in business here, were undoubtedly burned out in the great Seattle fire, as their place was right in that district when he was out there last winter.

Mrs. John O. Juve and son, of Kragnes, Clay County, and Mrs. A. Grindeland, of Warren, Marshall County, are visiting friends in the city this week, guests of Mrs. Halvor Steenerson. Mrs. Juve will be remembered by many of our citizens as the wife of one of Crookston's former prominent merchants.

Have a cab? Try the Whitney, at Herb's.

The race course on Barrett's Addition is getting to be quite a fashionable resort. Every pleasant evening the flyers go out to exercise and some very exciting trials of speed may be seen. This calls a crowd, and every pleasant evening several hundred go out. There are some pretty steppers and some pretty fly goers.

John Buhn was down from Mentor on Monday, rejoicing in the bountiful downpour of much needed rain. Says Mentor will celebrate the coming Fourth in grand style, and invites everybody to come out and enjoy their celebration on the lake. There will be enough and to spare of the good things of this life to all who attend and a good time insured.

Angeline, the little 7 year old daughter of Edward Milette, was severely injured on Monday afternoon by a kick from a horse. She was riding with the driver of L. I. Benoit's delivery wagon near the ice house on Sampson's Addition, when the horse took fright at a wheelbarrow and kicked the dashboard out, striking the little girl in the forehead, inflicting a severe scalp wound. Dr. Van Dyke patched up the wound and at last accounts she was doing nicely.

Try Key West, Wilson & Thompson's pure Havanna cigar.

Levi Myers was up from Vineland on Monday. Says while they have had more rain than we have, he does not think that crops, as an average, are looking better than here. Says he has 50 acres of the finest wheat he has seen anywhere—stands from 10 inches to a foot high and well stooled. Is convinced by experiment that the best way to put in barley when the season is as dry as this is to plow it in. His barley, sowed May 28th, don't seem to know anything about drouth.

The trial of Ludvig Arneson resulted as everybody supposed it would, who gave the case sufficient attention to know what the name of the accused was—i. e. in a verdict of acquittal. This is the case from St. Hilaire wherein one Olaf A. Vig was severely injured last October in a scuffle with Arneson. The trouble arose over some cattle, the disputants had a spade in their hands and in the scuffle Vig received injuries about the head. Vig died January 9th, and Arneson was brought to trial on a charge of murder in the first degree. The case was pluckily fought, the county attorney showing that he is made of good material, but the charge was too severe and the only result that could follow did follow—acquittal. Halvor Steenerson, for the defense made one of the best pleas ever listened to in this city and a prominent doctor of Minneapolis, a witness in the case, writing us says: "It was a perfect surprise to me as one seldom expects to hear such eloquence in a country town. Mr. S. should choose some wider field for his talent and I think he will soon be called into a wider—as U. S. District Attorney. He has talents that should not be hidden under a bushel."

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

READ THE ARTICLE

Elsewhere in this issue headed "The Farmers Alliance Getting Down to Business," and go and consult the General Agents,

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - MinnesOta.

AT LAST.

THE DROUTH IS BROKEN.

And the Thirsty Fields Drink in the Refreshing Showers.

At last, after a drouth unprecedented in the history of this country, the flood gates were opened and the rain came down upon the thirsty earth in torrents. From early spring until June 17th, we have had but one all day rain, which occurred on May 16th, and was by no means as thorough as we needed, and, with the exception of one or two light showers, this is all we have had. It has been a severe trial for grass, but the grain seems to have stood it better, although in spots grain had begun to show the effects in a marked degree, and it may be that it was very materially damaged. One thing is certain, it had stooled out remarkably and it may yet produce an average yield. In many countrys such a drouth would have entirely destroyed the crop, but here, where the frost comes out slowly, the crops can endure for a long time without much other moisture. We may now have considerable rainfall, but can hardly have enough to injure the crops as the ground can take care of a large quantity before the crops suffer. Let us rejoice and be glad that the crops have received refreshing showers.

Hans Nelson was in from St. Hilaire on Tuesday.

The Ice Queen is the new cigar at Wilson & Thompson's.

Albert Johnson, town clerk of Winger was in the city this week.

Jens Rude and A. Gilmour came down from McIntosh on Tuesday.

J. L. Bailey has a fine, likely, three-year-old colt in training for the turf.

Aug. Butzinger, representing Geo. Benz & Sons, was in the city on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bivins, Ed and Miss Hattie went out to Maple Lake on Tuesday.

The band were out on Monday evening trying to express their thankfulness for the rain.

Mrs. J. G. McGrew with Edith and Willie have gone to Benson for a visit with relatives.

The first thing J. W. Ralston did upon reaching town Tuesday was to go to Herb's for one of those new Whitney baby carriages.

M. O. Roholt was up from Vineland last week with some choice stock for sale. He thinks he can see where it pays to raise blooded stock in preference to the scrub.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Robertson were made happy on Wednesday, June 12th, by the arrival of a sweet young miss who will grow up with the country in the doctor's family.

Lilly Clay's Colossal Variety show held the boards at the Opera House on Thursday evening of last week. THE JOURNAL is informed that she had a "full" house and a full-house is said to beat three of a kind. Another bear show drew a good crowd on Monday. Two of a kind in one week ought to satisfy the most exacting.

Chicago Herald: A large audience attended the first presentation of Newton Beers' "Lost in London" at the Academy of Music last evening and applauded the good points of this spectacular production to the echo. The scenery proved to be something beyond the ordinary, and the specialties introduced into the play were very much appreciated. The leading parts in the play are taken in a spirited manner. Opera House June 26th.

Two men and two bears appeared on the streets right after the big rain of Monday. Our people felt so good over the rain that the itinerant show reaped quite a harvest in nickels. One bear was sent up a tall tree to amuse the crowd and then the small boys kept him up there to amuse the keeper. When bruin would start to come down and get within 10 or 12 feet of the ground the boys would let off a yell that reminded the bear of his old comrades, the Chippeways, and the way that bear would scratch back for the top of the tree was the delight of the boys and the disgust of the keeper who tried in vain to get the bear to come down. His easy manner of climbing would make the most expert telegraph line repairer green with envy.

A Celebrated Case.

For some time there has been a good deal of uneasiness midst the powers that be in East Grand Forks, but heretofore the busy world has not been troubled by their broils, but it seems at last they struck a snag that was considered too knotty for the average East Grand Forks justice shop, so, on Tuesday, the clans put on their war paint, jumped on one of Jim Hill's elegant day parlor freight coaches and came over to Crookston, to Justice Spendley's court, where one John O'Leary was duly and solemnly arraigned for assault upon the person of one Martin Purcell. Hon. H. Steenerson appeared for the assaulter and the County Attorney for the assaultee. His Honor, the Judge, donned his little blue cap and austere countenance and Mr. Purcell took the witness stand. Said that on May 25th some of the councilmen were in a room together, but more of them was not; that Mr. O'Leary there and then attempted to take from him certain papers, did take them, and in his efforts to do so did tear his (Purcell's) vest and shirt and shut off his wind. Robt. Hunter testified to the vest tearing business, and chief Pat. Murray that he came into the room when Mr. O'Leary had hold of Mr. Purcell and parted them. Did not think there was going to be much of a storm by appearance of things. John Hiler also testified in the same tenor and then the attorney for the defense arose and moved to dismiss on the grounds that the complaint failed to charge and the evidence to prove an offence committed, before this court, and that this court has no jurisdiction in the matter. The Judge, after due deliberation, dismissed the case.

The Last Lot of the Season.

The lot of new Whitney carriages just received at Herb's is positively the last he will order this summer. Be in time for choice.

Reports from all over the county agree that the crops are looking 100 per cent better and are probably all right.

Lewis H. Page, of Fargo, representing the W. B. Clark Investment Co., is in the city in the interest of his company.

It is wonderful what an effect the rain had on Holmboe & Larson's delivery wagon. Looks just like a fine new one.

Our enterprising nurseryman, F. T. Haseltine, made this office a present of some fine redishes this week. He has managed to have a fine garden notwithstanding drouth and cold weather.

M. Leguee and S. Collins went below last week to get a trotter. They did not like him well enough to purchase him however. They have secured the Brush horse for the season. This horse is well known here having been in the city a season or two and is a good one.

Just Received.

A lot of those elegant Whitney baby carriages at Herbs.

The barn of O. S. Johnson, town of Russia was struck by lightning on Monday, and totally destroyed. In it was stored about $100 worth of twine and a lot of machinery valued at $200. The barn alone cost $600. Insured for $300.

The well-known firm of Steenerson & McManus is dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Steenerson will give his whole attention to his extensive law practice while Mac will, as of old, handle the real estate and loaning business which has assumed mammoth proportions.

Chicago Journal: The interesting drama. "Lost in London," was presented at the Academy of Muic, last evening, by Newton Beers' excellent company, who did very effective work. The play was put on the stage with a wealth of scenic splendor and the effect was both realistic and praise worthy. The incidental features were appreciated. Opera House June 26th.

Alderman W. S. Danaher, John O'Leary, Justice C. A. Brown, Paul Hogan, Mayor A. Brown, Robt. Wood, Alderman A. W. Preston, Justice C. L. Lasher, Chief Pat Murray, Patrolman Thos. Murray, John Heler and Martin Purcell, officials and citiazns of Grand Forks were in the city on Tuesday on a little unpleasantness connected with the running of their city government.

Peter Gothia has sold out his business here and will remove to Merrill, Wis., after a few weeks visit with friends in the south part of the state. Mr. Gothia has been in business here for the past four years and has established a reputation equal to the best, making friends of all with whom he has had business deal. We learn that he has purchased a large business at Merrill, and we trust he will do well.

The piano recital, by Prof. Brewer, at the Opera House, this evening, promises to be the best musical entertainment of the season. There will be two beautiful quartettes, "The Æolian Lyre" and "Good Night," by Mrs. Adams, Miss Veronna and Messrs. Graves and Compton; also a couple of glee songs. The entertainment is free to all music lovers. It is therefore hoped there will be a large attendance.

A man came to Mayor Lilly on Tuesday afternoon with a request for aid to reach St. Paul. Said his name was Chas. E. Chapman; that he had been to Great Falls, Montana, where he had the misfortune to break his leg. When he reached Grand Forks his money was exhausted and he walked over to Crookston. The mayor proceeded to raise money by subscription to send the man to St. Paul, on his way to his old home in Michigan.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

1776 GRAND 1889

Fourth of July Celebration

—AT—

MENTOR AND ON MAPLE LAKE,

JULY 4TH, 1889.

The exercises will consist of BALL PLAYING, HORSE RACING, and various games in the morning at Mentor; in the afternoon BOAT-RACING ON THE LAKE, a PICNIC in Date's Grove, and a DANCE in the Evening. Also a

GRAND DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS.

Come One, Come All,

And have a good time with us.

BY ORDER OF COM.

Proceedings of City Council.

REGULAR MEETING, HELD JUNE 11, 1889.

Meeting called to order; President Watts in the chair.

Members present—Aldermen Lally, Marlette, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Morrisey and Jennings.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The committee on building sewers reported progress and asked for further time to report, which, on motion, was granted.

The committee on sidewalks in the Fourth Ward was granted further time to report.

The communication of the Engineer of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad, with reference to widening the excavation on Sixth street, was presented.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Buhn, that the communication be referred to the Aldermen of the First Ward, City Engineer and City Attorney, and the above committee was also instructed to examine under what right the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad Company keeps their Round House on Robert street. Carried.

The petition of F. X. Meniau and others was presented with reference to filling in Polk street. Moved by Alderman Lally, seconded by Alderman Jennings, that petitioners be allowed to fill in front of their lots level with the sidewalk, at their own expense. Carried.

The report of the Financial Committee was accepted and adopted and bills were ordered paid as recommended.

Moved by Alderman Jerome, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that the bill of A. Munn for $6.00 as clerk of election, be allowed and ordered paid. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Marlette, seconded by Alderman Buhn, that the bill of Dr. M. Van Dyke, amounting to $63 for services as health officer, be allowed. Carried.

The bill of J. Wyatt was referred to the Chief of Police to report on same at next meeting. Carried.

The bill of A. J. & A. McKinnon for repairing fire apparatus, on motion was allowed.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that a committee of three be appointed to assist the Overseer of the Poor. Carried. The Chair appointed as such committee Aldermen Morrisey, Jerome and Buhn.

At a regular meeting of the City Council of the city of Crookston, held the 11th day of June, 1889, Alderman Lally offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Marlette:

Resolved, That a sidewalk be ordered laid according to the city ordinance on the west side of Ash street, between Houston avenue and Bessie street.

Upon the call of ayes and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative—Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Walter, Jennings, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn and Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative—none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the President of the Council.

Passed this 11th day of June, 1889.

WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.

Appproved this 12th day of June, 1889.

Attest: JAMES W. LILLY,
Mayor.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

At a regular meeting of the City Council, held the 11th day of June, 1889, Alderman Walters offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Jerome:

Be it Resolved, That the pay of patrolman, L. Gonyea, be raised to the sum of sixty dollars per month; from and after this date.

Upon the call of ayes and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative—Lally, Marlette, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn.

Alderman voting in the negative—Morrisey.

Aldermen not voting—Watts and Jennings.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the President of the Council.

Passed this 11th day of June, 1889.

WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.

Approved this 12th day of June, 1889

Attest: JAMES W. LILLY.
Mayor.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

At a regular meeting of the City Council, held the 11th day of June, 1889, Alderman Morrisey offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Lally:

Be it Resolved, That an eight feet sidewalk of two inch pine be laid on Woodland avenue, in Sampson's Woodland Addition before lot 17, in block 10, to connect with sidewalk on each side of said lot, And the Street Commissioner is hereby ordered to lay such sidewalk at expiration of legal notice if not previously built by owner or owners of this lot.

Upon the call of the ayes and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative—Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Watts, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn.

Aldermen voting in the negative—None.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the President of the Council.

Passed this 11th day of June, 1889.

WM. WATTS,
President of the Council.

Approved this 12th day of June, 1889.

Attest: JAMES W. LILLY,
Mayor.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Frank Jerome, judge of election, $	9 00
Ole Hanse, clerk of election....	2 00
S L Collins, " "	2 00
Jos Laurence judge "	6 00
V D Carruth, clerk "	2 00
R Smith, " "	2 00
I U Jennings, judge "	9 00
G O Buhn, " "	9 00
T C Stewart, rent of office and clerk of election..................	7 00
H P Peterson, judge of election..	3 00
A Raush, merchandise............	9 00
A Munn, clerk of election.........	6 00
W S Nott & Co., merchandise....	30 50
C E Vanasdale, clk of election...	6 00
F E LePage, rent of office for election	5 00
Fontaine & Anglim, mdse.........	34 18
R G Marlette, judge of election..	9 00
Crookston Fire Department, attending fire........................	67 00
E W Wile, mdse.....................	8 25
Aug Walter, judge of election...	9 00
Henry Funk, clerk of election...	4 00
R Stanton, judge of election......	3 00
Pat Connors, labor..................	6 00
M Van Dyke, services as health officer..............................	63 00
J H & A Locken, mdse............	14 00
" " "	5 00
L I Benoit, mdse......................	3 53
Eli Asselin, mdse.....................	5 00
H Shepard, witness fees...........	1 12
L Waldeland, mdse..................	11 15
Red River Lumber Co., lumber,	250 45
J Paterson, writing poll lists......	7 00
D McKinnon, clerk of election..	6.00
O L Hamery, money paid for labor	13 50
O L Hamery, money paid for labor..............................	21 00
O L Hamery, money paid for labor..............................	23 50
O L Hamery, money paid for labor	42 00
O L Hamery, money paid for labor..............................	27 39
A J & A McKinnon, blacksmithing.............................	22 25
John Evenson & Co., labor.......	55 50
Hans Morberg, labor...............	27 50

On motion Council adjourned until June 13th, 1889.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

Adjourned meeting of the City Council of the city of Crookston, held June 13th, 1889.

President Watts in the chair.

Members present—Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Bjoin, Buhn, Steenerson, Jennings and Jerome.

The purchasing agent was instructed to purchase a Civil Docket for the use of Justice Spendley.

The Council then went into committee of the whole, having under consideration the draft of the fire ordinance. When the committee rose, it was moved that the President be instructed to have the fire ordinance, as amended by the committee of the whole, printed on a type writer and presented at the next meeting of the Council for their further consideration.

Moved by Alderman Lally, seconded by Alderman Morrisey, that a committee of three be appointed in connection with the Street Commissioner to attend to the repairs of the Broadway street bridge, with power to act.

President Watts appointed on such committee, Aldermen Jerome, Bjoin and Buhn.

On motion Council adjourned until June 29th, 1889.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

FOR SALE.

Some good farm machinery for sale cheap at Southside Farm, Andover. One 12 horse power Giant Strawburner Engine, in good order. One Minnesota Chief Thresher, ten (10) Minneapolis Self Binders. Also some horses and mules at very low figures for cash or good notes. VICTOR CEDERLUND, Foreman.
[9-12]

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE!

ALLL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS	GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted GENUINE SLATER FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED Fast Colors, OR MONEY Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT OF THE KIND IN THE NORTHWEST.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

The Farmers Alliance.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Will Insure for Members.

WILL FURNISH TWINE FOR MEMBERS.

AND WILL BE RUN WHOLLY IN THE INTEREST OF THE FARMERS OF MINNESOTA ON STRICTLY

Scientific Business Principles.

G. W. Sprague, President of the Minnesota Farmers Alliance, was in Polk County a few weeks since to establish an Alliance Agency for Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. He says that the insurance features are proving very popular. That our readers may form an intelligent idea we give the following extracts from the by-laws of "The Alliance Hail and Cyclone Mutual Insurance Company:"

OBJECT.

The object of this company is to receive and collect from its members such sums as may be necessary to reimburse such of its members as may meet with losses to their crops by hail, and to property by cyclone, and necessary expenses connected therewith.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP.

Application for membership in this association shall be made on the printed form furnished by the secretary, and, if approved by the president and secretary, a certificate of membership shall be issued on payment of a fee of two dollars, which certificate shall be good for the entire existence of the company if not forfeited by the member for non-payment of assessment.

HAIL DEPARTMENT. APPLICATION FOR PROTECTION.

Application for protection may be made at any time on a printed blank furnished by the company and accompanied by an assessable note, payable on October 1st, secured on the crop, for twenty-five cents per acre for each acre protected, or if preferred the cash may accompany the application. The note and mortgage aforesaid shall not be negotiable or transferable. Only one assessment can be made in any one year, and that only for necessary expenses and losses by hail, and in no case shall the member be liable for more than twenty-five cents per acre for the number of acres of crop protected for him in any one year. Application for protection, if accompanied by fee and note properly made out, shall take effect from noon of date of application, unless rejected by the Executive Board, in which case it shall be of no effect.

LOSSES AND ADJUSTMENTS.

Losses must be reported at once to the secretary by registered letter, and no loss will be allowed unless so reported inside of ten days; and no loss to grain after it is cut will be allowed, or after Sept. 15th of each year. All losses payable Dec. 1st. (When grain is ripe at time of loss, cut at once, as adjustment can be made, after grain is cut.)

An adjuster will be sent as soon as possible after loss is reported, and his decision shall be final unless objected to by loser, when the loser may choose a man to confer with the adjuster, and if they cannot agree, the two shall choose a third man, and their decision shall be final, subject only to review and change by Board of directors. And in case of arbitration the losing party shall pay the expense.

ASSESSMENT AND PAYMENT OF LOSSES.

The assessment shall be collected at local banks as near the policy holder as practicable.

Whenever the total amount of losses and expenses exceed the limit of assessment, then the losses shall be paid pro rata, and shall be received as full payment of all claims.

The Board of directors shall review all adjustments and determine the rate of assessment, immediately after the time of protection has passed and the losses have been adjusted and reported; whereupon the secretary shall publish a full statement of losses, as soon as practicable, showing the name and address of each claimant and the amount of his loss, and mail the same to every member of the company.

COMPENSATION FOR LOSSES.

Members sustaining loss to their growing crops by hail, shall be entitled to compensation as follows, which shall be net: Where the loss is entire the price per acre shall in no case exceed the following established prices, the amount to be determined according to stand:

Wheat	$8 00	Rye	$6 50
Oats	6 50	Barley	6 00
Corn	7 00	Flax	7 00

In case of partial loss, the following prices per bushel will be used in adjusting; provided, however, the amount shall in no case exceed the above established limit per acre:

Wheat	50c	Corn	23c
Oats	20c	Flax	65c
Barley	25c	Rye	33c

No deduction for harvesting, threshing or marketing.

PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT.

After a member has paid his assessment in full, the balance of his note or cash if any remains unused, given to secure protection, will be returned.

DEDUCTIONS.

In case a member sustains a loss the assessment on the promissory note given for protection shall be deducted from the amount of loss sustained, in case the loss exceeds the amount of the assessment, and in case the loss does not equal the amount of the assessment, then the amount of loss shall be credited on the note. There can be no abandonment of the property protected to the company.

CYCLONE DEPARTMENT.

This company will insure all farm property owned by its members except standing grain against loss or damages by cyclone, tornadoes, hurricanes upon the following conditions: A premium of one per cent for five years will be collected, one-half cash and one-half in note, payable on or before two years from application, with this proviso—that their just proportion of all premiums not used for paying losses or necessary expenses shall be returned to the members at the expiration of the policies. And provided further that in case of extreme losses members may be assessed not to exceed one-half per cent in one year or one per cent in five years, in addition to the above, and in no case shall the liability exceed what is herein mentioned. Only one assessment shall be made in any one year.

Application for insurance shall be made on blanks furnished by the company, but insurance shall not take effect until application is accepted by the company and policy issued thereon.

Losses must be reported to the secretary inside of ten days from date of loss by registered letter, as no loss will be allowed unless so reported, provided however, this company shall not be liable for losses caused by ordinary windstorms which are not of sufficient force to destroy or wreck substantial buildings within a radius of three miles of the property insured.

An adjuster will be sent as soon as possible after loss is reported, and his decision shall be final unless objected to by loser, when the loser may choose a man to confer with the adjuster, and if they cannot agree, the two shall choose a third man, and their decision shall be final, subject only to review and change by Board of directors. And in case of arbitration the losing party shall pay the expenses.

Losses shall be due and payable within sixty days after adjustment, but in case of excessive losses the directors shall have discretionary power to defer a portion of the payment until Nov. 15th of each year; but in the event of the losses and expenses of any one year exceeding the receipts from the assessments the losses shall be paid pro rata and such payments shall be accepted in full for all claims. The intention being to provide for equitable treatment of all members.

Any member failing to pay his note of assessment when due shall be suspended until payment is made when he shall stand re-instated, but suspension shall not relieve a member from any liability incurred up to date of suspension or expulsion.

A member may be expelled by the executive board for refusal or neglect to pay his assessment or note or for attempted fraud on the company by returning to him any unearned premium previously paid in, and mailing to his last address furnished by the secretary a notice of such action.

N. B.—Persons not wishing to join the alliance will be charged $1.00 additional as state dues.

In addition to the insurance features, Mr. Sprague says that the aim of the alliance will be to combine efforts to correct public wrongs as well as to advance the private and material interests of its members. As an earnest of this the alliance is prepared to furnish twine to its members at 13½ cts. for jute or 16½ for best pure manilla, at present and Mr. S. says he is confident that he can do better in the near future. He appointed as general agents for the alliance for Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties, of Carman, who are now ready to take applications for membership, for insurance or for twine and to furnish any further information you desire. Every farmer in Polk County should call at their office and see what they are prepared to do. Last year, in Dakota the Farmers Alliance Hail Insurance Co. paid every loss while the old line insurance companies shirked and tried to crawl out. In the Farmers Alliance the farmers themselves are the beneficiaries and while the rates are less than in any other company all losses are sure to be paid. Farmers, think it over, and call on Fisk & Thornton for full and complete information.

FISK & THORNTON,

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

John W. Ralston is the happy father of a bran new boy, 9½ lbs. He arrived Monday while the fields were being drenched and John now says he is pretty sure of a good crop. He at least has one that can be cradled and, a little later on, threshed.

Nels Peterson and wife came down from Winger to prove up on his claim. They are among the early settlers, having gone there before the land was opened for settlement. They have now a good home and are in comfortable circumstances.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

AN ORDINANCE.

The City Council of the city of Crookston do ordain.

That all salaried officers of the city of Crookston be paid on the ninth day of each month their monthly salary then due, on making proof of the amount then owing.

Dated June 11th, 1889.

Ayes—Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Watts, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Jennings, Watts.

Nays—None.

The ordinance was declared carried unanimously.

Passed by the City Council June 11th, 1889.

WM. WATSS,
President of Council.

Approved June 12th, 1889.

JAMES W. LILLY,
Mayor.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs.
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. Q. Wilson.

A Fine Entertainment.

Cincinnati Times Star.

Next to witnessing a series of thrilling incidents there is nothing so interesting as to see them acted. And the nearer the acting comes to the original in local coloring, characterization and action, the more it will be relished by a spectator. This is the reason why "Lost in London" made such a hit at the opening of Havlin's Theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The play is but a series of incidents placed upon a stage and of the creator is showered upon his darling of his genius. In the second act there is one of the best vaudeville entertainments that can be given on the stage.

Many other shows are making money with fewer features in the specialty line than are seen here alone. "Lost in London," as presented by piratical barnstormers, is no more like Mr. Beers' play than a cross roads' entertainment is like a refined performance on the stage of Wallack during the days of the old regime.

There are the original Pan Pipe Singers from the north of Britian, whose lightning changes and weird and queer music is the wonder of any one who has never heard them before. The comely element is of the purest order, but this is only incidental as it were, to the grand surrounded by all the scenery and material coloring that they would have had in actual life. The essence of the play can be told in almost ten words. All great plays are simple in construction. A man has the idol of his home and heart stolen from him by a villain, and he is striving to reclaim her. This is the text of the author, and starting with this he takes the hero through some of the most thrilling and exciting, but at the same time perfectly natural incidents and adventures. There is nothing but what any man with a loving heart and vivid imagination could and would experience under similar circumstances. The story is garnished with a hundred bright and beautiful things, and the wealth of the mind theme of drama which rolls on like some sublime anthem to the time of heart break sobs. The whole production, including the vaudeville and musical features and the dramatic features, were surrounded by the most gorgeous scenic and mechanical effects, including the almost transcendentally beautiful illusion "drops," which alone would require almost a column to properly describe. A gentlemen who saw the performance said, "I have never seen such a combination of comedy, tragedy, emotional and spectacular on any other stage in this city."

Opera House, June 26th.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.

[3-tf] M. ROOD

Found.

Near Beltrami, a spring overcoat which owner can have by paying for this advertisement.

S. B. PALMER,
[8-10] Lockhart, Minn.

MARRIED.

NORANDER—JOHNSON.—In this city, June 18th, 1889, by Justice Spendley, Mr. Andrew A. Norander to Miss Carrie Johnson, both of Polk County, Minn.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Oak Posts.

We have 1,500 good body oak posts for sale.

[6-9] HUGGARD, LARSON & CO.

LIST OF LETTERS.

List of advertised letters in the P. O. Crookston for the week ending June 17th, 1889. Persons calling for any of these letters will please say "advertised."

Austed, Betsy K
Boukind, Carie
Biever, Theodora
Caille, Earnese
Cartier, Felix
Clouthier, J C
Durand, Delvina
Davis, J E
Forsberg, Fred
Hanson, Jacob
Knutsen, J
Kollitsie, Chas
Larson, Hanger
McKenzie, John—2
McCarthy, J H
Olson, Ingeberg
Teuglund, M M
Thompson, Henry
Vicaw, O

ALEX MCKINNON, P. M.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.

Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price. Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Bessie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.—————— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets. at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. S. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:25 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:51 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:45 "	Pembina	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[82-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

— OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 20, 1889.

Wednesday, August 21, witnesses the grand re-opening for the fourth year of the great Minneapolis Industrial Exposition. This institution has done more for Minneapolis than any other institution that has ever been projected, and as it is a splendid exhibit of Northwestern progress it is well worthy the patronage of the entire Northwest.

General Manager Byron has put forth every effort to make this year's display exceed all previous efforts both in point of interest and grandeur, and judging by the reports which reach us through the medium of the city papers, it seems that his desires in that regard will be fully carried out. Innes' world renowned Thirteenth Regiment band, of New York, will furnish the music for the season, which will be of an exceptionally high character.

Northwestern Agriculturist: There are many departments in farming, and there is such a thing as having "too many irons in the fire." What branch to make most prominent, depends on the location and equipment of the farm, and still more on the capital of the owner. The farmer who has a well-stocked farm, all paid for, may go into branches that bring slow returns; breeding horses, for instance, which require four years to get returns. Cattle breeding comes next, unless investment is made in good dairy cows. If in debt, there is no choice except between such branches as bring quick cash returns. Dairying is one of these, if the farm help indoors and outdoors is adapted to it. Sheep and hogs bring returns in one season, and are good debt payers, when well managed.

Profit of Sheep.

The Northwestern Agriculturist.

J. E. Colton, of Minnehaha county, Dakota, has been raising sheep for four years with great success. He says that he knows of no better sheep country than Dakota, except a small area in Montana that is valueless for general farming. The land is high and dry, and his flocks have been entirely free from foot-rot, scab and other diseases. His pastures are absolutely free from weeds, and the sheep turned on stubble gather up the waste grain as readily as poultry. Mr. Colton thinks wheat screening are unequalled for feeding sheep: fed on screeding through the winter, they come out in the spring in best condition. The "Sioux Falls Press," commenting on a recent sale of sheep by Mr. Colton, says: "He realized a net profit on 354 of $1,500, merely for mutton, not taking into account a probable average of two fleeces per head ranging from seven to ten pounds each, which sold at from 15 to 20 cents per pound. The wool from the sheep has averaged sixteen pounds per head, making a total of about 5,600, which, at 17 cents per pound, amounted to nearly $1,000. Thus the wool and the mutton will net him $2,500. The mere mutton at 4 cents per pound on the hoof is 33½ per cent more than he could have got for beef, and it does not cost any more to raise the former—mutton, wool and all—than it does the sheep, and would have got but $1,080 for beef cattle, which would have been raised and marketed at the same expense. This makes the profit on sheep raising more than double those on beef.

Advantages of Improved Farms.

The Northwestern Agriculturist.

The rush of emigration to Oklahoma and to the recently opened Indian reservations is surprising to the Western pioneers of other days, who know the value of the lands and their desirability for homes. The people who have poured into these recently opened lands or are awaiting on their borders, could all find better homes, and all things considered, cheaper lands and homes in Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska. The fact that 160 acres of wild land may be had free is not the only consideraton. Wild land is not a farm or a home. It is only raw material. The farm or the home must be made, and it takes money and time to make them or either of them. One year's labor must be given before a crop can be produced—a house must be built, machinery bought, ground broken, and many other and expensive and laborious tasks finished before the land is a farm and home. With the same labor and money required to accomplish this, the first payment might be made on a good farm with groves of trees started, building erected, and ground ready for crop. The settler on wild land loses two years, the buyer of an improved farm loses no time, but begins to produce at once and will pay for his farm, with intelligent management and industry, while the homesteader is getting ready to begin living. The wise man who comes West to grow up with the country, will put what money he had into the first payment on an improved farm and let the other fellows, not so wise, have the wild land. The unimproved public lands are better than remaining in the East, but the improved Western farms of to-day offer greater advantages to the farmer than the free wild lands. There may never be a better time to buy improved farms.

Too Many Acres.

Northwestern Agriculturist: The mistake generally made by farmers in the Northwest is in attempting to farm too many acres. In our short seasons, there is much more necessity than elsewhere for farming less land and giving it more thourough culture. There are many farms of which one hundred acres are cropped at a less each year, of which twenty acres could be farmed at a handsome profit. The labor of caring for twenty acres is less, and it is possible to make the twenty to produce nearly or quite as much as the average one hundred acres. Very few farmers know how much it is possible to grow on an acre of ground. Those who have only a small garden plot, often very nearly support a family from it. A good deal of concentration is what is wanted on all farms.

Brains and Labor

Northwestern Agriculturist: Hundreds of farmers are working hard, year after year, for less compensation than they could earn as farm laborers, and do not know the reason why they do not get better returns for labor. In other words, they do not knew what part of their farm work pays and what does not pay. The ambition to own a farm is worthy, and the man who owns one should be his own master, and receive more pay than the hired man who has no capital invested, but simply carries out the directions of another. But to succeed, the farmer must use his head as well as his hands. The farmer should have good muscle, but brains at the top.

Young Hogs for Profit

Prof. Henry, in Northwestern Agriculturist: With the average build of hogs and the breeds we handle, the Berkshire and Poland China, the hog becomes very unprofitable after 300 pounds. The most pork is made with the least feed, with the young pig, after he is weaned; a pound of pork can then be produced at less cost than at any other time. When the hog reaches a weight of 300 pounds he has to support that 300 pounds in addition to laying on weight. It will take 4½ pounds of feed to make one pound of pork when the hog weighs 100 pounds; when the hog weeghs 350 it will take 7 pounds.

Northwestern Agriculturist: With a good crop and fair prices, this season, large numbers of good breeding stock will be bought by Minnesota and Dakota farmers. Just now they feel too poor to buy, but then failure to buy now means a loss of one year's time and more unprofitable scrub stock. To the "hustler" credit is always offered, and it is a poor selection in way of a sire which will not more than pay his cost in any neighborhood in one year in the way of improvement and added value in the product. June is a good month to buy in, as it is at the latter end of the selling season, and breeders are ready to take low figures.

MARRIED.

KNUDSON—BERG.—In this city, June 13th, 1889, by Justice Spendley, Mr. Charles Knudson to Miss Hannah Berg, both of Polk County.

CARLSON—GUSTAFSON.—In this city, June 14th, 1889, by Justice Spendley, Mr. C. A. Carlson to Miss Sophia Gustafson, both of Polk County.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk. } ss.

Notice is hereby given, That applications have been made in writing to the City Council of said City of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on July 1st 1889, and terminating on June 30th 1890, by the following persons, and at the following places as stated in said applications respectively, to-wit:

M. E. BEAUPRE.

At the three story frame building, on the corner of Broadway and Fletcher Street, known as the Canada House.

JOHN W. O'BRIEN.

At the two story frame building situated on lot 6, block 5, in Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston, on Robert Street, in the City of Crookston, Polk Co., Minn.

M. ERIESSON.

In the brick building on Main Street, situated on lot 2 block 4, Fletcher & Houston's Addition.

MOISE LEFEBVRE.

In the one and one-half story frame building situated on lot 8, block 3, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston, Main Street.

A. K. & E. K. AUSTIN.

The two story frame building situated on lot 2, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's Addition, Main Street.

OLIVIER MERCIL.

The two story brick building on lots 17 and 8, block 6, corner Broadway and Robert Street, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to the City of Crookston.

L. B. FERAN & B. J. DUNTLEY.

In the two story frame building situated on lots 22, 23, 24, block 16, Original Townsite of Crookston.

NAPOLEON RAPIN.

In the two story frame building on Main Street, situated on lot 5, block 1, Original Townsite of Crookston.

WM. O. WILSON & T. G. THOMPSON.

In the brick building corner Main and Robert Street, known as the McKinnon block.

LOUIS M. BERGQUEST & JOHN NYQUIST.

In the two story frame building situated on lot 16, block 5, in L. Fletcher's Addition to the Townsite of Crookston.

JOHN L. HANSON.

The two story frame building on Robert Street, situated on lot 12, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to the City of Crookston.

WM. HEIDRICH.

The one story frame building facing Main Street on lot 7, block 2, of the Original Townsite of Crookston.

C. C. HOCH.

The two story frame building on Main Street, situated on lot 3, block 4, Fletcher & Houston's Addition

O. C. ERICKSON.

In the one story frame building situated on Main Street, on lot 9, block 3, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston.

A. YVERNAULT.

The one story frame building situated on Broadway on lots 10, 11 and 12, block 5, of Fletcher & Houston's Addition to Crookston.

J. A. BEMIS.

The two story building on the corner of Broadway and Second Street, known as the Commercial Hotel.

ERNEST ROLSCH.

In the frame building situated on the west twenty-five feet of lots 21, 22, 23 and 24, block 16, Original Townsite of Crookston.

R. C. BURKHARDT.

Lot 12, block 15, Townsite of Crookston according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds.

Said applications will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Crookston, at the City Hall, in said City of Crookston, in Polk County, State of Minnesota, on the 29th day of June 1889, at 8 o'clock p. m., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of June A. D. 1889.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff. vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah R. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Deft.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 13th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 3d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages, on pages 576 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assignment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884, at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 614, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149.) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:30 o'clock p m., in book "30" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100,) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22,) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 3d, 1889, viz: CHRISTIAN O. ESPE, D. S., 10,966, for the sw¼ S. 24, T. 148, R. 46. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. W. Davis, Ole Olson, Jr., Edna, P. O., Minn., Edward Stowe, Fertile, P. O., Minn., O. S. Johnson, Crookston, P. O., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on June 22d 1889, viz: WILLIAM N. ANDERSON, H'd 11,424, for the e½ sw¼ lots 3 and 4 S. 19, T. 148, R. 42. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: T. J. West, Edward Leo, Henry Green, Woodside, Minn., P. E. Misgen, Crookston, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[4-9] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE
DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN. - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Turkes Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

Order to Show Cause on Filing Petition to Sell Lands.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court. Special term.

In the matter of Guardianship of Roman Anderson, Julia Anderson and Aber Anderson, minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Martha Anderson, guardian of the person and estate of said minors, representing among other things, that said wards are seized of certain real estate in said County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and that it is necessary that all (or a part) of the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same at private sale. And it appearing to the court from said petition, that it would be for the best interest of the said wards to sell said real estate as prayed for. It is ordered and directed, that, the next of kin to said wards and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the judge of this court at the probate office, in the city of Crookston, in said county, on Tuesday the 16th day of July, A. D. 1889, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, then and there to show cause (if any there shall be) why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate according to the prayer of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be personally served on the next of kin of said wards residing in said Polk County, and on all persons interested at least 14 days before the hearing of said petition as aforesaid, and by the publishing thereof for four successive weeks in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and publish at Crookston in said county, the last of which publication shall be at least 14 days prior to the said day of hearing.

Dated at Crookston, the 22d day of May A. D. 1889.

By the Court,
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[6-10] Judge of Probate.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 18th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 10th, 1889, viz: PETER W. SMITH, H'd 7,763, for the se¼ S. 32, T. 147, R. 48. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. J. Kolstad, ens J. Vigen, Ole Olson and Lars Knudson, all of Neillsville, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who wishes to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proo. should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witness of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

Assessment Notice.

Notice is hereby given, That the Board of Review of the city of Crookston in Polk County, Minnesota, will meet at the city hall in said city on Monday the twenty-fourth day of June, 1889, (being the fourth Monday in June,) for the purpose of receiving and correcting the assessment of said city for the year 1889. All persons considering themselves aggrieved by said assessment, or who wish to complain that the property of another is assessed too low, are hereby notified to appear at said meeting, and show cause for having such assessment corrected.

No complaint that another person is assessed too low will be acted upon until the person so assessed, or his agent, shall have been notified of such complaint, if a resident of the county.

June 5th 1889.

HENRY WIGHT,
[8-9]. Assessor of the city of Crookston.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JUNE 27, 1889. NO. 10.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY HURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$ 50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give specia attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Minn

Lovers of the beautiful in art will learn with pleasure of the treat that is being prepared for them by the management of the Minneapolis Industrial Exposition, which re-opens on August 21st for a period of 34 days. Art Director Smith has put forth every effort to make this season's art display the finest ever placed on exhibition in the west. In this he has been well seconded by the artists in the east, who have gladly furnished the choicest treasures of their studios for exhibition in the handsome art galleries of the Minneapolis exposition. Taken in connection with the best of other features provided, this seasons exposition will exceed in interest those of previous years.

Northfield News: Now that General Fisk is a little more than half ways over into the republican lines, it looks as if the New York Voice were coming too. It says: "Local option in any form is incomplete, but we favor it for the reason that it is educational, and is a partial relief from the liquor traffic for localities that are ready for prohibition. Give us bread by the crumb, slice, half loaf, or whole loaf, only give us bread without any poison in it." The Voice also takes occasion to glory in the good work of the republican party in Kansas.

Northfield News: The divorce proceedings of ex-Senator D. M. Sabin which have just been made public by the daily papers is a phase of life which, from force of circumstances, some are compelled to pass through, the trials of which are only known to those who experience them. It is in trials of this kind that the sympathy of friends is golden. It would have been much better had the public not been allowed to pry into the private affairs of individuals. Respect for womanhood alone should have suggested silence. Mr. Sabin has the genuine sympathy of his friends in taking the step, which was absolutely necessary.

N. Y. Times: The silo has unquestionably come to stay, and year by year the practice of preserving fodder in a succulent condition is spreading and becoming more satisfactory. For this reason the history of this agricultural practice is of interest, the more so because many errors exist in regard to it. The word silo is not a French word, as has been stated, but is an English word found in our dictionaries and quoted from an old English lexicographer, Simmonds. The word signifies a pit for the preservation or grain. The first mention known of the use of the silo for preserving green fodder is in a Roman history in which it is stated that when the Huns overran the region of the river Don they brought this practice with them. This was about the year A. D. 370. Since then the practice has obtained in Hungary until the present time, and has been in extensive use for many years in Germany and France. The first mention of ensilage and the first pictorial illustration in America was published in the American Agriculturist in 1873. Dr. Bailey, of Massachusetts, became one of the first enthusiastic siloist, and wrote a book on the practice which, although thought extravagant at the time, is very mild as compared with our present experience. We owe our present practice of sweet silage to the English, from whom Prof. Miles, of the Michigan college, borrowed the idea, but he was the first to introduce it into America.

The Most Corrupt.

We take the following extract from the Mankato Herald; Comments without number are being made upon the fact that Senator Washburn is reported to have said to a New York reporter that the last Minnesota legislature was the most corrupt he had ever seen or heard of. It is generally conceded that the senator's remark was ill-advised and untimely. If he had said that his opponents, by the lavish use of money, had corrupted a large number of the members, but that there were enough honest men in the body to elect him, or that the corruption which he referred to did not apply to the senatorial contest, he would have stood in a better light before the world to-day. His remark leaves it to be inferred that the whole body was corrupt, including his friends as well as his enemies. The senator's knowledge of legislative corruption must have been closely connected with the senatorial fight and he leaves it to be inferred that that is the particular event about which he is talking, and that if the whold body was corrupt he must have had a hand in making it so. If he had said that the unsuccessful minority were corrupt it would have been different. This is another case of man's ingratitude to his creditors. The men who made a U. S. Senator of Gen. Washburn performed a thankless task. They are looked upon by him to-day with scorn and contempt. As between Sabin and Washburn we were glad when Washburn was elected, but we always thought that it would have been better to have gone outside of the list of railroad presidents, outside of the state prison city, and outside of Minneapolis and St. Paul for a U. S. Senator. Washburn is not in sympathy with the masses of our people and he cannot be. He has not been in touch with them and knows nothing about them. When the people learn to place their confidence in those whom they have known and understood, they will fare better than they do now. When it comes to be regarded as an honor to be alected to office, and not as an evidence of good financiering, when honor and ability, instead of money count in the political scale the senatorial contests will not be confined to such men as Washburn.

Clean Grain.

N. J. S. in Prairie Farmer.

It is not always possible to clean grain as well as it should be with the thresher. Many times it may be done, provided everything is all right—the grain dry, the wind in the right direction, the machine in good repair, and properly managed. But it is often the case that some of these conditions will not be fulfilled, and the consequence is that more or less of the grain will not be cleaned as it should be before sending to market. Good clean, sound, plump grain always sells at the highest prices, and in a majority of cases the difference in the price that it is possible to secure will pay well for the work of cleaning.

As a rule, in marketing almost any kind of product, it will be found a good plan to take pains to have it in such condition that it will not only sell readily, but at the best possible price. Of course it will cost less to have it cleaned in threshing, yet as this is not always possible, the next best plan is to be prepared to clean whatever necessary, rather than to send any grain to market not properly cleaned.

It is true the miller or warehouseman can clean, but it will usually cost him fully as much as the farmer, and in buying he intends, if possible, to pay a price that will enable him to realize a fair profit for the work; and in a majority of cases this profit the farmer can make in the better price he can secure for his products. It is when the price of products is low that all reasonable care should be taken to receive the best price, and with small grain especially, one important item in doing this is to send to market clean. If the thresher cleans it properly, it will be best; but if not, the fanning mill should be used, and care taken to remove all the trash and other seeds. Much that is taken out can be used for feed. At least it is better to leave upon the farm than to send to market with the grain, lowering the price of all in order to dispose of a small quantity of trash.

A Forage Crop Easily Handled.

Prairie Farmer.

O. E. Mose, in an address before the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, said: The need of the hour is a forage crop that can be harvested and handled by machinery; that will be as valuable as a good crop of timothy, clover, millet, or corn fodder, and during the same year furnished a growth to be plowed under of equal value to a good crop of clover, millet, or buckwheat; a crop that takes from the free air and sunlight and gives to the soil. Such a crop is found in the earlier varieties of sorghum or sugar cane. Sown broadcast early in April, on ordinary prairie land, it is ready to cut in July, and will furnish from three to five tons of choicest forage to the acre. Another growth at once starts from the stubble, and is ready for the mower or reaper by the middle of September, with an equal or better yield than the first, or better still, is ready for the plow—to be turned under to invigorate the soil.

In case of a shortage in pasture, stock can be turned upon it for a month's feeding and still have a good growth to be plowed under. By its use, grass lands can be exempted from occupation during the extreme dry season, when close feeding has such fatal effect. It has another advantage—that of absolute certainty, It is drouth proof. By its use profitable dairying is made possible throughout the entire year. It brings forage, pasture and fertilizer from the same ground at one plowing and seeding. So I say to you, sow sorghum; feed it, and laugh while your land and stock grow fat.

The Twine Agitation.

The Western Rural.

The letters that we are receiving from all over the west show how determined the people are to crush the outrageous attempt that has been made to overcharge the farmers for twine. The twine people and those papers that are backing them may say as much as they like about the movement not amounting to anything and declare as often as they like that they are in receipt of letters from grain growers, in which they express their belief that there is no twine trust as often as they choose. But The Western Rural has the unimpeachable evidence right at its hands to prove that they are not telling the truth. It would be mighty interesting reading for those fellows if The Rural should publish some of the letters it receives upon this matter. It would require the entire space of The Rural to publish the letters that denounce the gang that are trying to force twine upon the grain grower. We have not thought it advisable, so far, to give publicity to these letters, but it is exceedingly encouraging to us to receive them. As we have sometimes before said, we have never had so much encouragement as we have had in this fight. From almost the beginning the conspirators have been shaking. They endeavored to stem the current by sending forth circulars and hiring some of the newspapers to blind the farmer to the actual truth. They induced some bitter assaults upon The Rural for its position and tried to be generally as mean as they knew how to be. But all of it availed them nothing. The farmers went right on with their opposition to the fraud, and the more the twine people and their friends blustered, the more solid became the farmers' opposition.

Recently there has been quite a change in their attitude. They have stopped sending out lying circulars; they have quit belching forth great quantities of sophistry; their papers have stopped abusing The Rural, and all that we can learn that the crowd is doing at present, is issuing the simple statement that they have twine for sale, if anybody wants to buy it. The limited demand for twine is conclusively shown in the fact that one dealer has been advertising a small quantity for weeks and cannot get rid of it; and this dealer claims to be selling it at actual cost, too. The fact is that the business has found itself in deep water, and the water is rising all the time. It is not to be wondered at that the twine trade should take the stand it does in regard to selling twine, considering the selfishness of the human race. But it is amazing that any farmer or farm paper should take sides with the trade. If we are to believe the arguments which these people have put forth, there is not only now a shortage of sisal and manilla, but that shortage must grow greater and greater, for we have been told that the growers are so shiftless that nothing will induce them to grow a larger quantity. Then it must follow that the price of twine will go higher every year. Still in the face of all that the papers that have been doing all that lay in their power to bolster up the twine trade and to encourage the sale of twine have been practically saying to the farmer week after week: "It is your duty to submit." It is a monstrous position to take.

Then let us take another line of argument that these fellows have advanced. They say that one reason why the price of twine is high, is because there is no trust, and each manilla and sisal buyer has been bidding against all the rest. Well, there can be only one thing that can prevent such competition; and that is a combination or trust. If that is not formed next year the wild buying will go on and prices will be higher than ever. Yet the farmer is urged to submit. It is either sheer idiocy or clear cut dishonesty that will prompt a man to take such a position. But the people knew too much not to know that that they would gain nothing if a trust was organized. Trusts are not formed to benefit the people, and it is an insult to the intelligence of the farmer to tell him that part of his troubles are due to the fact that there is no trust. It will require much better argument than has yet been advanced to convince the intelligent farmer that there is no twine trust. He knows a thing or two and he knows a mountain from a mole hill.

What About the Silo?

John Gould, in American Agriculturist.

That there should be some advance made in silo knowledge, is not surprising, when some fifteen thousand wide-awake farmers in this country are each constituting himself as the director of an experiment station, to find out for himself how much new can be chanced upon and yet score success. The wooden silo has proved its claims as a superior receptacle for the preservation of silage, as it is not only less costly, but a better non-conductor of heat, and therefore more easily made frost proof; all of which means a more uniform temperature for the silage, and the nearer approach to the ideal sweet silage. There is some question about the walls of the wooden silo, whether to have them two boards thick, with tarred paper between, or of one thickness of matched lumber thoroughly painted with hot asphaltum. The one can be constructed with cheap, cull pine lumber, the other must have good, well-matched flooring, or an air-tight wall cannot be secured. Some hold that it is yet better to lath and plaster the interior of the silo to make it durable. Others insist that they get even a better wall by painting with hot gas tar, in which some resin is melted, or the use of the hard finish asphaltum paints.

It is settled that perfect development of the corn plant is essential to the making of good silage. Their planting and the formation of ears are, therefore, insisted upon, as is also allowing the corn to stand until the kernels have begun to enter the glazed condition before cutting for the silo. This fully developed corn, charged with plant juices, on the verge of maturity when put in the silo, does not undergo the extreme ferment incident to corn fodder less mature, and only develops lactic acid in a mild degree. The other, with its juices less charged with starch and sugar juices, passes in the silo into a more advanced stage of ferment, that shows traces of acetic acid. It is now shown that corn had best be allowed to stand uncut until wanted, and then put into the silo without the usual two days' wilting. The wilting is only to reduce weight, but with more mature fodder, this water means food value, and wilting fodder involves increased cost of cutting, as it requires more power, is not cut as perfectly and it cannot be shown to be in any way better or even as good silage as unwilted and more mature fodder.

With fodder of proper maturity the work of silo filling can be "rushed" along and the necessity of allowing each day's filling to heat to 125° is obviated. When the silo is full it is allowed to stand uncovered for four or even five days to heat and throw out the air, when it is covered and sweet silage can be confidently expected. Where there are two pits, one may be filled, then the other. The first will have settled, when it can be again filled to the top, and attention then can be paid to No. 2.

It was demonstrated last year that any amount of rain upon silage fodder before going into pits will not injure it or cause any increase of acidity. Last fall thousands of loads of fodder dripping with rain, went into the pits, but the silage showed no evil effects from it, nor did a frost near the close of silo filling work any noticeable injury to the silage. It was also found that tramping is not to be encouraged until after twenty-four hours, when the silage has begun to wilt. Then it is only of benefit along the walls to assist in making it settle. Many cases of silage spoiling along the walls result from tramping when fresh cut, as it expels the air to an extent which prevents it from taking on heat and wilting along the walls as fast as in the center. Instead of keeping the silo about level when filling, it is better to keep it the highest along the walls, and thus get an even distribution of the grain without the necessity of keeping a man in the pits all the time.

A cover to the silo, or weights, are wholly unnecessary. The silos in this region that had no covers of any sort did not show more surface waste of silage than those covered with paper, boards or sawdust. Only two or three inches of silage molded where no surface protection was used. The two or three inches of white mold made an air-tight cover that afforded all the protection needed. The silos covered with a foot of dry straw, well tread down, showed the least loss of any. Those who covered closely and weighted report the greatest loss. There is no more necessity of weighting a silo than of putting two hundred pounds per square foot on a potato heap.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

WANTED.

A partner with $1,000 capital to establish a summer resort on Maple Lake. I have one of the finest sites, a house nearly big enough and it only needs the capital to develop it to make the nicest resort on the Lake. Any party wishing to invest will find it largely to his advantage to call and see my place, or address me at Mentor, Minn.

[8-tf] M. ROOD

Found.

Near Beltrami, a spring overcoat which owner can have by paying for this advertisement. S. B. PALMER,

[8-10] Lockhart, Minn.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BRON, Prop's.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE,
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
AT BOTTOM PRICES.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

—OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:—

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

—ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.—

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)

Fournet Block
Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

☞ See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $25, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUCHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY,

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 27, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, 1 Hard, 73.

Newton Beers again to-night.

A real live circus for July 10th.

See ad elsewhere of the State University.

The racers are becoming numerous in the land.

Rain is still one of the great needs of this country.

Give Harry Attix, the 5th ward grocer, a trial order.

Call at THE JOURNAL office for your inspection blanks.

Everybody and his family will be in on the ever glorious.

A little rain on Tuesday improves the prospects somewhat.

Wm. Cunningham lost a valuable horse on Monday night.

Drop in at F. E. Hertz & Co's and sample an ice cream soda.

Mrs. F. L. Durand has gone to Wisconsin on a visit to friends.

A. L. Burrows, of Grand Forks, was at the St. Louis on Monday.

H. S. Akerman was about the streets on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Geo. Bucknam has returned from her sad journey below.

Headquarters for flags, fire works and all 4th of July goods, at Herb's.

J. P. Rolph, of Red Lake Falls, is stopping at the St. Louis this week.

Johnstown, Pa., is doubly afflicted. What the flood left the fire destroyed.

The city board of review commenced its work on the morning of the 24th inst.

Col. Cobham post sends represen tatives to the re-union at Detroit this week.

Hon. Lars M. Rand, of Minneapolis, will deliver the Fourth of July oration at Fosston.

Attorney P. C. Schmidt and city clerk John Paterson, went down to Fertile last week.

R. W. Mathews, travelling for Brown, Dorell & Co., Boston, was in the city on Tuesday.

Theo. Holton, of Larimore, a Becker County old-timer, was in the city on Saturday last.

Wm. Wylia was down from Wylia this week. Says rain is much needed in his locality.

Mentor extends a cordial invitation to everybody to come up and celebrate the 4th on the lake.

Mexican Sherbit, Birch Beer, Milk Shake, or any mild summer drink always on tap at Herb's.

Everybody likes Newton Beers. That is why his presence in the city always draws a crowd.

Henry Peterson and Will have bought a new buggy and a neat harness for their grey trotters.

Ira DeCamp, the handsome chief clerk of the new Columbia, at Fargo, spent the Sabbath in the city.

Henry Peterson was down from Fosston to spend the Sabbath with his brother Will and other friends.

Calhoun is rushing his grading contract and Mike Leguee says: "Pretty quick I will be living right in the city!"

A. E. McManus graduated at the Ann Arbor Law School on June 25th. We were too busy to accept an invitation to be present.

Saake, the jeweler, returned Sunday morning from Barnesville, where he has been for a few days. Reports having had a good time.

Prof. W. F. Hitchcock is assisting County Superintendent Elliot in his field labors. The Prof. is on deck wherever you put him.

Mine host Bemis has added two or three feet to the sidewalk fronting the Commercial Hotel, on Broadway, which is a great improvement.

It will pay you to examine Herb's 4th of July supplies.

Pete Cornelius says that Hans Peterson is a dandy sailor. The way he sails a boat in a big breeze is a caution and a terror to a landsman.

M. G. Peterson was up from Garden on Tuesday. Says the crops need rain very badly. Thinks they have not had as much rain as we have.

A Mr. Waterman was brought before Com. George on Monday on a charge of selling whisky to the Indians. He was bound over in the sum of $250.

Dr. Just left on Sunday evening to attend the American Institute of Homeopathy held at Minnetonka this week. The Dr. will take a much needed rest.

I have purchased my partner's interes in the butcher shop on Robert street. I will carry a choice stock of fresh and salt meats. Call and see me.

R. M. DAUSER.

John L. Hanson and Ed. Jorgenson were among the party to Maple Lake.

Pete Cornelius says J. H. Locken is no good for a sailor. He gets seasick too quick.

Reports from the crops this week are conflicting; some claiming an average while others report extensive damage. The next two weeks will doubtless tell the story.

Newton Beers at the Opera House.

When you desire any kind of a summer drink don't fail to call on Herb.

The Daisy fly catcher, found only at Dr. Van Dyke's. Will says they beat the Hallock club catching flys.

The Prof. Thompson place on Robert street is being fixed up for occupancy. We are told that a restaurant will be put in.

The ladies of St. Mary's church will have an ice cream booth at Huggard, Larsen & Co.'s old stand on Broadway and Robert on the 4th.

C. M. Lowe may be seen at the office of Wm. Watts, on Broadway, in relation to any matter concerning the late firm of Huggard, Larsen & Co.

D. L. Lusian succeeds to the business of Peter Gothia, on Main street. Mr. Lusian was for a long time in the employ of Mr. G. and fully understands the business.

The Governor has appointed John Cromb, C. G. Rapp and I. I. Hillestad, commissioners to investigate the matter of seed wheat bought by commissioner Johnson.

August Peterson, of Andover, had a valuable horse cut badly on a wire fence this week. Doctor Leguee was called, who sewed up the rents and the horse is now doing nicely.

L. W. Larsen, of the firm of Huggard, Larsen & Co., is now agent for I. P. Staid, with headquarters at Devil's Lake, N. D. He left on Tuesday's train to take charge of the business.

Crookston will celebrate the Fourth in old-fashioned style. Knock off from the busy cares of life for one day, give the boys and girls a rest and all hands come to town and enjoy the festivities of the occasion.

F. J. Thoe, representative from Dodge County, was in the city Tuesday. He is making his first trip in the Red River Valley and is much pleased with the country. Thinks our crops look better than those in the south part of the state.

Eli Lariviere, who has been clerking for Max Ericsson ever since Pete Bauchemin left, has made arrangements to go into business for himself at Thief River Falls. Eli is an A 1 boy, and the wish of his many friends here is: "Get there, Eli!"

Harry Attix, the Fifth ward groceryman, has thoroughly renovated his store, re-papered and re-painted throughout. He is doing a big city trade and can fill all orders that come. He invites a trial. Order in person or by card.

John Cornell, from the town of Knute, was brought before Judge Ives on Monday, charged with cutting timber on Government land. No evidence appearing to sustain the charge, he was discharged.

This week opinions differ in regard to crops. Some predict a dismal failure, while others say we shall harvest the usual average. We guess the fact is we shall have some good wheat and some pretty poor.

Jos. Le Blanc has bought out Epton's interest in the Broadway meat market and will run the business alone. That popular market will loose none of its popularity as Joe is prepared to keep it up to the top notch.

Hon. H. Steenerson went over to Grand Forks this morning to attend an important suit H. Thompson and Marcus Johnson has in relation to some wheat. From there he goes to St. Paul to attend a suit in Supreme Court.

Mrs. Hathwaway is prepared to do plain sewing of all kinds at reasonable rates; will also make boys' clothing. Give me a trial. Apply at residence, across R. R. track, near brewery, or address by postal and work will be called for.

C. A. Severance, junior partner of the law firm of Davis, Kellogg & Severance, St. Paul, was married yesterday to Miss Mary Frances Harriman, at Cottage Grove. Geo. J. McManus went down Sunday evening to be best man for the haypy occasion.

Robt. Reed, from the Rosseau country, was brought before U. S. Commissioner George on Monday, charged with selling liquor to the Indians. He was bound over to the U. S. court in the sum of $250. Reed is said to be an ex-Methodist preacher.

On Saturday night all of Chris. Houston's geese and turkeys were killed, and several calves severely cut up, by being chased into the wire fence. Chris. says it is the work of dogs and that he has loaded his rifle to the muzzle ready for their next nocturnal visit.

J. B. Roome was out in the town of Knute last week on a fishing trip and succeeded in taking in a number of the finny beauties and had a good time generally. He reports that all the grain he saw was in very bad shape and the recent rain will hardly make a full crop of it.

Nick Supernault, who lost his barn by fire about three weeks ago, narrowly escaped losing his house and contents Sunday last. Fire caught in the second story from a defective chimney. The Fifth Ward boys caught on in fine shape with the pop machine and saved the house.

Frank Brown returned on Thursday last from a pleasure trip to Butte, Helena and Great Falls, very much improved in health. He thinks the scenery magnificent. Their grass is suffering severely from drouth and much apprehension is felt. He considers that country only fit for stock and mining.

THE BALL GAME.

On Tuesday afternoon a large concourse of our people went out to the ball grounds to see the matched game between Hallock and Crookston. Geo. Winne was chosen to umpire the game, which resulted as follows:

SCORE.

Crookston.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Stewart	1	1	0	1	1		00		0
Lawler	1	0	0	1	0		1	0
McGlogan	1	1		0	1		1	1
McKinzie	1	1	0	2	1		1	0
Bugg		1	0	1	0		1
Graves	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	0
Hunt	0	0		1		0	1		0
Clery	0	0		1	1	0	0
Benoit	1			1	1	0			0
Total	5	5	0	9	6	1	6	1	0—38

Hallock.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Carr	0		0			0		0
Harding	0					0		1
Smith	0					0
O'Connell		0	0	0			0	0
Ingals		0		0			0		0
Long				0			0		1
Benson		0			0				0
Cowan		0			0			0	0
Suffel					0			1
Total	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	1—3

FLIES.

Geo. Winne is a dandy umpire.

And Bugg is not so slow when he gets in a good fair bat. The fielders were somewhere this side of Red Lake Falls and they would generally muff the sphere.

Graves' best hold is a long grounder to the left—a three-base hit. He makes a dandy pitcher also.

Crookston need not be ashamed of that kind of ball playing, especially when the boys have played together no more than this nine has. They made some excellent moves and played together excellently well.

The Hallock boys are no slouches, but they met foemen worthy of their bats.

Hallock's catcher, Carr, made a first base by taking the ball on the left temple—a risky play but a neat one.

Everybody turned out to see the ball game.

Rev. Fr. Lawler seems perfectly at home on the diamond. He has played ball before.

Dr. Demars, of Hallock, was down to see the game. He seemed as full of life and vigor as a kid.

Al. Suffel makes a fine appearance on the diamond—and he does some pretty good hard work, too.

We heard everybody outside remark: "I could have done better myself."

H. F. Brown presented the Hallock club with a box of selects.

While the Hallock boys lost the game, they won the high opinion of our citizens by their gentlemanly deportment while among us and the manly way in which they can take defeat, the more marked because it is a new experience for them.

The game had hardly started before Pitcher Graves, of the Crookston club, started Cromb and Stephens around on a collection tour to defray the expenses of the Hallock club. Enough money for the purpose was raised right on the ground.

O. L. Larson got in from Fosston just in time to learn the score.

Come to think of it Jack McGlogan is a dandy on a sky scraper. When he gently caressed the sphere with the bat, the other fellows began to search the clouds for it—and they generlly found it there.

Fireworks for the Fourth.

Herb has them in endless variety and profusion. See his stock.

Newton Beers will appear again to-night with an entire change of program.

The famous indictment case against Mayor Brown comes to naught. That is what we thought. It is hard to indict a man for doing nothing.

H. E. Wold was in from Winger this week enjoying city life with his many friends. He says that the future of crops in the 13 is problematical.

You might know that I. U. Jennings has gone to Norwalk, Ohio by the way that "Max" is running about wild. "When the cat's away the mice will play."

W. B. Nickles was in from Beltrami on Monday. He says that he considers the crop in a critical state. Plenty of rain might develop a fair yield, but without that the prospects appear dubious. There are some crops that indicate a good average and some that look very much the worse for the character of the weather.

W. H. Jewell, ("Duke" as he is familiarly called,) came in from Grand Forks on Monday evening and left for Barnesville on Tuesday evening. He will in future run between Barnesville and Grand Forks. Duke says in all his travels he has found no better place than Crookston. "There's no place like Crookston," he says.

The Star Bashaw colts are coming to the front in good shape. It is rather early to give a definite opinion as they are all youngsters as yet, but they show signs of great things. Every one who has one is willing to swear by him. They will make a record on the turf hereafter, as soon as they fully develope what is in them.

Conductor Sands was out on the streets on Monday astride a noble steed of the broncho persuasion. Opinions were about equally divided as to whether Casper was breaking the animal for the saddle, or whether the horse was trying to teach Casper how to ride. When Casper would approach a crowd and sing out: "tickets," it was comical to watch the crowd.

WALLACE & Co's

THREE-RING CIRCUS

Museum, Menagerie, Wild West and Roman Hippodrome.

Crookston, July 10th.

PROF. W. W. McEWAN,

Famous throughout Europe and America for his numberless Thrilling Ascensions and Scientific Discoveries, and who will make daily

A GRAND TRIP TO THE CLOUDS

Leaving his swiftly flying mammoth aerial engine when it shall have reached its greatest attainable height the daring aeronaut will make a thrilling and percipitious

Descent to the Earth!

Aided alone by his ingeniously constructed parachute, amid the plaudits of the thousands of breathless and awed spectators,

WILL REACH THE GROUND IN SAFETY.

This marvelous achievement has been very frequently attempted by other aeronauts, but it has never been successfully and safely accomplished except by Prof. McEwan.

Come to Town Early and See this Thrilling Spectacle of a lifetime.

Crookston, Wednesday, July 10th.

Flags for the Fourth.

Herb has millions of them. Any size; lowest prices.

Quite a number of Crookstonites spent Sunday at Maple Lake. Among them were E. W. Wile, P. C. Schmidt, Dr. Dunlop, D. Jacobus, J. H. Creighton, A. C. Schmidt, H. Murray, Al. Sargeant, M. B. Hayes, Will Van Dyke, John Locken, D. Hatlestad, Peter Cornelius and Hans Peterson. The boys report having had a very enjoyable time.

The entertainment given by Prof. Brewer, at the Opera House, on Thursday evening of last week, was well attended and highly enjoyed by all lovers of music. At the close a vote of thanks was tendered manager Rapin for the free use of the hall. Mr. R. has taken great pains to add to the comfort of the patrons of the house and to provide entertainments, and is deserving of much credit.

E. T. Seiverson, representing Mons Anderson, one of the oldest and most successful business men of La Crosse, was in the city on Thursday last, leaving for St. Hilaire on Friday morning. Mr. S. is one of the earliest settlers of the Red River Valley, coming in '70 or '71. In the old Fargo boom times he was one of those leading spirits who did so much to make the name of "Fargo" a household word all over the world. He has not forgotten how to rustle yet and whoever gets away with him must get up in the morning.

On Monday, afternoon, as a JOURNAL reporter was looking about for locals, a team, which had been left unhitched while the driver could go into the express office a minute, started off on a slow walk. Soon finding out that they had no driver, they mended their pace to a trot, then to a dead run. About the time the wool began to fly pretty lively and the prospects for a good local were A 1, Jake Francis, who had been sitting in front of Gothia's old stand bewailing the lack of business, ran out, and, catching the off horse by the bit, stopped the whole business, thus spoiling a first-class item, for had the team kept on distributing mill wood the way they commenced the probability is that somebody would have got hurt, the wagon wrecked and the team destroyed—maybe.

Tennessee Watermelons.

A carload of this festive fruit will arrive by Saturday for Herb's customers.

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue. Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

Last week E. C. Davis took a trip to Grand Forks, thence to Red Lake Falls, Fertile, Winnipeg Junction, Glyndon, Ada and home again. On the trip he paid particular attention to the condition of the crops, and says that in all his experience in this country he has never seen an outlook so poor. It is his opinion that the yield will not exceed that of last year.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

The Grand Forks daily Plaindealer issued a 20 page special edition last week, given to booming this Northwest in general and Grand Forks County in particular. It is built on the plan of those boom editions that the St. Paul dailies sometimes get up and is certainly a credit to the Plaindealer, as it is the best of the kind ever attempted outside of the great cities. The Plaindealer deserves to make a good thing out of the venture.

The Coming of a Great Show.

Among the multitude of traveling exhibitions, none have won a fairer name and fame than Wallace & Co.'s Great World's Menagerie and International three-ring circus, which is to be in Crookston on Wednesday July 10th. This show not only presents all it advertises, which is a commendable feature in itself, but what it does present and advertise is of the best. It advertises to, and will draw largely during its visit here.

Harry, the Fifth ward groceryman is a rustler from Rustlerville. He has worked up a trade extending west to Devils Lake; north to St. Vincent, northeast to St. Hilaire, east to Fosston and intermediate points and is now reaching out for all points between here and St. Paul. If hard work and indomitable good nature will win Harry will get there with both feet. Give him a trial order.

On Monday, as the St. Hilaire train was pulling out, a young lady, who had been taking leave of friends, delayed her departure too long and when at last she jumped the train was under good headway, and she jumped the wrong way—toward the rear end of the train. The result was that she turned several involuntary sommersaults before she struck a perpendicular, but fortuuately received no injuries beyond a few scratches.

I. Fortier returned from a trip to Helena and Great Falls on Friday night. Says business is pretty fair though the drouth interferes with placer mining and the country is over-run with laboring men out of employment. He says the new hotel being built by the R. R. Co., at Helena is a big thing and the plunge bath, 145 by 300 ft., in connection therewith is a stunner. His conclusion of the whole matter is: "Crookston is good enough for me."

A great deal of mawkish sympathy is just now being wasted over the "cruel fate" of the Younger brothers but we see nothing said in relation to the cruel fate of their victims, and great efforts are being made to pardon Bob who is said to be in failing health. We do not feel vindictive in this matter at all but laws are made for a purpose; the Younger boys well knew what the consequences were before they entered upon their lawless course and have no one but themselves to blame for their "cruel fate." Could their pardon return to life their victims we should heartily second the motion for pardon but their action has placed those victims beyond all human aid and for good of society they should pay the full penalty. That their crimes richly deserved death no one questioned when they were caught and but for defective laws they would have had their deserts.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

One Fare for the Round Trip.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway will sell tickets on July 2d, 3d and 4th, good to return up to July 5th, (inclusive) between all local points within a distance of three hundred miles, at one fare for the round trip.

All particulars on application to the Company's agents.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

1776 GRAND 1889

Fourth of July Celebration

—AT—

MENTOR AND ON MAPLE LAKE,

JULY 4TH, 1889.

The exercises will consist of BALL PLAYING, HORSE RACING, and various games in the morning at Mentor; in the afternoon BOAT-RACING ON THE LAKE, a PICNIC in Date's Grove, and a DANCE in the Evening. Also a

GRAND DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS.

Come One, Come All,

And have a good time with us.

BY ORDER OF COM.

UNTIL FURTHER

NOTICE!

ALLL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS

GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted

GENUINE

SLATER

FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED

Fast Colors,

OR MONEY

Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE KIND IN THE

NORTHWEST.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Wallace & Co's Great Big Show.

New Florence, Pa., News: A few days since we (in common parlance) "took in" Wallace & Co's Show, and of it we can truly say that it is the peer of any on the road. The street parade was simply immense, and the stock the finest we have ever seen, once within the canvas we realized that we were to see all and more than they advertised. Their actors are "Stars." The proprietors are gentlemen in every way and their employees must be such. Large crowds greet them everywhere and it must be a satisfaction to the management to know that they fully merit the success with which they are meeting.

The July Wide Awake has many strong, timely features, notably two especially American. One is Miss Seward's "Fourth of July at Robert College"—the American college in Constantinople, a seed-bed of American ideas in Europe; the other is Mrs. Burton Harrison's "The Republican Court," in which she gives portraits and charming little biographies of eighteen of the prominent young society women who were in General Washington's circle of friends, Mrs. Washington herself leading the train. These portraits are from the celebrated Baltimore porcelains—an heirloom which ex-Mayor Hodges of that city has "founded" for his descendants; the eighteen plaques form the wall decoration of his dining-room. "Mademoiselle Papa" is a touching little tale from the French, translated by Miss Virginia Champlin who, it will be remembered, met a fate quite as sudden and terrible as death from an explosion in the mines described in this story. There is a thrilling story of another French child in this number, "The Child Knight of Boufllers," written by Madame Cramer Bernhard, a niece of General Grant. "How Patty earned her Salt," by Walter Colby, is quite a perfect little story. "Cuck-oo!" by Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey, gives her own acquaintance of this haunting English bird. "Five Little Peppers Further On," the Margaret Sidney serial, relates some startling experiences of little Phronsie Pepper, at which everybody will be indignant. "Sybil Fair's Fairness," by Charles R. Talbot, is very interesting. Mrs. General Fremont writes graphically of her "Sierra Neighbors" in early California days. Mrs. Clara Doty Bates has a delightful contribution, the best thing in amusing verse for children which has appeared for some time, "The Monkey and the Camel," illustrated by Garrett. There are also many other bright things in verse and picture. Mrs. Sallie Joy White's "Public School Cooking," Mrs. Goddard Orpen's diamond paper, Mr. Warren's "Fishing with a Bottle," Prof. Starr's "Geological Talk," and plenty of original anecdotes and entertaining "short talks" in "Men and Things." Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston, Mass.

AN ORDINANCE.

The City Council of the city of Crookston do ordain.

That all salaried officers of the city of Crookston be paid on the ninth day of each month their monthly salary then due, on making proof of the amount then owing.

Dated June 11th, 1889.

Ayes—Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Watts, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Jennings, Watts.

Nays—None.

The ordinance was declared carried unanimously.

Passed by the City Council June 11th, 1889.

Wm. Watts,
President of Council.

Approved June 12th, 1889.

James W. Lilly,
Mayor.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

Partnership Dissolved.

Crookston, Minn., June 22, 1889.

The partnership existing between the undersigned, as Huggard, Larsen & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. M. Lowe will collect all notes and accounts due the said firm and pay all debts due.

Office with Wm. Watts, Attorney, on Broadway.

David Huggard.
L. W. Larsen.
[10-12] C. M. Lowe.

Partnership Dissolved.

Crookston, Minn., June 22, 1889.

The partnership existing between the undersigned as Lowe & Huggard is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. M. Lowe will collect all notes and accounts due the said firm and pay all debts due.

Office with Wm. Watts, Attorney, on Broadway.

C. M. Lowe,
[10-12] David Huggard.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs.
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] Lee & Herrick.

THE UNIVERSITY

OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

TUITION IS FREE,

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889.

Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP, L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

LIST OF LETTERS.

List of advertised letters in the P. O. Crookston for the week, ending June 24th, 1889. Persons calling for any of these letters will please say "advertised."

Amli, Clara
Anderson, Albin
Aalson, Andrew
Burnecaue, L
Brewer, H
Chersier, Coane
Dillon, Vina M
Dalton, J H
Gaston, Robert
Holten, Emily
Frances, Robert S
Jacobette, Jake
Janson, Mr
Mathewson, Mr
Sarbra, Annie
Stone, Celia
Zales, J B

Alex McKinnon, P. M.

The Rural Brother too Green.

St. Paul Herald: We have more politicians in the Fourth district that must be "taken care" of than the rest of the state has. You fellows in the country are very ungrateful, very. You should all be thankful that you are living, and let the politicians of our of our district alone. Look at the live stock inspectors we give you country fellows. When the "inspection on the hoof" law was passed we might have so drawn that bill that none but Fourth district inspectors should be appointed. But we, us Fourth district politicians, desired to deal fairly with the boys from the country, and left every inspectorship open to them. And after all this display of denercsity on our part, you men in the country are kicking over a governor, a couple of U. S. senators, and a few other little officers. It cost our men all the way from $50,000 to $200,000 to surprise themselves with a notice that they have been elected to the U. S. senate. The "hoof" inspector up in Mille Lacs County, where Bob Dunn lives, gets ten cents per inspection and his appointment doesn't cost him a cent. And yet you fellows will kick. The twin city politicians are your friends, but you don't seem to catch on.

MARRIED.

HOFFMANN—WEISS.—In this city, by Justice Spendley, Mr. Constanten Hoffmann to Miss Magdalena Weiss, both of Marshall County, Minn.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$300,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston. Minn., June 21st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: R. W. BROWN, D. S. 11,050, for the ne¼ Sec. 8, Tp 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. M. Benson, John Olson, T. Jolly, Peter Toupin, all of Mentor, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

10-151 H. H. Dickmann, Register.

GO TO

Collins'

Stable

And see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

This famous Stallion can show, more good able-bodied trotting colts than any horse ever brought to Polk County. He is now owned by Crookston parties and will make the season at Collin's stable. If you like a good horse go and see this one.

For Sale or Rent.

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office.

[10-tf]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1883 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2,) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 229 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 20th A. D. 1889.

The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited,)
Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[10-16] Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon. Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price, Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Bessie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.—————, pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets. at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 8:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
8:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:45 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call.
Terms $1. Yours truly,
RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN
[32-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency,)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JUNE 27, 1889.

Grand Forks Hearld: Col. Bemis of Crookston was in the city today. The Colonel tells us that bath rooms have been added to the Commercial and other alterations that have greatly improved and benefitted the make up of this already popular house. We ourselves can vouch for the excellency of the menu—first class and plenty of it. Call again Colonel.

Would Keep Sheep.

Connecticut Farmer: On Monday there was a large number of granger teams at the railroad station waiting to load. I counted eight dogs with them. Most of their owners want to keep a dog, and when I ask if any keep sheep, they say they will keep sheep as soon as the State will pass a law that will make every owner of a dog keep him on his own land.

To Build More Elevators.

St. Paul Daily News.

DULUTH, June 15.—Mr. Martin, representing a big English, Canadian and American syndicate, is in Duluth for the purpose of looking over grain elevators and noting facilities in this respect. His company will build a system of elevators in Manitoba, twelve this year, and they will be run exclusively for the American trade. They will be built along the Manitoba and Northern Pacific lines, north from Pembina, Dak., each having a capacity of 30,000 bushels. Minneaplis is also to receive a portion of this grain. The yield of wheat in Manitoba this year will be fully 20,000,000 bushels, says Mr. Martin, 5,000,000 grater than last year.

Price of Binding Twine.

Farm, Stock and Home: How do those who refused to believe there was such a thing as a twine trust reconcile the present condition of the market with the early claims of the twine makers? It was said that the price of twine would have to go to 20 cents, possibly 25, and because of the scarcity and consequent high price of raw material. But the demands of the twine makers have been gradually mellowing since, and it is now quite likely that twine this year will be but little, if any, above the average of the past four years? Is it possible that the shrewd trust makers were misinformed and victimized by the reports of short crops of manilla and sisal? Were they deceived regarding the available quantity of raw material when they sent out agents to stealthily buy up all the last year's binding twine in sight? May be they have discovered some hitherto unknown source of supply, and so have found that raw material is not so scarce and high as they feard (?) it was to be. If twine makers expected the country to belive their statements they should have kept up the price of twine at all hazzards; as it was, we very much fear that the country at large will ultimately have the same opinion of their veracity that Farm, Stock and Home has always had.

Marshall County Leader: Last Saturday the long talked of Post of the G. A. R. was duly organized, having 14 charter members. The post was mustered by comrade O. H. Lucken, of Crookston, assisted by comrade Zarracher, of Crookston. The citizens of Stephen and vicinity turned out en masse, including a large delegation from Kittson county, and the scene was one of gaiety and festivity througnout the day. After the installation of officers at Odd Fellows hall the people adjourned to the McMahan hall where the old solders, entertained them with speeches and toasts, interspersed by music from glee club and cornet band. In Odd Fellows hall, at 7,30, a superb supper was pertaken of, free to all; after which the young people gathered at McMahan's hall and kept time to music's chime, and "all went merry as a marriage-bell" till the clock struck twelve. Much credit is due the old soldiers for their successful effort and the day will long be remembered by both old and young.

Why Farmers are Prosperous.

Farm Stock and Home.

To prove that farmers are prosperous, and that farming is a money making business, an astute writer recently proclaimed that the last year's corn crop in Iowa was sufficiently valuable to pay off the entire farm indebtedness of the state, and left the inference that by this time the crop must have been sold and the debt paid. It evidently never occurred to the astute writer that the only portion of the corn crop which could be utilized in paying debts was the net profit made on it; it probably never occurred to him that it cost the farmer a cent to raise the crop, a lapse of thought, however, which afflicts nearly all astute writers on agricultural subjects. Such fellows evidently think that farmer's clothes consist of balmy zephyrs, their food of the chameleon's dish—air, that implements drop from heaven, that store bills are myths, and interest money only a more or less troublesome dream; at lest, they never seem to regard the cost of growing crops and stock when they are penning their panegyrics and platitudes about the profitableness and dignity—they do so love to prate about the "dignity" and "nobility" of farming—of the agricultural profession.

Farm Stock and Home: This reminds us of a recent paper in the North American Review, by Dr. Loring, ex-commissioner of agriculture, under the title, "Does American Farming pay?" While commissioner of agriculture the good doctor had abundant opportunity to display his ignorance of the interest he was called to preside over, and did enough in that line to satisfy an ambition less vaulting than his; but the article referred to proves that a four year's term as commissioner of agriculture did not furnish him with sufficient opportunity to tell all he did not know about agriculture, so he employed the pages of the N. A. Review to aid him in the work.

The doctor contends that American farming does pay, and to prove it he compares the quantity of farm products produced in 1860 with those produced in 1880; and as those of the latter date exceed those of the former in quantity so does the farming of 1880 exceed in profitableness that of 1860! Not a word is said about difference in prices, about production per capita, or any other factor than that of mere bulk of stuff produced. If he had based the prosperity of the manufacturing interests of his own New England on the same premises he would have been contemptuously ridiculed. But that kind of figuring and that kind of logic will do for farmers, and goes a long way towards convincing law makers and the "powers that be" generally that farmers and farming are all right, that they are the special pets of providence and hence do not require the fostering care of legislator, as do manufacturers, monopolists, trust-makers and other poor victims of outrageous fortune. In this respect the illogical conclusions of astute (?) writers are very damaging, and either the writer or the conclusions should be suppressed.

Thoroughbreds and full Bloods.

The Western Rural.

We suppose that the question: "What is the difference between a thoroughbred and a full blood, and how many crosses it takes to make a full blood?" will always be asked. It comes round to us periodically and is here before us again. There is no difference in popular application between the terms thoroughbred, full blood and pure bred. Originally the term thoroughbred was only applicable to the English running horse, but by usage it is now applied to all animals that belong to a fixed breed, and have been bred from what is called pure blooded ancestry. No animal is thoroughbred unless it is the offspring of registered stock, or stock that is entitled to registry, on both sides. A thoroughbred Short-horn, for instance, must have nothing but Short-horn blood. This an animal cannot have unless all of its ancestors were Short-horns. If the dam is a scrub the offspring will always have scrub blood in it, at least it will be so regarded by the Short-horn breeders. The answer to the question, that makes a breed is, that they have been bred in a certain line until their characterisics have become fixed, and capable of being transmitted with unimportant variations. Cannot the crossing of thoroughbreds and scrubs—beginning with scrubs—go on then until characteristics shall become thus fixed? some one may ask. Certainly. Why then is it not a thoroughbred? may be asked. Because its pedigree goes back to that scrub, and consequently it is not a Short-horn, Hereford, or Holstein though the male at every cross might have been a thoroughbred of one of these breeds. It may possess in time all that is essental in a breed, but if we choose to call it anything else than a grade we must name it a breed different from that from which the thoroughbred male came.

The rules which govern registries and herd books are, of course, somewhat arbitrary. But if the breed and the herd book are good for anything the rules must be stringent enough to insure the transmission by the animals belonging to the breed and recorded in the register or herd book or the characteristics that are claimed for them. Anybody can start a herd book and recorded in it anything he chooses, But if the recorded animals are not a breed, as we have described a breed, the public would soon frown the "breed" and the record out of existence. The fact that an animal is recorded is nothing in itself. A pull might have a pedigree that ran back to the garden of Eden, or to Abraham's herds, but its length would of itself count for nothing. It is the character of the pedigree that tells. Those who are opposed to pedigree stock affirm that a paper record of the names of the animal's ancestors does not make the animal any better. That is true. But these people fail to see the point of value, which is in showing what the breeding of the animal is. That is all the herd book pedigree is.

FOR SALE.

Some good farm machinery for sale cheap at Southside Farm, Andover. One 12 horse power Giant Strawburner Engine, in good order. One Minnesota Chief Thresher, ten (10) Minneapolis Self Binders. Also some horses and mules at very low figures for cash or good notes. VICTOR CEDERLUND, [9-12] Foreman.

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court.

In the matter of the guardianship of Maria Anderson, Hans Anderson, Sine Anderson and Stine Anderson minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Jacob Anderson guardian of Maria, Hans, Sine and Stine Anderson the above named minors.

It is ordered, pursuant to the prayer of said petitioner, that a time be fixed for examining and allowing his account, that said account be examined, and petition heard by the Judge of this Court on the 23d day of July 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the Probate office in Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that public notice be given to all persons interested of the time and place of examining said account, by publishing a copy of this order in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county, at least once in each week for two successive weeks prior to the day of such hearing.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[10-12] Judge of Probate.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah R. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Def't.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 12th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 2d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages, on pages 576 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assignment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884 at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 614, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149,) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication May 16th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Clement Charboneau and Louisa Charboneau, his wife, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, bearing date the first day of April A. D. 1887, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of April A. D. 1887, at 5:50 o'clock p. m., in book "30" of mortgages, on page 452 etc., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars in five (5) years from April 1st 1887, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, said interest, if not paid when due to draw ten (10) per cent. interest until paid, and default has been made in the payment of the sums due as interest, Oct. 1888, and April 1st, 1889, and whereas said mortgage contained a clause authorizing the mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due at once upon any default in any of the conditions thereof, pursuant to which the said mortgagee has elected and declared the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, together with the interest thereon to be due, and there is claimed to be and is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage debt, the sum of five hundred and thirty-nine and 61-100 dollars ($539.61-100,) and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Being situate in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of Section twenty-two (22,) of Township one hundred and fifty-four (154) north, of Range forty-five (45) west with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 2d day of July A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 6th, A. D. 1889.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY of Connecticut, Mortgagee.

A. Humphreys, Att'y of Mortgagee. [4-10]

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Crookston, Minn., May 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 3d, 1889, viz: CHRISTIAN O. ESPE, D. S., 10,966, for the sw¼ S. 24, T. 149, R. 46. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz. C. W. Davis, Ole Olson, Jr., Edna, P. O., Minn., Edward Stowe, Fertile, P. O., Minn., O. S. Johnson, Crookston, P. O., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete, our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

M. LeGUEE,
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Turkes Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

Order to Show Cause on Filing Petition to Sell Lands.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court. Special term.

In the matter of Guardianship of Roman Anderson, Julia Anderson and Aber Anderson, minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Martha Anderson, guardian of the person and estate of said minors, representing among other things, that said wards are seized of certain real estate in said County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and that it is necessary that all (or a part) of the same should be sold, and praying for license to sell the same at private sale. And it appearing to the court from said petition, that it would be for the best interest of the said wards to sell said real estate as prayed for. It is ordered and directed, that, the next of kin to said wards and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the Judge of this court at the probate office, in the city of Crookston, in said county on Tuesday the 16th day of July, A. D. 1889 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, then and there to show cause (if any there shall be) why license should not be granted for the sale of said real estate according to the prayer of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be personally served on the next of kin of said wards residing in said Polk County, and on all persons interested at least 14 days before the hearing of said petition as aforesaid, and by the publishing thereof for four successive weeks in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and publish at Crookston in said county, the last of which publication shall be at least 14 days prior to the said day of hearing.

Dated at Crookston, the 23d day of May A. D. 1889.

By the Court,
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[6-10] Judge of Probate.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Crookston, Minn., May 18th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. land office, at Crookston, Minn., on July 10th, 1889, viz: PETER W. SMITH, H'd 7,703, for the se¼ S. 32, T. 147, R. 48. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. J. Kolstad, ens J. Vigen, Ole Olson and Lars Knudson, all of Nellsville, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who wishes to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witness of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[5-10] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop in and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JULY 4, 1889. NO. 11.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY HURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	25 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Minn

Among the varied and wonderful attractions to be seen at the Minneapolis Exposition this season will be Captain Paul Boynton, the world renowned swimmer, with a troupe of performing sea lions and monkeys. The Captain gives his aquatic exhibition in the pool in the center of the building, concluding each performance with a grand naval battle. The captain has been before the public so long that his name is as a household word, but his exhibition is such a great one as to cause a most pronounced sensation wherever it is given. He will be at the Exposition during the last two weeks.

Wallace & Co's Circus.

Genius of Liberty: This show gave an exhibition here yesterday, afternoon and evening, to good crowds which was satisfactory to all, because those who went saw what they expected to see, that is, all that was advertised to be exhibited. Indeed they saw more, as no advertisement can do justice to some features of the show. Some of the animals, especially the horses, must be seen, as their beauty and attractive qualities can't be written. Then the efforts of the managers to please and have their patrons enjoy themselves are extraordinary. If any one goes away from this exhibition dissatisfied it will not be because he did not witness all that he had a right to expect.

At Crookston, Wednesday, July 10th.

Off for Red Lake.

Pioneer Press: The Minnesota Indian commission, consisting of Hon. H. M. Rice, Bishop Marty and Dr. J. B. Whiting, leaves for the scene of its labors this morning. They will proceed first to the White Earth Reservation, where they will remain over Sunday. No council will be held there, however, as their start has been decided rather abruptly and there has not been enough time to notify the Indians. Next week the commissioners will proceed to the Red Lake Reservation, where they will remain some time and where a council will be called. From that point the route is not given out.

"If we are not successful there," said Mr. Rice last evening, "we shall drop the whole matter. We shall lay the bill before the Indians and explain it to them. We shall listen to what they say, and if they have any message to send to Washington we shall take them. Above all, we shall endeavor to do nothing that will make the case of the Indians and their condition any worse than it is at present, and for this reason, if we do not succeed at Red Lake, we do not think it would be fair to go any further. I do not know what the result will be, and I can make no prophecy as to what our commission will amount to. By the way, I see the Mille Lacs trouble simmered down to just what I supposed it was at first—nothing but a drunken frolic. Those Indians are in bad shape, surrounded as they are by miserable whisky sellers. I imagine the whole thing was exaggerated by interested parties, with a view to taking advantage of that peace condition in their treaty."

The People Getting the Upperhand.

Western Rural.

There is no difficulty in seeing that the people are steadily getting the upperhand of monopolies. The announcement of the formation of new trusts and the existence of the old ones discourage us at times, but if we will look the field all over we shall have no difficulty in seeing that the day of victory for the people is approaching. For years the telegraph, telephone and electric light monopolies have fairly owned the streets of New York City. Jay Gould's bloated and arrogant Western Union Telegraph Company insolently claimed the right to fill the streets with poles and wires, and when the authorities demanded their removal, Gould's monopoly fought them to the bitter end. But all the courts decided that the city had the right to remove the obstructions. Then banking upon the influence of capital and the effrontery of cheek, it still thought that the authorities would not touch the poles. But last week the mayor sent out forces of men and began to chop down the poles, and he has kept steadily at the good work. A thing like that—chopping down Jay Gould's telegraph poles—would have been utterly impossible a few years ago. The world is moving and so are the American people.

Exchange: Times are hard, money is scarce, business is dull, retrenchment is a duty—please stop my—Whiskey? "Oh, no, times are not hard enough for that. But there is something else that costs me a large amount every year, which I wish to save. Please stop my—" Ribbons, jewelry, ornaments and trinkets? "No, no; not those, but I must retrench somewhere. Please stop my—" Tobacco, cigars and snuff? "Not these, at all, but I believe I can see a way to effect quite a saving in another direction. Please stop my—" Tea, coffee and unhealthy luxuries? "No, no, not these. I must think of something else. Ah! I have it now. My paper costs $2.00 a year. Please stop my paper. That will carry me through the panic easily. I believe in retrenchment and economy, especially in brain."

WALLACE & Co's

THREE-RING CIRCUS

Museum, Menagerie, Wild West and Roman Hippodrome.

Crookston, July 10th.

PROF. W. W. McEWAN,

Famous throughout Europe and America for his numberless Thrilling Ascensions and Scientific Discoveries, and who will make daily

A GRAND TRIP TO THE CLOUDS

Leaving his swiftly flying mammoth aerial engine when it shall have reached its greatest attainable height the daring aeronaut will make a thrilling and percipitious

Descent to the Earth!

Aided alone by his ingeniously constructed parachute, amid the plaudits of the thousands of breathless and awed spectators.

WILL REACH THE GROUND IN SAFETY.

This marvelous achievement has been very frequently attempted by other aeronauts, but it has never been successfully and safely accomplished except by Prof. McEwan.

Come to Town Early and See this Thrilling Spectacle of a lifetime.

Crookston, Wednesday, July 10th.

Shots Fired From a Dairy Farm.

Farm Stock and Home.

In the breeding of dairy cattle one point must be kept in mind, that the value of a cow for the dairy cannot be justly estimated alone by the number of quarts of milk she gives in a day or the number of pounds of butter she makes in a week. A cow is valuable in proportion to the amount of food she requires to make a pound of butter. Food is the main item of cost in the production of butter. It is no recommend to a cow that she has made twenty pounds of butter in a week, worth $5, if in the making $6 worth of food was consumed. The cost of food is determined by the thoroughness with which a cow's powers of digestion and assimilation extract from it nutritive qualities. The thoroughness of digestion and assimilation is shown by the quantity of food required to produce a given result. In selecting dairy stock for breeding purposes be governed by the following rule: Close relationship to a long line of great performers counts for more than great individual performance. The failure of great individual performers to transmit their powers have been proportionately more numerous than have been the failures of those that were closely related to a long line of great performers.

We kept a cow for eight years that was really a great performer. She gave 9,000 pounds of milk a year and averaged 2¼ pounds of butter a day for several months after calving, and on ordinary food; she went dry only from four to six weeks, yet she failed to transmit her powers to her daughters, granddaughters or great granddaughters. Some were worthless, and even those that were from one-half to two thirds Jersey could not nearly equal her, except in richness of milk. At 12 years old she did better than any of her offspring did at 5 years. Why was this? Simply because her great powers were a "sport," a freak of nature. They were not founded on the rock of heredity. She had no long line of great performers, carefully bred and fed for a special purpose, to break her, and for that reason she could not be depended upon to transmit her peculiar qualities. A few days previous to her dropping her first heifer calf a Shorthorn breeder from an other part of the state saw her; she was with calf by one of the finest Shorthorn bulls in the state. He offered $75 for the cow, which we refused; then he offered $50 for the calf at 10 days old, if a heifer. It was a heifer, and we thought if it was worth that much to him it was to us, so kept her for four years. The two years she gave milk she did not pay for the food she ate; she did not equal her dam in size or any other quality. The breeder based his judgment on the old idea of individual form and performance, and we being neophytes in the business, accepted his judgment and thereby "got beautifully left." We have dearly bought the knowledge that the value of a dairy animal for breeding depends upon its relationship.

Every man who owns a cow should test her profitableness. It is easily done. Weigh all food and keep an account of its cost. By weighing the butter made it will give you the cost of its production. The price received for the butter, with 25 cents per 100 pounds for buttermilk and skim milk; is the gross income, and if it gives a fair profit over and above cost of production the cow is profitable to keep, as the calf will a good deal more than pay the interest on the value of the cow; and if the cow be a thoroughbred it will pay it many, many times over. If a cow is fed grain the manure will amply pay for her care.

The next step in breeding which should be thoroughly understood is the proper care of the cows at the time of calving, and of the young calves. Do not change the conditions or environments of a cow near time of calving, as it causes her uneasiness and undue nervousness and excitement, which should be especially guarded against. If she has been in the habit of running with the herd in the pasture let her continue to do so. If the pasture is good and she is not giving milk she needs no other food; but if she is giving milk she should be fed from two to four pounds of bran or oats each day. At night turn her loose into a clean well ventilated and well bedded box stall. If it is winter time let her excercise in the open air as usual with the rest of the herd. When in the barn keep her in the box stall; feed her four or five small ears of corn broken in small pieces, with a little oats or bran each day. Watch the udder closely; if it shows signs of caking or of undu heat give ten drops first dilution of aconite once a day in her feed, or a small viol with a little water pour it into her mouth; rub the udder with cosmoline, and draw some of the milk from it if necessary. When the calf is born, and as soon as the cow has libked it dry, let it suck what milk it wants, then draw the balance of the milk from the udder and let the cow drink it if she will. Give her one peck of oats or a warm bran mash with ten drops of aconite, first dilution, on top of it. Give her a pail of water blood worm, to drink three times a day. Regulary twice a day draw all the milk the calf has left in the udder. At the last milking before the milk is good turn the cow out with the herd: at milking time put her in her own stall leaving the calf in the box stall for a time. The first feed give the calf new milk, after which add a little skimmed fresh milk till the calf is ten days old, when the whole ration may be sweet skimmed milk, warmed to 100 degrees. Feed the calf milk as long as you have it to feed. We never failed to have cows and calves do well under foregoing treatment.

I do not understand why there is so much complaint among dairymen about aborting cows. The fruit must lie more with them than with the cows. In all the time we have been dairying we have been trobled with it but one season and then not more than three or four cases. During that time we fed oil meal; since then we have fed none to cows with calf, and during the five years have had but one premature birth in a herd of over thirty, and that was two weeks before time due for calving and was caused by an accident to the cow. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and it is far more profitable for a dairyman to understand the prevention of disease than its cure.

H. E. F.

Partnership Dissolved,

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 22, 1889.

The partnership existing between the undersigned, as Huggard, Larsen & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. M. Lowe will collect all notes and accounts due the said firm and pay all debts due.

Office with Wm. Watts, Attorney, on Broadway.

DAVID HUGGARD.
L. W. LARSEN.
[10-12] C. M. LOWE.

Partnership Dissolved.

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 22, 1889.

The partnership existing between the undersigned as Lowe & Huggard is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. M. Lowe will collect all notes and accounts due the said firm and pay all debts due.

Office with Wm. Watts, Attorney, on Broadway.

C. M. LOWE,
[10-12] DAVID HUGGARD.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00 per 98 lbs.
North Star	2.75 " " "
Fife	2.50 " " "
Skip Jack	1.75 " " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

FOR SALE.

Some good farm machinery for sale cheap at Southside Farm, Andover. One 12 horse power Giant Strawburner Engine, in good order. One Minnesota Chief Thresher, ten (10) Minneapolis Self Binders. Also some horses and mules at very low figures for cash or good notes.

VICTOR CEDERLUND,
[9-12] Foreman.

For Sale or Rent.

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office.

[10-tf]

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

St. Paul
LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE,
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
AT BOTTOM PRICES.

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

—OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:—

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

—ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.—

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)

Fournet Block Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days

AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

☞ See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $65, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

W. A. ROBERTSON,

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST:

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 4, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, 1 Hard, 84.

THE PLACE for fire crackers to-day is at Herb's.

Give Harry Attix a trial order for groceries for luck.

Judge Christianson went to Fertile on Saturday last to attend the marriage of his brother, John.

The Detroit Record with characteristic enterprise issued a daily through the encampment.

Pete Cornelius is breaking 100 acres on 11, in town of Fairfax. Pete thus shows his faith in old Polk County.

Do you want to give your girl a glad surprise to-day? Try Herb's soda fountain. The best in the city.

Mat Dauser says he is getting a good trade at his butcher shop on Robert street. Serves him right. He deserves it.

The Merchants' National Bank is receiving a coat of paint which adds beauty to the outside looks of the building.

The large plate glass in Max Ericsson's front was cracked in some mysterious manner on Monday. Max thinks it was owing to its being set in too tightly.

August Walters was up to Thief River Falls recently and was so much impressed with its coming greatness that he selected a site upon which to erect a brewery.

Hon. B. Sampson has the finest crop of wheat we have seen this year, near his residence. It was sown with a drill, is nicely headed out and Sampson is talking 30 or 35 bushels per acre.

E. D. Childs has a splendid piece of wheat in an old pasture on Sec. 3, in Fairfax; from 3 to 4 feet high, well headed, good for 25 bushels per acre. Sowed late in March with a broadcast seeder.

The largest stock of fruits, nuts and confectionery, at Herb's.

W. L. Wyand, Northwestern passenger agent for the Michigan Central R. R., came up last Thursday on a visit to his brothers Harry and John, returning on Monday evening. Says his information leads him to the belief that crops all over the country will be poor and prices high.

Erickson & Roeske's saloon was burglarized on Sunday night to the extent of $5 or $10 in money, some liquor and cigars. Entrance was effected by cutting out a pane of glass in a rear window. A knife was found in the saloon that wa thought to belong to Pete Hatleberg, and he was arrested on Monday and placed under bonds for trial.

California fruits. Go to Herb's for the best.

Elsewhere we publish a notice of annual school meetings handed us by Supt. Elliot. We think that his suggestion as to furnishing text books is a most excellent one. Any old teacher will feel the force of the suggestion at once and every one interested in schools should see that steps are taken to carry out the idea. It is practical and good sound common sense.

S. M. Hoff was down from St. Hilaire on Monday. He has just returned from a ten days' trip to Red Lake with Wm. Sorsoliel, Dan. Patterson, and Harry Ives. Says they saw no good land north of the lake but plenty of it south. The Indians were on the way to the Reservation to meet the commissioners. The agent thinks they will not be in favor of signing, as they seem to think they will be left in the deal.

For the finest summer drinks, try Herb.

A. K. Olds, of Spokane Falls, arrived on Saturday last to visit his twin brother, A. A., for a few days. This is the first meeting of the brothers in 20 years, and it is no wonder that when they chanced to meet upon the street Saturday morning they hardly recognized each other, the more especially as A. A. did not expect his brother. Mr. Olds will proceed to Hudson to see another brother after the 4th.

The Times' insinuation that it was the citizens of Crookston who hung Sampson in effigy is a libel on every honest man in the city. The excuse may have been Sampson's attitude on the bond bill, but we very much doubt if that was the cause of that act of lawlessness, and we are just as positive that no reputable citizen had a hand in that outrage as we are that the council is in no danger of being suspended in like manner, the Times to the contrary, notwithstanding.

One of the needs of this city is a public watering trough. About the time D. Jacobus became interested in the water works he put up one at his own expense and maintained it for two years and it proved a public blessing. It is not fair to expect one man to bear the burden that the whole city should do, and while, perhaps, Mr. Jacobus might feel willing to put up and maintain a public watering-trough, we suggest that it would be a proper subject for the city council to consider: The city desires the trade of the farmer and should not be niggardly in the matter of furnishing water for his team, at least during the hot weather. The expense of a trough would be very small compared with the benefits derived.

Try Wilson & Thompson's Ice Queen.

W. F. Zwickey was at St. Paul last week.

For flags, fireworks, fruits and confectionery, try Herb.

Young man take your best girl to the Reading Room for lunch to-day.

Will Van Dyke left for Alexandria on Tuesday evening for a 4th of July visit.

The Fraser case against the Red River Valley Lumber Co., is appealed to the Supreme court.

Mine host Bemis has put up a flagstaff on top of the Commercial hotel to fly the stars and stripes.

T. K. Torgerson, Dept. Int. Rev. Coll. was in the city over Sunday. He reports very poor crops in Becker, Clay and in fact every other county through which he has travelled.

Wm. Campian was down from Angus on Friday last. He reports the crop prospects rather blue looking; thought that a good soaking rain might improve them and make about a half crop.

Wm. Wever is never so happy as when he has a fine colt in training for a life of usefulness. He has broken a number this season and still is not perfectly happy as there are yet many unbroken colts in the county.

Lew Freeman was over from Grand Forks last Thursday with a long face on account of the crop prospects. He considers the damage already done incalculable and is of the opinion that plenty of rain now could not produce an average crop.

The Newton Beers Comedy company played "Lost in London" two nights last week to small audiences. The company is a good one. The North Britan Pan Pipe singers are heavy weights while Harry Gilfoil in his specialty is a whole show in himself.

Northfield News: Upon the actual value and methods of newspaper advertising, an exchange says that some men try advertising as the Indian tried feathers. He took one feather, laid it on a board and slept on it all night. In the morning he remarked, "white man say feathers heap soft; white man big fool." Some business men invest a quarter or fifty cents in advertising, and then because they do not at once realize great increase of business they declare advertising does not pay. A man should not expect returns so disproportioned to his investment. Even a little advertising is doubtless worth all it costs.

Drop in at Herb's for one of his soda bracers. Or what's the matter with an artesian lemonade?

Kittson County Enterprise: That ball game! don't mention it. The scene was at Crookston. Suffel ate green apples and was taken ill and found it necessary to start out at once to sell cheese; Harding found that the signal service was out of order and at once found an excuse to skip into Dakota to have same regulated. Cowan left to look up the fatted calf. Inglis and Benson took shelter in the first box car going south. O'Connell made but one error on first base, that being the only ball thrown to first and he muffed it. Smith went straightway and fell on the neck of his brother and wept. Long was altogether too short for the occasion and Carr says "keep off."

Tennessee melons? Oh, yes, they came, nice, ripe and juicy. Found only at Herb's.

Judge Nelson, of Pasadena, Cal., who is enjoying a few weeks visit with his son A. B. Nelson at Warren was in the city a few days last week. The Judge is looking as young and as lively as when he was the original Warren boomer in the early days. He was one of the first to locate at Warren, opening a big farm there and to him and his labors Warren owes much of its present prosperity. We are pleased to learn that the Judge's California speculations have turned out to advantage and that he has much wealth laid by for his old age. In his new relations he has not lost his interest in the Red River Valley being still the owner of much valuable property here. The Judge enjoyed a few days visiting his old friends in this city.

Since Conductor Copeland took a claim at York, D. T., he has taken a greater interest in agricultural matters than before, if possible. He has forty acres broken this year which next year will be laughing an abundant harvest of 1 Hard. He says they have not had as much rain out there as we have but, judging from samples he brought to THE JOURNAL office this week their wheat is by no means ruined. From the farm of D. W. Stevens he brings a sample two feet six inches high already heading, and indicating at least a 20 bushel yield. Mr. Stevens is a Connecticut farmer and evidently knows what good farming means. From J. N. Burke, R. M. Roath and G. P. Wilson he brings samples about uniform in height, two feet, and which indicate good yields. The soil about the roots of these samples knocks our preconceived ideas of that country silly, as but very little sand appears whereas we had the opinion that that country had dead loads of it requiring a superabundance of "sand" in the settler. This soil appears to be a heavy black muck without sand enough to scour the plow properly; just such soil as we could imagine 35 or 40 bushels of wheat growing on. If Cope's farm is of the same character there is no lack of natural fertility and it will do for general farming purposes.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

The Masonic hall was damaged somewhat by a falling chimney on Monday afternoon.

Will Clements, who has been in the city from Winnipeg for a few days returns this week.

W. T. Johnson, who was injured by the runaway on Monday is doing nicely under the care of Dr. Dunlop.

Nels Olson who has been in John Alderman's place on Robert street returned to Grafton on July 1st.

P. J. Russell received a telegram on Tuesday announcing the death of his mother and left for Belle Plains in the evening.

Mat Dauser is making great changes in the Robert street meat market. It is now one of the neatest in the city. He invites a call.

P. C. Schmidt went over to Grand Forks last week. He has the opposite side of the lawsuit THE JOURNAL mentioned last week.

The storm on Monday afternoon blew down a small machine shed for Mike Leguee, breaking a cutter and leaving things out in the wet.

Peter Cornelius reports no wind on Monday afternoon, but a good soaking rain which adds much to the looks of the grain and garden sass.

Messrs. Walsh, Montague and Anglim returned from St. Paul on Wednesday morning. They report that the road will be built if the bonds are issued.

Rev. O. H. Elmer writes THE JOURNAL that he will be at home to-day and conduct services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday at the usual hours.

C. B. Palmer received a telegram from his home in Tonica, Ills., last Thursday to the effect that his little girl received serious injuries by falling from a cherry tree.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1 tf]

We were shown samples of wheat from the farm of Knud B. Rier, of Tyneid with heads from two to five inches in length. They were picked on Monday before the rain.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will serve a nice little lunch in the Reading Room to-day. Coffee and sandwiches ice cream and cake. The ladies deserve consideration for the work they have been and are doing in the cause of morality and temperance.

The long continued drouth was effectually broken on Monday by a soaking rain that continued at intervals through the night. More water fell than at any time before this spring and summer doing a world of good to the grass crop and to such grain as has not been burned by drouth.

The base ball game between Crookston and Red Lake Falls last Friday resulting in the defeat of the latter by a score of 32 to 1. The News did a great deal of blowing when a short time since their club won a victory by a very few points and allowed that they could whip all creation. Our club has played together but little but they can play ball and they don't make a great parade about it either.

The rain was ushered in by a very high wind that for a few minutes made things extremely lively. At Walker's mill lumber was hurled about in a manner that made it uncomfortable for all in the vicinity. A number of boards were blown through the windows into the office, the smoke stack to the planing mill went down, a car was blown off the wood tramway, teams were frightened and ran away and Bedlam seemed to be turned loose. W. T. Johnson was putting a load of wood onto a wagon, when his team took fright and ran, knocking Mr. Johnson down, the wagon passing over his body. W. D. Bailey's windmill was injured to the extent of the loss of the wheel. It is said that there was some tall hustling among the mill hands for the shade of the cyclone cellar. In the city a few trees were blown down, Stewart & Laurence' old lumber yard building suffered the loss of a few window panes and many of the circus bill boards about the city were blown down. It is evident that Crookston got but a small portion of the blow and we may expect to hear of extensive damages elsewhere.

Herb has a ton or so of fire crackers and wants to sell 'em all. So he offers big bargains.

Hallock News: The Hallock boys went to Crookston last Monday for the purpose of playing base ball, and came home again. The most that can be said is that the boys were well pleased with the way the Crookston boys used them—outside of the game.

An Exchange says: "If there is one way more than another that will make newcomers 'fall in love' with the people it is the way they are received. Persons locating in a town should be made to feel that they are welcome and no matter how rich or poor they are, especially if they are worthy people. It is one way to build up a town, and don't cost anything but a little effort and it has better effect than some people would think."

On Monday a telegram was received from Warren for doctor Van Dyke to be sent at once to attend Mrs. Winchester, the wife of a prominent merchant at that place. Tom Adams took him up on his engine and it is reasonable to say that no grass grew on the track under the wheels. Upon arrival it was found that Mrs. W. was dead. She was taken in the morning with a fainting fit from which she rallied; had another later and never regained conciousness.

Proceedings of City Council.

ADJOURNED MEETING, HELD JUNE 29, 1889.

President Watts in the chair. Meeting called to order.

Members present—Aldermen Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Bjoin, Steenerson, Buhn, Jerome and Marlette.

An invitation was extended to the city council and city officers to participate in the 4th of July celebration, which, on motion, was accepted.

The petition of E. W. Wile and others with reference to extending the water main, was referred to the ways and means committee.

The communication of L. C. Couvrette and others with reference to a sidewalk on Ash street, was referred to the aldermen of the 4th ward.

Moved by Alderman Steenerson, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that the bill of the Crookston Water Works, Power & Light Co., amounting to $499.86 and endorsed to the First National Bank, be ordered paid. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Steenerson, seconded by Alderman Buhn, that an order be drawn for amount due the C. W. W., P. & L. Co. and turned over to E. W. Wile, comptroller, with instructions to forward same when properly endorsed, to the St. Paul Trust Co., as requested by the president of the C. W. W., P. & L. Co. and First National Bank of Crookston.

A petition was presented from Wallace & Co. praying that a license be issued to them for a circus exhibition, to be held July 10th, 1889, and that a license be issued to them for the sum of $50 for one day. Upon the call of ayes and nays, Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Bjoin, Steenerson, Jerome, Buhn and Watts voted in the affirmative, and Alderman Childs in the negative.

Moved by Alderman Steenerson, seconded by Alderman Childs, that the ordinance with reference to circuses be referred to the finance committee.

The following liquor bonds were presented and, on motion, duly approved:

Olivier Mercil, with Isidore Fortier and A. Chabot as sureties.

Nyquist & Bergquist, with John Locken and C. N. Lindel at sureties.

John W. O'Brien, with P. J. McGuire and Henry Wight as sureties.

Wm. Heidrich, with Peter Heydt and W. E. Walker as sureties.

N. Rapin, with Louis Fontaine and Frank Jerome as sureties.

Max Ericsson, with Wm. Anglim and T. B. McMannus as sureties.

J. A. Bemis, with A. D. Stephens and John Cromb as sureties.

Ole C. Erickson, with W. Kistenmacher and G. O. Buhn as sureties.

Christ C. Hoch, with Wm. Himmelsback and Adolph F. Rauch as sureties.

Feran & Duntley, with E. W. Wile and Alden Braley as sureties.

Wilson & Thompson, with John R. McKinnon and John Alderman as sureties.

Moise Lefebvre, with F. X. Menia and August Munn as sureties.

Arthur Yvernault, with H. F. Brown and John W. Hack as sureties.

Ernest Rolsch, with Mark Rauenbuehler and Ernest R. Mueller as sureties.

A. K. Austin & Co, with T. H. Bjoin and Martin Sands as sureties.

John S. Hanson, with Peter Cornelius and Ole O. Hoven as sureties.

Moved by Alderman Steenerson, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that the liquor bond of O. L. Bentson be approved if no objection is made after notice is published. Carried.

On motion Council adjourned.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

Annual School Meetings.

To School District Officers:

1. Another school year is approaching its close, and the regular annual school meetings are to be held at 7 p. m., Saturday, July 20th. With this circular clerks will find the blank for their annual report. These reports must be returned to this office not later than August 12th. To insure time for correction of errors, I would advise that these be returned the Monday following the meeting. The attention of clerks is called to the suggestions of the State Superintendent contained upon the report blanks.

2. You will take notice that to fulfill the requirements for apportionment all school districts supporting more than one school are required to support four or five months in each schol house. Four months for the two first years of the district's existence, afterwards five.

3. School libraries have been added by quite a number of districts and I am pleased to note the beneficial influence they are already having upon the schools and communities having access to them. In not a few instances, however, the books need more careful looking after. A closed case should in every instance be provided, that the books may be kept free from dust. In term time the books should be kept at the school house, and the practice of keeping them at a private house should be abandoned. Further, regarding these libraries I trust that the same liberal policy will continue, and that many new ones may be established. State aid to the amount of $20 may be secured to each district for this purpose.

4. I hope to see the time when everything necessary to the school work of the child shall be free. Then only will our schools be in fact, what they now are in name, free schools. With this view I urge upon you the question of text books. I cannot in this circular enter into a full discussion of this question, but these are facts. Many of the children in our schools are deprived of a large share of the benefits to be derived from their school days through the inability of parents to purchase the necessary books for their use; teachers also are hindered from a judicious use of time because of the continued use of antiquated books for the same reason, and lastly it is manifestly as much the duty of the district to furnish these free as it is to furnish seats and general school apparatus. In favor of the plan, it may be said, that many of the eastern cities have followed it for some time, that the county of Becker, in this State, has furnished free books for two years, that in all places where tried it has proven a success in that the cost of books to a given district is much less, the books are better cared for and consequently last longer, a much more economical use of time on the part of both teacher and pupil is secured, and, lastly, another great duty to the school system is performed.

There is nothing to hinder the plan's being adopted by any district so wishing—make an appropriation for this purpose and provide the same care for the text-books that you do for your library books. The books can be purchased through any of the agencies.

5. In conclusion I would say that I am pleased to note a contined improvement in the condition of our schools. This is apparent in the largely increased attendance, which has also been more regular than ever before. School property is in general in good condition, and there has been an increased demand for better teachers. I urge upon you the necessity of much care in this respect. Let your appropriations for teachers' wages be such that good, yes the best, teachers can afford to stay in our midst, and those who only lack the training to rank high as educators, may be encouraged to seek such special qualifications as will fit them for their calling.

Crookston, June 29, 1889.

EZRA F. ELLIOT,
County Supt. of Schools.

A Carload

Of watermelons just received at Herb's. Nice and juicy for the 4th.

THE SABIN DIVORCE.

A Statement From Mrs. Sabin Relative to the Matter.

New York Special to Pioneer Press, June 30: There are two sides to every question, and it is just possible that ex-Senator Sabin has been misunderstood and misjudged. In a personal letter to a New York friend a Chicago banker, who has known the ex-senator for years in a social, political and business way, says: "The attacks of political enemies upon him for alleged ill-treatment of his wife are cowardly and atrocious. I am familiar with all the facts in the case, and I unqualifiedly state that the charges against him are cruel and false. With unprecedented generosity and noble self-sacrifice he withheld from the public facts which would have been the most complete vindication possible to him. Mr. Sabin made the mildest possible charges in his bill against his wife, which was reluctantly filed for protection in property matters. There is not the slightest foundation for the statement that he is engaged to be married, nor that he contemplates any such action. I never knew a more indulgent husband in my life. For years he suffered in silence when the majority of men would have openly rebelled and long ago left the woman to her fate."

A letter written and signed by Mrs. Sabin and dated from Flushing, L. I., and which completely changes the complexion of the unfortunate affair, was received last week by an old family friend. Referring to Mr. Sabin, she writes: "I may never see him again, but I fully realize the extent of his kindness and tenderness toward me, and I want you to thank him in my name for all he has done these last eighteen years for my comfort and happiness. By my own acts I have destroyed his happiness as well as my own. My heart is filled with anguish and sorrow for the noble man whom I have so fearfully wronged and deceived, and who, to save me from utter disgrace, is bearing for me my sin. It hurts me fearfully to read the newspaper paragraphs which so wrongfully and unjustly accuse him, and I feel as if I must write to you to ask him to let the truth be known in all its horrible detail, rather than that he should bear any longer the abuse which should rightfully be mine. He has done no wrong, and he saves me now, as he always has, from the gossip of the cold, heartless world. Why will the papers deny the habit with which I am cursed, and which is the only excuse for the awful thing which Mr. Sabin is trying so hard to keep from the world.

In spite of the cruel wrong I have done him he is the only one now who takes care of me, and I sometimes feel that the terrible expense he is under for me is more than he can bear. What would become of me but for his generosity I cannot even imagine. I am grateful beyond expression to him for letting me come here, where everybody is kind in helping me to overcome the curse that has been the means of blighting his life as well as my own. I appreciate now, as I never did before, his patience and indulgence during all our married life, and I never cease regretting that I did not bring happiness instead of sorrow to his life." Both of these letters can be vouched for as genuine and reliable, the recipient in each case having at heart the interest of both Mr. and Mrs. Sabin.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.
Delivered at any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

MARRIED.

BUNDHAUG—GILBERT.—In this city, June 29th, 1889, by Justice Spendley, Mr. T. O. Bundhoug to Miss Bertha Mary Gilbert, both of Polk County.

UNTIL FURTHER
NOTICE!

ALL
WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS | GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted
GENUINE
SLATER
FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED
Fast Colors,
OR MONEY
Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT
—THE ONLY—
C. O. D.
CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST
ESTABLISHMENT
OF THE KIND IN THE
NORTHWEST.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

Prairie Farmer, June 22: Since our last report, the temperature remained low until the 15th inst. Later, there was warm weather, but with heavy rains locally. In the wheat belt, now ready for harvest, up to the latitude of southern Illinois and Northern Kentucky, there is considerable complaint of untoward weather. Insects are also reported in portions of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, especially a grain-plant-louse, Siphonophora granaria. This has been found in the entire section of Northern Kentucky, and in the Wabash Valley, especially on the Illinois side. On the whole, the weather has not been all that could be desired, so far as harvest weather in the winter wheat belt is concerned.

Reports in detail are as follows:

Central Tennessee reports that the winter wheat harvest has been in progress four or five days, but has been more or less delayed by showers, culminating in steady rains. The prospects now are for a good average crop, and a good quality of grain. In Northern Kentucky there has been practically little progress made with harvest. The earliest harvesting will not begin for nearly ten days. The wheat will be plump and heavy. In Ohio, as a rule, little harvesting will be done before the 1st of July. The cool weather has made harvest two weeks later than was anticipated early in the season. There is much discrepancy with regard to the probable yield and quality of the crop. A good many of the fields, upon examination, are found to be light in grain.

From Illinois, St. Clair County reports that they have done hardly any cutting and will not commence until the opening of next week. They look for much better grain and yield than any year since 1882. If prices do not go below 70 cents, the movement will be free, but under that the wheat will be stored. Washington County reports everything looking well, but the ground wet, no wheat cut, and a free movement by the 15th of July. Central Illinois reports wet and cloudy weather. Wheat has rusted some; harvest near at hand; generally the quality of wheat much better than last year; yield about the same or possibly a little less.

Northern Indiana reports untoward growing weather; the harvest will be fully as late as usual. It is thought there will be an average crop—perhaps not as large as last year; quality better. In Michigan the weather has been cold and the general prospects for an early harvest have gone. The wheat will not begin to fill before the first week of July. Advices from Northern Missouri say that the wheat crop, while good, is not as uniform as was expected thirty days ago. Still the crop will be as good as any since 1882. Harvest will begin about June 24th. The outlook is that they will sell freely at present prices, but no general movement is looked for before the 1st of July. In Northern Texas the wheat has been pretty well harvested; is now shocked ready for threshing. They have had more or less rain, but so far no damage to the crop. The yield is fair, and if the rains do no damage, the quality will be better than last season.

The cold, cloudy weather has left its mark, from Ohio to Kansas. In the latter state, in the northern portions, harvest will commence about June 24th. Rains have been frequent, and the yield will be from 25 to 30 per cent more per acre than last year. Southeastern Kansas reports that they have had heavy rains, but so far it has not hurt the wheat at all. They now want warm, dry weather, to harvest the crop which is ready to cut. The mills are about empty of old wheat, and the new crop will be sold freely after harvest.

As to Nebraska, reports from a number of the leading agricultural counties of the state show that crops of all kinds are in an unusually promising condition.

In the spring wheat region, in southern Dakota, there is considerable of this wheat, especially where the stack-burned wheat was used for seed. The plant from such seed does not seem to stand the amount of dry weather that a strong, healthy plant will, and this grain is beginning to show the effects of dry weather badly. In the Grand Forks district, the wheat sown with drills is still looking well, while the broadcast sowing, not being so deep in the ground, is sadly in need of moisture. Reports from Sykeston, Pembina, Stephen Argyle, and other places, report a heavy rainfall. The crops were beginning to suffer slightly, but the prospects are much brighter than heretofore. In the Jim River district crops seem to have suffered, but good rains from this on will probably bring them out. In South Dakota, near the Nebraska line, there has been no serious lack of rain.

Central Minnesota reports the grain as growing slowly and the outlook not at all encouraging. Taking the state of Minnesota as a whole, while it is possible that the crop to-day is as far advanced as any average year, and while it is also certain that the wheat was planted some two or three weeks earlier than common, the cold, dry, backward weather does not make it possible for harvest to come any earlier than usual. Many of the largest wheat-producing counties are suffering yet for lack of moisture.

As to corn, reports show that this crop is only fairly holding its own. There has been little good corn weather. Taking the corn belt by states, in Southern Nebraska most of the farmers have now plowed their corn twice. The fields are clean and there is generally enough moisture for thirty days at least. There seems to be yet considerable old corn in farmers' hands.

The European Situation.

Chicago News: Every day we get news from the old world that the czar of Russia has purchased a new shotgun and Kaiser Wilhelm III has grounded his carving-knife to a razor edge; that the French president is taking boxing lessons, that Francis Joseph of Austria spends every afternoon in the back yard shooting at a mark with a twenty-two revolver; that Italy has a new gun-boat and that the ahkoond of Swat and Hooptydoodendoo or Umtarara are fortifying their front yards and letting the bulldogs of war loose o'nights, until the air seems so full of fight that it is a positive wonder that peace lasts five minutes longer. Each power is spoling for a rumpus. Every time the Emperor of Germany takes down the oil-stone to whet up his carving knife the czar of Russia thinks: "Now its coming," and grits his teeth to keep his courage up, for, truth to tell, he is afraid of the Emperor of Germany. But the Emperor of Germany is afraid of him, and France is afraid of both of them. Austria lies awake o'nights and when it does fall asleep it is to dream of snakes and Russians with blood on their faces and to wake up with a crick in the back. Italy sits and shivers with fear somebody will come along and eat it up, and a cold perspiration is on the Sultan of Turkey till he looks like an ice pitcher just before a thunder storm. As for Servia and Roumania, they shake as if they had the fever and ague, and one of the other powers can't scratch its ear but that they dodge.

Making Binding Twine of Flax.

Farm, Stock and Home: The United States is able to produce an unlimited quantity of a fiber which is naturally well adapted to the making of twine and cordage, yet scarcely a pound of it is devoted to that purpose, notwithstanding we are the largest consumers of the products named of any country on earth. We are as dependent on foreign sources for the material of which twines and ropes are made as if we could grow flax no better than we can pine apples in Minnesota.

There is much talk of late about devoting the flax fiber now wasted to the making of binding twine; of devoting prison labor, in fact, to that object. Some state legislatures have appropriated money to the purchase of twine-making machinery to be put into their state's prisons, and others contemplate doing the same.

This is to be commended, and every good citizen can but earnestly hope for the success of the scheme, but it is well to look upon both sides of the subject before concluding positively that purchasing machinery and setting prison labor at work will solve the problem of cheap binding twine.

The old, and so far the only known process for fitting the fibers of our field flax for manufacturing purposes is too slow and expensive for modern requirements. This is the reason, and the only reason, why domestic flax has not been utilized in the past, and this has proven to be the rock upon which was wrecked nearly every attempt to manufacture in this country even the coarsest linen fabric. That some process would ultimately be discovered for the speedy and cheap preparation of flax fiber has always been our belief, but such discovery must precede all successful efforts to manufacture it, a point which so far seems to be entirely overlooked. Efforts are constantly being made to bring about the desired result, one of which, it is claimed, is a new and hasty process of flax preparation, which does away with the tedious rotting method and the labor of scutching, which involved a long period of preparation. The new system is thus described:

"The process is known as the Boyce process, and like very many revolutions in industrial matters, it is so simple that it can hardly be comprehended except witnessing its operation. Instead of three to five weeks' time expended in rotting, the whole operation of rotting occupies but five minutes, and instead of discoloring the fiber its natural white color is preserved, and the fiber produced is of much greater strength than that by the old process, is as fine, white, soft and flexible as raw silk, and may be spun and woven upon silk machinery. There is no labor of scutching and no tearing or waste of fiber, while the tow is of greater value per pound than any in the market prepared by the old process. The process has no destructive chemicals employed in it, no potash, soda, chloride of lime or acids in any form—nothing but a preparation of linseed oil in a condition to be taken up by the fiber, which in the short space of five minutes is thoroughly freed from the gum and woody matter, and left fine, soft and white."

Experiments in this process are now going forward, but it behooves us to withhold our sentiment and patriotic fervor until the many unknown quantities hidden away in the intricacies of the problem have been put upon the board and scientifically wrestled with.

Farm, Stock and Home: The very latest crop reports indicate an average crop of wheat for the entire country, but they reveal distressing conditions in many localities, chiefly from want of rain, though late frosts, hot, dry winds and destructive insects did and are doing their share of damage. The past few days seem to have witnessed the destruction of large quantities of wheat.

The pretty Exmoor ponies, sleek, docile and intelligent, form the subject of a spirited engraving in the American Agriculturist for July. The breeding of children's ponies—so great has become the demand for them—could no doubt be carried on more extensively than it is, and with profit. The prime points for a child's pony that it should be pretty to look at, kind of temper and an easy traveller. Spirit and fleetness come afterwards. The Shetland and the Exmoor ponies are the gentlest and the prettiest, and they are as knowing and intelligent as full-grown horses. The different kinds of ponies bred and sold especially for children's use are described in the interesting article that accompanies the engraving.

The True Crop Outlook.

Duluth Tribune: Another entirely superfluous instance of the unreliability of the crop-guessers and the alleged crop-correspondents is at hand on this season's crop. Notwithstanding the claim that the reporters had "full, accurate, reliable information" concerning the condition of the wheat crop, and that the published reports embodied that information, it is now indisputably certain that some drawbacks, which in the case of spring wheat, were not recorded until June was half past. These drawbacks existed from the start, and yet the crop reporters found them not, but went on sending in misinformation that seemed to foreshadow a 600,000,000 crop of wheat. Now the persons interested are just beginning to find out that the acreage has been exaggerated, that the dry spring inflicted irreparable damages on large areas of both spring and winter wheat, that the insect pests are numerous and active, that frost spoiled a large amount of growing wheat, and that the general conditions really point to only an average yield, with the probability of less than an average. Perhaps after a time the public will begin to make the proper discount on newspaper fakes and crop-reporting and crop-guessing fakes.

Farm, Stock and Home: The exports of wheat for the present crop year have been 73,500,000 bushels and it is believed 7,000,000 more will be shipped before the new crop is harvested. Last year up to this time we had exported 106,000,000 bushels, and for the whole year the shipments were 120,000,000 bushels. It is estimated that we will carry over at least 50,000,000 bushels, or slightly less than last year. The California crop, which is now coming forward, is estimated at 60,000,000 bushels.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.00	per 98 lbs
North Star	2.75	" " "
Fife	2.50	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue. Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

License Application.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Polk,
City of Crookston. } ss.

Notice is hereby given, That application has been made in writing to the City Council of said City of Crookston and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on July 1st 1889, and terminating on June 30th 1890, by the following persons, and at the following places as stated in said applications respectively, to-wit: O. L. Bentson, in the one and one-half story frame building situated on lot 8 block 3, Fletcher & Houston's addition to Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Crookston at the City Hall, in said City of Crookston, in Polk County, State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of July 1889, at 8 o'clock p. m., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this first day of July A. D. 1889.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Polk,
City of Crookston. } ss.

Notice is hereby given, That application has been made in writing to the City Council of the City of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on July 2d, 1889, and terminating on June 30th, 1890, by the following person, and at the following place as stated in said application respectively, to-wit: John L. Hanson, in the two story frame building situated on lot 2, in block 5, Fletcher & Houston's addition to Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council, of the City of Crookston, at the City Hall, in said City of Crookston, in Polk County, State of Minnesota, on the ninth day of July 1889, at 8 o'clock p. m., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this second day of July A. D. 1889.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA-AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$300,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D.S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon. Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price, Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Bessie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.—————— pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets. at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 8:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. P. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:30 "	Grafton	2:24 "
10:45 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call.
Terms $1. Yours truly,
RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, MINN
[82-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞Farmers custom specially invited.
Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 4, 1889.

The Circus To-Day—Good Parade and Large Attendance.

Herald, Andersen, Ind.: Wallace & Co's Great World's Show drew a big crowd of people to the city to-day. At 10:30 o'clock the street parade was made and all along the route the sidewalks were lined with persons anxious to witness the display. The parade was in every way creditable and with a splendid indication of what wealth and enterprise will accomplish when possessed by such men as Wallace & Co. Two cornet bands and a steam calliope furnished the music. The wagons and chariots, all freshly painted and furnished in the highest style, presented a rich appearance while the horses are spirited and in splendid condition. The performance this afternoon is largely attended, and greatly enjoyed by the audience. The collection of animals is unusually large, embracing as it does many rare species. In the circus, the performance comes up to the greatest expectations of the people, and no show has ever given better satisfaction here than Wallace & Co. to-day.

They Begin to Howl.

Prairie Farmer: The syndicates and monopolists seem to be in a very bad way. They appear to have passed out of the howling stage into the explanatory stage. They seem to be paying money to a class of papers of wide circulation in hopes to set them right before the people. These papers are situated mostly in New York city, and, naturally so, since these aggressive monopolists require their pound of flesh. Please remember that the Prairie Farmer draws the line as between the monopoly that gives the inventor a fair royalty, and that class that buys up an industry in order to make every consumer pay whatever price the conspirators may dictate for the article they have to sell.

The sugar trust is a good illustration. Some New York journals are just now using a good deal of printer's ink in the pay of these ghouls upon the body politic. They have got the sugar of the country under their thumb. Now the journals in their interests are spreading out words to the effect that they now have to pay five cents per pound for raw Cuba sugar. Suppose they do. It does not cost more than a fraction of 1 cent per pound to convert this sugar into granulated sugar. Will our readers please put the price of the raw material and the price they have to pay together, to find out how they are swindled by this corporation, and arrive at the profits accruing to this greedy cormorant? Take your slate and pencil and figure it out for yourself. A half cent a pound on refining would pay the interest, and a big profit besides. Is it strange that this monopoly can make thirty or forty millions yearly out of the necessities of the people who buy?

Who is to blame? The people! No, they must use sugar. It is a prime necessity of life. Is it the aggressive monopoly which has pulled the wires to make its members annual millionaires? We are told that it is simply a matter of business! Is it our lawmakers? Who else can it be? When will an "overcheck" or a "gag-runner" be put upon them, not only State, but National, to make them amenable to the just necessities of the people? We reiterate what we have heretofore said (and this is still outside of partisan application) when the farmers who hold the balance of power, as voters, decide that syndicates and other forms of aggressive monopoly must go to the wall, they surely will go.

Prove It.

The Western Rural.

Why does not the howling mob that is trying to rob the farmer by charging an extortionate price for twine give us some evidence that there is no twine trust. This twine controversy has been going on for weeks and not one line of evidence has been given to prove the soundness of the position that the advocates of high prices have taken. All that they have done is to make a general denial. Every accused person is liable to do that. The murderer, with his hands still dripping with the blood of his victim, hears the indictment against him read, and then brazenly says, "Not guilty." That proves nothing, and the jury disregarding the denial of guilt, proceeds to find the culprit guilty. The twine men are charged with organizing a twine trust or corner. They stand up and say, "Not guilty." The press that supports them re-echoes the plea of not guilty; and the trial commences. The prosecution shows that the price of twine has been raised several cents; it shows that there is twine enough to supply the demand; it shows that there is no considerable shortness in the supply of sisal and manilla, if there is any at all; it shows that every pound of twine that could be purchased in the early spring was purchased of the retail dealers; it shows that prices are uniform all over the country; it shows that prices are set by the eastern cordage companies; it shows that some of the factories are to be shut down because the eastern cordage companies have got hold of all the sisal and manilla, or most of it; it shows that some of the twine people themselves affirm that "the Yankees have got hold of all the raw material," and that yet according to the admission of the twine manufacturers themselves, most of them have little or no raw material, from which state of facts it must be concluded that somebody is setting on the supply of manilla and sisal. That is the case of the prosecution. It rests at this point.

Then the defendants open their case and are put upon the witness stand. What do they say? What is the evidence that they give? Here it is: "We deny it." That is all they have to say, except perhaps to blackguard The Western Rural and the farmers who are determined to protect their rights. Now suppose that this denial was good convincing evidence. Suppose it was true that there was no trust. There is no doubt at all that twine is extortionately high. And now what are these fellows doing to encourage the farmer to think that they will ever be lower? Not one thing. Their position is just this: "All you farmers have to do is to pay whatever price we choose to ask. There may be other material from which twine can be made, but we do not propose to attempt to find it, for all we want is to make money out of you grain growers, and the only way we can do it is to sell you sisal and manilla twine."

In all the cartloads of literature that these people have sent out, and in all the special pleadings that the newspapers have done for them, there has not been the slightest intimation that the twine manufacturers would endeavor before another year to find something out of which cheaper twine could be made. They have never once said, "If you farmers will grow flax we will arrange to work it up and make low priced twine for you." Not a word of that kind has ever been uttered. Of course not, for the very moment that that low priced twine should be furnished the whole bottom of the conspiracy against the farming community would drop clean out. Now in the face of these things, it is brazen impudence for anybody to advise the farmer to fold his arms and let this crowd trample him in the dust. The war for independence is on and let it be waged until trusts of all kinds see that the farmer not only can, but will strike for his rights.

It Costs Money.

Prairie Farmer: The coal syndicate of Pennsylvania, with headquarters at New York, has informed the public that out of the anthracite coal mined, not more than 40 per cent. is available for consumption. From the slate and trash sent West, it would seem that either the Eastern consumers must be getting the best of Westerners, or else the Coal Barons are giving the people their usual taffy. The organ publishing the above laments that the anthracite mines will be exhausted in seventy years. It is half a century now since English journals made a similar lament; yet, English miners continue to turn out cheap coal. We trust that within the next ten years; perhaps sooner, some other fuel may supplant anthracite. Certainly it is the consumption in the West will decrease, per capita, year by year, if the quality continues to decrease and the price increase. This coal now costs about as much as good maple wood, in Chicago. If the miners of soft coal were not tarred with the same stick of class association as the controllers of anthracite coal, they might break down this Pennsylvania syndicate. But, however nasty the quality of the soft coal mined, each operator seems to think it necessary to follow the upward prices of the Eastern conspirators.

There is one grain of consolation in connection with the coal question. Science may find a way out through the use of other heating material. A Michigan chemist, it is said, has succeeded in cheapening the production of water gas, to 30 cents per 1,000 feet to consumers. Petroleum and natural gas are helping out the fuel question even in Chicago, and some other Western cities. The duty of the people affected by any form of aggressive monopoly, is to economize in the consumption of the products, and at the same time insist on legislation against these cormorants. The Alliance, the Grange, Farmers' Clubs and other organizations of like nature may, if they choose to work unitedly, break the back of a class of conspirators who are sucking the lifeblood of the nation, by cornering the food and other markets, the articles of which are absolutely necessary to the sustenance of the millions of workingmen of the country.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILL, Comptroller.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the guardianship of Maria Anderson, Hans Anderson, Sine Anderson and Stine Anderson minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Jacob Anderson guardian of Maria, Hans, Sine and Stine Anderson the above named minors.

It is ordered, pursuant to the prayer of said petitioner, that a time be fixed for examining and allowing his account, that said account be examined, and petition heard by the Judge of this Court on the 23d day of July 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the Probate office in Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that public notice be given to all persons interested of the time and place of examining said account, by publishing a copy of this order in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county, at least once in each week for two successive weeks prior to the day of such hearing.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[10-12] Judge of Probate.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah R. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Def't.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 13th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 3d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages, on pages 578 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assignment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884 at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 614, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149,) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1885 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2.) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 229 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 20th A. D. 1889.

THE AMERICAN FREEHOLD LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY of London (Limited,)
Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[10-16] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., June 21st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: R. W. BROWN, D. S. 11,050, for the ne¼ Sec. 8, Tp 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. M. Benson, John Olson, T. Jolly, Peter Toupin, all of Mentor, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[9-15] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE
DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!
M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - ' MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices
MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law,
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Turkes Eggs for Sitting.

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.
MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop in and See the New Store!
H. F. BROWN.

THE UNIVERSITY

OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine.
Next year opens September 3d, 1889.
Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address
CYRUS NORTHRUP L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JULY 11, 1889. NO. 12.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY HURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ Inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
6 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
COUNTY ATTORNEY,
OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN
Crookston - Minn

ENCAMPMENT ECHOES.

The Village Filled with Veterans and Citizen Visitors from Far and Near.

Business Meeting of the Park Region Encampment Association of Old Veterans.

The Next Annual Encampment to be Held at the Village of Wadena.

Fergus Falls Journal.

CAMP BARTO, June 26.—The fourth annual encampment of the Park Region encampment opened at Detroit on Wednesday, June 26th, with the prospect of being an immense success. The weather is delightful, with a cool breeze from the north, and there is a large number of detachments of the various posts comprising the association present, while many more are expected on the evening and morning trains. The detachment of Stanton post, with drum corps, which left Fergus Falls Tuesday forenoon arrived here this morning at 11:30, after a pleasant trip across the country via Pelican Rapids. The drum corps and most of the members of the squad camped at Spring Creek, while Capt. Chase's body guard stopped at the Rapids, where business was combined with pleasure The drive was a delightful one through a beautiful country, and the scenery was truly charming. We are now comfortably quartered in camp.

After dinner we took a stroll over the town, which is bedecked from one end to the other, while several large and elegant arches span the principal street running north and south. On the corner of Washington avenue and Frazee street we encountered the first arch which spanned the avenue from curb to curb, erected of dark evergreens, and covered with flags, streamers and mottoes appropiate to the occasion. On the arch at the intersection of Washington avenue and Frazee street were the following inscriptions:

"The Star Spangled Banner, O Long May It Wave." "Memories of Field and Camp." And on the corner of Main street and Washington avenue: "Praise the Power that Preserved Us a Nation."

To-day the proceedings will be principally confined to getting comfortably settled in the camp quarters, and no effort at any display will be made. The program for to-day is as follows:

Salute of thirteen guns at sunrise.

Reveille at 5 a. m.

At 10 o'clock, raising of flags at headquarters and camp.

12 m., dinner.

Afternoon, reception and entertainment of visiting comrades and friends.

Dress Parade at 5 o'clock. Sunset salute of thirteen guns.

Evening, veteran camp fire at camp.

As Thursday is the big day of the encampment, that, of course, will be the day of arrival for the "big guns," the parade and grand blow-out.

Thursday was a scorcher. The sun shone with a fierce heat upon the dusty streets of Detroit and upon the canvas built addition put up to accommodate the boom which first struck the village Wednesday morning at sunrise—and the same old boom was on this morning, and it awoke the slumbering echoes of the hills and also the fitful slumbers of citizen and citizen-soldier alike.

Reveille was sounded at sunrise and the posts fell into line to march to the depot to meet Gov. Merriam and staff and arriving comrades on the 5 a. m. train. The governor and staff were escorted to the hotel and the boys returned to camp for breakfast.

At 9:30 a general assembly was sounded, and an escort marched to the station to welcome the incoming comrades on the train from the west. Among those that arrived were the Hawley post and drum corps and a detachment of the post at Fargo. About all the old veterans are now on the grounds that will be here, although an occasional straggler may drop in.

At 10:30 a grand parade was had, almost all the members of the Grand Army joining. The streets were dusty and but little air was stirring, and it may have been an entertaining sight for the thousands of spectators, but it was very hard for the "old boys." Then when the procession was marched down a hot, dusty road for a mile and a quarter, those in line began to kick with both feet—so to speak—at the nonsensical idea of a parade through the woods with no spectators save the crowds that crowded both sides of the road and mixed with the column. Stanton post had the right of line and sweat it through—but goodness, how the boys growled—and we did our share of the kicking. We were built for a kicker, the boys say.

The only camp officer detailed for duty Thursday was Comrade E. Shaver, of Fergus Falls, as officer of the day.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of those connected with the association to take matters as easy as possible—in other words, let the encampment run itself.

The officers having the grand parade in charge were Capt. W. C. Roberts, of Detroit, commander; Commander C. W. McKay, of Fergus Falls, chief of staff.

At 2 o'clock p. m. an address of welcome in behalf of the citizens of Detroit was made by Mayor Brooks, and a welcome in behalf of F. C. Chote post was made by Capt. C. K. Day.

This afternoon the veterans were entertained by speeches by Gov. W. R. Merriam, Department Commander Barto, and by an address by Mrs. L. A. George, president of the Women's Relief corps.

The addresses were very entertaining and interesting to many, judging from the applause which was given the speakers. To those who had never heard an encampment speech, the remarks made by both gentlemen in regard to war history and romances connected therewith were listened to with close attention, but to us who annually hear the same stories of field and camp, though remarkably good, they have lost the spice and savor that once made them a pleasure. Mrs. George spoke of the workings of the Women's relief corps, the value of its organization as an adjunct of the Grand Army, and the many opportunities it afforded to relieve by many devices the needs of aged, poor and infirm comrades. The lady is a fluent and interesting talker, and the manner in which her remarks were received indicated that they had produced a favorable impression.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

During the firing of a salute in honor of the governor and staff and other prominent arrivals on the camp grounds, a premature explosion of the cannon resulted in quite a serious accident by which one of the gunners had the fleshy part of his right thumb and a portion of the forearm torn away, causing a very severe wound. In addition to this he was badly burned by the flashing powder, upon his arm, breast and a portion of the face. The explosion was caused by the failure of the gunner to keep the vent properly closed. The injured man is a citizen of Detroit and was ramming home the cartridge when the accident occurred, and the rammer was blown through his hand.

Friday, the third day of the association meeting, was ushered in by the dull, heavy roar of the field piece, sleep was ended and little fires were soon blacing brightly through the camp. The bubbling of coffee in the kettles and the sizzling of bacon in the frying pans was heard. The air was filled with appetizing odors that lent a keenness to appetites, already sharpened by outdoor life.

After breakfast was over it was decided that the town needed an awakening, and Commander Harry Lowell, of the Wadena post, set the ball to rolling. Farragut post, of Wadena, and Stanton post, of Fergus Falls, were the spirits to do the act. The expedition was preceded by the Fergus drum corps, and when the advance struck the main street the inhabitants awoke. But too late, the out posts were captured and the town was at the mercy of the invaders. Marching to the mayor's office the keys of the city and its surrender were demanded. As the forces were heavily armed with the most improved breechloading laths, which had been captured at the lumber yard arsenal, the mayor surrendered unconditionally, remarking that as the troops had run the town night and day for forty-eight hours, he did not feel himself justified in refusing any demand that they might make. Several important captures were made, among them Mayor Brooks, Capt. C. K. Day and other prominent citizens of Detroit. The prisoners were taken to camp and tried by drum head court martial and found guilty on several charges and specifications. Sentence was pronounced against Mayor Brooks that he "Talk the crowd to death;" Capt. Day was to be "drummed out of camp"—the latter sentence being carried out to the letter. By this time it was time for the regular program to begin.

At 9 o'clock there was an officers' call to report at headquarters, and at 10 o'clock there was a meeting of the Woman's Relief corps at the court house. At 10:30 there was reading of orders to the troops, as follows:

H'ADQU'RS. PARK REGION ASSOCIA'N, }
DETROIT, MINN., June 28, 1889. }

The order of the day will be as follows:
Guard mount at 11 o'clock a. m,
Business meeting of the association at 2 p. m., at Roberts' Hall for the election of officers and such other business as may be brought before the meeting.
Dress parade at 5 o'clock p. m.
During the remainder of the day the camp will be in charge of Brevet Brigadier General Alex. Van Praag, of Fergus Falls. By order of CAPT. W. C. ROBERTS,

J. T. BESTICK, Commander.
Adjutant.

At the business meeting in the afternoon the discussion was quite animated in regard to the selection of a point for holding the next annual encampment, several towns making a bid for it, among them Brainerd, Duluth and Grafton, Dak.

The following comrades were elected officers of the Park Region association for the ensuing year:

Commander—Col. Geo. A. Whitney, of Wadena.

Senior Vice Commander—J. P. Dodge, of Duluth.

Junior Vice Commander—W. R. Hillard, Hawley.

Quartermaster—(To be appointed.)

Adjutant—Harry Lowell, Wadena.

Chaplain—John Knight, Wadena.

Surgeon—C. E. Bullard, M. D., Verndale.

The place of the next encampment will be Wadena, and the time of holding it will be announced at a later day by Commander Geo. A. Whitney.

The roster at headquarters shows G. A. R. men from the following towns: Brainerd, Battle Lake, Barnesville, Crookston, Duluth, Deer Creek, Fargo, Fergus Falls, Frazee City, Grafton, Grand Forks, Hawley, Lake Park, Moorhead, Motley, Pelican Rapids, Park Rapids, Fosston and Wahpeton. Quite a number of old soldiers were present who were not members of the organization. It is estimated that at least 10,000 people witnessed the parade on Thursday, and that 500 veterans were in line.

GRAPE AND CANISTER.

The usual crowd of hangers-on at encampments, fairs and races are present in force. We see the merry go-'round, the cane jerker and hosts of lemonade and candy butchers are getting in their work on the old soldiers.

Right across from the camp there has been an infernal pow-wow all day. A new institution has been added to the features of the attractions this year. A band of Chippewa Indians have had a board stockade built, inside of which they disport themselves in the barbaric scalp dance, sun dance, green corn dance, etc. It is very, very pleasing to the ear, that monotonous thump-thump and the discordant yells of these tawny warriors.

A number of posts from Dakota are represented be detachments.

Major Whitney, of the governor's staff, and wife, of Wadena, are attending the encampment.

E. Wiswell, Mrs Thomas Miller, Miss Anna E. Cowdy and Mrs. Belle Bereman, of Wadena, are in Detroit seeing the sights.

Capt. James Compton, senior vice commander of the department, accompanied by his son Willie, came up Thursday morning from Fergus. Comrades Shaver, Cole, Dorsey and Lambert, together with Commander McKay and his daughter, Miss Grace, arrived by the same train.

Frank Ransom, of Leaf Lake, brought his daughter, Nettie, up to camp with him.

An old soldier, aged 74 years, walked in some seven miles to attend the encampment.

The Wadena band, W. W. Graham, leader, came over with the delegation from that town.

The Hawley drum corps is composed of young ladies from 12 to 16 years of age. Their uniform is of dark blue and is very tasty.

We were so flustrated at the sight of the dashing drum-major of the Verndale young ladies' band—they were credited with being a drum corps, but they ain't; not much. They are the Vocaphone band, if our readers know what that means. The instrument is peculiar in construction and the main portion is formed of an ox horn, with an attachment, and the music, or humming sounds, produced are similar to those made by blowing through a piece of paper covering a comb.

E. E. Corliss, of Stanton post, took a run up from Perham, where he is attending court, to take a look at old comrades Thursday evening.

The races do not seem to have much attraction for the visitors. It is too "bloody 'ot."

Fergus Falls is about as well represented as any other section, although we have with us but a small per cent. of our post.

Friday was the warmest day of the encampment.

There was a big game of cards in Squad Q's quarters to-day between Ald. Shaver, Tom Cole and Comrades Wright and Kirby Titus, Sinch.

Comrades James Compton, Charlie Goodsell and O. C. Chase said they had a hard time trying to look dignified and lend an air of respectability to the occasion.

Zebulon Johnson post, of Fosston, Polk County, is composed principally of Chippewa Indians who served in various Minnesota regiments during the war. So far as we could learn they comprise the only organization of this kind in the country. A member of Co. K, Second Minnesota, was found among them.

An enjoyable trip was to be had on Detroit lake. The trim little craft, Minnie Corliss, made hourly trips with excursion parties and was well patronized.

Col. Bullard makes a dandy drum major. So does his daughter, who has charge of the Verndale Vocalaphones. They captured the "hardtack."

Commander Barto and Senior Vice Commander Compton are a nice pair to draw to. During the parade they put us forcibly in mind of Sir John Falstaff and Prince Hal. It only needed an order for a "cup of sack" from the ponderous commander to render the similarity complete. Fearing that we should be called a "starved eelskin," we slid out.

Quartermaster Jake Nelson and his brother Pete, with Uncle Pearl, had the most comfortable quarters in camp. But the commissary had no "wet goods."

Comrade Stevens, an old Second Minnesota boy, and daughter Emma, of Otter Tail County, attended the encampment.

Among the people from Battle Lake we met were Comrades J. Davis, Ed. Everts and Judge Strain. Sim. McAtee, of Girard, was also on deck.

We were agreeably surprised to meet on the grounds the lute-throated tenor soloist of the disbanded Water's combination. He is now warbling under a new management.

Comrade M. L. LeSueur was with the Fergus delegation. A veteran of the Mexican war and an old regular army man who was stationed at Fort Ripley in the fifties, his reminiscences of the early days of territorial Minnesota were very entertaining. Comrade LeSueur's grandfather was a brother of the famous explorer who traveled over the Northwest and up the Minnesota river valley over a century ago, and from whom the county of LeSueur derives its name.

Several boys' running races were had Saturday, and Alfred Dewyer, son of Thos. Dewyer, of this city, won all of them, though he was the smallest lad in the races. These were 100 yard dashes. Time not taken. Afterwards there was a 100 yards running race for adults, in which two buck Indians clad in tights and running shoes, stepped forward to fight for the prize. Young Dewyer pluckily entered in this race also, and to the horror of the big Indians and the amazement and delight of the hundreds of spectators, he came out ahead, beating the foremost Indian by about three yards.

Thus ends the fourth annual encampment of the Park Region association. The old soldiers clasp hands with the parting injunction: "Be at Wadena." God-willing, we shall. C. H. EVRON.

AFTER THE RAILROAD.

The Grand Army Men Will go to Milwaukee For a Cent a Mile or Stay at Home.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Department commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic for the departments of Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky, Nebraska, Minnesota and Missouri, representing 145,000 comrades of the G. A. R., have issued the following:

A DECLARATION.

Having met in Chicago this second day of July, 1889, for the purpose of presenting to the general passenger agents of the Central Traffic association, now in session here, the claims of the Grand Army of the Republic for the same rates to our national encampment as heretofore made to us, and as only recently made to other associations and societies; and having received the same evasive answer which has been made to repeated requests of our commander-in-chief and local committee, at Milwaukee for a one cent rate per mile traveled, and feeling that the Grand Army of the Republic is entitled to at least as much consideration on the part of the railroad companies as such other societies and organizations, and that we should resent this unjust discrimination against the veterans who saved the life of this nation, hereby insist that proper railroad officials throughout the United States fix and establish on or before the 10th instant a rate of one cent per mile to and from the national encampment to be held at Milwaukee, beginning August 27th, proximo, and in case of failure so to do within the time specified we hereby declare our determination to carry out by general orders in our respective departments the spirit of the resolutions adopted at the twenty-second national encampment, which reads as follows:

"Resolved further, that unless railroad companies now furnish the required relief to comrades, than the various departments will discourage the attendance of all except members of the national encampment, and further, that we shall call upon the commander-in-chief to issue a general order requesting only duly authorized representatives of the G. A. R. to attend said encampment."

Steenerson & McManus,

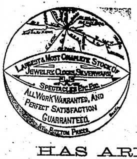
LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!



By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,
ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)
Fournet Block } Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

BARGAINS FOR THE NEXT 15 Days
AT THE SECOND HAND STORE

East side Main, between Second and Third Sts., Crookston, Minn.

A SNAP!

☞ See our black walnut BEDROOM SUITS at $35, and many other bargains too numerous to mention.

We will sell NEW AND SECOND HAND GOODS at St. Paul Retail Prices. Any one desiring goods in our line will do well to call in and LEARN OUR PRICES.

PETER GOTHIA.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUCHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

W. A. ROBERTSON,
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

NEW MEAT
MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,
Physician and Surgeon,
Office corner of Main and Second Streets,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office on Second Street, Crookston.

DR. M. WATTS,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
Office over Merchants' Bank,
☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF
COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
WIL BE OPEN
EVERY SATURDAY.
OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 11, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, 1 Hard, 87.

Tom Young boasts of a new boy.

Another fine rain on Saturday night.

The county board is in session this week.

Isadore Fortier has gone to Helena with two carloads of stock.

The investigating committee meets at the Court House to-day.

The big circus has come and gone and everybody who did not see it wishes he had.

Attorneys Schmidt, Miller and Steenerson went over to Grand Forks courting this week.

The recent rains ensure a fair hay crop, though it will probably be late, and in some places light.

Fred Date came down from Maple Lake on Tuesday. Says there's lots of fun on the lake in these days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sawyer and Miss Mamie Ayers are spending the week at Mr. Sawyer's cottage, on Maple Lake.

It is reported that a man and a woman got hurt by a sky rocket on the evening of the 4th. No other accident is reported.

The Plaindealer has changed hands again, the Rev. Mendenhall retiring. He has ably sustained the reputation of that paper while under his control.

The spectacle of hundreds of men rushing to New Orleans to see two great, able-bodied men pound each other is not a very dignified one nor a credit to this great nation.

If all signs do not fail what wheat there is will bring a good price this fall. So far as reported winter wheat is turning out light, and the prospects are that we shall get a fair average crop after all.

The phats have challenged the leans to mortal combat to-day upon the diamond, and say they won't leave a grease spot of the leans. If it should be a very hot day, the same could hardly be said of the phats.

If you want a good farm all equipped for business see notice of "a good farm for sale," and call at this office for particulars. We get a commission on that property if we sell it, but we will not allow that fact to prevent a sale.

Tom Harris and A. Glenn came down from Fosston on the 4th to help the boys celebrate. They haven't got their labors quite completed as yet, but expect to have the town moved down to the new site before many weeks.

The attitude of our two U. S. Senators toward each other on the question of patronage, is an unfortunate one for the good of the country, but just how it could have been prevented we fail to see, unless Senator Davis should consent to allow the twin cities to gobble everything in sight.

Pete Bouchemin came down on the 4th to see his family who for two weeks have been visiting Mrs. B's parents, and to have a good time with his many friends in this city, returning to his duties on the morning of the 5th. Pete is the same jolly good fellow as of old, and is laying up much shekels in Argyle.

The ~~Rochester asylum~~ investigation is not developing such a mare's nest as many thought it would. It is always best not to be too previous in opinions on such subjects. Our opinion is that the State should employ none but experienced, competent attendants and pay them what their services are worth.

With this country needing every facility that could be afforded for her advancement, it is a burning shame that the Duluth & Winnipeg road should be slaughtered in the house of its friends. Had the extension bill passed, the road would have been built to this country without the cost of a cent to our people. Cheap lumber and cheap freights were among the benefits offered, only to be refused by the very section that would have derived the greatest benefit. The people should not forget this.

The Times still insists that the respectable citizens of Crookston hung Sampson in effigy, and asks us how we know they did not. Simply because we know that no respectable person would do such a thing. If you know they did, and will prove it, we will own up beat. We feel interest enough in our city to be zealous of her good name, and we think it outrageous to spread the report abroad that her respectable citizens did such a deed, false though it is in every particular.

Mike Jeffers was down from Red Lake Falls to celebrate the ever glorious. Mike is one of the early settlers of Polk County, coming in the early day with but little means. While he has not become independently rich by any means, he has done better by fitting his interesting family of boys and girls for positions for usefulness and honor by giving them good educations. Mike is one of our level-headed farmers who attends to his own knitting, leaving the grumbling to those who have nothing better to do, and the consequence is that he is gradually acquiring a competency for his old age. Mike is one of those philosophers who believe in taking the world as he finds it and making the best of his surroundings.

The Bonds Ordered.

The council ordered the issue of the bonds at their Tuesday evening meeting, and now we expect to see the dirt fly all along the line in a few days.

The Ever Glorious.

The 4th in Crookston was not the most brilliant success in the world, but passed off pleasantly and with no accidents worth mentioning. Owing to the condition of the track the races were postponed till after the exercises in the grove, which cut in on the rest of the program. The parade formed at 2 o'clock, led by the Crookston Cornet Band, followed by a platoon of police, the mayor and speakers in a carriage, a wagonload of handsome young ladies representing the states, the Grand Army boys, the Crookston Fire Department, the Kid Cornet Band, the Norden Society and citizens in carriages. The exercises at the grove were appropriate to the occasion. Attorney A. A. Miller read the Declaration of Independence in a very impressive manner. Alderman Childs gave an eloquent address, followed by one from Attorney Henry Wight in his own inimitable style. Among his remarks was one worthy to be remembered. He said: "It has been said that the gates of Castle Garden swing but one way—inward. I do not believe this. We are all American citizens; but if those who come from foreign countries are not content with our institutions, the gates of Castle Garden will swing outwards to let them out, but if they are not content with that and adopt the style of the anarchist, we have another kind of a swing with a drop to it that fits their case." After the ceremonies at the grounds the crowd repaired to the race track and elsewhere as fancy led them. Freworks and two grand balls in the evening interested the crowds until a late hour.

Ed. McManus was up from Duluth last week.

Will Van Dyke reports having had a splendid visit at his old home on the 4th.

Try Wilson & Thompson's imported Havanna cigars. They can't be beat in the city.

Mike Leguee reports having all he can do at veterinary surgery. Mike is a thoroughbred.

Attorney Montague went out to McIntosh to indulge in a flow of oratory. He is always good.

Attorney Williams waved the flag at Fisher on the 4th. We hear that he made a rattling good speech.

Mrs. E. V. Hauser arrived this week on a visit to friends in the city. Mrs. H. was once Miss Nellie Mason.

Mr. T. Hunt is building a large addition to his residence on Main street. He has bought two lots additional which shows his faith in the future of our city.

A young son of W. S. Taylor, of the Red River Lumber Co., was seriously injured by the premature discharge of a fire cracker on the 4th. He is doing nicely at present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Palmer were down from Angus on Tuesday calling on old friends. Mr. Palmer says crops will not yield more than one-half the usual average.

A. E. Brush drove his fine span of three-year-old Hambletonian colts down from Angus on Tuesday. They make a fine team and were sired by "Major" now at Collins stables.

Johnny Berg has opened a restaurant in the building so long owned by Prof. Thompson and used as a barber shop. The place has been thoroughly renovated and is now in apple pie order.

The chief engineer of the new road went over the road between Crookston and Fertile on Tuesday, returning below in the evening. He said that if the council ordered the bonds issued in the evening the work of grading the new road will be commenced at once.

To the surprise of many the jump from the clouds was made. Prof. McEwen ascended over one mile then shot toward the earth like lightning before the parachute opened. The air was very quiet and he alighted within thre-quarters of a mile of the show grounds. Everybody was immensely pleased with the whole performance.

It may be poor consolation but it must be some consolation to reflect that the universally light crops will interrupt the twine schemers' nice little plans to make the farmers pay two prices for twine this year. By another year other plans will be so far matured as to render the twine scheme useless. The prospect is that so far from making money this year the twine trust will lose.

Willis Cobb, press manager for Wallace & Co's circus is one of nature's noblemen. He has been a newspaper man and knows how it is himself, this is why, on Wednesday morning he called at our office and invited us to call and see him at the grounds at 2. Upon arrival there he at once gave to us the freedom of the show (as it were) telling us that we owned the whole business for the time being and acting for all the world as though we did. And he has a show that he need not be ashamed of, the free show, the street parade and the balloon ascension being finer than the whole show of many others. They have the finest lot of horses we have ever seen in a circus; among them are some fine thoroughbred and grade Normans. Everybody pronounces this the best circus ever brought to this city.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

Indigestion.

Ole E. Hagen had a severe attack last week and gives us a two and a half column ad in a city paper in his efforts to obtain relief. After a great deal of personal abuse, Mr. Hagen asks: "What wrong has Sampson done to merit such treatment?" In the defeat of the Duluth & Winnipeg extension bill, Mr. Sampson has done a wrong to his entire district that he could not repair in a hundred years of legislation, could he live that long and be a legislator. It was wrong in him to oppose the known wishes of a large majority of his constituents. The business of a legislator, as well as any other public official, is to obey the will of the people, and not to set himself up as an autocrat whose opinion alone is law. Probably the object of the backers of the Duluth & Winnipeg road was to build up a good paying road, and to obtain business the road must go where the business is. If the object of the road in the beginning was to go direct from Duluth to Winnipeg, (which we do not by any means believe) the building of the Canadian Pacific, the Manitoba and the Northern Pacific renders that plan impracticable from a business standpoint and doubly insures the building of the road to the Valley, and there is nothing in the D. & W. charter now, nor ever has there been, to prevent the building of the road into the Valley. On the contrary the road would have to come to the Valley. The people of the Valley desired the road built, knowing that a direct, independent line to Duluth would mean thousands of dollars saved to this country on outgoing and incoming freights. Mr. Wright, the leading spirit, we might say, now in the enterprise is interested in a vast tract of pine lands along the route, between this city and Duluth. His great object is to get the road into that pine. What for? To send the product to Duluth where pine is as cheap as right in his woods, or to Winnipeg, on the same kind of a market? Well, hardly, as long as these vast prairies, right at his door, affords the kind of a market that lumbermen desire. His object when he became interested in the D. & W. was to get into the Valley with his lumber, and the road would naturally seek the most important towns and cities. Everything in the history of that road and the circumstances point unerringly to the fact that a new and independent short line from Duluth was seeking an entrance to our Valley, a road that would ensure every farmer in the Valley at least 5 cents more per bushel for his wheat and bring his necessaries in 50 per cent. cheaper than now. And what did we do? Why, the people—the COMMON people, whom Mr. Hagen professes to think so much of and for—all with one voice cried out in favor of the road, and many were the petitions and requests sent to Mr. Sampson to aid the road by his influence and vote. Did he heed their wishes and grant their reasonable request? Oh, no! he pretended to discover that that road, worth millions to his district, was not what we wanted at all, and by some inscrutable means or other the Manitoba road made the same discovery, that the people of this country did not need a road into this country that would save them thousands of dollars every year. Now, it is very easy to see why the road did not want this country saved thousands of dollars every year as long as the road can enjoy the carrying trade, but we confess that we fail to see how any one who pays freight could object to have it reduced 25 to 50 per cent. We say that it was Mr. Sampson's duty to do as his constituents wished him, regardless of the wishes of the Manitoba road or his own individual opinion, and all of the sophistries that he or Mr. Hagen can weave from now until doomsday will not change the facts now. The country needed the road more than any other agency in its development, and we firmly believe that Mr. Sampson had influence enough in the Senate to give us the road, for at one time it only required a small, a very small amount to turn the scales in our favor. Since the Senate adjourned Mr. S. has seemed to be very anxious to convince everybody that they did not know what they wanted, that he, and he alone, knew what is best for the welfare of the country. THE JOURNAL does not agree with him on that point and is not afraid to say so.

DIED.

WINCHESTER.—In Warren, on Tuesday, July 2d, 1889, of heart trouble, Mrs. Anna C., wife of Mr. G. C. Winchester, aged 22 years, 2 months and 11 days.

Warren Sheaf.

Mrs. Winchester, nee Miss Anna White, was married to Mr. Winchester at Shirley, Polk Co., on Sept. 10, 1888, and had therefore been married but 9 months and 3 weeks. On Wednesday, June 20, a daughter was born to them but never breathed. Although sorely grieved at the loss, the mother recovered fast with no difficulties, all friends feeling overjoyed at the probable speedy recovery. She had sat up in easy chairs a number of times and felt so well that she went to the table Tuesday morning to breakfast but feeling a little faint was laid on the bed and soon recovered and at noon, one o'clock the attempt to sit at the table again was made as she felt much better. Soon after sitting down she clasped her hand over her heart saying "Oh my heart," and fell back in the chair and was laid on the bed where she suffered three spasms, no doctor could be secured as both were out of town. Friends came in and everything possible was done to relieve her but with no avail. A doctor was summoned by special from Crookston, but did not arrive until too late. Both village physicians arrived in the meantime but could do nothing and at 3:30 p. m. were forced to announce her as dead, although not a sign of life had been visible for two hours. And this, what was expected to be the happiest meal in life proved to be the most heart-rending to the anxious husband. Death is sad but even in its saddest form, combined circumstances increases its sorrows and this seems to have reached the extreme. But one sister was present, Miss Ida. Mrs. Wattam being with her mother at Shirley and Mrs. Shaw on their farm near Crookston. Word was immediately sent to all friends. Dr. Wattam carrying the news to his wife by the special's return. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw arrived Tuesday evening and Dr. and Mrs. Wattam and the father and mother, arriving by this mornings's tran.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Chisago County News: Mr. Kernan, wife and little boy, of Crookston, Minn., have been visiting with Mr. Gibbs this week and last.

The contractors who are to build the road to the N. P. line sent an attorney up to see what shape matters were in here. He says if the bonds are issued the road will be built.

Ed. George speaks in the highest terms of praise of the manner in which he was entertained by the good people of Hallock, and of the celebration they had on the 4th. Says that everybody in Kittson and Marshall Counties must have been there, judging by the crowd. Everything passed off smoothly and harmoniously and was excellently well managed. He says Star Bashaw made 2:32 in the races.

The Hallock News brings out a wood cut of Ed. George which makes Ed. look as meek as Moses, all the same as though he didn't go for to do anything wrong and was just as sorry as could be for whatever it was. They do say, however that Ed. gave them a grand old speech which does not surprise us one little bit as Ed. well knows how to make the eagle soar far into the blue empyrean.

For a week or ten days a man has been around town whose actions indicated that he was a little off. Said he had a home in the thirteen towns, with lots of good stock that he had raised during the year he had been there. Last week one day, as the switch engine was getting some loaded cars at the mill a man was seen walking along the track towards the engine. The engineer, supposing he would step aside merely whistled at him and did not try to stop until within a few feet of the man then, seeing that he did not mean to get off the track he reversed and succeeded in stopping just as the engine struck the man pushing him one side. He was not hurt in the least but somewhat incensed at being obliged to give the right of way and went off doing some tall talking to himself about it.

A Move in the Right Direction.

That there are shrewd, long-headed business men, engaged in breeding in this county crops out now and then and is rendered emphatic in the improved tone, in the improved appearance of the stock in the county. The writer well remembers his first impressions in '72, upon his arrival in the Red River Valley, when the cry was all "wheat, wheat," of wonder how long that could last and how long it would be before some attention should be paid to thorough-bred stock raising. It is not so very many years since the first $2,000 horse or the first $500 bull was introduced into the county, and the progress has not been as rapid as it should have been, and could have been, had all been fully aware of the difference between a thoroughbred animal and a scrub. That affair at Fisher last Saturday, when a large number of sucking colts were brought in for exhibition, shows that some, at least, are interested and that the proper leaven is at work. Our informant tells us that a large number of colts appeared to contest for the different premiums offered, among which none showed to better advantage than the colts sired by the thoroughbred English Shire Horse, Ryon, (Eng. E. S. S. B. No. 5,319—Am. E. S. S. B. No. 107) owned by Carl Kreshler, of Fisher. Ole Johnson's bay mare colt took 1st prize, and Horace Heenan's horse colt was a close second. All of Ryon's youngsters proved a hard lot to beat, showing very plainly the difference between the get of a thoroughbred and that of a grade. The attendance was not as large as the importance of the event would warrant, but being the first of its kind in the county, it shows that there is a great deal of interest in the subject of breeding good animals, which will have a very beneficial influence in the future. Let the good work go on until every town in the county shall have become interested and then we shall have entered upon an era of prosperity hitherto undreamed of.

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address THE JOURNAL before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs.
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

For Sale Cheap.

1 24 inch Crossing Plow.
1 Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 Tiger Hay Rake.
1 Osborne Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Morehouse Truck.
1 12 Hoe Seeder.
1 150 foot Drive Belt.
1 1,000 lb. Scale.
1 Osborne Mower.
1 Traction Engine—Minnesota Giant.
1 Single Harness.

All the above goods are second hand and will be sold cheap.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

FOR SALE.

Some good farm machinery for sale cheap at—Southside Farm, Andover. One 12 horse power Giant Strawburner Engine, in good order. One Minnesota Chief Thresher, ten (10) Minneapolis Self Binders. Also some horses and mules at very low figures for cash or good notes. VICTOR CEDERLUND, [9-12] Foreman.

For Sale or Rent.

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office. [10-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5,) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153,) Range forty-four (44,) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "3" of mortgages on page 18, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 76-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 89-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 26th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors, did, on the 19th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 25th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 411; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and on the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

UNTIL FURTHER
NOTICE!

ALL
WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS | GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted
GENUINE
SLATER
FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED
Fast Colors,
OR MONEY
Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT
—THE ONLY—
C. O. D.
CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST
ESTABLISHMENT
OF THE KIND IN THE
NORTHWEST.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

☞ CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST. ☜

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Monopoly vs. Prosperity.

Says the Northwestern Agriculturist: The worst effect of monopolies is the injury done to the general prosperity of the country. It is of little moment that a few men are growing immensely rich; the trouble is that methods used prevent the masses from making fair progress in accumulating a competence. The concentration of capital and power results in the control of profits by a few rich men or corporations, and men of less capital are not free to use money or ability in many branches of business or kinds of employment, with any prospect of adequate returns. The prosperity that makes a country grow in wealth and enterprise is widely diffused. Concentration of wealth brings on a condition of things which grinds the poor, and finally takes the profits out of the rich man's business. Reduce the wages of laboring men and the net profits of farmers, and they have nothing with which to purchase anything beyond the necessaries of life, which always command moderate profits. The luxuries and higher comforts are cut off, and trade is thus curtailed, manufactories stop, business stagnates, and profits are turned into losses. The country is most prosperous whose laboring men and farmers are the best paid and most prosperous.

The Cost of Large Horses.

The Western Rural.

The question, if it costs more to raise large than it does small horses—that is, if they consume more than small horses do? The answers do not agree. It is no doubt true that if all horses were fed properly it would cost more to feed a large horse than a small one. It certainly takes more food to make two pounds of muscle than it does to make one pound. But in practice the small horse, the average small horse, consumes as much as the large one. The average man feeds so many ears of corn or so many quarts of oats, whether the horse is large or small, unless it is very small. What becomes of it then when fed to the small horse? It is wasted. It is not assimilated. We have always been inclined to think that we feed our horses too much, anyhow. We are by no means convinced that the average horse will do just as well upon less food. We are perfectly satisfied that the average man would be better off upon less food. Some years ago a Boston man published a work in which he purported to give his experience in this matter, and he declared that the average horse would do much better upon fifty per cent less food than he now got. One of the claims put forward for mules is that they eat less; and we think that a mule will get along upon less food than a horse will. But we never knew a mule to receive less food than was given to the horses that worked with them. Probably a portion of the food was wasted, but they got it all the same. We do not believe, however, that the cost of producing a large horse cuts much of a figure anyhow. It pays to produce him.

The Colt.

The Western Rural.

Too much cannot be said about the early handling of the colt. Every kind word you speak to the colt, every pat you give him, all the time you spend in accustoming him to being handled and to the halter and even to the touch of harness—when he gets old enough—is money in your pocket. What is the use in letting a colt grow up as wild as a deer. Yet thousands of colts are permitted to grow up that way. No attention is paid to them; they are not petted; they receive no more attention than would be given to a wild animal. The young thing finally develops into a horse, strong, untamed and unmanageable. Then comes the tussle, and one that would prove disastrous to the man who attempts to handle the animal, if the creature only knew its strength and had the wisdom to direct it. Breaking commences. The harness is put on, while the animal likely rears and pitches, and maybe strikes and kicks. The man perhaps goes out on plowed ground—we have often seen that done—that he may have a footing, while he drives the colt for the first time. Colt and man go trudging over the plowed soft surface. Then this colt is hitched to a buckboard, looking awkward as a cow in harness and the driver expecting something of an unpleasant demonstration all the time; and a hundred chances to one if that colt will ever be so thoroughly taught as to get out of him all the value there is in him. Why do this way? Why not begin to break the colt at once, while you can handle him—when there is no danger of handling him. A colt can be made already for service by the time he is old enough, without trouble or danger if his breaking is commenced when it should be.

Washington Cor. Northfield News: Your correspondent had a conversation with a gentleman yesterday who has known Mr. and Mrs. Sabin for years, having known Mrs. S. in Connecticut before her marriage. He says that Mrs. Sabin was addicted to the morphine habit when he first knew her, and that her failings here were well known to himself and a number of other friends of the family years ago. The infirmity took the form of prolonged sprees, which were excused away on the plea of illness. The senator, he says, has the most unbounded affection for his wife, even to this day, and has repeatedly refused the advice of friends to procure divorce, although he once consented to place her in an infirmary in this city, where she was for a short time. The gentleman, whose name I am not permitted to use, was very warm in his praise of Mr. Sabin's long forbearance. "Everyone who knows Sabin," he said, "will bear me out when I say that he is one of the noblest of men, and he is bearing the brunt of all the abuse heaped upon him without a word. With all her faults, I know that he still loves his wife and he would shield her if it were in his power." This information is absolutely reliable.

Flour is Firm.

Most of the Wheat New Ground Coming from Local Elevators.

St. Paul Globe.

The Northwestern Miller, in its issue of to-day, will say:

The mills ran a little stronger last week, and added some what to their product. The average output was 115,000 barrels—averaging 19,167 barrels—against 109,800 barrels the previous week, and 152,500 barrels for the corresponding time in 1888. Two less mills are running to-day than a week ago, but those in the operative list are being called on for all they can make, and the output approximates 19,000 barrels daily. The water in the canals is falling, yesterday going down five feet, and some of the mills have begun to feel the effect of the decline. The wheat being ground at present, 475,000 to 500,000 per week, is mostly coming from local elevators. Prices of flour have been advanced several times during the week, to keep somewhere within range of wheat, and while irregular, are 25c to 50c higher than a week ago. Jobbers hold light stocks of flour, and are buying fairly well for prompt shipment, but the movement is checked a good deal by the frequent raising of quotations. The available wheat is pretty much in the hands of a few strong holders, and millers as a rule feel firm as to values of flour.

A Summer School for Bible Study.

A Summer school for Bible stuby will be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. State committee, at Mahtomedi, Minn., (White Bear Lake) July 16th 23d, 1889. Rev. J. H. Samis, of Grand Haven, Mich., Dr. H. Grattan Guinness the well-known missionary worker from London, Eng.; Mr. J. T. Swift, the secretary at Tokio, Japan, Rev. H. F. Williams, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. International committee; Rev. R. A. Torrey and Secretary J. H. Elliott, of Minneapilis, W. F. Lewis, state secretary of Wisconsin, and Secretary T. C. Horton of St. Paul, are among those who will take part in the program. The mornings will be devoted to Bible study, the afternoons to recreation, and the evenings to song services, addresses, conferences and discussions, upon topics relating to christian work. Gymnastic exercise will be conducted each day, under the direction of Prof. R. L. Weston, of the St. Paul association. The Mahtomedi Chatauqua assembly have very kindly granted the use of their beautiful grounds and necessary buildings for this occasion. Special hotel rates of from $6 to $9 for the week have been secured, and a rate of a fare and one-third, for the round trip, upon the certificate plan, has been granted by the railroads. Mahtomedi is beautifully located on White Bear Lake, equi-distant from St. Paul and Minneapolis, on the St. P. & D. R. R. This will be a most delightful and profitable place to spend a week's vacation. A cordial invitation to be present, is extended to all christian young men, pastors and Sunday school workers For circulars, program and other information, address Fred B. Sharp, 9th and Wabasha sts., St. Paul Minn.

The real test of the dairy cow, says the Northwestern Agriculturist, is not size, color or breed, but the quantity and quality of milk produced, and the number of months the flow of milk is kept up. The quantity can be measured, the quality tested, and the persistent habit learned by observation. Cows which would have sold for the highest price, when tested, have been found to be least valuable because least profitable. A good cow is a little gold mine and should be kept until twelve years old and, if especially vigorous, even longer. If bred to a good sire, her heifers should be equal or surpass her in merit, and they should be carefully kept until their qualities are tested. No first class cow will bring her real value in market while many inferior cows will sell for more than their value. This is because handsome and useful do not go together in the cow, and most men will pay more for something that will please the eye than for a real genuine money-maker. A profitable cow is not necessarily a large milker, and high quality of milk is an offset for small quantity. No cow is worth keeping which will not make at least 175 pounds of butter a year, and there are plenty of cows which will produce double that amount, and the highest possible production should always be kept in mind when selecting or breeding a dairy herd. The profit comes out of the excess of production above the cost of feeding and care.

"Looking over my records," says Prof. Alvord, "I find that with cows of like age and breeding, those which calved in September and October gave from 800 to 1,000 pounds of milk more per year, than those that were fresh in the spring. I also find that the winter milk is considerably richer than that made from succulent pasturage of the spring and early summer, and from one to two quarts less of it is required to make a pound of butter. I estimate that two pounds of butter will bring as much money in winter as three in summer."

Intensive Farming in the Future.

Northwestern Agriculturist: If the present percentage of increase in the population of the United States continues after the public lands have been taken up, there must be a large increase in the amount of land cultivated in the older parts, or a large increase of the product per acre. There are many acres in all the States, not yet under plow, but it is probable that the increase in production will come by way of better farming, and increased production per acre. Prof. Blount, of the Colorado Agricultural College, planted on an acre of ground seven and one-half pounds of hand-picked wheat in rows 18 inches apart and harvested sixty-seven bushels of grain; on one-fourth of an acre he planted thirty-two ounces of selected seed, and harvested 18 bushels, and on 76 square feet he planted seventy-six kernels of choice seed and the crop was at the rate of 100 bushels per acre. Such results are not possible in practical agriculture, but they may be approached, and there is no doubt that farming in the future will be successful in proportion as the wastes, shown by this experiment, are cut off, and greater results in crop at the same time attained. If Prof. Blount's experiment could be carried out on all wheat fields, 50,000,000 bushels would be saved in seed alone, and the product at the same time largely increased. The possibilities of an acre of land are very little understood, but intelligent study and experiment convinces any farmer that greater net profit is in a small acreage in crop, well fertilized and well tilled; and it is the net profit that must be kept in mind to ensure success.

Netherland Dowager, 2632 H. H. B., one of the foundation animals of the Lakeside Herd, Syracuse, New York, has been a most successful producer of fine dairy animals, and is a strongly bred Netherland. She was dropped in March, 1874, and imported by her owners in September, 1882. Her sire is Tol's District bull and her dam is Oude Schemmel, whose milk record is over 80 lbs. in one day.

Netherland Dowager is a remarkable cow, and her excellence is a matter fully demonstrated by her progeny and by her own performance. Her Advanced Registry number is 123. She is the grandam of Netherland Prince 716, A. R. S.

She gave in Holland, just before importation, 91 lbs. in one day. She gave the first season after importation 12,734 lbs. 2 ozs. in a year, and the next season 78 lbs. 11 ozs. in one day, 17,160 lbs. 11 ozs. in one year. She made in one week 16 lbs. 1-2 oz. of butter.

Netherland Dowager is dam of Netherland Dowager 2d, 2633, which was sold for $1200, Netherland Dowager 3d, 8484, and Netherland Gem 1875, which are sold for $1,000 each.

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

GO TO S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1883. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim; and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 10th., 1889, viz: LOUIS P. VOLLOM, H'd 8,732, for the sw¼ sw¼ Sec. 8, se¼ se¼ Sec. 7, ne¼ ne¼ Sec. 18, nw¼ nw¼ Sec. 17, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Hans Buran, Harold Johnson, Ole Johnson and Christian M. Benson, all of Mentor, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why shsh proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[12-17] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN

BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200.000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallaseh, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson,	St. Paul.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon, Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

QUEEN CITY CHURCHES.

EPISCOPAL.—Ash street, head of Second St. Rev. I. C. Fortin. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 12 m.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.—Rev. John Price. Jr. Holds services at the Second Ward School House each alternate Sabbath, at 10:30 a. m.

GERMAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Services at 11:00 a. m. in Sampson's Addition. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Rev. Otto Niederhuth, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. O. H. Elmer, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. All welcome.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Corner of Ash and Bessie streets. Rev. O. T. Olson, pastor Services each Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Also each Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.—Corner of Main and Fourth streets. Rev. J. J. Edwards, pastor. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL.—————, pastor. Corner of Third and Ash streets. at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:00 m. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30, and the Society of Christian Endeavor for Young People, Sabbath evenings from 6:45 to 7:15.

BAPTIST.—Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Ash street. Services at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sabbath School at 12:15 p. m. Young People's meeting from 6:15 to 7:15. Services always closed in time to allow those present to attend their own churches. Prayer Meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Friday evening teachers' meeting at their different homes.

FIFTH WARD BAPTIST. Baptist Block. Rev. Chas. Carroll, pastor. Preaching at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School at 4:00 p. m.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE. O. Langstad pastor. Preaching at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:00 p. m.

ST. ANNE'S CATHOLIC. Ash street. Rev. F. E. Fayalle, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. Vespers at 3:00 p. m.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC.—Corner of Fifth and Broadway. Services every second Sunday in the month at 8:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 p. m. E. J. Lawler, pastor.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
8:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:24 "
10:45 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul; Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf]

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited.

Terms $1.00 per Day.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 11, 1889.

FREE TEXT BOOKS.

Supt. Chapin, of Becker County, Writes on the Workings of That System.

Fergus Falls Journal.

FRAZEE CITY, Minn., June 30.

I did not get answer from Supt. F. B. Chapin as to the amount necessary to raise per scholar to start the "free school books" plan in our public schools as I expected to by mail, but saw him at the Detroit G. A. R. encampment when he gave me satisfactory excuses for the neglect and delay in the matter. He says: "The average cost is about $1.25 per scholar to start the business, and run through the first year. Some districts will require a little more and others less, according to how well they are now supplied with necessary books, and then 35 cents per scholar per year will keep them fully supplied afterwards." Some of the benefits to be derived by the adoption of the plan are set forth in a communication of his to the School Education of March, 1888, a periodical published at St. Paul for teachers' preparation, which he kindly hands me. Yours truly,

D. L. WELLMAN.

The free text book system adopted in all our schools having proved popular and beneficial, some facts in regard to its workings may be of interest to the educators of the state.

From conversations with persons in my own county and others, also from personal observation, I find a great deficiency in the supply of books; the more advanced pupils not taking up all the studies required, and some of the younger children not even one reader; few more than one.

In country districts teachers are more or less annoyed by pupils being obliged to study together. It is not only an annoyance, but an injury to the school. All agree that each pupil needs a book to himself. Changing seats causes confusion and loss of time which might be used for the benefit of the school. It often necessitates the seating of pupils where the temptation to play is greater than their inclination to study.

Very often a teacher's success for an entire term depends upon the beginning of her work. If, when she enters school, she must waste time in finding what children have books and waiting for others to purchase, the work must be delayed, and often, from want of sufficient work, a spirit of idleness is engendered that is hard to eradicate and which may lead to lawlessness. If all needful books were ready to distribute at the beginning of the school, as they should be, each class could at once enter upon its work, thus preparing the way for grading, which can only be successfully carried out where each child has all necessary supplies.

Several fine books have been added to our state series, and although a majority of pupils may have works based on the old methods, it seems proper that each child be given all possible advantages.

By furnishing them, books seen to possess great advantages over the old series may be placed in all the pupil's hands when required.

As often happens, parents living at a distance from any text book agent, must keep the child waiting until they have the ready money and time to purchase, which is a loss to the pupil and an injury to his class.

Teachers in the graded as well as common schools, are strongly in favor of the plan, since it permits systematic and progressive work, and removes many difficulties which had formerly to be encountered.

Children who were kept out, from poverty or negligence now attend, thus increasing the enrollment and attendance, and thereby the apportionment.

In older states, where tried, this method has always proved cheaper. After a twelve years' trial in the Detroit schools, Prof. J. N. Childs, in his report for the first eight years of a child's school life, gives the aggregate cost of text books $3.47 or 43⅜ cts. per year.

Compare this with the report in October number of School Education by Prof. Avery, of the Marshall schools, where he says the cost per pupil is:

1st year	$ .20	5th year	$2.85
2d year	.75	6th year	1.60
3d year	.80	7th year	1.00
4th year	.90	8th year	2.10

An aggregate of $9.70 or $1.21 per year. The schools are practically the same size and employ the same number of teachers; while only one set of readers is used in the Marshalls schools against two series in Detroit.

This is a saving in the eight years of $1,895.52 on the average enrollment of 224 pupils.

Where the benefits of the system are fully understood the people are anxious to secure them; this being true of Scandinavians and Germans as well as Americans.

CLAY COUNTY CROPS.

Crops in the Red River Valley Far Below the Average.

Moorhead News: No good cause can be subserved by disguising the truth in relation to the crops. If we are to have another failure, or partial failure, it may as well be known now as later. In fact it will be best all around that we realize it as soon as possible, and prepare for it as best we may. If the report goes out that our crop is as good as usual, an army of men looking for work in the harvest will tramp in, and we will have them to feed until they can tramp out again, and be liable to their depredations, thefts and other crimes. The crop prospects are gloomy indeed. We speak from personal observation and close and careful inspection. As it stands to-day it may be stated in a few words. Unless rain falls at once, and it cannot be postponed longer than a few days, more than one-half of the grain sown in this county—and from the best information obtainable we believe this county is in fully as good condition as any of the twelve counties which comprise the Red River Valley in Minnesota and Dakota—will not be harvested because there will not be enough grain to pay the expense of harvesting. If rain should fall at once in liberal quantities, much of this half that is so unpromising now, may be recovered so far as to produce sufficient to pay the expenses of harvest—say five or six bushels per acre.

In the midst of this gloomy prospect there are some bright spots. Districts of more or less extent have been visited by timely showers which have refreshed the growing grain, and in these there is premise of fair crops. Such a strip or section is the one east and south of this city, where on Saturday, June 8th, a heavy shower fell in a strip between Glyndon and Moohead, the center being in a line with the round elevator and so on south, taking in Holmes', Watts', Daniels', Orf's, or a portion of it, the Artesian Stock farm (Tanner's), Wiederman's and others in Elmwood township. It was perhaps three or four miles wide and six or more long. Another strip of country north was well moistened. From a point two or three miles north of Kragues station, and extending partly through the township of Georgetown, say three or four miles wide north and south and from Red River across the Buffalo for several miles east, maybe in length eight or ten miles east and west, on Monday, the 17th, a good soaking shower fell, and in this strip the grain looks fresh and promising. We will not mention names, but if anyone will go over the ground he can see for himself. In the vicinity of what is known as the Kragnes school house, which is located on the east bank of the Buffalo River near Peter Tufflon's place and Charles Brendenmuhl's, the wheat is looking well. There are a few fields in the dryest districts which look very well. This is due to special causes, such as land that has been pastured being broken up and seeded to wheat, garden spots or where potatoes and other roots have been planted in previous years, and other land which has receivd special tillage, fertilizing, &c.

There have been showers like these probably in other parts of the Red River Valley, which have saved the grain within circumscribed limits, but in general the crops of the Red River Valley in its whole extent, we think, are in just as unpromising a condition to-day.

Hope, however, should not be despaired of. There is still time for a large part of the later sown grain to make a fair crop, not a large one, but one worth harvesting, and we believe should the Ruler of the universe send the refreshing and recovering rain in ample quantities at once, grain that looks so lifeless and despairing now, would leap into new life and vigor and yet make the husbandman smile with full granaries.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

Partnership Dissolved.

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 22, 1889.

The partnership existing between the undersigned, as Huggard, Larsen & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. M. Lowe will collect all notes and accounts due the said firm and pay all debts due.

Office with Wm. Watts, Attorney, on Broadway.

DAVID HUGGARD.
L. W. LARSEN.
[10-12] C. M. LOWE.

Partnership Dissolved.

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 22, 1889.

The partnership existing between the undersigned as Lowe & Huggard is this day dissolved by mutual consent. C. M. Lowe will collect all notes and accounts due the said firm and pay all debts due.

Office with Wm. Watts, Attorney, on Broadway.

C. M. LOWE,
[10-12] DAVID HUGGARD.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue. Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court.

In the matter of the guardianship of Maria Anderson, Hans Anderson, Sine Anderson and Stine Anderson minors.

On reading and filing the petition of Jacob Anderson guardian of Maria, Hans, Sine and Stine Anderson the above named minors.

It is ordered, pursuant to the prayer of said petitioner, that a time be fixed for examining and allowing his account, that said account be examined, and petition heard by the Judge of this Court on the 23d day of July 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the Probate office in Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that public notice be given to all persons interested of the time and place of examining said account, by publishing a copy of this order in THE POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county, at least once in each week for two successive weeks prior to the day of such hearing.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
[10-12] Judge of Probate.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah B. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Def't.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
[8-13] Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 13th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 3d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages, on pages 578 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assgnment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884 at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 614, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149,) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1885 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2,) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 229 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 20th A. D. 1889.

THE AMERICAN FREEHOLD LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY of London (Limited.)
Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[10-16] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., June 21st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: R. W. BROWN, D. S. 11,050, for the new Sec. 8, Tp 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. M. Benson, John Olson, T. Jolly, Peter Toupin, all of Mentor, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[0-15] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

Turkes Eggs for Sitting,

Rhode Island Bronze turkeys are the largest and most hardy turkeys in existence. I can supply them at half the expense of importing. Call at my residence on section 9, Fairfax, or leave orders at THE JOURNAL office.

MRS. M. E. BARTLETT.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitobu Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

THE UNIVERSITY

OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE. ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889. Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor.
DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY.
TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum
VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JULY 18, 1889. NO. 13.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY HURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com's'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON.

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security
Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY.

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.
Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Minn

A White Man's Show.

What we wrote of Wallace & Co's circus last week was written before we had seen the show, with the exception of the parade. A personal inspection convinced us that the half had not been told. Upon arrival at the canvass city the editorial party was taken in charge by Willis Cobb, the gentlemanly press agent, who took us into the mammoth circus tent, seated us in parlor chairs and told us that the whole business was ours pro tempore. The vast tent was crowded to its utmost capacity, over 5,000 tickets having been sold. The Fisher Bros. trapeze performance was a wonderful exhibition, the leap for life never having been excelled, while the tumbling act of the four Schrode brothers, the best ever attempted in this city. The club swinging by Miss Ashton was remarkable, while the juggling of Alvido and Geyer could not be beat. The riding was first-class, as was the performance as a whole, even the candy butchers and lemonade fiends were very gentlemanly and forebore to walk all over the heads and shoulders of the audience in their scramble for nickels—certainly a new and pleasing departure from general circus rules. At the close of the circus we accepted an invitation from Mr. Cobb to stay and see the Sullivan and Kilrain burlesque. "Look out for the man behind you," said Sullivan, and and when Kilrain obligingly complied, he got a blow that laid him out. At the close of this performance we were taken into the menagerie and made the rounds with Mr. Cobb as guide and instructor. The animals were not as numerous as some circusses carry, but were very rare—such as few circusses possess. Then we went out to see the professor make his jump from the balloon, after which, with Mr. Cobb as a guide, we made the rounds of the side-show business and went around to see the horses, of which there is a magnificent lot, every one fat, contented and happy. Should Wallace & Co's circus ever come to this city again they had better bring a bigger tent, as the one they have, though large, would not begin to hold the crowds that would come.

CIRCUS NOTES.

There were three bands, a calliope and a Scotch bagpipe in the parade.

Dan McDonald says he never saw a circus train loaded and unloaded without an oath from the employes until he saw Wallace & Co's circus do that same thing on Wednesday.

Ed. Wile is an old friend of Wallace. That is why the big elephant's blanket in the parade said: "Follow the procession to the C. O. D."

There was a noticeable and pleasant absence of fakirs on the grounds and in the city.

The circus band gave the C. O. D. folks a serenade in the evening.

The funny little trick mule was "too killing for anything."

Wallace & Co. captured everybody by furnishing a first-class show for a moderate price—50 cents, and by taking great pains to please their guests of the day. They showed everything that they advertised. Should they ever come again they will not lack for patronage.

Fergus Falls Journal: An unknown man, a farmer from the neighborhood of Crookston, came down on Wednesday night's train to spend the 4th near here. At the lower station the brakesman told him to get off at the next stopping place. The train unexpectedly to the brakeman, stopped on the bridge over the river, and the stranger grasped his bag and blankets and hurried to the platform. It was pitch dark and he could see nothing. Just as his feet reached the trestlework, which he thought was the platform, the train started. He stepped forward quickly and plunged down headlong, into about five feet of water. His blankets were lost, but he managed to regain his valise, and had the presence of mind to feel for the bottom, find it and wade to shore without injury beyond a few bruises. He took breakfast at the American house and left at once for the country. As he did not register nobody learned his name.

From the Mankato Herald we take this: The morality, sociability and virtue of a people are in the keeping of the girls and the young women of that people. Men are what the women make them. If the girls grow up to be noble, loving, faithful and high-minded women they will find the boys keeping pace with them. If the girls are willing to associate with boys of questionable habits and grow up to be fickle, careless and indifferent women they will find the boys and young men, and the old men too, right by their side. When the girls demand constancy for constancy, honor for honor, purity for purity; when they demand the steady nerve and strong muscle of total abstinence for their companions; when they learn that the only way to reform a man is to keep him at a distance until he is reformed, the social problem of the age will be solved.

Advanced Registry.

NOTES ON THE REQUIREMENTS FOR BUTTER RECORDS.

Holstein-Friesian Register.

In view of present interests, butter records are of the highest importance to Holstein-Friesian breeders. The controversy in regard to milk production is virtually ended. The enormous records of our leading breeders are almost universally conceded to be true. Even such journals as the American Dairyman, of New York City, and such writers as Prof. Long, of England, have virtually succumbed to evidence they could no longer question or doubt. That the Holstein-Friesian is the leading milch breed of the world is settled. Public attention must now be drawn to its ability to take and hold a like position as a butter breed.

In this work Advanced Registry has an important part. The minimum production for the entry of a cow of full age is 15 lbs. in seven consecutive days of 24 hours each. This is a pound higher than the "standard record" for Jersey cows. Thus our breeders start with claiming a higher standard than that for any other breed. It is said that there are processes of manipulation by which a considerable portion of the caseine in milk or cream may be mixed and combined with the fat and a mongrel product manufactured, which, under the influence of personal interest and a lively imagination, may be called butter. Advanced Registry receives records of no such products. Nor does it receive records of butter weighed in a granulated state, loaded full like a sponge with water or butter-milk. The rule is explicit and positive. "In each and every butter record reported the butter shall be of good marketable quality, salted at not higher than one ounce of salt to a pound of butter and worked free from any excess of water or butter-milk." The inspectors and superintendent are under obligation to reject all records that do not literally conform to this rule. Thus not only have the breeders fixed a standard of quality above that of other breeds, but they have also fixed a standard of quality that allows of no loading up with excess of caseine, water or butter-milk, but requires a good, honest, marketable, well worked product.

To allow of fuller and more extensive records, standards of quality below that of a full age cow are provided for younger animals. The lowest is that of 9 lbs. required of a heifer dropping her calf on the day she is two years old. Nine hundredths of an ounce is added to this for every increased day of age at such time of dropping calf. At three years it becomes 11 lbs., at four 13 lbs., and at five, or full age, 15 lbs. as before stated. Above this age the standard is not increased. No system could be juster or less difficult of application. The requirement of any age can easily be ascertained. This system gives to all breeders and to all classes of cattle an equal chance.

Suppose that during the present year from five hundred to a thousand cows should make these records (a supposition not at all improbable if all would enter upon the work of testing their animals,) is there a breeder in our whole country that would not immediately be profited by it? Our breed of cattle has been fortunate in this country in being in the hands of progressive men. It is not the qualities of the breed alone that has given to it its present prominence. Much of it is due to the men who have handled it, brought it out and developed it. Its future depends on similar work. And there is no kind of work that has a greater promise of success than the development of its better qualities.

H.

What Kind of Horses Shall we Breed?

Prairie Farmer.

No man will take a high stand in breeding and rearing a class of farm animals for which he has no fancy. Some men—and that very properly—have "action" associated in the mind with the horse. Hence, such a man, if he adopts the breeding of heavy horses, after learning the peculiarities of formation that always go hand in hand with supple and prompt movements, will provide himself with the foundations that promise this outcome, and will be content with no other. What is this formation? Well, bear in mind, that as the fore part of the animal leads, we may as well look there for the leading movement; and to that very important part, the shoulder, we must look for fitness to make this movement. Whether in the light horse or heavy, it will save mistakes if we adopt it as a rule that the fore leg can go forward—no matter what the gait, with ease—in the ratio of the slant of the shoulder.

Therefore, in breeding heavy horses, destined to be worn out in active, heavy city service (and this is where these horses are usually marketed.) bear in mind always that the duties to be performed are very different from those required on the farm. It is not only that the slanting shoulder is needed that we may have rapid progression—for in omnibus and truck work train time enters into the account, and neither passenger nor freight trains wait for delayed passenger or truck loads—but bear in mind that the city footing for horses is hard and unyielding, and the upright shoulder is liable, early, to become stiffened and sore. This comes of the simple fact that the weight of the horse (and in case of an animal of 1,400 to 1,600 pounds this cuts an important figure) is carried upon a perpendicular shaft as it were, the concussion and strain not being lightened by the peculiarly favorable shape found in the slanting shoulder. This slant, in a well-formed shoulder, may be not inaptly compared to the one-fourth of an eliptic spring, in that you cannot, in any legitimate use to which you put it, get the weight or concussion to bear in the direction of the structure, lengthwise, but, on the other hand, it must always be expended across the shaft, at an angle, thus insuring elasticity instead of the direction of the shaft, involving concussion. Hence, it is that we find the upright shoulder more frequently stiffened than the slanting shoulder. This is sure to be the case if you put two horses of like weight at a given sort of work for a given time, one having the slanting and the other the upright shoulder.

The buyer for city use will always give considerable weight to the fact of a horse having style, both at rest and in motion; and it hardly needs to be said that no horse can have style worth the name, unless the slanting shoulder be present. With this—never without it—can we look for a stylish setting on of the neck and up-carriage forward. Never without this slanting shoulder can we expect a short back and a long underline. This latter is an accompaniment of a swinging gait and a long reach or stride. To complete the picture, we want the deep, rotund barrel, a strong loin and wide hips. The latter is necessary that the hind legs may follow the forward legs properly, planting the hind feet well forward upon the footing. In addition to this, wide hips afford room for thick muscles, and in these, largely, the power in draft lies.

We expect, with these combinations, suitable width of hock, muscles set deep down in the thigh, and legs wide and firm below the hock. Then, as it is true, "no foot, no horse," we need not look for any lasting service from the horse, in city service, even though he possesses all the excellences mentioned, if he lacks that important appendage—a good hoof. It is this that pounds the cobble-stones, granite blocks, or slips on the well-worn wooden pavement, and the thing to marvel at is that a foot can be so constructed as to stand the extraordinary service required of it after removal from country roads to city streets. What is it that forces the transfer of so many horses from city to country? Mainly that they are said to be "foot-sore;" hence are, from necessity, taken from hard pavements to the cushioned footing of the farm, and country roads.

In the breeding of heavy horses, the idea of "style" should not be ignored, for, even before the truck, this feature has its weight. Large wholesale houses are far from being indifferent regarding the make-up and show qualities of their street outfits. On the other hand, especial care is given to matching and trappings. Some years ago, having occasion to drive a few miles out of Bloomington, Ill., when the breeding of the French draft-horse was in its infancy in this country, I met many teams of grade French horses going to town with corn, each team hauling 50 to 60 bushels. That gave great promise in the direction of the future draft horses of our country. Since that time, the promise has been fully sustained.

G. S.

The Four-year-old Test of Pietertje 3d.

Ed. Register:—As has been my usual practice and rule, when making a record of particular public interest, to make it as public as possible, I hereby notify and invite all those that are interested in the making of large records, and others whose curiosity to see and witness the same, to come and witness the milking of Pieterje 3d, 11244 H. F. H. B.

She has just closed the ninth month of her year's record, during which time she has milked 19,071 lbs. 1 oz. She is still milking 60 lbs. per day. She is three months in calf, therefore will be six months in calf when she closes her year's record, having been bred to her half brother, Pietertje 2d's Holland King, on March 6, 1889. It will be remembered that she made the largest two-year-old record ever made and completed before three years of age viz.: 17,927 lbs. 1 oz. She is now making her four-year-old record. She commenced this record Sept. 11, 1888, while at the Buffalo exposition, under the supervision of the judges in charge of the special milk test. She dropped one of the largest calves I ever saw two days previous to going into the special milk test. Following is the report of the judges; 1st day, 52 lbs. 1 oz.; 2d day, 55 lbs. 12¼ ozs., 3d day, 58 lbs. 10¼ ozs.; also that her udder was inflamed and badly caked, and that her temperature was not below 102 at any time during the test.

The flow of milk steadily increased, and on October 29th it reached its highest point, which was 87 lbs. 4 ozs. in one day. Commencing her record September 11th, she milked for the balance of the month 1,342 lbs.; October, 2,530 lbs. 10 ozs.; November, 2,376 lbs. 5 ozs.; December, 2,333 lbs. 8 ozs.; January, 2,151 lbs. 1 oz.; February, 1,929 lbs. 2 ozs.; March, 2062 lbs. 3 ozs.; April, 1,887 lbs. 4 ozs.; May, 1,867 lbs. 6 ozs.; and ten days of June, 593 lbs. 10 ozs.; completing nine months of her record with a total of 19,071 lbs.

On February 22d a butter test of seven days was commenced. The amount of milk given in the seven days was 433 lbs. 2 ozs., from which was made 19 lbs. 6 ozs., of very nice butter without any change of feed from her usual daily milk ration. It will be remembered that she was milking almost 50 lbs. per day, when she closed her two-year-old record. She was tested twice the last week of her record by disinterested, honorable gentlemen. She was six months in calf at that time.

DALLAS B. WHIPPLE & SON.
Cuba, N. Y., June 11, 1889.

Sheep and Needle Grass.

The Northwestern Agriculturist: I agree with Mr. Patrick and others that Dakota is unsurpassed for sheep. I am not a sheep grower, but have watched the varying successes of others. In 1886 a neighbor had about 20, which were allowed to run, with cows and other stock picketed out. They kept near the other animals and did well except for the needle grass. The lambs were sheared, and part of the grown sheep sheared twice, to get the needles out. Some of the needles worked in near their entire length. The sheep were sold, and sheep raising condemned by the owner.

In the fall of 1887 I traded for a little bunch of Cotswolds, some full blood. They were left on the range with the cattle they were raised with until the next August, and were not sheared, through a misunderstanding with the former owner. I found the forequarters and lower parts of the bodies stuck full with needles, some had run under the skin, and others had turned and were coming out; most had entered straight, and all had fastered more or less. After shearing, the sheep made their bodies sore biting at the needles, but succeeded in getting most of them out. They were a sorry lot of sheep when I traded them off.

The needle grass starts early and may be kept down by turning the sheep upon it. When the needles fall sheep should not be permitted to ramble. Late shearing, ensuring a short fleece when the needles ripen, and less chance for them to cling to the sheep, is advisable. In a very few years needle grass will disappear, as it has from Iowa ranges where it was once very prevalent. A number of farmers in this county now have small flock of sheep.

LEA WRIGHT.
La Moure Co. N. D.

Variety of Grasses in Pastures.

Rural New Yorker: The other day we spent the best part of an hour watching a horse and cow eat grass in a pasture. This observation was not taken from the top of a fence, but we got as close to the animal's mouths as we could. If the reader will take the pains to do as much he will learn a thing or two. Animals know what they want. Watch them graze. They do not eat all sorts of grasses. They pick out what they want, delicately and decidedly. They like young grass best. They do not care so much for the rank, heavy growth that springs up where extra manure is applied to the surface. In the spring they like to eat a few dandelions and other weeds that some human beings take in patent medicines. Our horse likes to grass in one place until the grass is cropped close, and then to leave it for a few days until a new, tender growth is made. He also likes to feed on the high ground one day and on a lower place the next. We find different species of grasses on these different parts of the pasture and conclude from the observations that the farmers who advocate the seeding of pasture with mixture of a dozen or more kinds of grass-seeds are exceedingly wise. The great variety of grasses will surely please the animals, and as the grasses mature at different times, there will be a longer supply of the tender, succulent groth that is so much preferred.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

Largest & Most Complete Stock of Jewelry, Clocks, Silverware, Spectacles Etc. Etc.
All Work Warranted, and Perfect Satisfaction Guarranteed.
At Bottom Prices.

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,
ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

W. A. ROBERTSON,
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senbolt and proving property.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to E. A. Wilkinson,)
Fournet Block Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

Clifton Hotel
JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon,
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

MONEY TO LOAN
On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly.
[52-tf]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 18, 1889.

'Round Home.

E. C. Davis returned from his visit to St. Paul this week.

The gun club had nice weather for its tournament and enjoyed it highly.

H. Steenerson returned from St. Paul this week. Won his suit, of course.

A cow belonging to R. Smith was sunstruck on Saturday, July 6th, and died the next day.

Who says it is "hard times" when our city pays twenty cents per line for locals without a protest?

Theodore Greenhalgh has obtained a flowing well at a depth of 212 feet. It flows 25 barrels per day.

E. C. Davis and H. Steenerson went to St. Paul in a case against the railroad company before the Supreme Court.

Terry Sheley and Frank Deming were among the leading citizens of Red Lake Falls who took in the show last Wednesday.

Wheat took a drop of ten cents since our last report, going from 87 to 77 cents. Late reports indicate a large yield of winter wheat.

Alderman Buhn built a new fence around his premises last week. The council ordered the issuance of the bonds on Tuesday evening.

Geo. J. McManus returned last week from a pleasant visit below and went out to McIntosh last Saturday to spend the Sabbath with his mother and brothers.

The Warren boys came down on a special with their band and about one-half of the city to witness the sport. The return game occurs at Warren tomorrow.

A. E. McManus returned from Ann Arbor last Thursday and left on the morning train for McIntosh. He has been admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the State of Michigan.

Freeman Dowd, one of the prominent farmers of Rosebud, was in the city on Friday last. Mr. Dowd says the rain brightened up prospects wonderfully and farmers are hopeful for the future.

P. C. Schmidt has been retained in an important case in East Grand Forks wherein the school district sues the city for nine-tenths of the license money, under the provisions of their new charter.

Mr. I. U. Jennings returned from Norwalk, Ohio, on Sunday morning, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. I. M. Underhill and her little son, who will reside with her parents in this city for the present.

M. W. Crocker was down from Angus last Friday. Mr. C. reports that the outlook indicates about a half crop in the vicinity of Angus, which is a decided improvement over the prospects before the rains.

Parties started out over the survey to Fertile to procure right of way, on Monday. When this work is done, the dirt will soon begin to fly. It is thought the road will be completed and in running order by Oct. 1st.

W. C. Andrew, Averill, Carpenter & Co's handsome traveling man, beamed upon us the light of his smiling countenance on Tuesday. Andrew is one of the boys who wear. While he is every day alike, his eyes ain't.

Photographer S. Johnson returned from Butte, Montana, last week. He has established a gallery there with Mr. Holand in charge. Says business is good out there and plenty of money in circulation. He is thinking of going back in the fall to spend the winter.

Eli Steenerson took a trip along the west side last week and reports crops looking exceedingly well, considering. He called at Ole Bang's place in Higdem and says that Ole is an A 1 farmer, has a fine farm, fine crops and excellent stock. Is building a $3,000 stock barn, which, when completed, will be one of the best in Polk County.

M. R. Brown has received from the manufacturers a quantity of jute and hemp twine which he wishes to place in the hands of a few farmers for trial. The only consideration asked is that the farmer is to give it a thorough trial, taking pains to subject it to every test that he can think of and to make a written report of the trial to Mr. Brown.

While attending the circus last Wednesday with his family, the residence of comrade James Greenhalgh was broken into and a gold watch, a diamond pin and other valuables were stolen. It would seem by the circumstances that the parties must have been acquainted with the premises and the facts. As yet no clue has been obtained to the identity of the robbers.

Reports from Montana are to the effect that the drouth has nearly ruined grass. It is said that stockmen are rushing their cattle out right lively, and that the Manitoba and Northern Pacific railroads are using every car they have in the effort to get the cattle out. A gentleman at the Commercial on Tuesday said that one day last week thirty-seven train loads of stock went east through Fargo. Hay is said to bring $30 now in Montana, and should the drouth continue stockmen will have to feed hay to such of their stock as they cannot dispose of.

Was the Finance Committee Asleep?

One of the items in the bill presented by W. E. McKenzie at the last meeting reads: "To 9 line local, 1 time, $1.80!" Mr. McKenzie makes his affidavit that the account is JUST and TRUE, &c. We imagine that Mac charges no one else 20 cents per line, nor even 10. Another item is for 9 lines, 4 times, $3.60, or 10 cents per line for every insertion. The purchasing agent signs the bill as all O. K., thus saying that it is all right for the city to pay four or five times the price that a private individual could probably get the same work for. It must be that the finance committee was asleep to allow such a bill as that, especially when the city has a contract with us at reasonable figures.

Grand Forks News: Hugh Thompson, of Fisher, was over here a few days sucking for trade. He's the dandy Jim who defeated the bridge appropriation in the Minnesota legislature because he wanted his cow-patch drained. Hugh ought to be voted a gold medal by Grand Forks.

And despite the dyspeptic view of the News he is taking large orders for his famous flour in Grand Forks, whose citizens know a good thing when they see it. That he defeated the bridge scheme is giving him more credit than he claims, when all our representatives were opposed to it. Never mind the gold medal. Hugh is satisfied with the golden opinions his flour wins and the trade he gets.

Great Ball.

On Thursday the phats and the leans had a great game on the ball grounds resulting in the discomfiture of the phats by a score of 60 to 55. A. C. Wilkinson wears his left arm in a sling as a souvenir, while W. F. Zwickey is nursing a swelled right hand.

On Saturday the Warren nine met the Crookston nine on the diamond and a mighty good game was played, Warren claiming the victory on the following score:

SCORE.

Crookston.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
McKinzie,	1	0				0
Cunningham,	1						0		0
Stewart,	1	0		0			0
Hunt,	0		0				0
Bugg,	1		1		0			0
McGlogan,			0		0			0
Graves,	0		0		0			0
Clery,	0			0		0			0
Winne,		0		0		0			0
Totals	4		1	0	0	0	0	0	0—5

Warren.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Stevens,	0		0		0	0		0
Main,			0		0
Baxter,	1		1			1	0
Taylor,			0			1	0
Flanders,	0					1
Todd,	0				0	1
Bradley,		0		0		0	0
Wood,		0		0		0		0
Noyes,		0			0	1		0
Total	1	0	1	0	0	5	0	0—7

THE JOURNAL received a postal card this week containing the following announcement:

"Rev. Kemp, of Grand Forks, will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening, exchanging pulpits with the pastor."

The card had no signature and a general rule of printing offices forbids its publication. If we followed that rule we should be called churlish and unaccommodating; if we publish it we must break our rules. We do not like to be churlish nor can we break the rules, so must respectfully decline to publish the notice. We would say right here, however, that we are always happy to publish all such notices and as it is a very easy thing for the writer to sign his or her name, would respectfully request that hereafter such communications be signed by the writer. It was only last week that a city paper published a similar notice—probably received in the same way—and another sheet went into spasms because the tother fellow "had made a mistake," &c., and went for him rough shod, while the party of the first part had to take it all, not knowing who made the mistake.

Miss Lucy Martin, of Buffington, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Olds.

The Hudson Star and Times, says: "A. K. Olds, of Spokane Falls, a brother of O. H. P., is visiting relatives in the city for the first time since the war."

Sheriff Paulsrud went down to his farm this week and reports that the west side will harvest about one-half the usual crops. The rain has helped out wonderfully.

Oliver Mercil while out to the lake this week took an involuntary plunge bath. He was standing in a skiff when some one else stepped in and Mercil took a header into the lake—went down to count the fishes, as it were. He was a wiser and a wetter man when he got out.

N. P. Johnson has purchased the right to sell the Parker sickle-grinder in Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties, and is now taking orders as fast as he can supply the machines. The machine can be used for grinding knives, axes, or any cutlery whatever by the use of a different stone. See what Johnson has to say about it elsewhere in this issue, then go and see the machine.

In the case of the State vs. Touchette, last week tried before Judge Lewis, the jury was out 12 hours before they finally agreed upon a verdict of guilty. The jury stood 11 to 1 on first ballot and the same all through. The Judge gave the jury to understand that they might stay all summer, but he must have a verdict of some kind, but it only took 12 hours to bring the obstinate juror to see it as the others did.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - - - Minnesota

The Tournament.

Monday opened bright and beautiful and continued so during the day. The following is the score for the first day:

FIRST SHOT AT 10 A. M.

		1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
1	Morris	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1—9
2	Skinner	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1—8
3	Max	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
4	Stone	1 1 0 1 1 1 0 0 1 1—7
5	Ruble	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0—8
6	Barber	1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0—7
7	Heikes	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
8	Gorgas	0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1—7
9	Jones	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1—9
10	Hanson	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
11	Barnes	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
12	Holt	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
13	Burke	1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1—9
14	Benson	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
15	Chantler	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1—9
16	Morrisey	0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
17	Cowing	1 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 1 1—5
18	Hamlin	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1—8
19	Cowing	0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 0—2
20	Robbins	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
21	Thompson	1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1—8
22	Wile	0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0—7

SECOND SHOT, 7 SINGLES.

1	Morris	1 1 1 1 1 1 1—7
2	Morrisey	1 1 1 1 0 1 1—6
3	Skinner	1 1 1 1 1 1 1—7
4	Max	0 1 1 1 1 1 1—6
5	Stone	1 1 1 1 1 1 1—7
6	Barber	1 1 1 0 1 1 1—6
7	Heikes	1 1 1 1 1 1 1—7
8	Gorgas
9	Jones	1 0 0 1 1 1 1—5
10	Hanson	1 1 1 1 1 1 0—6
11	Barnes	1 1 0 1 1 1 1—6
12	Holt	1 1 0 0 1 1 1—5
13	Burke	1 1 1 1 1 1 1—7
14	Benson	0 1 1 0 1 1 1—5
15	Chantler	1 1 1 1 1 0 1—6
16	Morrisey	1 1 1 0 0 1 1—5
17	Cowing	0 1 0 0 0 1 0—2
18	Hamlin	1 1 1 1 0 1 1—6
19	Cowing	1 1 0 0 0 1 1—4
20	Robbins	1 1 0 0 0 1 1—4
21	Thompson	1 0 1 0 1 1 1—5
22	Wile	0 1 1 0 1 1 1—5
23	Williamson	1 0 1 1 1 0 0—4
24	Barnes	1 1 0 1 1 1 1—6
25	Ruble	1 1 1 1 1 1 1—7
26	Fuller	0 1 0 1 1 1 1—5

THIRD SHOT.

1	Morris	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 0 1—7
2	Skinner	1 0 1 1 1 0 0 1 0 1—8
3	Morrisey	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0—8
4	Barnes	1 1 1 0 1 0 1 0 1 1—7
5	Chantler	1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1—8
6	Max	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1—9
7	Stone	1 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 1 0—4
8	Burke	1 1 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1—7
9	Hamlin	0 1 1 1 0 0 1 0 1 0—5
10	Hanson	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 0—7
11	Thompson	1 1 1 0 1 0 1 0 1 1—7
12	Barber	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—8
13	Ruble	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1—8
14	Cowing	0 0 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1—6
15	Wile	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1—8
16	Benson	1 0 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1—7
17	Hiekes	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1—8
18	Williamson	1 0 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1—7
19	Fuller	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0—8
20	Holt	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0—8
21	Jones	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1—9
22	Robbins	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 0 0 0—5

FOURTH SHOT.

1	Morris	1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
2	Skinner	1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0—7
3	Max	0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—8
4	Stone	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
5	Ruble	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
6	Barber	0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—7
7	Hiekes	0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0—8
8	Chantler	1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
9	Jones	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1—9
10	Hanson	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
11	Barnes	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 1 1—8
12	Holt	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
13	Burke	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
14	Benson	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1—9
15	Williamson	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
16	Morrisey	1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1—8
17	Cowing	1 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 0—7
18	Hamlin	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0—9
19	Cowing	1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0—7
20	Robbins	0 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0—6
21	Thompson	1 0 1 1 1 0 0 0 1 1—6
22	Wile	0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
23	Fuller	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0—8

FIFTH SHOT, EXTRA SWEEPSTAKES.

1	Morris	0 0 0 1 0 0 1 1 0 1—4
2	Max	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1—8
3	Stone	1 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0—6
4	Robbins	0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0—5
5	Morrisey	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
6	Skinner	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1—9
7	Chantler	0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
8	Jones	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
9	Barber	1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1—7
10	Heikes	1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1—7
11	Barnds	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
12	Burke	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1—8
13	Cowing	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0 0 0—6
14	Wile	1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 0 0—6
15	Hanson	1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0—8
16	Holt	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1—9
17	Thompson	1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1—7
18	Ruble	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10

SIXTH SHOT—EXTRA SWEEPSTAKES.

1	Morris	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—8
2	Skinner	1 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1—8
3	Max	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1—10
4	Stone	1 0 1 0 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1—8
5	Ruble	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 0—8
6	Barber	0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0—8
7	Hiekes	1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0—9
8	Williamson	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1—9
9	Jones	1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1—10
10	Hanson	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1—11
11	Barnes	0 0 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—6
12	Holt	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—9
13	Burke	1 0 1 0 1 0 1 0 0 0 1 0—5
14	Benson	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1—9
15	Chantler	1 1 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 0 1 1—9
16	Morrisey	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—12
17	Cowing	0 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1—8
18	Hamlin	1 0 1 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 0—6
19	Cowing	1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—10
20	Robbins	1 1 1 1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 1—9
21	Thompson	1 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 0 1 0 1—7
22	Wile	0 1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—7
23	Cleary	1 0 1 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 1 0—5
24	Fuller	0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 0—7

SEVENTH SHOT—WALKING MATCH.

1	Morris	0 1 1 1 1—4
2	Max	1 1 0 1 0—3
3	Chantler	1 1 0 0 1—3
4	Jones	0 0 1 1 1—3
5	Thompson	1 0 1 1 0—3
6	Fuller	1 1 0 1 1—4
7	Skinner	1 1 0 1 1—4
8	Stone	0 1 1 0 0—2
9	Ruble	0 1 1 1 0—3
10	Burke	0 1 0 1 1—3
11	Hiekes	1 1 1 0 0—3
12	Wile	0 0 0 1 0—1
13	Barnes	1 1 1 0 0—3
14	Hanson	0 1 0 1 1—3
15	Holt	1 1 1 0 1—4
16	Morrisey	1 0 0 1 0—2
17	Cowing 1	1 1 1 0 0—3
18	Cowing 2	1 0 1 0 0—2
19	Williamson	1 0 0 0 0—1
20	Barber	1 0 1 1 1—4

The following named gentlemen are in attendance at the tournament, viz:

Rolla O. Heikes, Dayton, Ohio.
R. M. Anderson, Stillwater, Minn.
L. W. Lyon, St. Paul, "
B. F. Schurmeier, " "
John P. Burkhard, " "
T. L. Wann, " "
F. D. Ponsonby, " "
John A. Ruble, Albert Lea,
C. Robbins, Fargo, N. D.
A. Benson, " "
H. N. Jones,
W. H. Skinner,
P. E. Hanson, Litchfield, Minn.
G. G. Williamson, Muncie, Ind.
F. H. Stoltz, Larimore, N. D.

Star Bashaw.

Too late for last issue we received a letter from Ed. Love saying: "Please announce that I will be in Crookston with Star Bashaw in about two weeks." Star Bashaw needs no introduction to Polk County horsemen, as his work speaks for itself.

Jens Rude came down from McIntosh on Tuesday returning this morning. He says grain has improved wonderfully since the rain.

The clerks at Hack & Gallasch have challenged the clerks at Fontaine & Anglim's for a game of ball some day next week and the challenge has been accepted. The boys would like to see a large audience as the proceeds will go to the poor of the city. The battery for H. & G. team will be Filiatrault and Latourelle and for F. & A., Carruth and Donovan.

The Johnson wheat case is on and will doubtless close this week. THE JOURNAL has refrained from comment so far, not wishing to forestall the verdict or prejudice the case by opinions which, formed before the evidence was taken might be erroneous. The evidence shows that Mr. Johnson furnished the applicants with samples of the wheat he had purchased at the elevator, and, as he was busy attending to applications the parties went to the elevator for the wheat. If errors crept in it is probably more owing to the haste in which the county commissioners were obliged to act than to any dishonesty on the part of any. The late passage of the bill allowed them too little time to handle the matter as they wanted to do it. Mr. Johnson has been charged by a certain newspaper who failed to use him in carrying out its private schemes, with fraud and dishonesty and the charges have not been proven.

THE RED LAKE INDIANS.

Cede Their Lands to the Government

After a Long Talk Pro and Con.

TO BE OPENED TO SETTLEMENT.

After a pow wow of ten days duration the Red Lake Lake Indians finally signed the agreement to cede their lands to Uncle Sam, and very soon, no doubt, the tract will be ready for settlement under the land laws. The immense reserve of pine will also be made available to the use of the settlers on these vast prairies, and then the day of high priced lumber will be over for this country.

The Red Lake reservation contains 3,200,000 acres of land. It extends from town 147 north to town 102 north, and east and west from range 25 west of the fifth principal meridian to range 42 west. There are some high ridges of land in the eastern, southeastern and northern portions, but the greater portion is level or slightly rolling. The greater portion is in Beltrami County, but it reaches into Itasca, Kittson, Marshall and Polk Counties also. The eastern and southeastern portions are covered with heavy growths of pine timber and the shores of the lake from which the reservation takes its name are skirted for several miles back with some of the finest standing pine in the country. The population of the united reservations of Leech Lake, Mille Lacs, Red Lake, White Earth and Winnibegoshish is about 7,000, and the number of Indians on the Red Lake reservation is estimated at 3,200. The west and northwestern portions of the reservation, particularly in the angle between Red Lake River and Thief River is fine agricultural land, well watered and having a surface soil running to six feet of depth in some places. The body of water known as Red Lake is the largest wholly in the state, and is of peculiar formation closely resembling an hourglass or figure eight in outline. Its greatest length, from northeast to southwest, is forty-four miles, and its greatest width is twenty-eight miles. In the center two points of land put out from either shore leaving a portion of the lake, known as the "Narrows," which is a little over a mile and a half wide.

A Fatal Catastrophe.

The Thirteen Towns: During the rain storm, of yesterday, lightning struck a house on the old McIntosh place in the town of Kings, instantly killing a boy about 14 years old and so seriously injuring another about twelve years old that there is little hopes of his recovery. The boys were sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ole E. Qualey, who live about a mile from the scene of the accident. There was a man and woman in the same room, both of whom were rendered unconscious, but are not seriously hurt. The lightning entered the house through an upstairs window and strange to say, the house was not in the least damaged. Mr. and Mrs. Qualey are almost crazed with grief at their sudden affliction.

A New Style of Cars.

The Independent.

The Northern Pacific has just received twenty new colonist sleepers from Barney, Smith & Co. that are models of beauty, convenience and comfort, and contain many improvements over the ordinary colonist sleeper, or so-called tourist car in use. Each car has fourteen sections with gentlemen's toilet room in one end, and the ladies' room, supplied with marble-topped washstand and force pump in the other. In one end of the car is a Baker fireproof heater, which heats the car by means of hot water conducted through pipes. In the opposite end of the car is a cooking range surrounded by good kitchen facilities. Opposite this range is a twenty gallon cooler for drinking water, also a large tank holding seventy gallons of water for general use. These cars are finished in natural woods,—ash, maple and butternut,—beautifully polished, and at night are lighted up with eight Acme lamps exactly similar to those in use on Pullman sleepers. The sections are divided by sliding head-boards, effecting a privacy not possible in the present style of cars where the sections are separated by a wire netting. An ingenious arrangement of the seats enables them to be extended flat or with head rests when prepared for folding, and under each seat is a box in which can be stored bedding or small baggage. In each section there is also provided a movable table similar to those in use in Pullman cars, which is extremely convenient for many purposes. All cars are provided with curtain rods. Notwithstanding the fact that the Northern Pacific employs a porter to look after these sleepers, all holders of second class Montana and Pacific Coast tickets are allowed to use them FREE OF CHARGE. The Northern Pacific has a greater number of these sleepers in service than any other transcontinental line, their total equipment now amounting to 63 cars. It is clear that in providing for the comfort of the traveling public, the Northern Pacific, with its new vestibuled dining and sleeping cars and superior accommodations for second class passengers, leads all its competitors.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.
Delivered at any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES,

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs.
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

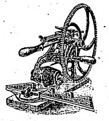
For Sale Cheap.

1 24 inch Crossing Plow.
1 Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 Tiger Hay Rake.
1 Osborne Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Morehouse Truck.
1 12 Hoe Seeder.
1 150 foot Drive Belt.
1 1,000 lb. Scale.
1 Osborne Mower.
1 Traction Engine—Minnesota Giant.
1 Single Harness.

All the above goods are second hand and will be sold cheap.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."



Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the stone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure curandron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address THE JOURNAL before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office. [10-tf]

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 15 Cts
Delivered to any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue. Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

UNTIL FURTHER

NOTICE!

ALL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS | GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted

GENUINE

SLATER

FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED

Fast Colors,

OR MONEY

Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE KIND IN THE

NORTHWEST.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Proceedings of City Council.

REGULAR MEETING HELD JULY 9, 1889.

President Watts in the chair. The following members were present, Aldermen Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Walters, Maarlette, Bjoin, Jerome and Buhn.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Morrisey that the petitions asking for extension of water mains be referred to a committee of three to be appointed by the chair.

The chair appointed as such committee Aldermens Childs, Bjoin and Jerome.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that the petition of A. Bancroft and others with reference to extending water mains in the Fifth ward be referred to the aldermen of the Fifth ward. Carried.

Minutes of a special meeting of the directors of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad company held at the office of the president of the corporation at Crookston, Minnesota at two o'clock p. m. June 28, 1889.

A quorum being present the president called the meeting to order the secretary being absent on motion of John McLean, John R. McKinnon was chosen secretary protem.

On motion of N. P. Stone this corporation hereby requests the city council, of the city of Crookston, to order the issuance and delivery of the fifty thousand dollars bonds of said city, voted to this corporation at the election held in this city on May seventh 1889, without delay in accordance with the provisions of a special act of the legislature of the State of Minnesota entitled "An act to authorize the city of Crookston, in Polk County, to issue bonds to aid in the construction of any railroad or railroads which may hereafter run into the said city and to provide for and to appoint bond commissioners to hold such bonds in escrow and to deliver the same when earned," which act was approved April 4th 1889, and respectfully represent that it is necessary for the interests of the corporation and for the best interests of this city that such bonds be ordered issued and delivered without delay.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:

It was moved by William Anglim that this corporation hereby waive all right or claim to any interest on the bonds to be issued by the city of Crookston to this corporation, which may accrue prior to November 1st, or prior to the time when this corporation shall build or cause to be built its proposed railroad into the city of Crookston, and further that we hereby expressly authorize the mayor in issuing such bonds, to cause them to be so issued, that no interest shall accrue to this corporation or its assigns prior to the time at which such railroad shall be ready for operation into the city of Crookston or if issued so as to draw interest from an earlier date that coupons to correspond with the amount of the accrued interest thereon may be cancelled before the delivery of said bonds, and this corporation hereby waives all objection thereto. The foregoing resolution passed unanimously.

J. R. McKinnon.

Moved that John R. McKinnon be directed and authorized to present to the city council a copy of these minutes and the order for the issuance of said bonds, that he request on behalf of this corporation, that the council at once order the issuance and delivery of said bonds.

Dated Crookston June 28, 1889.

JOHN R. McKINNON,
Sec. Protem.

I, John R. McKinnon, do hereby certify that I am secretary protem of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad company, that the records of said company under control and in my custody, that I have carefully compared the foregoing copy of the minutes of the meeting of the directors of said corporation with the original record of said meeting, that the foregoing is a true copy of such record and the whole thereof.

Dated Crookston June 28, 1889.

JOHN R. McKINNON,
Sec. Protem.

The quarterly reports of Justices Spendley and Justice Lewis were presented, and on motion were accepted.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that the receipt of the communication of the directors of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad company be acknowledged by the city clerk, and said communication be given to the mayor for his benefit and assistance in making, or causing to be made the bonds for said railroad.

Alderman E. D. Childs moved to amend by striking out all after the word "be" on the second line, and in lieu thereof substitute the words: "referred to a committee with instructions to report at the next regular meeting of this council, whether the waiver of interest proposed in said communication is legal or not.

The amendment was put to a vote. Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Alderman Childs.

Aldermen voting in the negative; Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn, Marlette and Watts. The amendment was declared lost.

Upon the call of ays and nays on the odiginal motion, the vote stood as follows:

Ays, Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Walter, Jerome, Bjoin, Marlette, Buhn and Watts.

Nays, Alderman Childs.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the ninth day of July 1889, Alderman James E. Morrisey offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Jerome.

An act of the Legislature of the State of Minnesota having been passed entitled, "An act to authorize the city of Crookston, in Polk County, to issue bonds to aid in the construction of any railroad or railroads which may hereafter run into said city, and to provide for, and to appoint bond commissioners to hold such bonds in escrow and to deliver the same when earned," approved April 4th 1889, and a petition in due form and bearing the signature of more than one hundred resident freeholders of the city of Crookston having been presented to the city council, of said city, and accepted by them on the 20th day of April 1889, and on April 24th 1889 the said city council having ordered an election to be held in said city of Crookston, on the sevententh day of May 1889, to vote upon the question of issuing the bonds of the city of Crookston, in accordance with said act as prayed for in said petition, and due notice of said election having been given and said election having been duly held on the seventeenth day of May 1889, and the ballots cast at said election having been duly returned and canvassed, and a majority of the votes cast at said election being in favor of the issuance of said bonds of the city of Crookston in accordance with said act of the Legislature, and according to said petition, and this council having so declared, and all the proceedings requisite and necessary for the issuance of said bonds having been duly had in the manner provided by law. It is therefore ordered by this council that the bonds of the city of Crookston, in the sum of fifty thousand dollars be issued and delivered in accordance with said act and the proposition under which said bonds were voted and as prayed for in said petition, to the commissioners named in said act, to be held by them in escrow for the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad company, and said commissioners are hereby ordered and directed to deliver said bonds to said railroad company as required by the provisions of said act, said bonds to be payable at the Chemical National Bank in New York city. Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn and Watts.

Aldermen voting in the negative; Alderman Childs.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this ninth day of July 1889.

WILLIAM WATTS,
President of the Council.

Approved this 10th day of July 1889.

Attest:

JAMES W. LILLY,
Mayor.

JOHN PATERSON,
Clerk.

The fire ordinance was laid over until next meeting.

The liquor bond of Rudolph Burkhardt, with Henry Burkhardt and John McLean as surities, on motion was accepted.

The liquor bond of John L. Hanson, with Peter Cornelius and Ole O. Hoven as sureties was accepted.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Jerome, that the sum of $600 be paid to C. P. Cahoon as part payment for grading street in Jerome's addition. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Lally, that the city council of the city of Crookston, do hereby ordain, that section five of chapter twelve of the ordinance of the city, relating to licenses, be amended by inserting fifty dollars for a circus license, instead of one hundred dollars.

Ays, Alderman Lally, Morrisey, Marlette, Walter, Bjoin, Jerome, Buhn and Watts.

Nays, Alderman Childs.

Moved by Aldernian Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Childs, that the Aldermen of the Fourth ward, assisted by the city engineer, be, and they are empowered to act with reference to filling in Robert street in Jerome's addition, provided that the cost for filling same does not exceed 15 cents per cubic yard. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Lally, seconded by Alderman Childs, that a committee be appointed with instructions to act on repairing the city lockup. The chair appointed as such committee, Aldermen Lally, Buhn and Bjoin.

Moved by Alderman Lally, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that the city engineer, be, and is hereby instructed to build a sidewalk, according to the city ordinance, on L. C. Couvrette's lot on Ash street in this city, and payment to be made in two equal annual installments. Carried.

The finance committee presented their report and on motion the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

J E Morrisey, judge of election	$ 19 50
C S Spendley, justice fees	10 75
" " "	3 80
Holmboe & Larson, m'd'se	10 61
F Regnbal, clerk of election	2 00
Osias Vian, attending chemical engine in Fifth ward	25 00
W S Hatt & Co., hose	402 00
Young Bros., hauling	3 50
M R Brown, witness fees	1 12
S A Wallace, m'd'se	4 80
L C Couvrette, auditing and balancing city books	25 00
Fontaine & Anglim, m'd'se	15 45
G W Banks, judge of election	3 00
Wm Watts, judge of election and rent of office	8 90
P Hattleburg, special police	2 00
Elie Asselin, m'd'se	4 50
Hack & Gallasch, m'd'se	2 50
M B Hayes, money advanced for poor	21 26
M B Hayes, money advanced for street cleaning	1 10
Wm Welch, special police	2 00
Henry Wight, assessment	300 00
O L Hamery, services to April 1st 1889	62 00
Stewart & Spottswood, m'd'se	7 55
Red River Lumber Co., lumber	240 82
W E McKinzie, stationey	26 80
" " justice docket	16 00
J E O'Brien & Co., m'd'se	4 82
M Rauenbuehler, m'd'se and repairs for fire department	1 25
O L Hamery, money paid for labor in Second ward	0 75
O L Hamery, money paid for labor in Third ward	21 00
O L Hamery, money paid for labor in Fourth ward	42 00
O L Hamery, money paid for labor in Fifth ward	57 75
O L Hamery, money paid for repairing sidewalks	43 88
O L Hamery, money paid for repairs on bridge	12 00
O L Hamery, money paid for labor	13 50
M Lally, four days on board of review	12 00
E D Childs, four days on board of review	12 00
C P Cahoon, grading Robert street in Jerome's addition	735 96

On motion council adjourned.

JOHN PATERSON,
City Clerk.

It leads the field, is the universal verdict of the ladies in regard to Peterson's Magazine. It always comes laden with an atmosphere of elegance, and the fashions are as beautiful as they are sensible. The true secret of dress is to have pretty things at a moderate cost, and a glance at the August number will convince any woman that "Peterson" can teach her how to accomplish this. She will find also excellent stories, fine engravings and miscellaneous matter of the most varied and useful description. Every family should have this admirable periodical for a monthly visitor. It meets in all ways the tastes and needs of the entire household. "Peterson" is really a wonderful combination. Neither pains or expense are spared and the result is that each of its numerous departments is always up to the highest standard of excellence. Address Peterson's Magazine, Philadelphia, Pa.

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE BIG INJUN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot at a 2 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum. Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. None Finer in the Northwest.

Drop In and See the New Store!
H. F. BROWN.

GO TO S. L. COLLINS
Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated
Hambletonian Trotter
MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

S. L. COLLINS
—PROPRIETOR OF—
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.
Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person.

Crookston Nurseries
Established in 1879
Tree Claim Stock
A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1883. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.
Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
COUNTY ATTORNEY.
OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

Fontaine & Anglim's
SHOE
STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of
HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,
The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but
LADIES' FINE SHOES!
The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00
Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.
☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN
BANK.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Organized under the State Laws.
Authorized Capital $100,000
Paid in Capital 50,000
Surplus 2,000
COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.
OFFICERS:
Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
C. O. Christianson, Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,
Lewis Ellington,
A. G. Gallasch,
T. J. Thorsen,
Max Ericson,
A. D. Stephens,
E. P. Pierce,
J. H. Lucken,
Carl Hendricksen, Grafton.
A. E. Johnson, St. Paul.

DENTISTRY.
J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,
ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN.
Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.
Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.
☞ Farmers custom specially invited.
Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO.
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:15 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:51 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:24 "
10:45 "	Pembina	2:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent, Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 18, 1889.

Poultry on the Farm Pays.

Prairie Farmer: Well! What next, I wonder? The very last mail brought me a letter from a man who wants to know "what is the use of writing so much about the great profits to be made by keeping hens, when the facts are, as every farmer who ever gave them a fair trial knows, that hens on a farm cost more in food, care, and crops destroyed than they ever bring in." Further on in his letter he says: "If hens could be made to lay in winter when eggs are high, perhaps they could be made to pay, but hens won't lay enough in winter to pay for their salt, and that is all there is of it." He closes by informing me that he "never knew a farmer who made any money by keeping poultry." And so, because you never made any money keeping fowls, and never knew any farmer who did, you take it for granted that no farmer ever makes poultry-keeping pay.

What utter nonsense! Probably you never knew any of the Presidents of the United States, but all the same we have had quite a number, and have one now. The United States is a pretty big country, and it is possible that there may be some farmers that you don't know. I don't know a great number of farmers, but within the circle of my acquaintance I can count up a good many farmers, and farmers' wives, and farmers' sons and daughters who have made money keeping poultry. And I could tell you of a farmer's widow who in four years after her husband's death made money enough from her poultry to pay off a mortgage that her husband had wrestled with in vain for ten long years. I ain't a man, or a farmer, but all the same I will mention the fact that I have made money keeping poultry. I have made $1,500 clear cash profit in one year by poultry-keeping on a farm, and I can do it again, too; and the farmer who, under equally favorable circumstances, can't do as well as I can—well, he needn't apply for a situation in this family.

But how do you know whether your hens or your neighbors' hens ever paid or not? Did you ever keep a poultry account! Do you know how much it cost you to keep your flock of hens a year? Do you know how many hens and fowls you ate up and sold? No, I thought not. I know a good many men just like you. They don't know whether it costs them fifty cents or a dollar a year to keep a hen, or whether their hens lay one or two dozen eggs apiece in a year; but, nevertheless, they are always ready to declare, in season and out of season, that "hens don't pay," never have paid and never will. And I have seen some of these men swallow three or four "eggs on toast" for breakfast, eat half a good sized chicken for dinner, devour a quarter-section of a 3-egg custard pie at suppertime, and then heard them declare positively that it didn't pay to keep poultry.

Dearly beloved, let me tell you that poultry on a farm pays, whether you ever sell an egg or a chicken, or not. You can get no cheaper meat for your table than poultry and eggs; and if it were not for this abundant supply of poultry-meat and fresh eggs many farmers' tables would be but poorly supplied with fresh meat during the hot months. Besides the meat and eggs furnished by the poultry, there is the poultry manure which should be taken into account. At any tanery poultry manure is worth fifty cents a bushel, and more than that for any farm crop to which it may be properly applied. Many farmers consider it worth, pound for pound, as much as the best commercial fertilizers in the market. And last, but by no means least, on the credit side, is the vast amount of good that fowls do by devouring grasshoppers, insects, eggs of insects, the grubs of the plum curculio, etc., etc. In many places it is impossible to get a crop of plums except from trees that are in poultry-yards.

Now, my misguided and sadly misinformed friend, I'll answer the question you began with. The use in writing so much about the profits of poultry-keeping is to enlighten just such men as you are—wake them up to the fact that their neglected, despised, abused hens would, if taken care of as they should be, pay better in proportion to labor and capital invested than any other live stock on the farm. You may, if you please, invest $30, $40 or $50 in a cow, while some one who knows enough to manage poultry invests the same amount in poultry, and at the end of the year the poultry-keeper will have more cash profit from the investment that you will be able to show from yours. What was that you said? Something about "fancy prices" for eggs and fowls? No sir; I don't mean anything of that kind at all. When I talk about the profits of poultry-keeping for farmers, I reckon the poultry product at market prices.

Go to, thou unbeliever, and before you again assert that poultry won't pay, keep an account with your hens for a whole solid year right straight through; and keep an honest account too—that is, while charging the fowls for feed consumed, give them credit for all products, no matter whether you sell, eat, or give away said products. Then, if your hens have not paid, just turn the whole business over to your wife, or to the boys and girls, and if you give them half a chance they will make money from the hens that you declare won't pay.

Timothy Grass on Low Land.

American Agriculturist.

On many lands too wet in the spring to be profitably planted to corn or sown with oats, it is quite possible to grow large crops of timothy hay. But in a course of a few years red top and blue grass choke out the timothy, and it is necessary to re-seed. The usual method of re-seeding old meadows or pasture land is to plow it up and cultivate it with corn or potatoes, so that the sod shall be well subdued and the weeds and blue grass roots killed. But on the kind of land we have now in mind this cannot be done. The land is dry in July, but it is too wet—at least in part—to plow for ordinary crops.

We have had excellent crops of timothy on such land by breaking it up in July and keeping the surface well worked with harrows to prevent weeds from growing, and then in August gang-plow and work the soil till it is fine and mellow. Such soil is easily worked. The real point is to kill the blue grass roots. Work it till this is certainly accomplished. And then, any time in August or the first week in September, sow from eight to twelve quarts of timothy per acre, and cover it with a smoothing harrow or roller. If the work has been well done, and the soil is fine enough and mellow enough and moist enough to promptly start the seed, judging from actual experience we are safe in promising a big crop of timothy hay the next summer; and now that wheat is so cheap, and hay can be shipped long distances to market, there are few crops, considering the little labor required, that pay more actual profit than a good crop of timothy hay. We have said the first crop will be a heavy one; the second is likely to be still better, and the number of years the meadow will last, before it is necessary to re-seed it, will depend on the fertility of the land, and the thoroughness with which the land was worked and the old blue grass sod subdued..

High Stepping Horses.

American Agriculturist.

I notice that the breeding of these is much oftener recommended at present in the agricultural papers than formerly. True, the action of such is more showy, and on that account is preferred by those ignorant of its injurious effects upon the horse. He has to lift his feet to an extra height, which is tiresome and prevents his accomplishing in such action as great a distance per day on a journey as he otherwise would if not obliged to raise his feet so high, and this with considerable less fatigue at the end of the day. As the feet are replaced on the ground, the impact of high steppers is much more forcible than of others, and this is particularly injurious to the feet and legs. When traveling on a stony road or a pavement I have seen horses made so lame in a few months, or even weeks of such work, that they had to be withdrawn from use, and turned out on soft pasturage for some time to recruit. Even with this relaxation, they were unfit to go back to hard roads and had to be employed for farm word or on mellow ground ever after. Quite low stepping, on the other hand, is to be avoided, as the horse is likely to strike his foot against any little rise of ground or obstruction on the road and stumble badly, often falling down in harness, and endangering those riding in the vehicle to which he is attached, to be upset and perhaps fatally injured. A low stepper travels more easily and is less fatigued than those stepping higher. A medium between the two is best and safest.

Turkey-Keeping in Australia.

Prairie Farmer: In relation to turkey-raising, especially the care of half-grown birds, a writer in that hot country says: Many busy housekeepers, who give their young turkeys a great deal of care and attention when they are quite small, appear to think them fully able to take care of themselves after they are half grown. They stop feeding them entirely, saying that the flock picks up so much small grain and so many insects in the fields, that it does not need any food at night. So the mother hen begins to feel very independent, having the whole care of their families on their shoulders, and pretty soon forget to come home at all, but stop in the fields or the woods, wherever night catches them, and either fly up in the trees to roost (where the young ones become an easy prey to the owls), or perch upon the fences within easy reach of passing thieves. And before very long half of the young turkeys have disappeared, and the poultry-raiser is loudly lamenting her "bad luck." All this can be easily avoided by teaching them to come home every night; and the thought of a good supper awaiting them is a great inducement. Even if their crops are full of grasshoppers, a small quantity of broken bread is very much relished, and especially a pan of buttermilk. Fowls are very fond of milk, either sweet or sour; and nothing is more wholesome.

An exchange gives the whole thing away, and now no doubt old fogies and misers will wake up. After saying that there is a secret in town building, it says: "Do you know what it is? If you don't you can work out the problem in the following manner: Take 600 solely old fogies and misers—men who do not believe in giving capitalists anything for risking their money in their towns—and put them alone on a good town site. Take 200 good, live, energetic, get-up sort of fellows, who never let an opportunity pass to advertise themselves or their town, and put them on the poor townsite. Then watch these two towns for the next five years, and you will catch onto the secret of town building."

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff. vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

[8-13]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah R. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Def't.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.

[8-13]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 13th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 3d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages, on pages 576 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assignment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884 at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 614, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149,) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1885 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2.) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 229 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 20th A. D. 1889.

THE AMERICAN FREEHOLD LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY of London (Limited,)
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
Crookston, Minn.

[10-16]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., June 21st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: R. W. BROWN, D. S. 11,050, for the ne¼ Sec. 8, Tp 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. M. Benson, John Olson, T. Jolly, Peter Toupin, all of Mentor, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[10-15] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

NEW MEAT

MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON. - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

THE PIONEER

HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law,

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete, our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM
AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark, Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHI ERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5.) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153,) Range forty-four (44,) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "37" of mortgages on page 13, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 78-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 89-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 26th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
Crookston, Minn.

[12-17]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors, did, on the 19th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 28th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 411; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and on the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Atty for Mortgagee,
Crookston, Minn.

[12-17]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 10th, 1889, viz: LOUIS P. VOLLOM, H'd 8,732, for the sw¼ sw¼ Sec. 8, se¼ se¼ Sec. 7, ne¼ ne¼ Sec. 18, nw¼ nw¼ Sec. 17, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Hans Buran, Harold Johnson, Ole Johnson and Christian M. Benson, all of Mentor, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[12-17] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

THE UNIVERSITY

OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889. Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP L. L. D., President,
Minneapolis, Minn.

[10-23]

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, JULY 25, 1889. NO. 14.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY HURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10.00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	[illegible]	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	50 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D.S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

Facts, as Against Protestation.

St. Paul Dispatch: At brief intervals for some weeks past the Junior United States Senator from Minnesota has favored the public with his assurance that the relations between himself and his associate are of the agreeable character customary in such cases. Were these assurances any less frequent or emphatic, they would not be quite so suggestive of the sage Shakesperian saying: "The lady doth protest too much, methinks." But since the question touching the personal relations of Senators Davis and Washburn is in greatest measure a matter which concerns these gentlemen alone, the public can afford to accept the protestations of the latter as freely and as fully as if there had been no occasion whatever for the making of them.

We very much doubt whether Senator Davis is of the type of a politician who regards the division of political patronage as the be-all and end-all of public life. It certainly does not seem to comport very well with the popular idea of the man that he would seek out occasion for a quarrel with his associate on such a score. Doubtless he is a man of peace and forbearance, and to that fact may be due, in some measure at least, the correctness which is to be attributed to Mr. Washburn's statements.

But the assurances which have been received in such generous measures will not suffice to blind the republican voters of this state to the facts. Mr. Washburn and the "gentleman from New York," Mr. Windom, have arrogated to themselves with complete success the right to dispense the federal patronage of this state as best suits their personal wishes and their political plans. In the doing of this thing it is quite apparent that they have not only chosen to disregard the senior senator, but to act in plain opposition to his wishes, publicly expressed, which, at least in his own home, would be respected by the veriest brace of political hucksters. Almost every appointment that has thus far come from Washington has been dictated by them and made apparently to bolster up these two traders, in their all but publicly avowed purpose of running a joint political machine in this state with dollars and offices as their motive power. The exceptions are the one or two appointments which, thanks to Senator Davis' efforts, have gone to the people of the state at large, outside of Minneapolis.

So far as we have any interest in the subject at all, we sincerely hope that the relations of the two senators from Minnesota will continue to be as one of the parties in interest is at such affecting pains to tell us that they are at this moment. So long as Mr. Davis is willing to silently disregard the greed and arrogance manifested at his expense, no doubt these relations will continue in their present charming state. And if there was no other person but these three gentlemen interested in the joint operations of two of them, there need never be a ripple of dissatisfaction or discontent upon the placid surface of Minnesota republicanism. But such is not the case. There are a great many silent and attentive observers of the operations of the Minnesota blind pool, whose views will one day be made fully known.

Provision for Mrs. Sabin.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—[Special to the Pioneer Press.]—Ex-Senator Sabin left for Stillwater to-day. He made arrangements with Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was matron of the Garfield hospital while Mrs. Sabin was auditor of the institution, to take Mrs. Sabin from the hospital at Flushing, L. I., to her friends in Connecticut. She will remain a short time there, when she will be taken to some place on the Maine coast, arrangements having been made for her reception and care. The removal is made on account of the indignation of Mrs. Sabin's relatives over the criticisms made upon Mr. Sabin by the Eastern press, charging that he is keeping her at Flushing against her will. The change was decided upon after a full consultation with Mrs. Sabin's relatives and the ex-senator. Mr. Sabin pays all the expenses connected with the change, and employs Mrs. Vanderbilt to attend the unfortunate lady.

The Wheat Outlook.

Duluth Tribune, July 15: C. W. Seville was in the city yesterday, leaving last night for Minneapolis. He is general manager for the Minnesota Thresher company, and has lately been all through the northern and central portions of Dakota and the western portion of Minnesota. He stated to a Tribune representative last night that throughout the James River Valley he did not think from the present outlook there would be an average yield of over five bushels to the acre. In North Dakota the yield would be better, but by no means as good as it ought to be. The rains of ten days ago helped the crops out very much. The crops in Minnesota were looking very well and he believed that there would be more than an average yield.

WHEAT IN DAKOTA.

Shortage of 30,000,000 Bushels--The Whole Yield will not Exceed 20,000,000 Bushels.

Wheat Fields as Brown as Though Prairie Fires had Crossed Them.

Elevators Closing up--People Impoverished and Fears of Famine Entertained.

St. Paul Dispatch.

GRAFTON, Dak., July 16.—The wheat crop of Dakota is 30,000,000 bushels short. The figures are large, but not in the least exaggerated. The total production for the territory cannot, under the best possible conditions, from now until harvest, which will begin in the north by the 25th, exceed 20,000,000 bushels, and to put it that high is a liberal estimate. The greatest detriment to a successful crop this year has been the exceedingly dry season, and only along the streams will there be any crops at all. In the spring the most terrific winds raged in this entire territory, and for weeks after the crop was sown the air was filled with the flying particles of soil that should have been furnishing nutriment to the seed that was lying exposed and burning on the surface. Hundreds of acres were sown for the second time, and it would have been a good thing for the country if the entire crop had been put in again when the winds were stilled. The grain was for the greater part injured so that so that no amount of nourishing would bring it back and it is altogether likely that outside of the valley of the Red River, all the grain grown will not fill 500 cars. The best crops, and in fact the only fair yield, will be in the counties of Pembina, Walsh, Grand Forks, a small portion of Traill, the center of Cass and northwestern Richland. Elsewhere the ground is as bare and almost as brown as though a prarie fire had crossed it. In Nelson County, famously prolific, wheat will not yield as much grain as was seeded. Ramsey is bare, except in the immediate vicinity of Devils Lake and in the famous Turtle mountain region, the rich soil of which has hitherto been regarded as drought-proof, the earth succumbed and there will be but little wheat for export in that region. Along the main line of the Northern Pacific, in the once-famous bonanza farm district, the elevators are closing up and the country tributary to Bismarck is as barren as a sand hill. The Jim River valley will barely feed its people, and, in short, nowhere in Dakota will there be any wheat for export, save along the main line of the Manitoba road, from a point thirty miles north of Fargo, the boundary. The cry of famine that was raised last winter in the western part of Walsh County will find its echo all over the territory the coming winter.

Aside from this impoverishing of the people by the failure of the wheat, there is another danger which will be felt almost as severely, and that is the want of fodder for the stock. The oat crop is bad, and the meadows away from the river bottoms are as parched as the prairie. Not alone will this territory be the sufferer, but a trip through Montana reveals the same state of affairs. The range cattle will not find enough to live upon until cold weather, and a prominent railroad official told a correspondent that all the extra cars of the Northern Pacific and the Manitoba roads had been ordered to Montana to pull out the steers as soon as the lack of feed necessitated a reduction in numbers of the range stock.

Excursion to the Derby.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway will issue excursion tickets from all stations in Minnesota and Dakota to St. Paul or Minneapolis and return in connection with the Twin City Jockey Club races July 26d to 31st at the following low rates: July 22d, 26th and 29th at one fare, July 23d, 24th, 25th, 27th, 28th and 30th at one and one-third fare. Tickets good to return up to and including August 2d, 1889. In addition to the above rate one dollar will be collected for admission coupon to the races which accompanies the railroad ticket.

This being the inaugural meeting of the Twin City Jockey Club and the winners of several derbies having entered for the great event, including Spokane, Hindoocraft, Long Fish and Le Prevnier a large following of lovers of the turf will be in attendance from all parts of the country. Remember that the above low excursion rates apply via the Manitoba Dining and Sleeping Car Line, the only railway running trains to the race track. Apply to Manitoba ticket agent for particulars or communicate with F. I. Whitney Gen'l. Pass. and Ticket Ag't., St. Paul, Minn.

Seen by The Wayside.

A Drive From White Eirth to Red Lake Reservation.

RED LAKE RESERATION, Special Correspondence, to Pioneer Press July 5.—When one finds that the "Dipper" and North star appear to have moved several degrees nearer the zenith than they are when observed from the Twin Cities of Minnesota, he is justified in concluding that he has made a considerable advance in the direction of the North pole. The trading post at which the postoffice for this reservation is situated is by rail and wagon road some 350 miles northwesterly by north from St. Paul. On leaving Detroit, the railroad base of supplies for the reservations north of it, one passes on the way to the White Earth settlement through twenty-five miles of as handsome farming land as is to be found in any portion of the Lake Park region of which it forms a part. There are for almost the entire distance wide reaches of prairie on each side of the road, broken here and there by patches of hardwood timber, which include the sugar maple, from which the Indians have from time immemorial obtained each spring a supply of their favorite sugar. On crossing the line between the state land and the reservation, one notices that the farm houses of the mixed bloods and Indians appear quite as comfortable as those of the white settlers previously seen, and there is an absence of the "claim shanty" or shack covered with tar paper, which breaks the monotony of the Dakota prairies. The soil is very fertile, and the many lakes within sight of the road seem to complete the requirements of an ideal agricultural region.

AN INDIAN SCHOOL

After leaving the White Earth settlement, the first stopping place is in the neighborhood of Wild Rice river, eighteen miles north, not far from which is an Episcopal mission, with a government school for Indian children, in which is found about thirty children in charge of three young ladies, who from either philanthropic zeal or a desire for a novel situation in life, appear willing to live here, at the outskirts of civilization. The children are about as intelligent as those of the same ages in the district school of an ordinary farming community, and are well fed, clothed and taken care of in the boarding house attached to the school (the government paying the sum of $108 per year for each child so supported), it being found necessary to keep them together in order to insure regular attendance. The young women employed in this school are educated and cultivated ladies, and are entitled to credit for their isolated life and evident desire to preform a much needed service. The first day's journey from White Earth brings the traveler to Fosston, which is the temporary end of the branch of the Manitoba road running east from Crookston. On approaching the settlement by way of the prairie road, it is somewhat dificult to tell just where the town proposes to establish itself, as it is divided into two portions something like a third of a mile apart, and quite a number of appearing to have been either lately moved or getting ready to make a change of base; all of which seems to have arisen from a difference of opinion between the first settlers of the town and the railroad company as to where the center of the future city should be. Meantime the place is thriving under the stimulus furnished by the circumstance of its being the railroad terminus. After leaving Fosston the country becomes more generally wooded, and when some fifteen or eighteen miles from it the majestic white and Norway pine come in sight, bereft of branches sometimes until seventy or more feet from the ground, and often reaching 150 feet high—in fact, one enthusiastic gentleman in the party solemnly asserted that he saw several which were 200 feet tall. The road now begins to be rough, and the amount of shaking received, even while riding in a spring wagon, is only equaled by the distressing agitation one experiences while on the back of a loping mule who, discovering a pebble or some other small obstruction in the path ahead, changes his lope into a short, quick, mincing step. On all sides are seen the effects of timber fires; huge pine trees with the trunks at the base half-burned away, while here and there nothing is left of a tree save a remnant of the trunk a few inches thickness, perhaps extending fifty feet in the air, so charred and blackened and desolate looking as to appeal to the sympathy of the passer-by as much as the scantily clad, tired and hungry-looking Indians whom the wagons occasionally overtake, and who quietly step into the bushes at the side of the road to allow the white men to pass.

HOUSES ARE ON ROLLERS,

AT CLEARWATER LAKE

a camp is made for the night, and the horses are led down to drink at the bank of the river of the same name, which forms the outlet, and which meanders across the state from here westward until it reaches the sluggish Red River Valley of the North at Grand Forks. There are several booms across the lake, holding eight or nine million logs, the property of T. B. Walker. the logs were found to be in charge of two lumbermen living in an old boat on the lake, who kindly supplied the party with pike and pickerel for supper, and who seemed rather glad to have the monotony of their existence broken by our appearance. The next morning they gave several members of our camp a row upon the lake, which was three or four miles long. When Clearwater lake, which is about eighteen miles south of Red lake, had been left in the rear a few miles, the soil becomes sandy, while here and there in the woods not far from the road are seen the miniature elongated wooden houses which cover the graves of the Chippewas, indicating that we are approaching an Indian village. At last, as the road winds over the brow of a hill, in the distance through the groves of pines can be obtained the first glimpses of Red lake, the largest body of fresh water entirely within the limits of any one state in the Union, the opposite shores being plainly discernible on only the clearest days. The road runs for a few miles parallel with the shore, and, after crossing a lively brook, leads up to the top of a plateau of land near the lake, on which the post-office and other buildings for the use of the government employes here are placed. The trip from White Earth reservation to Red Lake consumes two days and a half, and the party was fortunate in having for the entire journey cloudy weather without rain, and an agreeable temperature.

When to Sell.

A Farmer Presents his Idea on The Subject and Against Long Holding

St. Paul Daily Globe.

As the farm crops come in ready for harvest the farmer is confronted with the question as to when will be the best time to sell. Many good farmers consider that when the product is first ready for market it is not a good time to sell, for the reason that there is a large class who must sell, and these overstock the market so that prices are almost certain to be low. With some classes of products this will do much better than with other, while with all there must be considerable risk.

To hold crops or stock for a rise in prices makes the farmer more or less of a speculator, and this is something that under ordinary circumstances the farmer will find it advisable to avoid. Stock fully ready for market should be sold. It is best, of course, to keep as well posted as possible on the market and feed, so as to fatten to sell to realize the best prices. But to keep the stock after it is fully ready is, in a majority of cases, to add to the expense of feeding without a corresponding gain, and a very short time in feeding the stock under these conditions will make up for any ordinary rise in price. So that, with live stock, at least, the best time to sell is whenever they are fully ready.

Wheat, oats, corn, or grain of any kind, as well as hay, lose more or less in handling, and in addition to this the expense of handling must be considered. Every time a product is handled there is some waste and an additional expense, which if a higher price is not obtained, will add to the cost and decrease the profits. So that in considering whether to sell or store away far a better price, the expense and loss in handling, the risk of failure, the loss by drying, and the risk of damaging in various ways must be taken into account.

If the indications of the supply and demand as well as the disposition of the speculators are such that the prospect is good for a rise, it, of course, may be advisable to store and hold, but it must always be considered that before any profits is made in holding the increased expense must first be added.

No general rule can be given; there are so many different conditions that may arise so that what may be the best and will prove the most profitable with one will not answer for another. It is hardly safe for the farmer who is in debt and paying interest to hold for a better price. With interest adding it will be an exceptional case where the rise in value will be sufficient to make this up, with the other losses that are unavoidable. Speculators control the market to a greater or less extent, and it is uncertain what the future may be; and unless the conditions are very favorable for a rise the better plan is to sell the products whenever they are fully ready.

FARMER.

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

Largest & Most Complete Stock of Jewelry, Clocks, Silverware, Spectacles Etc. Etc.
All Work Warranted, And Perfect Satisfaction Guarranteed.
At Bottom Prices.

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,
ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

W. A. ROBERTSON,
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to K. A. Wilkinson.)
Fournet Block Room 5. Crookston, Minn.

Clifton Hotel
JOHN B. BAKER, Prop..

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN
[32-tf]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 25, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat 1 Hard 77 cents.

Ben Clements came up from Little Falls on Monday.

Rev. Carrol, of the Baptist church has tendered his resignation.

The change in the looks of our crops during the past few wees has been almost miraculous.

Postmaster Osmundson was up from Mallory last week receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

Warren Sheaf: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Box are smiling over the arrival of a baby girl last Sunday night. All well.

Will Carlton was in on Monday. Says crops are ever so much better than before the rains. Everybody feels quite encouraged.

Eli Lariviere was down from Thief River Falls last week. Says times are booming at the Falls, which is bound to be a good town.

The extra term of court convened on Monday morning. There are cases enough to keep his Honor busy for several weeks should they all be tried.

The grain on the Red Lake Falls road, on the north side, looks well and bids fair for an average yield. The same can be said of that along the south side route.

Last week THE JOURNAL spoke of a 25 barrel flowing well on Theodore Greenhalgh's place. It seems the well is flowing better than that—50 barrels a day. It is a daisy.

Dr. Leguee has bought a broncho and will give the two-year-old a rest. He found that he had too much running about to do to make it judicious to use the colt for all of his driving.

Lew Harmon returned from the coast last week on a flying trip on business. He is living at Helendale, Montana, and likes the country very well. His wife recently died of a cancer on the lungs.

The investigating committee finished their work last week and forwarded their report to the Governor. They declined to have the report published, but in due time we shall have it for our readers.

Wm. Davidson was down from the Keystone farm on Saturday. He says crops on the Keystone will be about one-half the usual average this year owing to the high winds and the severe drouth.

E. C. Davis has the finest piece of slough grass on his upper farm in Polk County. It is mostly red top and blue joint and looks heavy enough for three tons per acre. It is exceptionally good for this year.

Ada Index: O. H. Myran says that a rumor is again current out east, among those who know, that Jim Hill will soon build his north and south road, in order to punish Crookston. We don't exactly see how that would punish Crookston, but it would hurt the N. P. Railway and also the towns along that line. It is pretty safe to predict, however, that if Hill makes a move it will only be a bluff this time.

On Friday last, an extra train, consisting of two coaches and a caboose, ran up to Warren to take the base ball club up to scoop the Warren club. The cornet band went along to help celebrate the victory. The coaches were loaded down and another coach could have been filled. The game resulted in a victory of 5 to 6 in favor of Crookston. The two clubs play pretty evenly and there is some fun in watching such games.

Uncle Robert Cochrane has as fine a piece of wheat as we have seen anywhere in the county on his farm near the upper county bridge. Just before the rain he said to the boys: "We will put six horses at work Monday and plow up twenty acres of that wheat, at least." The rain came and he thought he would let it alone awhile and see what would come of it. He thinks that 20 acres will yield 12 bushels per acre, and he says he has some that will yield 25 to 30 per acre.

On Saturday Wm. Dawley received notice of his appointment as postmaster at Crookston. Our retiring postmaster, Alexander McKinnon has been a very faithful and painstaking official and leaves the position with the proud consciousness of having well and truly discharged the duties of that responsible position. Mr. Dawley will have to do exceedingly well to beat "Sandy," but as he is a thoroughly competent business man we confidently expect him to make a good record. Postmaster Dawley, we congratulate thee! ☞ Shake!

On Thursday, Max Ericsson took it into his head to go over to see the big shoot, and invited Tom Stahl to go along. So with Max' little boy they started in Max' new delivery wagon. Everything went all right until they reached Jerome's addition where a horse had been picketed out. Something scared the horse which ran directly in front of Max' team and fell, throwing one of Max' horses. The pole dropped, Tom caught the boy and jumped; and Max was thrown out. Fortunately no one was hurt though Tom and Max sprained their hands severely.

Jens Rude is down from McIntosh this week.

H. W. Cleveland was in from Mentor on Tuesday.

Mrs. E. E. Bangs spent the Sabbath with friends in Grand Forks.

Ira Brown, special land office inspector, was in the city this week.

Shoemaker Louis Godbout is putting up a shop adjoining the reading room.

One of Collins' teams took a spin last Wednesday evening, but nobody was hurt.

The Fertile Journal says that Col. George post will have a camp-fire on the 27th.

W. L. Sargeant has returned from a trip to California. W. L. says there's no place like home.

Geo. M. Swift was down from Grove Park this week. Says the crops are very much improved of late.

There will be services at the Swedish chapel on Sunday at 10:30 a. m., the Rev. O. P. Vangsnes officiating.

Mrs. H. A. McClatchie of Red Lake Falls has been visiting with Mrs. P. C. Schmidt in the city for the week past.

R. Casmey, down from Euclid on Wednesday says crops thereabouts promise about one-half an average yield.

Rev. H. L. House, formerly pastor of the Baptist church was in the city last week greeting old friends whose name is Legion.

R. O. Heikes, who was in attendance at the tournament last week went out to Devils Lake on Cope's train on Tuesday.

Ole Bang was up from his farm on Tuesday looking as rugged and hearty as a bear. Ole says that farming agrees with him.

Jos. Beaudette has rented the Canada house and will do his best to entertain the traveling public. Joe will make a good landlord.

The familiar countenance of Wm. Ross was seen on our streets on Tuesday he having returned from Tacoma Monday evening.

Engineer W. H. Jewell was in the city a day or so this week. "Duke" thinks it very possible that he may be back with us soon.

Henry Peterson has been the happy father of a sweet little Miss for some three weeks. We sometimes smoke a good cigar, Henry.

Miss Eunie Copeland who has been visiting friends in the city since 4th week left for her home at York, N. D., on Tuesday's train.

The base ball club go to Grand Forks to-day to play great ball. A special will leave the depot about 1 o'clock. Tickets round trip 75 cents.

A few are trying to make hay before harvest, but aside from the sloughs there is but little to be had and the sloughs are not the best this year.

THE JOURNAL was the recipient of a nice pail of raspberry jam from Mrs. Fred Date, at Maple Lake this week for which that lady has our hearty thanks.

I. K. Messelt came down on Tuesday in obedience to a summons as a juror. I. K. is now ex-postmaster of Winger but that does not mean that he is a democrat by any means.

Hon. Jared Benson, of Anoka spent several days in the city last week the guest of his nephew Conductor Walter Alexander. He had been up the line as far as Stephen returning on Friday evening.

Hon. H. Steenerson and family went up to Stephen last Thursday and came back via Warren to take in the ball game at that city on Friday. While at Stephen they were guests of Hon. John P. Lundin.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

At the school meeting on Saturday evening N. P. Stone and John Cromb were re-elected members of the board and the board authorized the building of a school house in the Fox neighborhood at a cost not to exceed $500.

H. E. Wold, the new postmaster at Winger came in on Tuesday's train to learn of his appointment, notice of which had appeared in Sunday's morning dailies. Herman will attend to his new duties in great shape.

Register Dickman's son writes that Guthrie is rapidly growing into a great city. Many brick buildings are being erected and all improvements are of a permanent character. Henry is associated with a lawyer of that city and is doing well.

The governor has declined to interfere with the Younger boys case and they will remain where they are during this administration. The governor shows his good sense in this matter and his decision will meet the approval of the majority of the people.

R. E. White, one of the leading farmers of the Marais was in the city being piloted by Dr. M. Leguee who had been down to White's farm doing veterinary work. Mr. White practices diversified farming, raising some wheat and some stock. His horses are mostly grade Clydes, (and a finer lot of colts would be hard to find in Polk County than he can show,) and his cattle grade Shorthorns. He is building a large stock-barn, two story with basement. The shingles are cedar, from Tacoma, W. T., well seasoned and thoroughly oiled. Mr. W. says his crops are looking nicely considering the season and he expects an average yield all round.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - - Minnesota

A Visit to a Model Farm.

On Saturday last, in company with Hon. H. Steenerson, it was our pleasure to visit the farm of Edward Lanctot, located on the banks of the Red Lake River, about two miles from Gentilly and six miles from Crookston. Mr. L. came to this county in 1878 and located his farm, (or a portion of it, having since added to it by purchase) and in the spring of '80 brought his family. Having but small means, he was obliged to go slow and earn the needed improvements as fast as possible. His experience shows what can be done here. With a large family to provide for, he has succeeded in keeping them comfortably and at the same time developing one of the finest farms in the county. He has a comfortable and neat farm house, with a cellar underneath, which is a model. The walls are of stone, laid in cement, 3 feet thick. The cellar is as cool as a cold storage room and kept scrupulously neat and sweet. His stock barns and granaries, though not as large as unlimited capital could make them, are models in their way, showing what every farmer with limited means can do. His colts are all grade English Shire, sired by Joseph La Framboise' "King Tom," and they are beauties and no mistake. He has just commenced to raise Holstein-Friesian cattle, having purchased last year a thoroughbred bull of E. M. Walsh, and to-day he has as handsome a lot of grades as can be found anywhere. Right here we want to give a pointer. After we had looked the cattle over we saw in an adjoining lot what appeared to be a wilderness of corn. Speaking of it to Mr. L. he took us over and showed us as handsome a field of sowed corn, about shoulder high, as we ever saw. "This," said he, "I intend for my cows when the pasture becomes poor; what they don't eat this fall I shall cure for the winter feed of my milch cows." His hog-pen is a building by itself, one and one-half stories high, with a basement where in summer time the hogs can enjoy a roll in the dust. The first floor contains the pens and feed bins, conveniently arranged at a small cost. A large yard gives opportunity for the hogs to get to grass and water. The house is surrounded by trees from three to five years old which range from 12 to 20 feet high, making excellent winter protection. In his garden we noticed a fine thrifty growth of radish, beets, onions, carrots, turnips, cabbage, tomatoes in bloom, a row of currant bushes hanging full of clusters of the ripe luscius fruit, and, something we have not before seen in Polk County, a bed of tobacco plants, strong and thrifty. Mr. Lanctot has divided his prairie lands into 40 acre fields, fencing as fast as he is able to buy the wire and intends to alternate between pasture, meadow and grain fields, so as to keep his lands up to full strength. This has been his plan, but a recent action of the county board will, if carried out, defeat this long cherished plan and practically ruin the farm, for his purpose. There is now a laid out and graded road running along the west and south lines to which he has already contributed his two rod strip and a good deal of gratuitous work to open and maintain, and now the board has authorized the opening of a road diagonally through his farm from the northwest corner to the southeast corner, which practically ruins the farm and defeats the cherished plans of his old age. In a country like this, where land is so plenty and cheap, we consider this an act of vandalism to despoil the work of years of a poor farmer, especially where the public good is not subserved thereby. We believe that if the board had realized the facts in this case they would never have ordered that road. Individual rights must yield to the public good, of course, but this is not that kind of a case. Mr. L. has already done more for the public good than he is required; has given all the land for road purposes the public needs, and now, to require him to ruin his farm is asking rather too much of one man. All this can and will be shown at the proper time, and we trust the old man will be allowed to carry out his plans in peace.

There will be a special communication of Crookston Lodge No. 141, A. F. & A. M., Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. Work in first degree. By order of the W. M. L. ELLINGTON, Sec.

Young Man Rents a Buggy and Does Not Return.

Grand Forks Herald: The Sheriff of Polk County was in the city last evening looking for a young man named Chas. Thorn who had skipped with a mortgaged horse. It was learned that he had visited Edmunds' livery stable Wednesday morning and hired a buggy and harness ostensibly to visit his brother near Larimore, and promising to return last evening. He has not been heard from since and the authorities are giving him a hot chase.

M. R. Brown has received two carloads of pure Manilla binding twine which he is wholesaling to dealers and those who buy in large quantities, less than carload lots. The quality is what sells it, as is proved by the fact that Capt. Donaldson, of the Jim Hill farm, purchased his supply of him. [14-16]

E. M. Walsh informs THE JOURNAL that the final survey of the Crookston & Duluth will be completed to this city by this (Thursday) morning, that the right of way for a large portion of the distance has been secured and that the dirt will begin to fly all along the line in a few days. By Oct. 1st you will hear the engine whistle on the new line. So mote it be.

Mrs. E. E. Bangs has some very fine paintings which she offers at surprisingly low figures considering their merit. The paintings were made by Mrs. Ed. George and prove that lady to be an artist of taste and ability. Mrs. George contemplates a visit to Canada soon and she is selling these pictures at very low figures to raise the funds for her trip. Lovers of art should not fail to see the pictures.

By the catalogue just received it would appear that the State Fair this year will be a grander affair than ever this year. It will be held on the grounds at Hamline from Sept. 6th to 14th inclusive. Greater inducements than ever are offered farmers to produce their produce. We could suggest one improvement and that would be the admission of the farmer and his family at greatly reduced rates.

The case of the State vs. Toby Valaer was called as soon as court opened on Monday, a jury impannelled and the case for the State presented in the afternoon. Senholt's testimony was substantially the same as that given before the grand jury and was corroborated by the testimony of H. Wolf, who was allowed to turn State's evidence. The State made a very strong case. The case went to the jury about three o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and that body was out only about a half hour when they brought in a verdict of "guilty as charged in the indictment." The following named gentlemen composed the jury: F. Bivins, foreman; J. E. Van Tuyl, Hans C. Sampson, W. N. Godfrey, J. W. McNulty, Peter Cornelius, W. L. Davies, S. P. Elseth, A. Thorsen, Fred Benoit, Grundy Grundyson and Andrew Thompson.

The State Fair.

The 31st annual state fair of the Minnesota Agricultural Society opens at Hamline September 6th and continues through the 14th. The list of attractions being secured by President Bushnell and Secretary Denny far outrank those of previous years, and make it doubly necessary for the farmers, mechanics and artizans of the whole state to have an interest in it. The management has particularly developed the idea that the fair is for the entire state and not one section of it. The premium list is arranged to bring out the products of the humblest tiller of the soil as well as those of the great manufacturer and merchant. It will repay the entire community to send to H. R. Denny, Hamline, Minn., for a premium list which will be mailed free at once. Bear in mind that Minnesota's state fair is the largest institution of its kind in the United States and that its programme for 1889 is half again as large as in 1888. The list of attractions will appear in our columns next week but we can already announce the National Guard drill, the Montana cowboys exhibition, and the grandest electrical and phyrotechnical illumination of St. Paul ever witnessed. The state fair this year with 10,000 active workers already in the field will eclipse all previous efforts. For information address H. R. Denny, Secretary, Hamline, Minn.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Proceedings of County Commissioners.

The Board met at the County Auditor's office, July 8th. All members present.

The school petitions of Francois Trudeau, Francis Labanta, Sr. and Louis Marcel were granted, and their farms were detached from school district No. 20 and attached to district No. 105.

Eli Lariviere was granted a liquor license at Thief River Falls.

Secs. 34, 35 and 36, in town of Columbia, were attached to school dist. No. 8.

The county road petition of Fred Tiedt, Sr., and others, was granted, and the road established as prayed for.

A rehearing was granted in the matter of the school petition of Chris Hendrickson and others for consolidation of school districts No. 5 and 19 in Hubbard Tp.

Messrs. Alderman & Sylvester took the contract for repairing the roof of the court house for $34.

The amount of 1888 taxes on lot 3, block 14, city of Crookston, was ordered refunded as said premises have been used for poor purposes.

A hearing was granted at next session of board in the matter of the school petition of Teddy Richard.

The claim of I. U. Jennings for difference in price of wheat purchased for Com'r Johnson's district was allowed at $353.14.

The claim of Geo. H. Holt for services guarding John Senholt, a state witness, was allowed at $74. (Amount asked for $111.)

Claim of L. B. Tooly, amounting to $225.70 was audited and allowed at $194.70, being for services rendered in connection with the case of the state vs. Tobias Valear and others.

John Carter was allowed $40.25 for services in the same case.

Com'r M. E. Kirsch voted against each of the foregoing allowances.

A. A. Miller was allowed $109.44 being for attorney fees and expenses in the road and bridge appeal case.

The Board of Auditors presented their report of examination of funds in county treasury, which was accepted.

The following estimate of county expenses was made: For general county purposes $31,500. For roads and bridges $6,000. For interest on bonds $7,500. Said amounts were levied on the real and personal property of the county for the current year.

The following amounts were appropriated out of the county road and bridge fund, to-wit: To Sletten Tp. $100; to King Tp. $100; to Sletten and King Tp's $50; to Hill River Tp. $25; to Roome Tp. $200; to Northland Tp. $100; to Keystone Tp. $100; to Grand Forks Tp. $250; to North Tp. $40, and $350 for road work between Euclid and Crookston.

A hearing was set at next session of the board in the matter of the Keystone school petition.

The chair was authorized to pay the judgments recently obtained against the county in the road and bridge appeal cases.

The list of uncollected personal taxes was revised.

Claims aggregating over $3,000 were allowed out of the road and bridge and general revenue funds.

Board adjourned sine die.

For Sale Cheap.

8 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.

1 Champion Broadcast Sower.

1 4-horse Evener for binder.

1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.

1 Acme Harrow.

1 Warehouse Truck.

1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.

1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.

1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.

1 Feed Cutter.

1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.

1 Wagon, complete.

1 Single Harness.

20 gallons Machine Oil.

4 good Milch Cows.

3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,

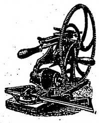
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 15 Cts.

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."



Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the stone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure curandron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

15 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 15 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address THE JOURNAL before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office.

[10-tf]

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue. Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs.
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fifo	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

UNTIL FURTHER

NOTICE!

ALL WOOL

GRAND ARMY SUITS | GRAND ARMY SUITS

$8.00

Warranted

GENUINE

SLATER

FLANNELS.

GUARANTEED

Fast Colors,

OR MONEY

Cheerfully Refunded.

TRADE AT

—THE ONLY—

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

OF THE KIND IN THE

NORTHWEST.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

☛ CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST. ☚

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Obscurity so well Adorned.

Albert Lea Standard: Secretary Windom is evidently taking a personal interest in the politics of this state, and it is charged with a showing of reason that he is setting up the pins to succeed Cush. Davis in the senate. Sim. Child is again made postoffice inspector; Mark D. Flower is in his old place as steamboat inspector, and last week E. P. Freeman was made receiver of the Marshall land office. They are former Windom strikers, who long since went to seed and they should have been allowed to remain in the obscurity which they so well adorned.

Party Rebellion Spoken Ot.

Windom Reporter: The party draft upon the southwest district for votes has been honored on presentation, and that is all the district has been cared for. The thing for us to do is to get up a howl a la Fifth district, a few years ago, and governors, senators and secretaries will know that the Second has spunk as well as well as votes. Merriam and the whole office holding crowd are afraid of the Fifth and our loyalty to the party counts nothing. It saved McGill and helped Merriam, yet both these governors have ignored the district. Merriam goes up in the Fifth and takes insurance commissioner and railroad commissioner from adjoining counties, while thus far the Second has only been accorded a secondary place under one of the Fifth district officials in the state house. Next year this district should get up a tripple headed convention and everybody bolt, jeopardize the entire state ticket, involve the next senatorial election in doubt and raise the devil generally. Such conduct, unbecoming good Republicanism seems to be recognized as worthy of gratitude by the powers that be.

St. Paul News: The Husher assignment brings an odd matter to light. Mr. Husher published a Scandinavian paper in Minneapolis and was also a member of the last legislature. In his liabilities appears two notes; one for $2,000 and one for $5,000, running to W. D. Washburn. This might not be surprising if it was not coupled with the statement that the $5,000 note was given without consideration. Mr. Husher was a member of the legislature and a supporter of Mr. Washburn for the senate. Does it seem reasonable to suppose that he would give his note to Mr. Washburn to raise money on to aid him (Washburn) in securing money to use in the senatorial canvass? Or does it seem more natural that that note once represented a consideration equal to $5,000 cash, but that the obligation was cancelled by services rendered and in the shuffle the note was never returned? These queries will bear food for thought.

SHEEP INSTEAD OF WHEAT.

The Result of Repeated Crop Failure in Western Dakota.

THE VALUE OF WOOL.

A Claim That There is More Money in Stock Raising Than in Wheat Raising.

Special to Minneapolis Journal.

BISMARCK, July 16.—The repeated failure of the wheat crop in western Dakota has resulted in the growth of a strong sentiment among farmers in favor of abandoning wheat on a large scale and in favor of turning their attention to stock raising. It is a noticable fact that wherever a farmer in the Missouri valley has devoted his time and capital to live stock, he has grown rich, while his wheat-growing neighbor has been less fortunate. During the present season one stockman in Morton County sold nearly 25,000 pounds of wool which netted him, delivered at the Northern Pacific freight depot at Mandan, 17 cents per pound. The fleeces that made up this profitable clipping averaged a fraction over 10 pounds to the sheep, or in cold cash an average of $1.70 from sheep that cost the fall before an average of a little less than $3 per head, not counting the increase. The few sheep growers of the Missouri valley are getting rich, and they maintain that wool will be the future product of this country.

The feeling is universal that the country must turn its attention largely to sheep growing, and in harmony with this idea it is proposed to persuade the constitution makers to insert a clause in the constitution exempting sheep from taxation for a term of years or authorizing the next legislature to make such exemption. Those who are interested in sheep growing say that if sheep were exempted for a period of 10 years the state would be largely the gainer in the long run, as the exemption would give such an impetus to sheep growing as would in a decade result in covering the prairies with sufficient sheep to supply the entire northwest with mutton. Then, too, the cheap fuel supplied by lignite coal for manufacturing, would, in a short time, result in the establishment of woolen mills that could compete favorably with the manufactories in the east.

An enthusiastic stockman who is interested in seeing the constitutional convention take some action on this subject, said to-day:

"The natural capital of western Dakota is found in her grasses and coal. You drive out through the country and you see thousands of acres of rich grass rotting down on the prairie because there is no stock here to feed upon it and convert its properties into dollars. What we propose to do is to encourage the natural industries of the country. We should abolish the herd law, which compels every stockman to fence in his sheep and cattle, and pass a fence law compelling the wheat farmer to fence in his wheat. The present herd law is a great wrong to the stock interests. It handicaps the herder to favor wheat growing which is little better than a species of gambling in atmospheric moisture. The natural increase from one ewe in 10 years is 110 sheep, or the increase of $3 to $330. With favorable legislation Burleigh and Morton Counties could have in 10 years 1,000,000 sheep of a permanent taxable money value of $3,000,000, and a yearly output of 10,000,000 pounds of wool, worth, at 17 cents per pound, the sum of $1,700,000, or about five times the total money value of all the wheat raised in the upper Missouri River counties."

The foregoing figures do not seem unreasonable and afford abundant food for careful consideration. The high and hilly character of the country, the dry atmosphere, the absolute freedom of native sheep from any disease, all seem to indicate that there is more philosophy than sentiment in the shepherd's statement, and the constitution makers can insert a great many worse provisions in the organic law than the one asked for exempting sheep from taxation.

County Board of Equalization.

The Board of Commissioners and Auditor met at the Auditor's office on the 15th day of July and after taking the usual oath of office, entered on the discharge of their duties as a county board of equalization.

The board continued in session until the 19th inst., and among the many changes made the following may be noted:

Minneapolis and Northern Elevator property as follows: Fairfax, $1,800; Tilden, $1,800; Grove Park, $1,800; Knute, $275; Vineland, $500; Higdem, $500; Grand Forks, $500; City of East Grand Forks (Brooks Bro's House, also Transfer House,) $2,200; North Dakota Elevator at Red Lake Falls, fixed at $2,000; Haskins Elevator at Red Lake Falls, $2,000; Farmers' Elevator at Red Lake Falls, $1,200; Wm. Wilson Elevator at the ridge, $1'200; Farmers' at Angus, $1,500; R. R. Valley at Angus, $500.

Hack & Gallasch reduced $1,000 on goods and merchandise.

Personal property of A. C. Rhinehart ordered stricken from the roll in Higdem as the same property was assessed in Marshall County.

The elevator property in Keystone Tp. being omitted by the assessor, was listed by the board.

Goods and merchandise in the several assessment districts was raised 5 per cent.

Bank assessments were equalized as follows: First National, Crookston, $59,475; Merchants' National, Crookston, $30,654; Scandia-American, Crookston, $34,125; 1st National, Red Lake Falls, $34,190.

The assessment of O. M. Holmes, village of Red Lake Falls, was raised $300 on printing presses to equalize with similar property in Crookston.

The personal assessment of Ole Narveson was corrected.

Thompson & Johnson's personal assessment in village of Red Lake Falls was fixed at $4,000.

Chas. G. Rapp, St. Hilaire, assessment fixed at $1,200.

The Northwestern Elevator at Fisher fixed at $1,800; the Farmers' Elevato at Fisher fixed at $1,200; Red Rive Valley Elevator at St. Hilaire $1,000.

Personal assessment of Peter Geiley was reduced $250 in the city of East Grand Forks, and John Shrautzler, of Euclid, reduced $250.

The personal assessment of E. D. Childs in Reis Tp. was stricken from the roll.

The wheat listed to the several elevator companies was stricken from the roll in compliance with the order of the State Board of Equalization.

North Dakota Elevator at East Grand Forks, fixed at $2,000; Red River Valley Co's Elevator in Fairfax at $2,000; in Grove Park $2,000; in King $2,000; in Rosebud $2,000.

Keystone Farm Co's machinery raised $3,261 to equalize with other assessments.

Item 11, in Keystone, lowered 25 per cent.

The following additions were made: Wm. Himmelsback, Fairfax, $250; A. C. Nash, East Grand Forks, $250; Jas. J. Peterson, Grand Forks, $200.

Horses	1 year old	fixed at	$20	average.
"	2 "	"	30	"
"	3 "	"	55	"
Cattle	1 "	"	5	"
Cows		"	15	"
Working Oxen		"	20	"

Board adjourned.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company

WILL MAKE

Four Attractive Exhibits in the Autumn of 1889,

AT THE FOLLOWING FAIRS AND EXPOSITIONS;

Buffalo, N. Y. Industrial Fair and Exposition, Sept. 3d to 13th.

Detroit, Mich. Industrial Fair and Exposition, Sebt. 17th to 27th.

Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6th to 14th.

Minneapolis Exposition, August 21st to Sept. 28th.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company has arranged to make large and attractive exhibits of samples of the products from the states and territories traversed by the line of road, at the above named important industrial fairs and expositions, to be held on the dates specified, in the autumn of 1889. In addition to the exhibits referred to, displays may be made at other fairs.

The exhibits of products as proposed will be viewed by a large number of visitors at the fairs and expositions, and show the productive capabilities of the belt of country through which the line of the Northern Pacific and its branches pass.

Collections of agricultural products from this year's crops are requested to be made, including samples of grain in the straw, native and cultivated grasses, threshed grain and seeds, flax, hops, all kinds of vegetables and fruits, and also products of the dairy, and specimens of minerals, woods, coal, wool, and other products, and deliver the same to a Northern Pacific R. R. agent, at either of the stations, addressed to "P. B. Groat, General Emigration Agent, St. Paul, Minn," and they will be promptly forwarded by express.

Each article should be labeled, giving its name, yield per acre, weight per bushel, and other appropriate description, and give the name and post office address of the producer, so that the parties furnishing material may receive proper credit.

Appropriate labels will be sent to station agents of the Northern Pacific Railroad to supply producers with facilities to describe the samples of products furnished.

After use at the expositions the samples will be forwarded to various prominent poins in the states East and South, and in Europe to be placed on permanent exhibition. Active co-operation on the part of residents in assisting to make creditable displays at the expositions as proposed, to show to visitors the agricultural, mineral and timber resources of the great Northwest, will be mutually beneficial to all concerned, and such assistance will be fully appreciated by the officers of this company.

Very Truly Yours,
P. B. GROAT,
General Emigration Agent.

It is not merely a matter of pride but one of comfort also, for farmers' wives and daughters who find it necessary to assist out of doors in the busy rush of haying and harvesting, and who have gardening to attend to and berries to pick, to have something to protect their hands from the raids of briers and the blistering rays of the sun. Brown, bruised and toil-marked hands are not beautiful, and with a little care the hands can be kept neat and comely to look at, in spite of these exceptional and helpful tasks. An excellent pattern for hand protectors, which can be made of old stocking legs (or for hard labor of stouter material,) which will give free play to the fingers and will not interfere with work, is illustrated in the American Agriculturist for August.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 20th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that LORENZO DAVIS has filed notice of intention to make final proof before U. S. Land office at their office in Crookston, Minn., on the 17th day of October, 1889, on timber culture application No. 208, for the w½ ne¼ and e½ nw¼ quarter of Section No. 18, in Township No. 149, Range No. 47. He names as witnesses: Ole Stokke, B. C. Jorgensen, J. B. Roome and J. J. Ide, all of Crookston, Minn.

[14-19] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1883. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
COUNTY ATTORNEY,
OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE 16 INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN
BANK.
CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson,	St. Paul.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,
Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,
Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

P. C. SCHMIDT,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN
Crookston - Min

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily tram service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remembe. this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

ONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
8:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:51 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:15 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call. Terms $1. Yours truly,

RUDY BURKHARDT.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., JULY 25, 1889.

SINCLAIR GARDENS,
LONDON, W., July 3d, 1889.

EDITOR POLK COUNTY JOURNAL:

DEAR SIR: Confirming my last of June 16th, here, and throughout Western Europe, the weatner of late has been everything that can be desired for crops, which are making rapid and most satisfactory progress, all continuing to point to an excellent harvest. Damage in Russia and Eastern Europe is, however, more and more confirmed; the late drouth is now followed by heavy rains, which coming too late to in any way mitigate the damage caused by the drouth, will go far to destroy the condition of what little wheat there may be. Everything, therefore, tends more and more to confirm my previously expressed opinion that your country must this season be our chief source of supply. I have been busily occupied completing arrangements over here, which are of the most complete kind, securing as they do, far more direct relations between your growers and our consumers. We have the earnest co-operation and most active support of our principal importers of wheat, among others the following received from Messrs. Spiller & Co., of Cardiff, about the largest firm of millers in the United Kingdom, speaks for itself:

> CARDIFF, July 1, 1889.
>
> We are glad to see you have secured the co-operation of such excellent firms and we think you have gone to work in the right way to secure success. If the growers now do their part and send forward their finest wheat, at fair prices, we shall be able to do a good business through channel indicated, and it will be our pleasure to do so.
>
> Yours, truly,
> SPILLER & CO.

I find I shall be unable to get away quite as early as expected, but hope to reach Duluth by end of July, where I shall be pleased to hear from you.

Yours, faithfully,
GAUTIER DE ST. CROIX.

WHITE'S HOLSTEINS.

Big Sale and Milk Record—A Fine Herd of Blooded Stock.

Hudson Star and Times.

D. E. Bandmann, a retired tragedian, of Montana, was in St. Paul some weeks ago in quest of fine blooded Holstein cattle for his western ranch—preferring these to all others for milk and beef qualities. He spent a couple of weeks in the vicinity of St. Paul, examining various blooded herds, during which ime the Globe made the following mention:

"Daniel E. Bandmann is in the city looking out for Holstein cattle and brood mares for his range in Montana. He said yesterday: 'For Montana Shorthorn and Polled Angus cattle are no earthly use; Holsteins are the cattle for us. They milk well and make magnificent beef.'"

Alderman D. M. White of this city met Mr. Bandmann in the Ryan Hotel, St. Paul, later in the week and had a long conference which lead to a trip to the Warren stock farm by Mr. Bandmann. He was delighted with Mr. White's Holsteins. In fact they suited him so much better than any others he had seen on his tour of inspection, that he at once negotiated for a choice herd, paying a good round figure therefor. They were shipped over 1,300 miles to Mr. B's large ranch on the Pacific slope where they are admired by all observers. The purchase included the following blooded notables: Dutch Lassie, No. 2707; Lady Warren, No. 3859; Lady Warren 2d, No. 6199; Lady Warren Netherland, No. 14,484; Artice Conscience 2d, No. 6078; Lakeside Cora, 2d, No. 9379; Aggie Imperial Lutie, No. 14,487; Prince Netherland of Flora, No. 11,603. The Helena Journal in an article regarding the purchase, says: "These are the first thoroughbred Holsteins ever introduced into Missoula County, Montana." This speaks well for Mr. B's enterprise, and for the excellency of Alderman White's thoroughbreds. May the good work begun in the far west field insure to the farther benefit of St. Croix County, by proving our ability to produce and sell taking cattle, for breeders.

GREAT MILKERS.

While on the Holstein strain, the Star will here give a milk record just made by a number of Mr. White's cows which is indeed, a capital showing:

I weighed the milk of the following cows and heifers for the first seven days in July. No feed was given except a small ration of bran. The grass in the pastures for the past week nearly dried up:

Name and Number.	Yrs. old.	Lbs per week.	Average per day.
Alto regt'd No. 2647	8	429	61 lbs. 4 oz.
Alto De. Bey, regt 9375	8	349¼	49 14
Ear tax No. 235, ½ blood	3	313	44 11½
do 213 ¾ blood	2	234¼	33 7
do 22 full blood	3	263¼	37 10
do 210 ¾ blood	2	224¼	30 1
do 215 ½ blood	3	235¼	30 8¼

An average for one cow, three 3 year old and three 2 year old heifers, of 42 lbs. and 12 oz. each day for seven days.

D. M. WHITE.

Summer Drinks.

Some That are Refreshing and Convenient in the Country.

St. Paul Daily Globe.

Ginger water, which is simply water sweetened with molasses, with two tablespoonfuls of cider vinegar added to each cup of molasses, and the whole spiced with ginger, is a very palatable drink and one which may be safely used by farm laborers, unless indulged in too freely when overheated.

Farmer's families seldom appreciate what a delicious and healthful drink they have in homemade buttermilk. It was the fashionable drink in New York last summer, and brokers, bankers and merchants indulged in it at three cents a glass, from street stands or wagons. Ice is not an essential where a beverage can be stood to cool in a porous earthern jar in a cold celler or milk-room, such as belongs to every farm house.

Oatmeal water is the cheapest and one of the most healthful hot-weather drinks. It is simply oatmeal stirred into cold water and allowed to settle before drinking. This is sold in New York at a penny a glass, giving the vender about 99 per cent of profit. It makes a pleassanter drink if a very thin gruel is made, using one tablespoonful of oatmeal to a quart of water. Boil for an hour, strain, and let it get very cold. Still another improvement is to add the juice of one lemon and two tablespoonfuls of sugar to each quart.

A ginger beer costing about 15 cents a gallon is a good standby. There are many different receipes for this, but the following is one of the simplest: Pour four quarts of boiling water over three fourths of a pound of white suger; add the minced yellow peel of one lemon and an ounce of ground ginger. Let this stand covered until lukewarm, then add the juice of the lemon and a gill of good yeast. Mix thoroughly, cover and stand in a warm place over night. Next day strain, bottle and cork, tying down the corks securely. Lay the bottles on their sides in a cool place.

Raspberry vinegar is a luxury that may be indulged in families living in the country who have an abundance of fruit. Put four quarts of berries in a stone jar, with one quart of the best cider vinegar, and mash to a paste with a wooden pestle. Set in the sun twelve hours, and then place all night in a cool place. Strain off the juice next day and pour it over four quarts of fresh berries. The second day strain, and to each quart of the juice allow one pint of water and five pounds of granulated sugar. Heat over a slow fire until the sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil slowly, skimming off the scum. As soon as it reaches the boiling point, strain and bottle while warm, sealing the corks with wax. This syrup or cordial, although too expensive for ordinary use, is a delightful drink for summer evening gatherings. Put two tablespoonfuls in a glass of ice water, and embellish with any fruit in season.

Southdown Sheep.

Prairie Farmer.

For its mutton qualities the Southdown excels all other sheep. It has long been held in the highest esteem, and by its standard as a mutton sheep are weighed the merits in this direction of every new aspirant to public favor. A near approach to the Southdown in the quality of mutton is considered high praise in any other breed of sheep Some writers have suggested that this unsurpassed excellence of the Southdown for mutton has been reached at the sacrifice of the wool-producing capacity. However, we find the well-bred Southdown of to-day not unfrequently producing fleeces from 10 to 13 pounds; and good sized flocks are known to average fleeces of eight to nine pounds each. The wool, besides being abundant, is of medium fineness, and finds a ready sale. The fiber of the Southdown wool is the strongest wool fiber known, and in certain other desirable qualities the Southdowns have no superiors; as, for example, their hardiness, their docility, their early maturity, and in the fact of the ewes being prolific and careful mothers.

Not the least among the causes of their great popularity is the commanding beauty of their form; no other breed of sheep can approach them in this regard. I do not claim that the Southdown is suited to every locality within the bounds of civilization; but they will adapt themselves to a wider range and greater diversity of soil and climate than any other breed of sheep.

There is a growing demand for good mutton in this country. The leading American breeders use Southdown blood on their flocks to a greater extent than ever before, and doubtless the taste of good mutton will greatly increase as our markets better supplied with mutton of the highest quality. In parts of the country where an open range can no longer be had for sheep, the Southdowns are rapidly growing in favor and, with proper care and skill, a well-selected flock of Southdowns can be made to pay 100 per cent of their cost. Every year they will clear your fields of weeds and rubbish, and will enrich your soil.

But they will not thrive upon this alone. To relish this rough herbage, the sheep must be fed liberally upon supplementary food, such as bran meal, or a pint a day per head of oil-cake meal and bran, or other grain food. With this alloy, the sheep's foot will take on a golden tinge, and will edge with gold the farmer's pocket, by making his poor lands rich, giving him at the same time a lamb or two and a fleece of wool every year. With sheep, if we do not feed them with materials needed to make fat for themselves and rich manure for us, they will be unprofitable, and this is the truth about it.

JASON ELLARS.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
District Court. 14 Judicial District.

The Merchants' National Bank of Crookston, Plaintiff vs. Robert Houston, Defendant.

The State of Minnesota, th the above named defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five dollars and 52 cents, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 23d day of February A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated March 12th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.
[8-14]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
District Court. 14th Judicial District.

Marcus T. Caswell and Susanah B. Caswell, his wife, Plaintiff. vs. Henry Dawley, Def't.

State of Minnesota, to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action which is filed with the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county and state, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Dated Crookston June 12th 1889.

EDWARD GEORGE,
Plaintiff's Attorney, Crookston.
[8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 13th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred ninety-three and 65-100 dollars, ($593.65-100) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olaf G. Hektvet and Anne Hektvet, his wife, of Polk County, Minnesota, to F. G. Stevens, of County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, bearing date the 2d day of November A. D. 1883, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December A. D. 1883, at 8:15 o'clock a. m., in book "M" of mortgages on pages 576 to 579 inclusive, and

Whereas the said F. G. Stevens, did for value received, on the 2d day of February A. D. 1884, duly assign the aforesaid note and mortgage and the debt secured thereby to Ira Cleveland, Trustee, which said assgnment was in writing under seal duly witnessed and acknowledged and thereafter on the 7th day of February A. D. 1884 at 10 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Polk County, State of Minnesota in book "O" of mortgages on page 611, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter of section eight (8,) in township one hundred and forty-nine (149,) range forty-eight west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 5th day of August A. D. 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 8th A. D. 1889.

IRA CLEVELAND TRUSTEE,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb,
Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee. [8-14]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1885 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2,) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 229 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 29th A. D. 1889.

THE AMERICAN FREEHOLD LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY of London (Limited,)
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[10-16] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., June 21st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: R. W. BROWN, D. S. 11,050, for the ne¼ Sec. 8, Tp 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. M. Benson, John Olson, T. Jolly, Peter Toupin, all of Mentor, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[10-15] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law,

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center tha nany other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark, Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN. - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5,) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153,) Range forty-four (44,) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "27" of mortgages on page 18, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 78-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 30-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 26th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors, did, on the 19th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 29th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 411; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and on the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 10th, 1889, viz: LOUIS P. VOLLOM, H'd 8,532, for the sw¼ sw¼ Sec. 8, se¼ se¼ Sec. 7, ne¼ ne¼ Sec. 18, nw¼ nw¼ Sec. 17, T. 149, R. 44. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Hans Buran, Harold Johnson, Ole Johnson and Christian M. Benson, all of Mentor, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[12-17] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES!

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889.

Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP, L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS—$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, AUGUST 1, 1889. NO. 15.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ Inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$6 00
1 Inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 Inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 Inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 Inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 Inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	25 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,
Attorneys and Counselors at Law,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting
FAMILY WASHING
Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.
O. D. ROOD, Prop.,
☞ Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estae.
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.
A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.
J. H. THOMAS, D. D.S.,
ROBERT STREET. - CROOKSTON, MINN
Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

PRACTICAL DONNELLY.

How He Gathers in the Cash for Himself and the Offices for His Relatives.

A Veritable "Farmers' Friend."

Hastings Gazette.

It is noticed that our patriotic friend, I. Donnelly, has had his son-in-law, G. M. Giltinan, appointed chief weighmaster at St. Paul by the railroad and warehouse commissioners, or rather by Gov. Merriam acting through the board. Mr. Giltinan is auditor of Stevens County, and the salary of the combined offices will make a nice little thing for him. He is furthermore a democrat of the most pronounced pattern and knows as little about grain as his wife's father does of statesmanship, but these trifling matters cut no figure in the case.

Mr. Donnelly has also a son as clerk in the attorney general's office, whose duties are not very onerous. With that devotion to family interests and the public good which is such a distinguishing characteristic of his public and private life, Mr. Donnelly, when a member of the legislature two years ago, had said clerk's salary raised to $1,500 per year.

We like to note these little indications of thrift and forethought on the part of our old-time friend. If the great Cryptogram has gone back on him, the state treasury furnishes a convenient substitute.

Like the great Flanagan, of Texas, we would like to know what we make speeches throughout the state for unless it be cash down for ourselves and offices with high salaries and little work for our families.

Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

Pierre Bottineau, who was with the commission to treat with the Red Lake Indians, after reporting the success of the commission in inducing the Indians to sign the treaty, has outlined the portion of the reservation which will be allotted to the Indians. He says the Indians will take up their allotments of land, starting at a point at the middle of the north shore of the lake, thence west to the reservation line, being a point six miles north on the Thief River from its junction with the Red Lake River, thence south along the river to the Red Lake River, thence southeast along the reservation line to the Clearwater River, thence east along the river to a point opposite the west end of Red Lake, thence east on a line running parallel with and four miles south of the lake, following the shore, to the east end of the south part of the lake, thence north to the place of commencement, or as much of the land embraced in the territory described as is necessary to make the proper allotments. The territory chosen by the Indians is principally grazing and hay land, some good farming lands near the Thief River, and some mixed timber along the rivers. It also embraces a small body of pine on the east point, which runs in peninsular form west about 15 miles between the north and south lakes. This leaves all the immense body of pine and cedar, spruce and oak to be sold, as provided in the Nelson Red-Lake bill. The commission resumed their labors at White Earth Reservation on Wednesday last, and after obtaining the signatures will proceed to Leech Lake, Winnibegoshish, Oak Lake, Sandy Lake, Mille Lacs and Bois Fort. At all of these reservations the signatures will be obtained without opposition or unnecessary delay, it is believed. The Red Lake Reservation embraces over 3,000,000 acres, largely covered with white pine, spruce, cedar, white and blue oak. The white pine is estimated at from 10,000,000,000 to 11,000,000,000 feet. The spruce is a healthy growth and the cedar and oak is the finest in the country. This vast body of timber is almost wholly tributary to the Red Lake and Clearwater Rivers.

THE SUGAR TRUST.

Western Rural.

It is estimated that the capital invested by the sugar refiners who control the price of sugar amounts to $20,000,000, and that the profits in one year will be $50,000,000, or two and a half times the capital invested. It is believed that twenty refineries form the trust. It is very strange that the consumers, citizens of a popular government like ours, will so quietly submit to this unlawful conspiracy against the rights of the people.

Legislation should be sufficient, if enacted and the laws enforced to make impossible the existence of these high-handed robbers, whose deeds are perpetrated in the name of commerce. Until the time arrives when the public sentiment shall compel State and National Legislators to do their duty in protecting the citizen in his natural right to buy the necessaries of life in a competitive market, he must seek protection in such measures as may be found nearest at hand.

As an illustration of what may be accomplished by a united effort on the part of the consumers, the fight waged against the twine trust, by the farmers, may be mentioned as a sample. A strong combination of capital with practically all the raw material out of which twine could be made, in its possession, undertook to dictate the price of the manufactured article, by buying up all the twine left in the hands of the dealers from the year previous with the design of selling it at prices fifty per cent. above what it had ever prevailed before. The Western Rural discovered the trick in time to warn the farmers of the intended swindle and advised, as far as possible, that some other process than by the use of twine be instituted to save the harvest, unless the twine be sold at a reasonable price. A response from more than a half million farmers, directly and indirectly, endorsing the position of The Rural, so that even at prices below those of last year the demand for twine has been reduced more than twenty-five per cent. below last year's requirement. Prices also have been cut down from twenty-five to thirty per cent. below the first asking price this season.

If the farmers with the same unanimity would refuse buying sugar, unless home made, for the term of three months, $50,000 would be saved to the consumers by a lessened consumption and a reduction in price, and the health of the people be improved by the abstinence from its use. Had the sorghum crop been extensively planted, a six months' fast from the refined glucose would be an easy and profitable undertaking by the farmers who are getting into magnificent shape through the various organizations for an aggressive movement all along the line of reform.

DAKOTA AND MINNESOTA.

Western Rural.

The recent Western trip of our representative took in Northern Dakota, a magnificent region of country, with an immense area of land not yet settled up. Gradually the idea that Northern Dakota is in close connection with the north pole is being corrected. Through all this northern country—Minnesota, Dakota and Montana—there is cold weather in winter. Let no one suppose for one moment that it is perpetual summer. The thermometer goes lower than it does in Northern Illinois or Wisconsin. But the fact that it is a dry atmosphere must not be forgotten, and that feature makes the cold much less felt than it does in a damp atmosphere. Ten degrees above zero in Chicago is very cold. Ten degrees above zero in Minnesota, Dakota or Montana is not unpleasant. It ought to be sufficient to settle the question, as to whether the cold in these sections is unbearable or injurious or even inconvenient, to remember that in Minnesota the two large cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis are among the most prosperous cities of the nation, that all along the lines of railroad in Northern Dakota there are prosperous towns, and the people are vigorous and healthy; and that, besides this, both Minnesota and Dakota have a large number of prosperous farmers who need not remain and freeze to death if they were in danger of doing so. Then in Montana there are the thriving cities of Helena and Butte, the latter seven thousand feet above the sea, and they are peopled with as healthy a class of people as there are on the continent.

Northern Dakota is a good section of country. It is stamped with the evidence of that fact all over it. The conductor of the train on which we rode had been in that country fourteen years, and he told us that there never had been any weather in all that time, of any description, that was dangerous to any one who took proper precautions. The crops all through this section looked well notwithstanding the drouth. Northern Dakota has not suffered from the drouth quite as much as some other sections, we think. But drouth is liable to come to any section. It is nothing peculiar to a country that there are occasional drouths. We saw some lands in Northern Dakota that were called poor, and they were in comparison with other lands about them, but the time is coming when this so called poor land will be greatly esteemed. We have said many times that the years are not far hence when we can stick up our noses at land just because it does not happen to come up to the highest standard. But it is a matter of no importance at present if there is some inferior land in Northern Dakota. If anybody wishes to go there he can find as good land as there is in the world and find oceans of it too.

Minnesota is a beautiful State, and its charms and merits are not half known either. In beautiful scenery what is called the Park Region is hard to beat. Douglass County is among the most beautiful in the state in this respect. Spending a week at Alexandria and Geneva Beach we were delighted with the surroundings, with the pure, dry atmosphere, the lakes and the woodlands. Fish and game are abundant, and while Geneva Beach is a summer resort of considerable note, it is unostentatious and just such a place as sensible people would desire to go to for a season of rest. As an agricultural and live stock region, Minnesota enjoys a splendid reputation. It contains a vast area of unsettled lands, and though perhaps the best of them are railroad lands, many people prefer to pay the price asked for them rather than go farther west. The majority of immigants, however, push on to the free government lands, which can be had for the taking, and while it costs something more of sacrifice to develop a farm and establish a home on the frontier thousands prefer to go there. In a word, the Northwest offers inducements for every class of home seekers. The man who wishes to stay closer to the centers of population can go to Minnesota or Nebraska, or Iowa, or Kansas; the man who wishes free lands in new sections can go to Montana or Dakota. It is a peculiarly unfortunate man who cannot find a place for a home that will suit him in this country at present.

Meat Inspection Unconstitutional.

Farm, Stock and Home.

We notice that a minor court in Indiana has pronounced the meat inspection law of that state unconstitutional. That law, as we understand it, is very similar to that of Minnesota, and so the inference is drawn that the Minnesota court which gets a whack at her law will knock it out in one round. May be it will; in fact, it will be surprising if it does not; but that would not settle the matter any more than it has settled it in Indiana. Higher courts must pass upon it; they may in turn confirm the holdings of lower courts, but even that will not settle the matter; there is a still higher court, the people, which must ultimately settle it, and present processes are educational to a high degree, are instructing the court of last resort to the end that it may act intelligently and efficiently.

Oleomargarine legislation had a rocky road to travel through courts high and low, but every obstacle it met intensified the determination of the people to "down" bogus butter, and it went down to its proper level. An iniquity, backed by such power and influence as is behind the "Beef Combine" is not likely to be destroyed by the first effort, but the failure of the first effort only makes ultimate destruction more certain. As we have said before, meat inspection legislation was justifiable if from no other stand-point than that of advertising the enormity of the "Beef Combine's" crime, and of calling public attention to it in a lasting and effective manner. The "Beef Combine" and all other combines and trusts must go. The legislative attacks made on the former by a few states, will in the fullness of time be found to have been attacks on the whole pestiferous brood; and if they are unconstitutional they will still be beneficial, and the necessity if not the wisdom of them will ultimately be manifest to all.

A WIZARD BUTTER-MAKER.

The Breeder's Gazette.

Those Danes and Swedes display marvelous ingenuity in the invention of machinery for securing the butter fat from milk. Formerly we were accustomed to "set" the milk and wait for the cream to rise. Time is money; so is labor. That process was entirely too tedious and laborious. A more speedy and thorough means of preparing the material for the churn was needed, and the Danes gave us the Separator, which, by the ingenious application of the principle of centrifugal force, drives out the cream from the newly milked lacteal fluid. This valuable invention is now indispensable in creameries and large private dairies. But a more startling innovation was to follow—has come in fact, from Sweden. It is the business of the manufacturers of patent churns which is now seriously menaced, for it is proposed by the application of this same principle of centrifugal force to spin the butter directly from the milk. This seems to be another phase of the eternal war against the "middle-man"—the churn, whether old fashioned jar and dasher, new fangled revolving barrel, or what-not patent form, being in this instance the go-between which is told to "go" from between. The worst of it all—for the churn manufacturers—is that the Direct Butter Extractor extracts butter directly; in other words it is a success, and Hoard's Dairyman declares it is reliably informed that 150 of these remarkable machines have been ordered by practical butter manufacturers of this country after an inspection of their workings; and, it is said that the demand for them in Sweden taxes to the utmost the capacity of the factory.

The question concerning the utility of this innovation—and it appears to be somewhat of an interrogation—was promptly propounded by practical butter makers as to whether or not the product turned out by the Extractor is similar to sweet milk butter—the latter being generally conceded to be "a delusion and a snare." The crucial question, however, in the estimation of Hoard's Dairyman, is whether it is not a mere assumption that cream must be acidified in order to attain keeping qualities. It is inclined to the opinion that the only good accomplished in the acidification of cream is the getting rid of the caseous matter, and it believes that if the Extractor eliminates the caseous matter, which is partly washed out in churning, a better butter can be produced than that churned from sweet cream, and that upon this point depends the success or failure of the Direct Butter Extractor. The query raised certainly admits of easy answer, and we should not be long without a conclusive reply. The fact that so many practical butter makers have decided to put the machine in operation is presumptive proof that the question of our Wisconsin contemporary receives an affirmative answer from the wizard machine itself. At all events its complete success seems assured from the fact that it will spin its butter ribbons from sour milk—not loppered. Verily, we have happened upon the day of great inventions.

A Home on a New Farm.

The Prairie Farmer.

Many young men, during the approaching fall season, will begin life upon the farm, and this, too upon new lands—prairie land—for that is about the only kind now remaining out of which farms are made. Young men and young women are presumed to be yet strong, active, and at their best—not stooping and rheumatic from continuous hard work and exposure. There has been too much hard work done on the average farm in the past, as the bodily condition of too many men and women, ranging in age from forty to sixty years, attest. This has been, to quite a degree, necessary on timbered land, but the young man should learn wisdom through observing what has befallen those who have gone before.

Let us draw a picture: Two young men start out, each to make a new prairie farm in the West. One is driving a pair of brood mares of fine appearance and good weight, with pomising colts alongside, the mares being bred again to a reputable stallion before leaving home, with guarantee of foals in due time. In the wagon are household fixtures, and strapped to the outside are the two indispensable implements of best make, namely, plow and harrow. The rear is brought up by six or eight in calf cows and heifers, a portion of these having young things by their side. The other outfit is made up of a team and wagon, the team being composed of a pair of geldings—fair work horses—and on the wagon we observe an investment of $200 or over in a reaper, and a seed-sower, with no cattle to bring up the rear.

Now, supposing the prospective wheat-grower and the prospective grower of live-stock to be equally proficient in the sort of husbandry each proposes to follow, what, think you, will be the comparative possessions of each at the end of five years? One has added, say, twelve head to his horse stock and has two pairs old enough for market; while he can show an increase of, say, forty head to his cattle stock, the sales of butter and small crops grown having mainly supported the family in the meantime. How has it gone with farmer number 2 in the meantime? His experience is presumed to have been like the hundreds of others who have gone before, in that the income from small grain sown has been absorbed in paying for labor in harvesting and threshing, and at the end of five years he has a worn-out team and weather-beaten machinery to show; the living expenses larger from year to year than in the other case, because hired help has, now and then swarmed around the good wife's table.

On comparing his own condition with that of his neighbor, he naturally say: "Well, when I get something ahead, I must buy me some calves and colts and get some live stock about me, as my neighbor, starting with equal capital with my own, has had an easy time within doors and without, now having numerous grown and growing things, while my barn-yards and fields show little but neglected straw-ricks here and there." The labor required in growing grain for sale is at all times hurrying and exhaustive, while live stock is, to quite a degree, self-tending; and what labor is required to be expended in the care-taking comes under the head of "choring," and is, or at any rate can be made easy. Young men who engage in farming in these days, having the advantages that come of reading the better class of agricultural papers, attending fairs, etc, are presumed to be abreast of the times in the matter of seeing the advantages accruing from breeding the best, and will act upon this idea to the limit warranted by the purse.

G. S.

Steenerson & McManus,
LOANS
—AND—
COLLECTIONS,
BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my
New Spring Stock
—OF—
JEWELRY,
CLOCKS
—AND—
SILVERWARE,
HAS ARRIVED,

LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE,
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
AT BOTTOM PRICES.

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line. All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,
ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!
20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS
MACHINE OILS
OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:
POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.
ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

IT PAYS
TO TRADE WITH
BARNES & SLOCUM,
CASH DEALERS IN
Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

W. A. ROBERTSON,
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.
On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and proving property.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)
Fournet Block Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

Clifton Hotel
JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.
American and European Plans.
New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.
Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN
[32-tf]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon,
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

MONEY TO LOAN
On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 1, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat 1 Hard 77 cents.

Chris. Sieenerson was in from the west side this week.

Lots of hay on the market. It finds slow sale at $4 and $5 per ton.

The prospects now are that hay will be a paying crop this year—but you can't bet on it.

In the game of Wednesday last the F. & A. club beat the H. & G. club by a score of 49 to 18.

The clerk of the weather vetoed the ball game at Grand Forks last Thursday and disappointed lots of people.

Ed. Love arrived on Thursday of last week with Star Bashaw. Seems natural to see that stylish horse again upon our streets.

Max Ericsson went out to Minot on Thursday last returning on Friday. Says the crops in Polk County beats them all.

Mayor Lohn came down from Fosston on Saturday and went over to Caledonia with Henry Peterson, returning on Tuesday.

Tobias Valaer was sent to Stillwater on Sunday evening. There is a great deal of dissatisfaction expressed at the disparity of the sentences.

Henry Peterson came down from Fosston on Saturday, returning on Tuesday's train. He called upon THE JOURNAL man with a fine Havanna cigar.

M. R. Brown is selling twine in large lots along the line. He has shipped to points in Kittson, Marshall and Polk, and last week sold E. D. Childs & Co. two tons.

Our neighbors in North Dakota are preparing for a red-hot time this fall. Grand Forks is on the lookout for plums, and it will be funny if she don't capture her share.

Jos. Laurence and wife returned from an extensive visit to the great west on Thursday night last. Mr. Laurence is satisfied that Minnesota is not the worst place on the continent.

John McLaughlin was in from McIntosh for a few days. He has just completed burning a 65,000 kiln and will soon commence work on another, to be burned before the freeze up, so he says.

Look out for a big stock sale in the near future. M. R. Brown has one on the tapis in which a number of thoroughbred stallions and mares will figure; also cows, cattle, hogs and agricultural machinery.

Fred Stauff, the genial representative of the Wm. Bergenthal Co., of Milwaukee, was greeting his many friends in the city this week. Fred is one of the old-timers and can do lots of business when there is any business to do. He is a G. A. R. boy and will take in the re-union at Milwaukee, if there is one.

The Fergus Falls Weekly Journal is 16 years old and speaks of the demise of many ephemeral sheets that bloomed and blossomed for a day or so then turned up their toes to the daisies. The Journal in A. J. Underwood's day was always an excellent local paper, and seems to have lost none of its excellencies since Mr. Adams took charge of its destinies. It seems to have weathered all the storms and to be sailing in smooth waters.

In the case of the State of Minnesota vs. Wm. Bledhorn, the jury was out 24 hours before an agreement was had and then brought in a verdict of assault in the third degree. The jury in the Welsh case were out from 8 o'clock to 10 on Friday, and found a verdict of not guilty. On Saturday morning Tobias Valear and Wm. Bledhorn were brought in and sentenced, the former to four years in the penitentiary and the latter to three months in the county jail. Thus ends the famous tar and feather case.

M. R. Brown informs THE JOURNAL that the stock yards are now in excellent shape for the annual shipping. So far the most of it has been sheep. Speaking of the report that the N. P. one day recently shipped 85 trains of cattle through Fargo, Mr. B. says that statement should be taken with a grain of salt—a barrel would be better, for, said he, the Manitoba road is in excellent shape, with any number of cars admirably fitted to ship stock comfortably, and will have its share at least of that trade, and as yet we haven't seen that kind of an exodus, neither has the N. P. All former shippers via the Manitoba are perfectly satisfied with the safe, sure and comfortable manner in which their stock has been handled, and not only is their trade assured, but many others. I apprehend a much larger shipment this fall than ever before, owing to the lack of feed on the ranges, as it will be cheaper to ship the stock out than to ship hay to them, and in this connection I wish THE JOURNAL would suggest to farmers the advisability of putting up all the hay they can, and putting it up in merchantable condition, as good hay will be in demand at fairly remunerative figures. It will not do to cut hay, let it lie in the swath a day or so, and then pile it up anyhow. It should be cut in the morning, raked and cocked in the afternoon, then properly stacked and it will preserve its bright green color. Such hay will sell at a good fair price, as it can be shipped should there be an outside demand, which is likely to be the case.

If you want to buy twine in carload lots see M. R. Brown.

Judge C. O. Christianson is enjoying a week at Alexandria.

E. D. Childs went to St. Paul on a business trip this week.

Jacobus has given a 30 day option on his property for depot grounds.

August Walters has gone north as far as Pembina to make a business call on his friends.

S. L. Collins keeps repairs for the Minneapolis binder and the Massillon Thresher.

Wheat is filling splendidly and what there is of it bids fair to be No. 1 Hard every time.

Oats will undoubtedly command a good price next year as the prrospect is that a light yield will be had.

Everybody is on the qui vive about where the new road will enter the city. Where will the depot be? is the great question.

Conductor H. Norie rejoices in the arrival of a fine bouncing young conductor, who arrived early on Tuesday morning.

The ball game last Saturday in which the draymen met the mechanics upon the ensanguined diamond the mechanics mopped the floor with the draymen to the tune of 20 to 30.

The Times fails to explain why it charges the city two and four times as it does private individuals but tries to crawl out of a small hole by besmirching the editor of this paper.

The shark is abroad in the land once more. Hence you see reports in circulation that the wheat crop is better than ever. It is a delusion and a snare—invented for speculation.

Dr. Van Dyke and Dick Hussey started at 5 a. m., for the Sand Hill River country, between Fertile and Edna, where the Dr. was summoned to attend to several diphtheria cases.

B. C. Jorgenson says that a portion of his oats was struck with rust and he will put the binder at work at once though the oats are greener than he would cut otherwise. His wheat he thinks is all right yet.

Knute Opheim was up from Fertile on Thursday last to do jury duty. He was excused for sufficient cause and returned to await the coming of the new road. Says his next visit to the city will be via the Crookston & Duluth road.

We learn that the man who has rented Pete Misgen's building on Robert street is a Mr. Reid, formerly a hotel man at Emerson and that he will put in a stock of fruits and confectionery, and will run a restaurant in connection.

Henry Burkhardt has the new Cleveland in running order again and invites his friends in a new ad in THE JOURNAL to call when they want to find a comfortable, home-like place to put up. Guarantees comfortable quarters and prices reasonable.

Warren Register: We learn that Thos. Cleary, formerly of Angus, but who now resides at Spokane Falls Washington Territory, is suffering serious afflictions. He has a cancer on his face, and two of his daughters are dangerously ill with typhoid fever.

J. T. Knight was down from Red Lake Falls on Tuesday renewing old acquaintances. He has just returned from a winter's visit to Michigan. J. Ti is the same old two-and-six; has not lost his faith in Polk County yet, and especially R. L. F., which he swears by.

The Minneapolis Tribune has perfected an arrangement with the Evening Star by which the Star will hereafter appear as an evening tail to the Tribune kite. Blethen don't seem to want the earth, but he did want a Star—and got it. The Star will now be able to twinkle yet more merrily than ever and the Evening Journal will have to watch out for its laurels.

Joel Heatwole, of the Northfield News, seems to be causing a great deal of uneasiness to certain parties in these days, and we notice that some of the twin city dailies don't like him one little bit. They, or some of them, intimate that "Joel is a disappointed office-seeker, hence his tirade against the practice of giving all of the patronage to the twins!" Well, now, we happen to know something about that ourself. We happen to know that Mr. Heatwole did as hard work for the party during the last campaign as any man in it—and better work than many who have corralled fat offices—that he could have had his choice of offices, but declined, and we feel certain that what he did for the party was wholly from principle, and it is a shame for these great dailies to cast slurs upon him, or any one who thinks that some patronage should go to the country, and dares to say so. One would think, to read those dailies, that the republican party has no use for any who work from principle—that the sole end and aim of the country editor is office! Fortunately such is not the case and it is such men as Heatwole who render this fact emphatic. While he did not make his efforts a stepping-stone to preferment, he did not spare himself in his efforts to aid his friends, and because he did not support the Minneapolis candidate, and because he will not now bow down and worship Minneapolis' golden calf, the Minneapolis papers say "his name is Dennis," and proceed to step right on his neck. But never you mind Heatwole, he's all right, for the people feel just as he does and will stay by him, never fear.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

FARMERS OWN COMPANY!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - MinnesOta.

To convince us that his thory of three pecks of wheat enough seed for an acre, W. D. Baily brought to THE JOURNAL office 5 stools of wheat containing respectively 23, 28, 30, 34 and 36 stalks of wheat, each stalk containing a perfect head. The wheat stands about 5 feet high and is as rank and thrifty as one could wish to see.

"Lawn tennis is a very nice game, a very healthful game, and all very proper in its place, but getting out at three or four in the morning to play lawn tennis while the neighbors are trying in vain to get their natural sleep, I call altogether too previous," remarked a young lady to THE JOURNAL scribe, "and I will write it up if you will publish it, too!" Nuff ced.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

The surveyors on the Crookston & Duluth road reached this city on Saturday night, having been delayed somewhat on account of rain. The line thus surveyed involves so much extra expense that it may be changed to the westward. The statement made by an obscure sheet that the "right of way over that line is wholly secured," is like many other of its statements, wholly untrue.

W. D. Bailey was over on Tuesday making arrangements for cutting oats on Wednesday. Says his wheat crop is a good fair average and promises to be the best in quality he has ever raised. He tried the experiment of sowing one-half bushel wheat per acre on a portion of his lands, and three pecks on the balance, and thinks three pecks per acre on old land and one-half bushel on new sufficient. Mr. B. is of the opinion that too much seed is wasted in this country and if his experience proves it, he will be a public benefactor.

R. C. Finnessey was down from Maple Lake attending court last week and took a ride with THE JOURNAL man a few miles north. On the way he related a thrilling experience he recently had with a she bear and her cubs. He was picking berries near an old shanty and had his pail nearly filled when suddenly without a word of warning a huge bear reared right up in front of him not six feet distant and commenced hostile demonstrations. Mr. F. commenced a retrograde movement toward the shanty door, reaching which he shinned up the side of the house and crawled out onto the roof. Her ladyship, seeing the claim deserted filed on the berries at once and commenced to appropriate them to her own personal use; seeing which Mr. F. quietly dropped to the ground on the opposite side and put for home after his gun. Upon his return the only bear he found was his pail which was as bare as the day it was made which was indeed hard to bear. He says next time he goes for berries without his gun he is going to have it right with him.

Remarking to Joe Laurence on his return from his western trip that he had fallen away somewhat Joe replied: "Well I had a great deal of hard walking to do;" and some one in the crowd was cruel enough to suggest that he had walked back from Tacoma at least. We know better than that, however, for we happen to know that he did not walk up from Glyndon—he rode on a freight train. Upon his arrival Maj. Mix rallied him upon going off in such style, on a palace sleeper and returning via the freight. Joe takes it all good-naturedly and says that he enjoyed the trip very much though it was hard work. He went to Kansas City, Mo., thence through New Mexico to San Francisco, thence by steamer to Tacoma. There he visited the Crookston contingent and had a good time. Says they are all doing well though Ansel Bates had a streak of bad luck the day Mr. and Mrs. Laurence left. They had been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Bates. They left Sunday morning and Sunday night Mr. Bates' residence took fire and burned to the ground. Mr. Bates' loss by the fire will be severe. Mr. L. has several business openings in view out west but has not decided to accept any and will wait to see what our new road developes. He says he saw no country that suited him as well as Polk County does.

Hallock Weekly News.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 21.—"A. L. Mohler, assistant general manager of the Manitoba railroad, who has just completed a thorough personal examination, predicts that the country tributary to the Manitoba lines will furnish for shipment at least 32,000,000 bushels of wheat. This estimate, he says, is confirmed by Chicago experts who have recently been covering the same territory independently of himself."

The above is a Press dispatch. Now, Mr. Mohler a few days since made a "thorough personal examination" of Kittson County and how?

He and his special train were not in the county to exceed four hours, and from all we learn the examination consisted of sending out agents at a few stations to the best fields, and selecting a few good plants. It would take every hour in one long week to make any kind of a personal examination in this county.

It looks to us as part of the attempt now being made to boom northwest crops by St. Paul papers in the interest of that city and its millionaires, and to depreciate the value of the new crop of wheat. No man can from a seat in a special train going forty miles an hour, tell whether there is five or fifty bushels of wheat to the acre.

While we are coming in contact every hour of the day with farmers from all parts of the county and see many fields with our own eyes, would not dare to say within many thousands the possible yield of Kittson County.

We urgently advise farmers to hold their wheat, as it will all be wanted, and that they will get a fair price for same even with this visible attempt to depreciate its value.

They Begin to Sign.

By a telegram from White Earth of the 29th, we learn that Chief White Cloud and 500 Indians have signed the agreement and that the work is now going hopefully forward. White Cloud was one of the main opponents of the bill, and is a leading man on the Reservation. The prospects now seem to indicate that the reservation will be opened to settlement. The commissioners seem to be doing excellent work so far and will not be to blame if the plan should fail.

Miss Lotta Anglim departed last night on a visit to friends in St. Paul.

Mrs. John Wyand went below on Wednesday on a short visit to her friends.

Charlie Thomas has opened a new barber shop on Main street, one door south of Anderson's restaurant.

Mrs. Edward George started on Tuesday night for a visit of pleasure and business combined to Canada. Enroute she will visit at Rochester for awhile. Meanwhile Ed. wanders about disconsolate, looking as though he had lost the last friend he has.

Farmer Bang, after a few days visit with friends in the city, departed for his farm this week. Ole has broken and backset 125 acres this year, besides building a large stock barn. While here he bought a quarter section of indemnity land of the railroad company and now has one of the finest farms in Polk County.

The Times goes into a frenzy again last week because THE JOURNAL did not notice its offer of $100 and considers its dishonorable course endorsed. Its charge: "To 9 lines 1t $1.80," is a matter of record in the bills now on file with the city clerk as any one can see by looking at it. It is needless to say that no one will get any "$100" out of the Times, however.

Dick Hussey, who is as familiar with what a Red River Valley crop should look like as any man in the valley, says: "It don't matter what speculators say about it I tell you the crop will not average more than 5 or 6 bushels per acre at the best and that fact will be made perfectly plain later. The crops of Polk, Marshall and Kittson will go a little better than that, but when you talk about the average of the valley that's a different thing. The wheat we have will be of excellent quality but it stands very thin on the ground and, of course a great quantity ain't there. I expect to see dollar wheat in this market before snow flies."

20 Cts. After August 1st 20 Cts.

Creamery butter will be retailed at 20 cents per pound after August 1st. That means to-day.

Max Ericsson went to Larimore on Wednesday on a business trip.

On Tuesday the "kid" base ball club went to Fisher to tackle the Fisher club and got waxed by a score of 24 to 26.

The contest case of Erick Franson vs. John J. Wesselth and March & Spaulding, of Warren is on trial before the U. S. Land office in this city. Att'y D. Hattlestad appears for the plaintiff and John Cromb for defendant.

M. R. Brown has received two carloads of pure Manilla binding twine which he is wholesaling to dealers and those who buy in large quantities, less than carload lots. The quality is what sells it, as is proved by the fact that Capt. Donaldson, of the Jim Hill farm, purchased his supply of him. [14-16]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office. [10-tf]

For Rent,

Six room house on Houston avenue. Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

REPAIRS

For the Massillon Thresher and the Minneapolis self-binder. Also handle the Minneapolis self-binder. See Collins, at Collins' Livery Stable. [15-22]

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 20 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

Teachers Examination.

The regular fall examinations for Polk County will occur as follows:

At the Central School Building, in Crookston, August 19th and 20th.

At the School House, in East Grand Forks, August 19th and 20th.

At the School House, in Red Lake Falls, Aug. 20th and 21st.

At the School House, in Fosston, Aug. 20th and 21st.

The examinations in Crookston and East Grand Forks will begin at 9 a. m.; in Red Lake Falls and Fosston at 1 p. m. of the first day.

All teachers holding third grade certificates received last sping at the regular public examinations can have those certificates renewed for another six months work by sending them to the county superintendent.

All second grade certificates issued last spring, and limited to to six months on account of deficiency in Civil Government, will be extended until the spring examination upon request for same.

Dated at Crookston, this 30th day of July, 1889.

EZRA F. ELLIOT,
County Supt.

THE NEW

CLEVELAND HOUSE,

Is now ready for the reception of guests. I have just completed the addition, thoroughly renovated, papered and painted, and am now ready to welcome old guests and new to a comfortable, home-like hotel. House convenient to all business places.

☞ Give the New Cleveland House a call.

H. BURKHARDT, Prop.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court.
County of Polk.

Lee & Herrick. Against. Alice B. Kratka.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Lee & Herrick and against Alice B. Kratka. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendent, to-wit: Lots ten (10) eleven (11) twelve (12) and thirteen (13.) of block fifty-nine (59.) of the townsite of Thief River Falls, according to recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alice B. Kratka in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to ninety-six dollars and 35 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the fourth day of June 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court.
County of Polk.

Anthony Kelly & Co., Against. Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Anthony Kelly & Co., and against Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit; Lot fifteen (15.) of block five (5,) L. Fletcher's addition to Crookston, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said County of Polk, excepting a strip twenty-five feet wide along the north end of said lot. And that I shall on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to eleven hundred eighty dollars and 48 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 29th day of July 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 1st, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five thousand seventy-eight and 90-100 dollars, ($5,078.90-100,) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Carl Kretzschmar and Anna Kretzschmar his wife mortgagors to Wm. M. Ross of Crookston, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of January A. D. 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 23th day of January A. D. 1885, at 9:45 o'clock a. m., in book "C" of mortgages, on pages 210 to 212 inclusive, and

Whereas the said Wm. M. Ross, mortgagee, for value received, on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly assigned the aforesaid note and mortgage, and the debt secured thereby to the Merchants' National Bank, of Crookston, which said assignment was in writing under seal, duly witnessed and acknowledged, and thereafter on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said Polk County, in book "45" of mortgages on pages 575 and 576, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered three (3,) four (4,) eight (8,) nine (9) and ten (10,) in block two (2,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block three (3,) lots seven (7,) eight (8) and nine (9,) in block four (4,) lots nine (9,) ten (10) and eleven (11,) in block five (5,) lots three (3,) four (4) and ten (10,) in block six (6,) lots six (6,) seven (7) and eight (8,) in block seven (7,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block ten (10,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block eleven (11,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block twelve (12,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirteen (13,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block fourteen (14,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four inclusive, in block fifteen (15,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block sixteen (16,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block seventeen (17,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block eighteen (18,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block nineteen (19,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty (20,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-one (21,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-two (22,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, in block twenty three (23,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-six (26,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-seven (27,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block thirty (30,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirty-one (31,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block thirty-two (32,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block thirty-three (33,) lots sixteen (16,) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18,) in block thirty-four (34,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, and lots twenty-two (22,) twenty-three (23) and twenty-four (24,) in block thirty-five (35,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, and lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block thirty-eight (38,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-five (55,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6) and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-eight (58,) lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, and twenty-five (25) to thirty-two (32) inclusive, in block sixty-five (65,) lots one (1) to eight (8) inclusive, and lots seventeen (17) to twenty-four (24,) in block sixty-six (66.) All in the townsite of Thief River Falls, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 21st day of September A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 25th 1889.

THE MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK of Crookston,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee.
[15-21] Crookston, Minn.

GREAT BOOT SALE!

We are going to close out our Entire Boot Stock. Everything must go!

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE PRICES

$5.00 BOOTS $3.75 — $3.75 BOOTS $2.75
$4.50 " $3.25 — $3.50 " $2.25
$4.00 " $3.00 — $3.00 " $2.00
Plow Boots $1.50 and $1.75.

C. O. D.
CLOTHING HOUSE.
Largest Establishment in the Northwest.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

THE TWINE MARKET.

Western Rural.

As the days for the sale of twine draw to a close, the twine fellows are becoming more frantic. They cannot keep up prices and weather the storm that is coming. They cannot lower them without going back upon all their declarations and exposing their treachery. They are in a mighty bad fix and they know it. In the meantime the grain grower is maintaining his clutch upon their throats, which he was first driven to make by the extraordinary impudence and greed which the twine corner exhibited. The absolute pleasure which the farmer experiences in having made a successful thrust at this great conspiracy, even at a sacrifice, is wonderful to behold. Some who write to us and complain of the ruin of the wheat crop in their sections by the drouth, actually seem to take a degree of delight in the fact that their misfortune will hurt the twine trust. The Rural regrets that a gang of vampires should put the grain grower to such inconveniences as the twine combination has done. It regrets that the farmers by the thousands are compelled to abandon the use of the expensive binders which they own. But it does rejoice that our farmers showed the pluck and determination to protect their rights even at a sacrifice. They have manifested a spirit which, if farmers throughout the land would manifest in regard to all the wrongs which the farmer community suffers, would lift our agriculture very high in the scale of dignity and insure a profit that it has not enjoyed for many a day.

The trouble with us farmers is that we have not hitherto voluntarily made as much sacrifice as was profitable. We have been compelled to sacrifice. We have been forced to produce for the benefit of the numerous greedy, thieving gangs who are banded together to rob us. If we had voluntarily made half the sacrifice that we have made under compulsion, but made it in a direction that would benefit us, can not we all see that we would to-day be on top instead of at the bottom? If a man is the victim of a blackmailer he sacrifices every time he responds to the demands of the leech that is fattening upon him. It would be a sacrifice for the victim to go to the trouble, expense, inconvenience and mortification of arresting and punishing the villain who was robbing him. But that would be a profitable sacrifice. In business affairs men often make foolish sacrifices when they might make judicious and profitable sacrifices. Men frequently submit to great sacrifices in prosecuting a losing business, because they have not the courage to make one heroic sacrifice, consent to lose what they have already put into it, and thus save themselves from future losses and sacrifices. The sacrifice that represented the abandonment of what they had already invested, would be a profitable sacrifice. Men lose by the credit system, because they seem to prefer the useless sacrifice of permitting a creditor to become more deeply indebted to them in the hope of saving something, when they would be the gainer by heroically making the sacrifice of charging the debt already owing to profit and loss and stop its further enlargement.

There is a choice in sacrifices, therefore, and it behooves us to make those which are most profitable to us. If we had gone on in the usual way to harvest our grain, paying trust prices for twine, we should have been forced to sacrifice. But such sacrifice would have done us no good. It would have done us harm, for it would have encouraged the conspirators to fleece us more next year. When we determined not to use twine we invited sacrifice, but it was of a kind that will do us good, for it will show our strength and our determination to protect our rights, and the willingness to make sacrifice is the foundation of our future prosperity. In times past farmers have often refused to expend time and money that would have been of vast benefit to them. We have known farmers to refuse to attend farmers' conventions; to refuse to spend the time necessary to awaken neighbors to action in the cause of reform, and even to refuse to subscribe for journals that were laboring to right the wrongs under which farmers were suffering. Their reason has sometimes been that they had not the time or money to spare. No doubt these things often do call for a sacrifice, but which is better, to sacrifice in our own interest or sacrifice in the interest of other classes? We suffer a much greater sacrifice in refusing to sacrifice for the cause of reform than we should if we did. The moment that our millions of farmers say with emphatic tone that they will have what is right and will submit to nothing that is wrong, whatever immediate sacrifice may result, the day will begin to break and prosperity to farmers will begin to dawn.

A Remedy for Mosquitoes.

Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

I haven't a mosquito bar nor a screen door about my house, and yet there are seldom any flies and never any mosquitoes about it. I learned the secret of successful warfare against these pests when living in the swamps of Louisiana, where, summer or winter, mosquitoes swarm. For some years life was unendurable, and no meal could be eaten in peace. But all at once there was a change for the better, bars and screens were often out of place, but there was almost an immunity from insects. I was bathing at the time, and had just changed my colored boy. The newcomer explained to me how he kept the "critters" away. He burnt small pieces of gum camphor on the cook stove and used a secret preparation he called "sudekillo." When I got married and came to Missouri I imparted the secret to my wife, and, as there is no patent on it that I know of I would advise all fellow-sufferers to go and do likewise. The gum camphor alone is ample for the purpose and need only be used two or three times a day.

Investigating the Pension Bureau.

National Tribune: Secretary Noble has ordered Assistant Secretary Bussey to make a thorough investigation into the cases af alleged improper re-ratings of pensions among imployes of the pension bureau, and the work has already begun, Commissioner Tanner welcomes the investigation, and will afford every facility for it, and no one doubts that Assistant Secretary Bussey will probe every case to the bottom, where there is the slightest complaint of irregularity. This was a proper step to take, and no one desires it more than Commissioner Tanner and his friends. It is due the commissioner and due the veterans that any charge of misdoing or negligence in the administration of the great bureau be promptly and thoroughly investigated, and the ful truth made known.

The real friends of the veterans want nothing concealed or hidden about the pension bureau. They want nothing that will not bear the strongest sunlight of publicity. The operations of the bureau have never been so thoroughly exposed to public scrutiny as since Commissioner Tanner came into it. If it can be made more completely open to constant observation, it should be, and not only friends but enemies given every opportunity to inspect its innermost workings.

The Sugar Steal.

The Western Rural.

Ten cents a pound for sugar is pretty rough, and when we consider that the sugar trust has us by the throat and that there is nothing to prevent it from running up the price just as high as it likes, the situation becomes very serious. Whatever remedies can come from legislation or from growing sorghum, sugar beets, etc., are all in the future, depends altogether upon the action of the people themselves. If they will organize and unite for their own protection, and give the important subject of producing our own sweets the attention that it deserves, the remedies flowing from these things will not be long in coming. But it is not pleasant to think of being unmercifully plundered until we can secure proper legislation or make the production of American sweets successful. It is desirable that we protect ourselves now—to-day; and the only way we can do that is to apply the remedy that we have applied in the twine trust robbery. We are fully aware that it requires more heroism to do this than it did to refuse to use twine. Sugar is almost a necessity, but not quite so, in the sugar bowl. We can do without it. We can drink our coffee unsweetened. We can get along without those things in the composition of which sugar is prominent. It will need a high degree of determination to do it, but is it not better to do it?

We can at all events greatly lessen the consumption of sugar without altogether giving up its consumption. For instance, a lady friend of The Rural refuses to put up any fruit this season because of the high price of sugar. Suppose that every farmer's wife in the country should make an equal sacrifice the sugar trust would soon begin to tremble as the twine trust is trembling. We should like very much to know what the temper of our readers is with reference to this matter. We should like to know how many of them are willing to submit to some sacrifice to cripple this thieving trust.

The State Fair Association has completed its arrangements for securing the Texan cowboys presence during the entire fair, with their wild steers and ponies. The performance each day of the fair will be most thrilling. The lassoing of cattle, wild races of the plains, all of the tricks of taming unruly steers, and the ludicrous spectacle of tying a steer down with his own tail. The appearance of the national state guard in a grand competitive drill, will constitute one of the most remarkable military exhibitions ever given in the state. The purses offered will be sufficient to put each company on its mettle, and from the infantry, through the battery, and to the cavalry there will be given a most skillful and enthusiastic display. The Grand Army Veterans are to be taken care of also with the post of honor and a day especially devoted to their entertainment and comfort. The farmers will find an unequaled representation of live stock and every product of the soil of Minnesota. The association has issued this week its first annual estimate of the crop yield. The averages obtained are, wheat, 12 to 15 bushels per acre, potatoes about 170, oats 37 to 42, corn 36 to 45, and barley 25 to 30. The fair and good crops promised will be the two leading events of the year. The fair occurs September 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th inclusive.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs.
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 20 Cts.

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

Dead Shot to the Saloon and Rum Brigade.

(Communicated.)

NEBY, Minn., July 24, 1889.

ED. JOURNAL: While there is a cry all over the country that prohibition is dead and the cranks and fanatics forever buried, a convention was held in the town of Vineland, Polk County's prohibition Gibralter, where thundering speeches were hurled against the saloon and rum brigade. The towns of Roome, Tynsid, Andover and Vineland were represented in the convention. Strong resolutions against the liquor traffic were adopted, and a committee was appoited to call a county temperance convention of Polk County this fall, with delegates from every temperance city and town of said county. The committee are: President, Ole O. Estenson; Secretary, P. B. Anderson; Oliver Bodness, Andrew Stortroen, Martin Finseth.

As far as I understand this movement of the temperance people, I believe that their main object is to organize a Temperance Alliance of Polk County this fall, and to ask every citizen who is against the saloon traffic to stand by them. It is a well known fact that there have been many voters in Polk County who were opposed to the saloon traffic, but never voted with the prohibition party. Now there will be an opportunity for the friends of temperance to appear at the convention this fall and help organize a county alliance. Some of your good boys will certainly say, "you cranks are bound to defeat the republican party;" others will say, "you will defeat the democratic party." I believe this temperance movement to be non-partizan in its objects and aims and one that will help the good and temperate men without regard to party affiliations. I know there were delegates in the prohibition convention last fall who desired to endorse the nomination of Ezra F. Elliot, Andrew Eiken and others, and in the future I am sure the temperance people will not throw overboard good men if they are true to the temperance cause.

United we stand, divided we fall,
Whisky to no man, but protection to all.

E. J. G.

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

Northfield News: We heartily endorse the following from the Princeton Union: "The tariff on sugar is about 60 per cent. Do away with this monstrous tariff and the sugar trust is powerless. The remedy is in the hands of the people. Vote against every candidate for congress, be he republican or democrat, who will not pledge himself to vote the tariff on sugar out of existence. Vote for men who will carry out your wishes. Don't vote for "boodlers" who will sell you out at the first opportunity that offers. Don't be carried away by party cries. Vote for your own interests. That is the remedy. In the meantime get along with as little sugar as possible. Where you used one pound before, make eight ounces do now. Do not enrich the plunderers by purchasing sugar at their prices." Take the tariff off the poor man's necessities, is a good enough platform for The News.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE IG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot at a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN

BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton
A. E. Johnson,	St. Paul

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - - Min.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC

RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:34 "
10:45 "	Pembina	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Cleveland House.

R. BURKHARDT, Prop.

Handy to Depot.
Handy to Post Office.
Handy to Land Office.
Handy to Stables.
Handy to Court House.

The most convenient Hotel to any business house and to deal with of any Hotel in the city. Give me a call.
Terms $1. Yours truly,
RUDY BURKHARDT.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 1, 1889.

The following table, furnished THE JOURNAL by deputy auditor, Mat Cornelius, shows a substantial gain in personal property for Polk County for the year of 1889:

	No.	Val.
Colts, one year old	1,084	$16,171
Colts, two years old	847	20,645
Colts, three years old and over	9,682	452,708
Cattle, one year old	6,878	21,768
Cattle, two years old	5,009	83,038
Cows	11,572	121,017
Working oxen	3,808	65,706
Other cattle, 3 y'rs old & over	1,792	21,432
Sheep of all ages	5,233	5,923
Hogs	6,235	5,923
Wagons and carriages	4,889	50,560
Sewing machines	1,832	8,580
Watches and clocks	3,181	6,866
Organs	234	4,109
Piano fortes	97	5,765
Household and office furniture		69,275
Agricultural implements		93,421
Gold and silver plated ware		514
Diamonds and jewelry		52
Steamboats		70
Goods and merchandise		189,307
Mu'frs. material and articles		97,640
Mu'frs. tools and machinery		81,227
Moneys of banks and brokers		7,200
Credits " " "		1,032
Moneys, other than bankers		13,863
Credits " " "		18,544
Bonds and stocks		50
Shares of bank stocks		171,825
Stock and furniture of saloons		8,450
All other property		42,637
Elevators, warehouses and improvements on lands any R. R. Co.		77,714
Improvem'ts on U. S. lands		75,993
Dogs over six months old	2,240	2,910

Number in 1888,	No.	Increase
Colts, one year old	793	291
Colts, two years old	681	166
Colts, 3 years old and over	8,724	958
Cattle, one year old	6,003	875
Cattle, two years old	4,280	629
Cows	9,950	1,622
Working oxen	2,679	429
Other cattle 3 y'rs old & over	1,427	365
Sheep of all ages	4,499	734
Hogs	5,402	833
Wagons and carriages	4,458	431
Sewing machines	1,628	204
Watches and clocks	2,806	375
Organs	195	39
Piano fortes	67	30

Southern Minnesota Fair at Rochester.

Pioneer Press.

The tenth annual premium list of the Southern Minnesota Fair Association has been revised and is now ready for distribution and possible exhibitors are urged to send to Secretary C. Van Campen at Rochester, for a copy of the important document. The list as issued this year, is the fruit of a decade of experiments, undesirable features being stricken out yearly from the publication, and new ones added for trial. Among the novelties of the coming fair is the offer of $25 for the best matched carriage team, $25 for the best single driving horse, and last but not least, $15 for the fastest walking team. Teams to walk one mile on track and timed. To those who appreciate the immense saving of time to a farmer from a fast stepping horse over a slow one the value of the last offer is at once apparent. Agricultural journals have for years been urging upon farmers the importance of breeding for walking speed rather than for trotting, and the fair management has fallen into line to encourage this desirable quality in farm horses. The Boston Clothing House, of Rochester, offers a suit of clothes to any boy fifteen years of age or under who will exhibit the largest pumpkin; J. H. Kurtzman, a good pair of shoes to the boy showing the largest watermelon; P. D. Brockway offers a pure bred Berkshire boar pig, worth $25, to the person exhibiting the best twenty-five ears of field corn. An elegant bonnet is also to be given to the Olmsted County lady showing the best two gallon jar of dairy made butter, and a handsome workbox to the girl of fifteen years or under who shall take the most first premiums on baking bread and cake. Remember these premiums can be had by any one, for competition is open to the world.

This year the management has secured the services of W. C. Coup, the veteran showman, for many years in company with P. T. Barnum in the circus business, and a free exhibition of his highly educated horses and dogs will be given each day of the fair in front of the grand stand.

In the matter of premiums, it is an axiom of the association that liberality is the best policy, as well as honesty, and the promises of the association have been kept to the letter, every cent of premiums earned having been scrupulously paid year by year.

Among sporting men the fair is of great interest, as it is at one corner of the great triangular circuit established for the first time this year. The Winona Driving Park and Fair Association offers a speed programme for the week preceding the Rochester event, while the state fair will offer an attractive programme for the week following. Such a circuit, with the liberal purses offered at each stand, cannot fail of securing us as good fields of fast horses as will run on any track in the northwest this year.

Special premiums are offered for the handsomest young lady, and this beauty show will alone amply repay one for visiting the fair, which will be held Sept. 2d to 7th inclusive.

Excursion trains will be run daily as heretofore, and all railroads in the state have made a half rate on their lines to all parties attending this fair.

Send for a programme of the best fair of all.

Going in Debt.

Prairie Farmer: It is easier to go in debt than to pay out. The farmer who makes a habit of buying on credit will buy more than if he paid the cash as he purchased. For this reason, merchants rather encourage the credit system. They get to sell more goods. But the purchaser pays more, because in selling on credit, the merchant must add a per cent, to cover losses. Buying on credit leads to extravagance, and while the farmer may live better than if he paid cash, it may not always be good management. The merchants think it is to their interests to encourage the credit system among the better class, for the reason that they can sell more goods, and at a better profit. But in this direction at least, what is the merchant's interest is against the farmer.

To a considerable extent, at least, it is to the interest of the farmer to trade with the country merchant, for two reasons. One is convenience. It is quite an item to have a good stock of merchandise kept in a neighborhood where things can be bought as needed; while in building up the smaller towns, the number of new producers is increased, and this increases the demand for farm products.

There are times when going in debt may be a benefit, but as a rule, it is to the farmer's interest to pay cash. In doing this, however, he should receive the benefit of the cash discount. The merchant gets his goods at a certain price on thirty sixty, or ninety day's credit; if he pays cash within ten days he gets a discount. The farmer who pays cash ought to get the benefit of this discount when he pays the cash. In many cases, this would prove a sufficient inducement for the farmer to pay the cash.

It is not altogether the farmer's fault that the credit system has become so general, for, to a certain extent, at least, the plan is encouraged by the merchant, because he thinks it is for his interest. But, financially at least, it will be for the interest of the farmer to pay cash, and especially so with his store bills, over and above what he cannot pay with produce.

N. J. S.

Ensilage Maxims.

The Prairie Farmer: Prof. Cook, in his pamphlet on "Silos and Ensilage," gives the following among other information that will be especially interest to dairymen.

I find that I can grow the most corn with the least labor to plant it in drills.

Thorough treading at the edge of the silo will alone insure perfect silage clear to the walls and corners.

By covering with a foot of good straw, we may leave the silo partly filled for weeks, then complete the filling.

Silage is succulent food, and so, like the green pastures of June, is appetizing, digestible, assimilable—just the food that suits the need of the animal.

Dr. Manley Miles, a thorough student on scientific agriculture, was first to claim and prove that heating to a high temperature to kill the germ of formation, was required to secure first-class silage.

Good ensilage increases the milk of the cows and increases the butter yield. There is no injury to milk, cream or butter. The old cry that silage spoils the milk and butter is proved false daily on thousands of American farms.

The ears of corn, as well as the stalks, are cut and run into the silos. There is no other way that the corn can be harvested so easily and cheapily. In the silo the corn is softened so that no grinding is required; for even cattle will digest thoroughly this softened corn in the silage.

The silo can be opened and its contents fed out at once, if desired; or it may remain closed, as will usually be the case, until cold weather sets in. It answers well as the main food-ration for all kinds of stock at any season of the year. It is doubtless improved by adding bran, oat, linseed or cotton-seed meal, when feeding the silage.

Silage is a pretty good food-ration alone. If desired to add more albuminoids, bran and oil-meal are easily obtainable. It is quite likely that it may pay to make silage of clover and mix this with corn silage when feeding. My success with corn silage has been so marked and satisfactory that I believe it to be of the first importance and highest value.

For Sale Cheap.

3 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.
1 Champion Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Warehouse Truck.
1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.
1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.
1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.
1 Feed Cutter.
1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.
1 Wagon, complete.
1 Single Harness.
20 gallons Machine Oil.
4 good Milch Cows.
3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."

Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the tone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure corandron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address THE JOURNAL before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.
[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 29th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that LORENZO DAVIS has filed notice of intention to make final proof before U. S. Land office at their office in Crookston, Minn., on the 17th day of October, 1889, on timber culture application No. 208, for the w½ ne¼ and e½ nw¼ quarter of Section No. 18, in Township No. 149, Range No. 47. He names as witnesses: Ole Stokke, B. C. Jorgensen, J. B. Roome and J. J. Ide, all of Crookston, Minn.

[14-19] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1885 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2.) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151.) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 223 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 20th A. D. 1889.

THE AMERICAN FREEHOLD LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY of London (Limited,)
Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[10-16] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., June 21st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: R. W. BROWN, D. S. 11,050, for the ne¼ Sec. 8, Tp 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: C. M. Benson, John Olson, T. Jolly, Peter Toupin, all of Mentor, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[10-15] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE.

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street, Crookston.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

H. RAUENBUEHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN. - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5.) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153.) Range forty-four (44.) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "27" of mortgages on page 18, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 75-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 85-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 26th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors, did, on the 19th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 28th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 411; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and on the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.
JOHN CROMB, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 10th, 1889, viz: LOUIS P. VOLLOM, H'd 8,722, for the sw¼ sw¼ Sec. 8, se¼ se¼ Sec. 7, ne¼ ne¼ Sec. 18, nw¼ nw¼ Sec. 17, T. 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Hans Haran, Harold Johnson, Ole Johnson and Christian M. Benson, all of Mentor, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[12-17] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE. ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889.

Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address,

CYRUS NORTHRUP, L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, AUGUST 8, 1889. NO. 16.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	15 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates. Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D.S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,

ATTY'S-AT-LAW,

McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

JUSTICE OF PENSIONS.

An Elegant Plea by Ex-President Ruthford B. Hayes.

Toledo, (Ohio.) Commercial.

Ex-President Hayes, of Fremont, delivered a brief but eloquent address at Sandusky on Memorial Day. In reply to those who complain that the government is spending a large sum of money annually for pensions, he said:

"The nation cannot in full measure do honor to its dead soldiers and deny or neglect full justice to its living soldiers. The time has plainly come when justice to its defenders will require the country to expend much larger sums out of the national treasury than have heretofore been appropriated for the support of the men who saved the nation on the field of battle. The sacred obligation to the Union soldiers must not, cannot, be forgotten nor neglected, especially by those who enjoy the comforts and independence of a prosperity which has come to them by the services and sacrifices of the men who stood by the republic when its life was imperiled. Some say that on such an occasion as this it is not proper to discuss the pension policy, but I say that at all gatherings of soldiers it is proper to speak of what should be done in their behalf.

When the war ended the obligations of the nation were chiefly to two classes:

1. To those who risked their money.
2. To those who risked their lives.

Passing on to the history of the resumption of specie payment and payment of war debts, principal and interest, to the second obligation—to the soldiers, the speaker continued: These who were obliged to risk their lives are now becoming infirm—verging towards from 50 to 60 years of age.

What was promised by the country—not to forget or allow the defenders to suffer—let it be fulfilled. How were the soldiers paid? In paper worth at various times from 35 to 65 cents on the dollar; yet there was no grumbling, for it was the best that the country could do.

Let our burthens be at least one hundred millions more per year. We can pay it. We have paid in 25 years $1,500,000,000 principal, $2,400,000,000 interest, and $1,000,000,000 for pensions to soldiers of the war of 1812, of the Mexican war, and especially to the disabled soldiers of the war for the union, and still we are growing rich faster than any nation. On the basis of our wealth we can pay large amounts. Twenty-five years ago with our wealth of $16,000,000,000 we had a debt the interest on which alone was over $150,000,000 a year—more than three times what we pay to-day. Now we have $60,000,000,000 of property and our debt a mere flea bite. Then we had a population of 30,000,000, now 65,000,000, and in 25 years from now we will have 100,000,000. We have paid our creditors in gold coin, principal and interest, and cannot we pay our obligations to the soldiers?

I may have spoken on the subject too long, but people do not understand it. We have the safest and best army in the world. We pay for war while fighting, and when ever our men pass into the ranks of labor.

Germany and England pay their officers, and nearly all the great estates came into the family as pay for service in battle, while what is paid to our army is paid to those who fight its battles, and not those who look on.

You have here in Sandusky a home established by Ohio, and whatever is paid by the city or county or state is a debt of the nation, and ought to come out of the treasury of the United States, and they will pay it if you insist upon it."

Open Your Windows at Night.

Sanitary World: An extraordinary fallacy is the dread of night air. What air can we breathe at night but night air? The choice is between pure night air from without and foul air from within. Most people prefer the latter—an unaccountable choice. What will they say if it is proved to be true that fully one-half of all the diseases we suffer from are occasioned by people sleeping with their windows shut? An open window most nights in the year can never hurt anyone. In great cities night air is often the best and purest to be had in twenty-four hours. One could better understand shutting the windows in town during the day than during the night for the sake of the sick. The absence of smoke, the quiet, all tend to make the night the best time for airing the patient. One of our highest medical authorities on consumption and climate has told me that the air of London is never so good as after 10 o'clock at night. Always air your room, then, from the outside air, if possible. Windows are made to open, doors are made to shut—a truth which seems extremely difficult of apprehension. Every room must be aired from without, every passage from within.

INSPECTION LAW POINTS.

Attorney General Clapp Partially Elucidates the Meat Bill Mystery.

St. Paul Globe.

The members of the butchers' protective association are concerned as to the provisions of the meat inspection law, and to a communication addressed by Secretary N. C. Ehrmantaut, Attorney General Clapp has given the following opinion:

Your association ask the following questions:

First—Can a hotel or restaurant keeper that does business in Minnesota buy meat outside of this state and ship it here for the use of his trade without violating the so-called meat inspection law?

Second—Has a dealer in meat got to have a certificate of any dressed meat that he gets sent him from any inspection district other than that in which he does business, provided that such dressed meat is from animals inspected in our state, and pursuant to the provisions of the meat inspection law?

In reply to your first inquiry, I would state that the question is not altogether free from doubt, although I am inclined to the opinion that for a hotel keeper to furnish meat to his guests, such being from animals that had not been inspected according to law, would be a violation of the law.

In reply to your second inquiry, I have to state that the law makes no provision, whatever, for any certificate of inspection accompanying the meat after the animal is slaughtered. The person having the animal inspected received a certificate, but the law does not contemplate any form of certificate to follow the meat after the animal is slaughtered, when the same is distributed for consumption. If the animal slaughtered in another district was sent to the dealer the legality of the transaction depends, not upon the certificate accompanying the meat, for no provision was made therefor, but upon the fact that the animal was inspected before being slaughtered.

A Fight for the Rights of All.

The National Tribune.

This fight that the G. A. R. is making against the railroads is not for itself alone, but for the whole country. The question goes much deeper than merely the difference between a rate of one cent a mile each way and a single fare for both ways, It is whether the railroads are superior to all business agreements and contracts, and entirely at liberty to fleece the public to any extent they please.

It is a revival of the old obnoxious and impudent claim of the right to "tax the traffic all it will bear," which led to such acrimonious struggles in the far West, and resulted in the repressive legislation now on the statute books. After the National encampment was decided on at Milwaukee, and great preparations were under way for the event, the railway magnates decided that the "passenger traffic would bear" an increase of the rates from one cent a mile to one fare, because the comrades would pay the additional amount rather than relinquish attending the encampment. They did this just as in other instances they have raised the rates upon merchandise that had to reach a particular market, or when competition was stopt by the freezing up of waterways.

There is room for belief that the railroads have invited this contest with the G. A. R. for the purpose of showing their strength. The order is the most powerful association of any kind in the country, outside of the great political parties, and a few of the leading religious denominations. If it can be overcome in a struggle of this kind, it will be useless for smaller organizations to attempt opposition to the railroads, and they can have things their own way in the future. If, however, the G. A. R. remains firm in its attitude it will teach the roads a lesson which will be of enormous benefit to the whole country. It is a struggle in which every man and woman in the nation has a direct interest, for it is organized resistance against railroad despotism.

Pithy.

Prison Mirror: Now that the Mirror is nearing the close of its second year many subscriptions are becoming due. Next week we will begin sending out bills, and we hope those receiving them will cheerfully respond. Do not take it that we fear to trust you further, but as a matter of business. If you do not wish to continue your patronage, please notify us. If you do not find it convenient to settle up just at this time, and still desire to receive the Mirror, write us to that effect and we will trust you until such time as we can no longer wait. Above all things do not allow yourself to be numbered among those who, when they owe a year's subscription, suddenly discover that they do not like the paper and refuse to take it out of the Post office. The postmasters always lets us know who those persons are, and then we draw a heavy black line through their names, thus making a record for the prison archives to show that all rascals are not in the penitentiary.

The Progress of Agriculture.

Western Rural.

It is said that some of the farmers of Montana object to farmers coming into the Territory and object to railroads being built because increased production and better facilities for transportation may lower prices. Well, there is something in that, though as far as Montana farmers are concerned, it will be many a day before the home markets are glutted. But the alleged complaint suggests that the improvements of which the age is so ready to boast does not seem to have benefitted the farmer. We have railroads gridironing the country; we have improved machinery on the farm and machinery which enables us to convert the raw products of the farm into manufactured articles much more cheaply than formerly, and we have brought a great deal of much richer land under cultivation than was cultivated fifty years ago, but the farmer is not much profited by this combination of improvements. What is the reason of this? If we were asked to state the reason in the fewest possible words, or rather to state one of the chief reasons, we should say that it was the result of systematic organization upon the part of all classes except the farmer. The people who manufacture articles that the farmer uses, and the people who sell them are all organized. There is scarcely any such thing as competition now. Clothing, farm utensils and machinery, in fact everything, are manufactured and sold under the manipulation of some ring, which maintains prices and the prices that are maintained are usually exhorbitantly high. To pay for these things makes a deep hole in the farmers' profits. He can ride on his cultivator or harvester, but he pays for the privilege and pays well. He can wear nicer clothes than his grandfathers did, but he pays for them. Then when he comes to sell his products he runs into the greed of the railroad first. That docks him of pretty much all his profits before his products are moved out of his sight. When they get to the market they are handled by a ring. His wheat goes into a Pillsbury mill and is ground into flour by the most improved and profitable methods. Now for the result: The railroad gets rich; the commission merchant gets rich; the elevator company—which we forgot to mention—gets rich, and Pillsbury gets rich; but the farmer remains poor. The improvements seem to be for the especial benefit of the other fellow. The more we grow the richer he gets; the easier we do our work the wealthier he becomes.

But it is not the fault of the improvements. It is the result of a lack of organization to look after our interests on the one hand and of perfect organization on the other. Then if we choose to go more particularly into details, we shall find that our methods have something to do with our shortness of profit. Without specifying minutely we may refer to the fact that most of us farm too great an area to produce the best results. We could produce more on a less number of acres and produce it at less cost if we would. But while better methods are important, very important, they are secondary to the absolute need of muzzling the greed that is robbing us all along the line from the farm to the market and back again from the factory and store to the farm.

The Whisky Habit.

The Prairie Farmer.

The Prairie Farmer has insisted—does yet—that the true way to diminish the immoderate drinking of spirituous and fermented liquors, is to have it considered degrading for persons to be seen drinking at public bars, and especially that the treating habit be abolished. It will become so as soon as the average man becomes ashamed to be seen in drinking saloons. It is public opinion, alone, educated thereto by the more sober minded, that can bring this about. Accomplished, it would reduce the public dram shop nuisance one-half at once, and, finally, do away almost entirely with these pest holes of drunkenness. It would make Sundays orderly in our great cities, save money to the homes of working men, eliminate nine-tenths of the criminals from the country, and carry the hundreds of millions of dollars now viciously spent in drink into making the homes of the now intemperate classes comfortable. It would do away in a great measure with strikes, and other labor troubles, for then the working men could think not only earnestly, but co-gently, towards righting the differences between employers and themselves. Far more, it would purify the politics of the country, whatever the party, by relegating to obscurity the whisky shops that now seem to be the governing element of politicians, particularly in our cities and larger towns.

It has been stated that the consumption of spirits is yearly decreasing through the enactment of prohibitory laws. The New York Tribune, an earnest advocate of temperance, gives from official sources, the decrease and increase in sales to the people from 1877 to 1887. A digest shows that, taking the quantities consumed in consecutive periods of three years, the average in 1888 was 1.23 gallons, against 1.16 gallons in the three years ending with 1879. This includes every man, woman and child in the country. What a presentation! In 1888, counting five individuals as the average family, this would give each adult over 6 gallons of strong whisky yearly. Suppose we should estimate the quality actually consumed by the hard drinker (each person must figure it for himself.) it would be found to be appalling.

Another statement in our contemporary is no less interesting to the moral man. The United States appears to consume about a quarter more spirits per capita than Great Britain, about as much as France, and a little more than Germany, but falls behind the other notions, in the consumption of wine and fermented liquors, notwithstanding the recent increase here. The average German uses more than twice as much beer, and the inhabitant of Great Britain nearly three times as much beer and ale as the inhabitant of this country. The French consumption of wine per capita is nerly as great as the German of beer. Canada, the official figures indicate, has diminished its consumption of distilled spirits much more than this country, and has not as largely increased its consumption of malt liquor. But the general tendency to substitute fermented by the statistics of all countries.

This is a question for some thought by every moral man in the country, whatever his calling. It should be especially important to the farmers, for the reason that they, as a class, are the most temperate and conservative, as they outrank in numbers all the other producing classes in the country.

Wide Awake for August is an open air number, full of things to be done out-of-doors; geologizing (by Prof. Frederick Starr,) boating (by Miss Guiney) and the making of wild-flower books (by Miss Harris)—it is a pity that the bread making, which Mrs. White describes as the Boston public school-girls do it, could not be carried on out-of-doors also. The number is largely written by travelers and sight seers. Mrs. General Fremont describes her "Camping near the Giant Trees" in the early California days. Miss Risley Seward, "In the Meadows at Trianon," writes of a somewhat peculiar visit she made to the famous playground of Marie Antoinette and her Court, with a glimpse of those great Frenchmen, Thiers and Laboulaye, Mrs. Humphrey in "Queen Mary's Child Garden" gives an account of day she spent last year on the islet of Inchmahome where Mary, Queen of Scott abode for a time when she was a little girl. "Fishing in Tweed and Yarrow," with its beautiful engravings of the historic river scenery, is a most readable fishing paper by Andrew Lang and will set all anglers wild, young or old. Then there is a touching melodious ballad by Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford of that saddest journeyer, John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home."

The story element is of fine quality. In the Peppers serial by Margaret Sidney a mysterious pleasure is hinted at for bonnie Polly Pepper; and in "Sybil Fair's Fairness" young Mr. Harvard turns out pretty well, after all. "Gul Baba, 'Father of Roses,'" one of the best of the folktales of Hungary, is given by John C. Carpenter. "How Long Pond Ran Away," by John Marshall, describes a disaster in Vermont many years ago singularly like the Conemaugh flood. "Bin" is a charming story, sweet and piquant and pathetic, by Grace Denio Litchfield. "Tim Faraday and the Two Auroras" is an amusing political story by Eugene M. Camp. The poems of the number are by Edith M. Thomas, Joel Benton, Mrs. Whiton-Stone and Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford. "Men and Things" is full of bright anecdote and talk. "The Court Calendar," by L. J. Bridgman, is very amusing this month. $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Co., Publishers, Boston.

CARLETON COLLEGE,

NORTHFIELD, MINN.

FALL TERM opens Sept. 4th, 1889.

THE COURSES ARE

Classical, Literary, Scientific, English-Academy and Musical.

Besides Preparatory and Post-Graduate studies:
Instruction given in Drawing and Painting.
Special facilities for study in Pure Mathematics and Astronomy.
Extensive Chemical and Biological Laboratories.
Open to students of either sex.
Expenses very low.
For Catalogues and Circulars address,

(16-18) JAS. W. STRONG, President.

Steenerson & McManus,

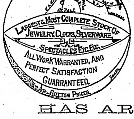
LOANS

—AND—

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!



By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

——ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.——

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

Wm A. ROBERTSON.

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

FOUND.

On Tuesday May 18th at Collins' stable a broken gold ring. The owner can recover by calling on John Senholt and provingproperty.

A. C. WILKINSON,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

(Successor to R. A. Wilkinson,)

Fournet Block Room 5 } Crookston, Minn.

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,

ST. PAUL, - - MINN

[32-tf]

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon, Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE
OF PERSONAL PROPERTY
AT PUBLIC AUCTION!
(Estate of Joseph K. Mansfield, of Minneapolis.)

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL OFFER FOR SALE

On Saturday, August 17th, 1889,

At the Old Livery Stable of M. R. Brown, in the City of Crookston, Minn.,

Commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., the following property, to-wit:

2 Large Grade Stallions, 7-8 Norman.

1 THOROUGHBRED HAMBLETONIAN STALLION, MARSHAL NEY 6079. Bay Horse, black points, weighs 1,200 lbs; foaled in 1873, bred by J. C. McFerren & Son, Louisville, Ky., and registered in the American Trotting Register. vol. 7. Sire, Cuyler No. 100. First dam Patchen Maid, (the dam of Astrial, record 228½, and Marshal Massena, the sire of Secterian, trial 2:27¼) &c. (Full pedigree may be seen upon application to M. R. Brown.)

15 Fine Grade Norman Mares, good breeders and good work animals.

3 Fine Spring Colts, sired by Marshal Ney, from a fine strain of mares.

7 Good Milch Cows.

2 Fine three year old Steers. 3 Fine two year old Steers.

3 two year old Heifers. 4 Yearlings.

1 Single Buggy, full leather top, nearly new.

2 Lumber Wagons, several setts of Harness, and various other things too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE:

Notes payable on or before Dec. 1st, 1889, with good approved security, with interest at 10 per cent. per annum. Ten per cent. discount for cash.

S. F. HOLBROOK, Manager for LAURA M. DRESSER, Administratrix.

M. R. BROWN, Auctioneer. J. W. LILLY, Clerk.

Polk County Journal.
W. G. COOKE, Publisher.
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.
CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 8, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat 1 Hard 72 cents.

M. R. Brown went up to St. Hilaire yesterday.

John Wyand started his harvester last week.

H. A. McClatchie was down from Red Lake Falls on Monday.

The city of Spokane Falls was nearly destroyed by fire on Monday.

E. O. Flanders started the harvester this week in a fine field of wheat.

Miss Aggie Kops of Grand Forks is visiting friends in the city this week.

Rudy has got things in ship shape at the new Cleveland and is now living at home. Call and see.

Hans C. Sampson departed for his home at Hansville on Tuesday morning after a long seige on jury.

A slight frost on Saturday night caused some nervousness, but so far as we can learn, did no serious damage.

J. L. Hanson has done a rushing business since his removal to the Alderman block on Robert street.

Ole A. Thorson has received the appointment as postmaster at East Grand Forks. Mr. T. will make a good official.

C. G. Rapp, the new postmaster at St. Hilaire was in the city early this week receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

Photographer Johnson started for Butte, Montana, on Tuesday via the N. P. R. R. Expects to be back some time this fall.

Dr. Leguee has built an addition to his residence, graded his yard up in nice shape and is now prepared to live in style on the new avenue.

Supt. Elliot has gone to Spokane Falls to see Mr. T. Cleary, who is suffiering with a cancer in the face, and will be gone a fortnight or so.

Grunde Tollefson, after serving the county well and faithfully as juror during the special term departed for his home at Hansville on Wednesday.

M. E. Bartlett brought a fine three-year-old colt to M. Leguee to break last Saturday morning and before evening Mike was driving her all about the city, hitched to his trotting sulky.

Wheat dropped off five cents last week in spite of depressing news from the crop all over the world and great war news.

The logs have got in and the familiar mill whistle awoke everybody early on Monday morning. There seems to be logs enough to keep the mill busy until snow flies.

Mr. S. F. Holbrook came in from Thief River on Tuesday and the stock to be sold on the 17th arrived on Wednesday. Mr. H. is manager for the administratix.

Dr. Deniston started on Monday's train for a visit with the old folks at home, in Orange County, N. Y. He says he expects to be gone a month and return via the lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Beecher came over from Park River last week, remaining until Monday, when they left for New York for a visit with relatives and friends of a month's duration.

Notice the big ad of administrators sale elsewhere in this issue and don't fail to get there if you want to make a purchase. Come anyway and set on the fence and see some good stock go by.

Theodore Greenhalgh is the proud possessor of a bit of feminine humanity since Saturday, July 27th. Theo. said he thought all the world of that trotter until that little lady arrived to divide the honors.

Peter Sture, who for a long time has clerked for Hack & Gallasch, has accepted a position with Harry Attix, in Carman, and enters upon his duties today. Peter is an A 1 clerk and will help Harry rustle.

Prof. E. M. Harper, of the Experimental Farm, St. Anthony, was in the city on Saturday for the purpose of looking the crops over. Mr. E. D Childs took him out for a drive in the country so that he might see for himself.

Mr. N. Christianson, of McIntosh, was in this week. Mr. C. is one of the sturdy grangers of Polk County who has wrung success from the soil and one who is of the firm opinion that there is no better soil on the footstool.

Mr. H. G. Hanson, of Hansville and Mr. G. P. Rudd of Fosston were in the city this week. These gentlemen have formed a partnership in the mercantile business at Fosston. Both are men of experience and will no doubt do well.

Postmaster O. L. Larson and M. V. Hostetter, a prominent lumber dealer of Fosston were in the city on Friday and gave The Journal a friendly call. You can convince neither of them that Fosston is not the future great city of the Northwest.

The ball given by the Cadet band on Thursday evening was well attended and a pronounced success. Before the ball the band paraded the streets and treated our citizens to a nice surprise by furnishing some excellent music. Well done for boys of that age who have practiced but a few weeks.

J. B. Ford sent in a fine sample of new potatoes, large, mealy fellows, fully ripe, that fairly made one's mouth water just to look at them. Reports from different parts of the Valley indicate an immense crop of splendid potatoes, notwithstanding the drouth.

The musicale this evening at Mrs. Hacks promises to be a great success. We are requested to state that the proceeds are not for the personal benefit of the members of the Christs church choir, but will be applied in the purchase of all the music they may require.

Ole Qualley drove down from McIntosh on Monday. He says his grain in Polk County this year is good, but his grain in Becker County is not more than half a crop. He says that grain along the road between the city and McIntosh is looking very well. Many farmers are busy cutting.

It was a peculiar condition of the atmosphere north of town on Tuesday. There were some fine fat prairie chickens prospecting about and occasionally there would come to the ears a sound like the report of a shot gun. It had looked like rain all day and that may account for it.

The rumor that the N. P. Company had purchased the Norris & McDonald property is pronounced by E. M. Walsh to be false. The report is traced to a Winnipeg paper. It is not positively known where the depot will be located, but any person having a site to offer should be on deck at once.

On Thursday last Mrs. H. A. Mason received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. Mary A. Duffy, and left on the evening train for Chicago. She had been planning to go to Milwaukee during the encampment where she expected to have met that sister and with her to have visited their parents.

Marshall County Leader: J. P. Lundin went to Crookston Tuesday night, expecting to meet his mother there on her way to Stephen from across the sea, but learned from other arrivals that her heart failed her when she had reached England, and she turned back, determined to live in her native land.

Everyone interested in breeding choice horses should not fail to attend the sale elsewhere advertised in this issue. Such horses as "Marshal Ney" are readily sold at long figures—up in the thousands, but this one will no doubt go at a bargain. Those fine spring-colts are beauties. Don't miss that sale.

The Crookston club went over to Grand Forks last week to see what Grand Forks base ball players are made of. They found some pretty good imported league players and of course got done up. Let our club practice sufficient to play a league club and they would be on an equal footing with the G. F. club. They could hold 'em down as it is barring professionals.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Geo. Walsh was over from Grand Forks on Saturday looking up the grading business on the new Crookston & Duluth R. R. Mr. W. has been mentioned for the U. S. Senate from North Dakota, and, should he shy his castor into the ring, could come as near getting there as any man we know of. The Grand Forks News thinks he would have to "sail in independent." We doubt that very much.

On Monday morning a crew of surveyors were put on the Crookston & Duluth road between here and Fertile for the purpose of running another line as the grade upon the lines already run was pronounced too steep. The new line will probably cross the river at the Reynolds water power, on the old Porger place, and enter the city through Ed. Walsh's place.

Creamer & Collins have on exhibition one of the new self-feeders for the Minnesota Chief Thresher. After considerable time and expense spent in developing this device it has at last been brought to a practical issue and will do the work of two men as it will cut bands as well as feed. Revolving knives are so arranged as to make it impossible for sheaf to get to the cylinder whole, these knives also assist in distributing the bundle so that it is fed properly. Two bundles at a time go to the machine and can be fed as fast or as slow as you like. This device is bound to reduce the cost of threshing which is quite an item in the bill of expenses on the farm, saving a bandcutter and a feeder at least as one man can "tend separator" and feed. Many old thresher-men have been up and looked the machine over and it is an interesting sight for any farmer.

Tom Erwin was up from Fisher last Saturday after a fine young filly that had been under the care of Dr. LeGuee for some time. The colt had a tumor on the right hind leg which several veterinary surgeons had unsuccessfully tried to cure, so Tom brought the colt to Dr. Leguee who removed the tumor, and the animal is now getting along all right. Tom informs The Journal that his recent western trip but convinced him that Polk County not only possesses a better soil, but is a better place to live, everything considered, than any place he saw on his trip. In Oregon he saw some fine large fruits—strawberries five inches in diameter, but the flavor is nothing compared with our Polk County strawberries, being too large and coarse; the same is true of vegetables, and yet the Oregonian wants $400 per acre for his land. They are selling off their Jersey cows and buying Holsteins for the dairy. While small grains grow rankly and yield well, Tom thinks he can make his $25 land in Polk County yield fully as much and with far more clear profit to himself than any $400 land on the coast. He saw hundreds of men out of work and desperately hard up for something to eat, and many was the square meal he bought for some unfortunate seeker after wealth. His advice to all such was to come to Minnesota and take a choice farm of 160 acres of Uncle Sam's domain all for nothing, where, at least, men who are willing to work do not have to starve.

What They Say.

M. R. Brown: Busy? Well I should remark! What with dealing out machinery and twine (which by the way goes off faster than hot cakes) sending and answering telegrams in relation to twine I am kept pretty lively as you see. I like to see business rushing and this sort of thing just suits me.

John McLean: They say our new road has caught cold and is liable to die, but you just tell 'em to hold their bonnet a minute. Two corps of engineers will soon run the new survey and you will see the dirt begin to fly all along the line next week. You hear my gentle twitter?

Rudy Burkhardt: Since the new Cleveland House opened its doors I have been kept busy attending to the wants of our guests whose name is Legion. We are full all the time, as you might say, but we never turn away any trade. Tell the boys to come and see me.

Frank Creamer: Just tell all of your farmer readers to call at Collins & Creamer's machinery hall and gaze on the new feeder attachment. It is a daisy and don't let that fact escape your memory.

S. L. Collins: You may say with my sanction that Dr. M. Leguee is one of the best, if not the best veterinary surgeon that I ever had about my stables. He takes as much interest in his patients as he could if he owned them all.

A. J. Kelly: I think the G. A. R. boys ought to stand by the department commanders and keep away from Milwaukee. I can see no good reason why the roads should not give the old vets as low rates as they give other societies and I for one am in for boycotting them until they come to terms.

Frank Gravel: Nervous? Well, I should smile. If you had seen me Saturday night you would have said so. I could not sleep until the wee sma' hours for fear of a frost, and my relief now, when the danger is past, can be better imagined than described.

A Cheap Farm.

On Saturday last C. B. Rockwood completed the sale of his farm to a Mr. Berkholz, of Grand Forks, for $8,000 cash. The farm contains 640 acres, very much of it under cultivation, with excellent farm buildings, which had cost nearly $4,000 originally. Mr. Berkholz shows his good judgment by putting his money into Polk County dirt.

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address The Journal before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

"Hold Up Your Hands,"

Said two foot pads to Ed. Kelley as he was going home from the Cadet ball, about 2 o'clock Friday morning. He had reached a point within a quarter of a mile of home when he heard low talking in the brush adjacent. On his person was a fine gold watch—an heir loom, and being suspicious that all was not right he took it from his pocket, slipped it into his boot-leg, and kept right along on his journey. The watch hurt his foot and he was just on the point of stopping to take it out when a man sprung out in front of him with a revolver exclaiming: "Throw up your hands!" He turned to run and confronted a man in the rear, so, being hemmed in, he made a virtue of necessity and threw up his hands, whereupon the foot pads proceeded to go through him. They found $1.50 in his pocket-book, and thoroughly searched all of the boy's pockets but did not bother the boots. When they had completed their work they ordered him to "get," which he did without much urging; stopping once to look around he saw the man with the revolver still held the drop on him, and was told that if he went peaceably he would not be hurt. He turned again and ran home, took out the watch, got the shot gun and went back. He found no one and went to a neighbor's after help. Meantime his father, A. J. Kelley, went down the river to Mr. Cunningham's, got help and took the road but found nobody. They found where the fellows had nested, but the birds had flown. They also found the pocket book. The boy says one of the men was tall, with full beard, the other short, with only a moustache. Kelley says had they captured the highwaymen there would have been fun in those woods.

In the case of E. D. Childs & Co., vs. the Red River Elevator Co., the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant. This is the last jury case of this session. There are a few court cases yet.

Marshall County Leader: Mr. J. G. Brinkerhoff came down from Neche Thursday night. He assumed the duties of his office as Collector much earlier than he expected. He will remain several days, and having secured a house at Neche will take his family with him upon his return. Stephen people will regret to lose this family, but are glad that Mr. Brinkerhoff has secured so desirable a position as that of Collector of Customs.

For Sale or to Trade.

One yoke of fine young oxen. Will sell for cash, good paper trade for colt, sheep or anything else that has a market value. Call on or address M. Leguee, Crookston, Minn. [16-tf]

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office. [10-tf]

C. O. D. COLUMN.

GREAT BOOT SALE!

We are going to close out our Entire Boot Stock. Everything must go!

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE PRICES

$5.00 BOOTS $3.75
$4.50 " $3.25
$4.00 " $3.00

$3.75 BOOTS $2.75
$3.50 " $2.25
$3.00 " $2.00

Plow Boots $1.50 and $1.75.

C. O. D.
CLOTHING HOUSE.
Largest Establishment in the Northwest.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

IN THE

Farmers Own Company!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

The State Fair Association has completed its arrangements for securing the Texan cowboys presence during the entire fair, with their wild steers and ponies. The performance each day of the fair will be most thrilling. The lassoing of cattle, wild races of the plains, all of the tricks of taming unruly steers, and the ludicrous spectacle of tying a steer down with his own tail. The appearance of the national state guard in a grand competitive drill, will constitute one of the most remarkable military exhibitions ever given in the state. The purses offered will be sufficient to put each company on its mettle, and from the infantry, through the battery, and to the cavalry there will be given a most skillful and enthusiastic display. The Grand Army Veterans are to be taken care of also with the post of honor and a day especially devoted to their entertainment and comfort. The farmers will find an unequaled representation of live stock and every product of the soil of Minnesota. The association has issued this week its first annual estimate of the crop yield. The averages obtained are, wheat, 12 to 15 bushels per acre, potatoes about 170, oats 37 to 42, corn 36 to 45, and barley 25 to 30. The fair and good crops promised will be the two leading events of the year. The fair occurs September 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th inclusive.

Weather and Crops.

The Prairie Farmer.

The winter wheat crop of the United States, east and west of the Rocky Mountains, is virtually in the shock. The most of it is stacked, and the steam and horse power thresher is now removing the chaff from the clean grain. In Michigan, and from Ohio to Kansas, rain has seriously interfered with harvests. No serious injury to the grain is reported, but the straw is said to be in very poor state for threshing. The indications are that the crop, as a whole, will be better than that of last year. There seems little disposition to sell from the threshing machine, and, we think this is a good idea, since very little definitely is known as to the spring wheat crop of the Northwest, except that it will be light. It will take at least another week to decide, even approximately, as to the shortage.

News from Manitoba—an important district—is that disaster is feared. Dakota will probably fall far short of the expectation indulged last spring. The shortage in the Northwest has been placed as high as 30,000,000 bushels.

The oat crop through its length and breadth, except in the far Northwest, has practically matured. As a whole it stands up in much better condition than it did a year ago at this date. The fields are generally soft, and in poor condition for harvesting. Reports the present week have been quite general that, owing to the damp, hot, muggy weather, the oats have been stricken by rust. Hence farmers have nearly everywhere commenced in a small way to cut this crop. Our information is that rust and mildew are more local than general.

It is difficult at this stage of the corn crop to state its real condition more than in a general way. All the estimates which are going the rounds of the papers at the present time as to the probable yield of the coming crop are based entirely on esetiment and not upon facts.

The corn crop of the country as a whole is still late and backward. The crop has not received an average cultivation this season. During the month of June and in the early part of July the fields were so wet that it was impossible to plow the corn clean and put it in an average growing condition. The last week, however, has seen the corn make rapids strides, owing to the continued heavy rains and the hot suns which have followed. The corn is tasseling out at irregular heights, and the general prospects of the crop as a whole are by no means as flattering as a year ago at this date. But there seems no legitimate ground to doubt that, with good weather, the crop will be a good average.

It has been bad weather for the grass harvest; cutting in the morning; rains in the afternoon; the earth so full of moisture that the grass cured slowly. Old meadows are turning out poorly, but new seeding is much better. The Southwest needs for the next two weeks at least, dry and cool weather for the securing and threshing of the winter wheat, the harvesting of the oats, and the putting up of the grass crop, whose commercial importance to the country cannot be overestimated.

Later reports say that Dakota has been visited by heavy showers of rain, accompanied in some sections by hail. Many streams were flooded, and as extreme heat followed the storms, it is altogether likely that more damage was done than good.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

M. R. Brown has received two carloads of pure Manilla binding twine which he is wholesaling to dealers and those who buy in large quantities, less than carload lots. The quality is what sells it, as is proved by the fact that Capt. Donaldson, of the Jim Hill farm, purchased his supply of him. [14-16]

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

REPAIRS

For the Massillon Thresher and the Minneapolis self-binder. Also handle the Minneapolis self-binder. See Collins, at Collins' Livery Stable. [15-22]

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best....................$3.25 per 98 lbs
North Star.............. 3.00 " " "
Fife.................... 2.75 " " "
Skip Jack............... 1.75 " " "
[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 20 Cts.

Delivered at any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.

RETAIL PRICES.

Best....................$3.25 per 98 lbs.
North Star.............. 3.00 " " "
Fife.................... 2.75 " " "
Skip Jack............... 1.75 " " "
[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

20 Cts. After August 1st 20 Cts.

Creamery butter will be retailed at 20 cents per pound after August 1st. That means to-day.

For Sale Cheap.

3 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.
1 Champion Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Warehouse Truck.
1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.
1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.
1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.
1 Feed Cutter.
1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.
1 Wagon, complete.
1 Single Harness.
20 gallons Machine Oil.
4 good Milch Cows.
3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,

[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

THE NEW CLEVELAND HOUSE,

Is now ready for the reception of guests. I have just completed the addition, thoroughly renovated, papered and painted, and am now ready to welcome old guests and new to a comfortable, home-like hotel. House convenient to all business places.

☞ Give the New Cleveland House a call.

H. BURKHARDT, Prop.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - - MINNESOTA.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE IG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 20 Cts.

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital....................$200,000
Paid in Capital....................50,000
Surplus....................2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson, - - Crookston.
O. H. Lucken, - - - - - "
Lewis Ellington, - - - - - "
A. G. Gallasch, - - - - - "
T. J. Thorsen, - - - - - "
Max Ericsson, - - - - - "
A. D. Stephens, - - - - - "
E. P. Pierce, - - - - - "
J. H. Locken, - - - - - "
Carl Hendricksen, - - - - Grafton
A. E. Johnson, - - - St. Paul

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

P. C. SCHMIDT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN

Crookston - Min

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

ONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:15 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:24 "
10:45 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Lee & Herrick. Against. Alice B. Kratka.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Lee & Herrick and against Alice B. Kratka. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit: Lots ten (10) eleven (11), twelve (12) and thirteen (13,) of block fifty-nine (59,) of the townsite of Thief River Falls, according to recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alice B. Kratka in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to ninety-six dollars and 35 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the fourth day of June 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 8, 1889.

Breeding Horses That Will Always Sell.

The Prairie Farmer.

While it is true that no man has a patent on horse-breeding, yet, it seems to be true of some men, that observation has taught them just what kind of horses will always sell; and an innate taste enables them to breed to this standard, or rather to any particular standard they may have espoused. The machinist soon learns the exact wants of his customers, while at the same time he can more nearly work to the model the public demands than can the average horse breeder. This is true partly because of the varible nature of the stock he, the breeder, handles; but yet, in a large degree, from the common failure to secure uniform material to work with, we may not reasonably expect a uniform product.

When we breed from a horse that interferes, cutting himself, no matter how carefully and skillfully shod, overreaches, straddles behind when in motion, has an excess of knee-action, or, on the other hand, too little; stumbles, carries low forward and holds his tail between his haunches, shows want of action in going, and, in a general way want of sense, no sensible man would expect other than a duplication of a portion, or these faults combined. Yet, after all our boasted enterprise, with good material within reach—if not near at hand, at any rate, within such distance as will pay well for the seeking—too many farmers retain the ordinary, unsalable mares for breeding; and, having done this, reason, most naturally, that it will not pay to go far out of the way to secure a valuable sire; neither are they warranted in expending much money in the payment of a fee.

The outcome of all this is that perfection is reached almost never, while on the other hand, the horse of ordinary qualities and the plug are abroad over the land. Some trotting and running horses have real defect, when tried by the standard sure to be popular with the public. Many specimens are ill-shaped; heads large; withers low; legs long; carriage low; hind quarters drooping; tails unsightly, and tempers bad. Under such an arraignment, it is readily seen that they are in no sense marketable. But, with these defects of contour and carriage, if a high rate of speed can be shown, this one quality will cover a multitude of faults, and they are wanted for their speed alone—the time they can make on the track being the essence, and pretty much the only criterion of value.

Horses prossessed of springing, graceful action, and of exquisite form, are so exceedingly rare, that it almost looks as though no farmer or breeder were trying to produce this kind. There are, in the cities many mares that are intirely competent to be the dams of the high-styled animal to which we refer, yet moderately tempting figures have drawn these from the country, where they should have remained. Action atones for many defects, and hides others; for, as is well known to horsemen, some horses that are not up to the highest requirement in contour, are, nevertheless, attractive when in motion. The finest of machinery, when the fire is out and the belts are off, may look tame indeed; yet with the fire-box hot, and all the movable parts in action, the whole thing is transformed into a precise and graceful moving thing. The same is strictly true of the horse having agile, springing action, with graceful carriage of head and tail, for, regarding this latter appendage, it is almost beyond belief what a figure this merely ornamental appendage cuts in the attractiveness and selling value of a horse, provided it be large, and is gracefully carried.

It is not strictly the things in sight that govern the action in the horse, as there are peculiarities of formation, hidden away and comprised in the deep-seated muscles, the formation and attachments of which fix graceful, or, on the contrary, ungainly action upon the animal. If the latter, then what pass for his gaits are disjointed, ungainly efforts. He may appear respectable, as a horse, while at rest, but in action is anything but pleasant to look upon, and his selling value is low. The muscles that put the limb forward, and again those that put it back, are fixed parts of the mechanism, and while under certain severe forms of restraint, the action of these may be in slight measure improved. Still it is better that the horse be rightly constructed at the outset, especially as it is as easy to breed one sort as the other, when you know how, and will use proper industry in that direction. Precision and vigor of step, regularity in action, equal to the revolution of the wheel of a locomotive, are among the best selling qualities of a horse, and these are attainable, as are the other qualities refered to, by breeding for them. G. S.

Waverly Republican: J. N. Muncey's fine cow gave last Friday and Saturday 141 pounds and 15 ounces of milk and it was skimmed, and on Tuesday the cream was churned in presence of the judges, H. C. Kenyon and Fred S. Stoddard, and yielded six pounds and four and a half ounces of splendid butter, or three pounds two and a quarter ounces per day. Who is there now who can say that the Holstein cow is not a butter cow? Can some one beat the record with two days' milk?

Notes on the Silo.

From illustrated bulletin 19 of the Wisconsin Experimental Station, at Madison, devoted exclusively to silo building, filling, crops for the purpose, etc., we extract the appended notes, indicating that there is still room for much further investigation, notwithstanding the great amount of attention devoted to the subject during the last few years:

"The high temperature developed in the silo under present management means a breaking down and waste of food elements which should not be thus destroyed until within the animal body where they can be utilized. How to prevent any more heating than is essential to make ensilage, if indeed, any whatever is necessary, is a problem we have hardly attempted to solve, but which is certainly of great importance if further progress is to be made.

"During the season of 1887-'88 it was found that the loss of dry matter in the station silos ranged from 14.7 to 31.81 per cent. This ensilage was not entirely satisfactory, some air having leaked in through the sides of the silos. The heat generated by the fermentation is an indication of the losses occurring. We cannot expect to take out of the silo a greater or even the same amount of nutritive matter as is placed in it, but by observing all possible precautions this loss can be reduced to its lowest point.

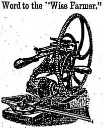
"Sweet ensilage is produced neither by wilting the corn nor by allowing a day's filling to heat up to a certain temperature before more is added, but to the fodder corn having reached what may be called a matured state, and being less watery.

"There is danger of relying too much on corn ensilage for maintaining the herd. If this practice is kept up we believe that serious results may ensue; for there is no single food in existence which is entirely satisfactory for any long period of feeding.

"The silo goes with high pressure farming; those who are satisfied to carry no more cattle than can consume the straw and cornstalks usually produced on the farm, have little need of a change. The farmer who needs the silo is one who is carrying a large number of cattle upon a given area and needs more 'roughage' for them. Before adopting the silo many should change heir system of farming."

The Albert Lea Standard truthfully says: Some young men have the idea that it is not desirable to be a farmer; that they should aspire to some higher, more useful or more agreeable occupation. They seek employment or start in business in a city or village, and imagine they can secure wealth more rapidly and better enjoy life. It is a vain, foolish and wrong notion. Good farming is noble, profitable, independent, healthful, satisfactory and a truly enjoyable occupation, and there is none which is so indispensible to mankind. Life depends on it; the progress and happiness of the people and nations spring from it, and in the hearts and hands that guide it dwells the trust, most unselfish patriotism and the safety of the state. Undoubtedly there should be more intelligent farmers, more farmers who appreciate the responsibilities, the importance and the blessings of their calling, but after all, considering their advantages, they will favorably compare in intelligence and general information with other classes of people. There is greatness among farmers as well as in other occupations, and from them is recruited the leaders in politics, statesmanship and business, and in uprightness, morality, steadfastness and devotion to correct principles and justice they hold the palm. No, boys, the farm is not to be avoided; on the contrary, if you know enough, are honest and brave and good enough to become a farmer, you can adopt no occupation under the sun that will afford you better returns of that which constitute true honor, prosperity and happiness.

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."



Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the tone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure curandron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [18-tf]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 1st, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five thousand seventy-eight and 90-100 dollars, ($5,078.90-100,) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Carl Kretzschmar and Anna Kretzschmar his wife mortgagors to Wm. M. Ross of Crookston, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of January A. D. 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 28th day of January A. D. 1885, at 9:45 o'clock a. m., in book "U" of mortgages, on pages 210 to 212 inclusive, and

Whereas the said Wm. M. Ross, mortgagee, for value received, on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly assigned the aforesaid note and mortgage, and the debt secured thereby to the Merchants' National Bank, of Crookston, which said assignment was in writing under seal, duly witnessed and acknowledged, and thereafter on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said Polk County, in book "45" of mortgages on pages 575 and 576, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered three (3,) four (4,) eight (8,) nine (9) and ten (10,) in block two (2,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block three (3,) lots seven (7,) eight (8) and nine (9,) in block four (4,) lots nine (9,) ten (10) and eleven (11,) in block five (5,) lots three (3,) four (4) and ten (10) in block six (6,) lots six (6,) seven (7) and eight (8,) in block seven (7,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block ten (10,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block eleven (11,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block twelve (12,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirteen (13,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block fourteen (14,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four inclusive, in block fifteen (15,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block sixteen (16,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block seventeen (17,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block eighteen (18,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block nineteen (19,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty (20,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-one (21,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-two (22,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, in block twenty three (23,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty six (26,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-seven (27,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block thirty (30,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirty-one (31,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block thirty-two (32,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block thirty-three (33) lots sixteen (16,) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18,) in block thirty-four (34,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, and lots twenty-two (22,) twenty-three (23) and twenty-four (24,) in block thirty-five (35,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, and lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block thirty-eight (38,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-five (55,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6) and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-eight (58,) lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, and twenty-five (25) to thirty-two (32) inclusive, in block sixty-five (65,) lots one (1) to eight (8) inclusive, and lots seventeen (17) to twenty-four (24,) in block sixty-six (66.) All in the townsite of Thief River Falls, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 21st day of September A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 25th 1889.

THE MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK of Crookston,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee.
[15-21] Crookston, Minn.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Anthony Kelly & Co., Against. Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Anthony Kelly & Co., and against Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit: Lot fifteen (15,) of block five (5,) L. Fletcher's addition to Crookston, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said County of Polk, excepting a strip twenty-five feet wide along the north end of said lot. And that I shall on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to eleven hundred eighty dollars and 48 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 29th day of July 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 29th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that LORENZO DAVIS has filed notice of intention to make final proof before U. S. Land office at their office in Crookston, Minn., on the 17th day of October, 1889, on timber culture application No. 208, for the w½ ne¼ and e½ nw¼ quarter of Section No. 18, in Township No. 149, Range No. 47. He names as witnesses: Ole Stokke, B. C. Jorgensen, J. B. Roome and J. J. Ide, all of Crookston, Minn.

[14-19] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication June 27th 1889.]

WHEREAS JAMES McARTON, AN UNmarried man, as mortgagor did on the second day of February A. D. 1885 duly execute and deliver to The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company of London (Limited) as mortgagee his mortgage, bearing date of January 24th A. D. 1885, whereby he mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The fractional northwest quarter of Section two (2,) Township one hundred and fifty-one (151,) Range forty-eight (48) west, containing one hundred fifty-seven and 97-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagor to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the 4th day of February A. D. 1885, at 3 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk in book "U" of mortgages on pages 229 to 232 inclusive, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of sixty dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of sixty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagor to be kept and performed, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee or its assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagor or any other party, and

Whereas The American Freehold Land Mortgage Company (Limited) mortgagee has exercised its option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 19th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated June 20th A. D. 1889.

THE AMERICAN FREEHOLD LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY of London (Limited.)
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee.
[10-16] Crookston, Minn.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE.

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street. Crookston.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUCHLER, Prorietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE C URT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising

STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

---

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells

Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRs. E. E. BANGS.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

MORTGAGE SALE

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5,) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153,) Range forty-four (44,) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office o. the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "57" of mortgages on page 18, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 78-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 86-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 26th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee,

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee.
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors did, on the 25th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 28th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 411; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and on the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 25th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Atty for Mortgagee.
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 16th, 1889, viz: LOUIS P. VOLLOM, H'd 8,722, for the sw¼ sw¼ Sec. 8, se¼ se¼ Sec. 7, ne¼ ne¼ Sec. 18, nw¼ nw¼ Sec. 17, T. 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Hans Buran, Harold Johnson, Ole Johnson and Christian M. Benson, all of Mentor, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[12-17] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

THE UNIVERSITY

OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homoeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine.

Next year opens September 3d, 1889.

Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP, L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, AUGUST 15, 1889. NO. 17.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY HURSDA .

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents. if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	25 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.

3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.

4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

ADMINISTATO'S SALE

OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

AT PUBLIC AUCTION!

(Estate of Joseph K. Mansfield, of Minneapolis.)

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL OFFER FOR SALE

On Saturday, August 17th, 1889,

At the Old Livery Stable of M. R. Brown, in the City of Crookston, Minn.,

Commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., the following property, to-wit:

2 Large Grade Stallions, 7-8 Norman.

1 THOROUGHBRED HAMBLETONIAN STALLION, MARSHAL NEY 6079. Bay Horse, black points, weighs 1,200 lbs; foaled in 1873, bred by J. C. McFerren & Son, Louisville, Ky., and registered in the American Trotting Register. vol. 7. Sire, Cuyler No. 100. First dam Patchen Maid, (the dam of Astrial, record 228½, and Marshal Massena, the sire of Sectarian, trial 2:27¼); by Membrino Patchen (58) full brother of the noted Lady Thorne, 2:18¼, (sire of London, record 2:20½. Belle Patchen, trial 2:23½, and twelve others with records of 2:30 or better. Membrino Patchen also sired the dam of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and 15 sons that have sired trotters with with records of from 2:16 to 2:30 and 16 daughters that have produced trotters with records from 2:18 to 2:30. (Full pedigree may be seen upon application to M. R. Brown.)

15 Fine Grade Norman Mares, good breeders and good work animals.
3 Fine Spring Colts, sired by Marshal Ney, from a fine strain of mares.
7 Good Milch Cows.
2 Fine three year old Steers. 3 Fine two year old Steers.
3 two year old Heifers. 4 Yearlings.
1 Single Buggy, full leather top, nearly new.
2 Lumber Wagons, several setts of Harness, and various other things too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE:

Notes payable on or before Dec. 1st, 1889, with good approved security, with interest at 10 per cent. per annum. Five per cent. discount for cash.

S. F. HOLBROOK, Manager for LAURA M. DRESSER, Administratrix.

M. R. BROWN, Auctioneer. J. W. LILLY, Clerk.

The Wheat Yield.

St. Paul Globe.

It is not always safe to presume upon the exact transcript of facts in crop reports, as the interests of the people are likely to warp their judgment, even when they attempt to state the situation correctly. Repeated reports, however, leave no doubt that there will be a very material shortage in the wheat yield of other countries. India is conceded to be virtually out of the list of exporting countries this year, and Russia and the other northern parts of Europe will hardly be more than able to feed their own people. The promise of good crops in England and France disappears in view of the more recent reports. Cold and wet weather have been very damaging. This country will apparently find a good demand at materially improved prices for all its surplus. The reports of the harvest are somewhat increasing the estimates of the yield.

Swine in the Northwest.

News, Willow Lake, Dakota.

More attention is given in the Northwest to swine this season than ever before, as farmers are discovering that they can raise them easily and profitably, and the area where corn is an acknowledged success is extending northward every year. Swine fatten well on barley, which is always a good crop in the Northwest, and clover, which is almost indispensable for hogs, grows well as soon as land becomes fitted for it by cultivation. Mammoth, or pea vine clover, thrives where the medium is more difficult to establish, and does well for pig pasture. It is estimated that fifteen pounds of clover will make one pound of pork, and that an acre of clover will produce six tons, or sufficient to make 800 pounds of pork, which at four cents per pound would give a product of $32 to the acre, the pigs doing the harvesting.

A Booming State Fair.

The State Fair has reached the booming point. This week the association has decided to put up purses amounting to $10,000 for ten trotting and eleven running races, with hurdle and cowboy dashes added. This sum of money will ensure the attendance of the best horses in the country. The railroads have made a reduced rate of one fare for the round trip good from Sept. 6th to Sept. 16th. The national guard of the state will give the thrilling riot drill showing troops in action against a mob. Grand Army day will be devoted solely to the entertainment of old soldiers of the state. The horse shoeing contest has aroused a great degree of enthusiasm among the horse shoers of the state, everyone feeling that he has a grand chance to win the magnificent prizes offered. On Wednesday, Sept. 11th, the great producers parade, representing all the products of the state will take place before the grand stand.

The space still left for exhibitors is comparatively small and those intending to come in should apply to Secretary Denny, Hamline, at once. Interest and enthusiasm in the fair has been worked to a high pitch, well evidenced by the character of the displays already guaranteed by the farming community. Probably one of the most novel features of the fair will be the presence of a band of genuine vaqueros or cowboys from the banks of the Rio Grande. Dressed in their picturesque costumes and mounted on their wild horses they will give thrilling exhibitions of their life on the American and Mexican plains. In all of its features, and especially those relating to agriculture the state fair of 1889 will surpass the efforts of past years.

In no one particular will the fair be so markedly a success as in its live stock display, covering as it will the finest and largest herds of the central and western states and the famous breeding horses from France and England.

Minnesota Game Law.

The new game law of Minnesota provides that woodcock can be killed from July 3d to October 31st; prairie chickens, August 20th to November 30th; quails, or partridge, and pheasants, September 1st to November 30th; wild geese and ducks, August 20th to April 10th, and elk, moose and deer, November 1st to December 1st. The killing of elk, moose and deer out of season, or with any contrivance except a gun discharged from the shoulder is punishable by a fine of not less than $50 or more than $75 for each animal killed, and the possession of the carcass of any such animal between December 15th and November 1st is prima facie evidence that the owner has violated the law. The killing of birds is prohibited, except with a gun discharged from the shoulder, and the setting of any trap or device to capture birds, whether the same are caught or not, is illegal. Any violater of the law is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 or more than $25 and costs of prosecution.

Fall Colts.

Fall colts, says Dr. Dickson, make the best horses, for they live on the mother, while spring colts are living on dry hay and abuse, and are old enough when the time for weaning comes to eat and assimilate nature's food (tender grass) which is then a seasonable and wholesome substitute for mother's milk. The mothers, also, are in better condition to take care of them when not overworked themselves and are relieved of the burden of supporting them when the work of the farm is most pressing. Fall colts do not get stunted if properly cared for They do not get pot bellied; they make fine yearlings, handsome two-year-olds, splendid horses, and are not always reminding one of a "Consumptive looking monkey holding a coroner's inquest over a poisoned pup."

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."

Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the tone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure curandron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Steenerson & McManus,

LOANS

AND

COLLECTIONS,

BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

OF

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

AND

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE,
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
ROCK BOTTOM PRICES.
St. Paul

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,
ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 15, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, No. 1 Hard, 66 cents.

Mrs. Durand has returned from her Wisconsin visit.

Will Lanctot has returned from a pleasant visit below.

Andrew Eiken has been on a visit to his friends in Clay County.

Mrs. J. H. Hall has rented the Dunn residence on Elm Street, and moved therein.

John Freeborn hauled two six pound pickerel out of Date's bay on Monday morning.

Bro. Stevens, of the Warren Register has purchased a newspaper at Mt. Carroll, Ills.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Brown went down to Ada last week for a few days' visit with friends in that city.

Sam Rosenthal has returned from a trip to Chicago. He did not buy the city but he got away with a big lot of clothing.

The flouring mill had to temporarily suspend operations last Saturday owing to lack of water. Everything is all O. K. again now.

The Scandinavian festival in the Lowe & Huggard warehouse on Tuesday evening of last week was an enjoyable affair, netting about $25.

Walter Lee has purchased a handsome lot on Maple Lake and will erect a neat cottage thereon. John Freeborn is clearing it up and getting the cellar dug.

Ole Renne was up from Garden last week. Says crops promise a fair yield—not as good as in former years, however, Some will get an average crop, others not.

Mr. Geo. W. Peake and family have gone to their old home at Rockford, Ills., for a visit. G. W. will doubtless take in the encampment at Milwaukee ere his return.

On Thursday last a fire got started in the coal sheds and the company ordered the engines all out of the round house. The fire was extinguished with no serious loss however.

Ed. Schreader was brought before Esq. Spendley last week charged with violation of the city ordinance in relation to fast driving. He was fined $10 and costs amounting to over $19. The case was appealed.

$100,000 to loan.

JOHN MCLEAN.

Uncle Damon Dodge came up from Liberty last Thursday to see how the world wags and to get duly regulated for the coming harvest. Uncle Damon says he has the best garden in Polk County, with onions and cabbages galore.

Go and examine that stock that will be sold next Saturday. Three stallions and a number of high bred mares offers an opportunity to secure good stock seldom afforded. Go and look them over at M. R. Brown's stable on Main Street.

Prof. and Mrs. Casey rejoice in the arrival of a wee bonnie lassie, who came to them on Sunday, August 4th. They say that the Prof. is two feet higher than before and ever so much better looking. If you don't get time to run up to Crookston, Prof., the cigars, if sent by mail or express will receive our earnest attention.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

Fertile Journal: In two months the C., D. & N. will be built to Fertile and Crookston, Grand Forks and Northern Dakota will have a shorter and more direct route to St. Paul and Minneapolis. The use of the circuitous route around by Red Lake Falls will not be entirely abandoned; the N. P. will probably run a mixed train twice a week via Ped Lake Falls.

Elsewhere in this issue will be seen the new ad of Chas. M. Lowe, dealer in real estate. Charles is one of those stirring fellows who never wait for something to turn up but who takes hold and turns for himself. Since opening his office last week he has sold one farm at Euclid for cash and has several other large deals on the string. List your property with Charlie if you wish to sell, or if you wish to buy go and see him. He says he has some choice bargains for somebody.

A great deal of wheat has gone into shock during the past week and another will see the most of it cut. From a careful comparison of reports and from personal observations we are confident that the yield for the valley will be far from the usual average. While in the immediate vicinity of Crookston crops are looking nicely and will yield nearly an average crop there are hundreds and hundreds of acres elsewhere that will yield from nothing to three or four bushels which will bring the general average far below the average. Wheat speculators are getting reports of the best crops and basing estimates on these for the express purpose of keeping the price down as long as possible but time will show the true status and then the price of wheat must go up. Whether that time will come soon enough to benefit our farmers or not is a question.

Miss Maud Strauser came down from Argyle last week on a visit to her old-time friends.

Judge Ives looks serenely happy, all owing to the return of his better half to civilization again.

C. C. Lawton was down from Mentor on Tuesday. Says the wheat, though light, will be of excellent quality.

Frank Bivins is said to have one of the finest crops of wheat in Polk County, being fully up to his usual average.

Miss Frankie Sang came down from Stephen on Tuesday evening for a week's visit with friends in the city as a guest of Mrs. E. E. Bangs.

John Freeborn came down from Maple Lake on Tuesday nursing a fiery and untamed felon which he contracted with his job of clearing off Lee's lot.

P. C. Schmidt has formed a partnership with A. C. Wilkinson and M. O'Brien, under the firm name of Wilkinson, Schmidt & O'Brien, with office in Fournet block. They will make a strong team.

The Crookston second nine played the return game with the Fisher club on Wednesday afternoon of last week, concluding the game too late for our last issue. The score stood 40 to 9 in favor of the home team.

The John Thompson Comedy Company will appear in Crookston for two evenings in August, probably the 26th and 27th. The first evening they will present "A Huge Joke" and the second evening some other piece, the name of which we have been unable to learn.

Reports come in of much damage to oats from rust, some predicting an almost total failure of that crop. It is said that the straw will be totally unfit for feed and the oats of very poor quality. This can only apply to late oats, as the early sowing has all been cut.

Frank Creamer reports the sale of that Minnesota Chief Thresher with the patent self-feeder, to Lewis Cottet, of Euclid. Frank says the statement that he is the patentee of that self-feeder is incorrect, howbeit he can get any number wanted for his patrons—all who use the Minnesota Chief Thresher.

Visitors to the Minneapolis Exposition this year will learn with pleasure that two chorus concerts have been provided for, the singers being members of the public schools of the Twin City to the number of 1,000. These concerts were especially attractive last season, and will doubtless prove as attractive this year.

Court adjourned on Wednesday last with the calendar pretty well cleaned up. The case of Lanctot vs. the county goes over to the December term. It should then be continued until next June to give the jury a chance to look the ground over, as they can form a correct idea only by personal examination.

Mr. C. Snyder came down from THE JOURNAL farm last Thursday in a frame of mind and procured a double-decked padlock to put on the barn. The night before some sneak thief had gone into the barn and stolen half of a double harness. Snyder says it would be better for that man to go to Maple Lake than to let him catch up with him.

Last week one of S. L. Collins' horses was taken with a severe attack of inflamation of the bowels. Dr. M. Leguee was called, who, together with Mr. Collins, sat up with the animal all night and until he got so much better as to be safe to be left alone. The doctor was unremitting in his attentions until the horse was able to go to work, which was in a few days.

Minneapolis Journal: Ex-Lieut. Gov. Barto has been appointed president of the state board of asylum trustees, vice J. W. Daniels, resigned. First Assistant Superintendent Williamson, of the Middletown, N. Y., asylum, has been offered the position of superintendent of the Fergus Falls asylum. Dr. McIntire, of St. Paul, is a new assistant at St. Peter.

Isaac W. Webb was brought before Esq. Spendley on Monday, charged with appropriating unto his own use divers and sundry fence posts against the peace and dignity of Harry Attix and the State of Minnesota, in such case made and provided. The county attorney prosecuted and Atty Edward George ably defended the aforesaid Isaac, but His Honor, the Judge, put on his blue thinking cap and bound Isaac over to the next term of court. Domino.

All who are disposed to brag about a big crop of wheat this fall should look at the quotation of price in this issue and weep. How does this obtain in the face of discouraging crop reports all over the world? Why, there are millions of acres in wheat in the Red River Valley which at from 20 to 25 bushels per acre would throw an immense volume of wheat upon the market which would, of course, have a tendency to depress the price at first. Estimated at from 5 to 8 bushels per acre, (which is nearer the actual amount) it would show a large deficiency and the price would go somewhere in the neighborhood of where it should be. The bears seem to have matters all their own way at present and will have every year just as long as we hear such highly colored reports as we hear every year about this time.

Get a Move on You.

The new road will be along soon and then a big boom in real estate will be inaugurated. In the meantime go and see the bargains Charlie Lowe offers and thus be ye also ready to catch on.

And These Went to the Lake.

Quite a number of Crookstonites went out to Maple Lake on Saturday last. Mr. and Mrs. I. U. Jennings, Mrs. I. M. Underhill and Miss Hilda Dahl, who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sawyer at Sawyer's cottage; Dr. M. Van Dyke and Miss Alice, Miss Cassie Mix, Mrs. A. Allen and son, Walter Lee, Mr. Bugg, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cooke, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Date. It goes without saying that we had a grand time as all who have enjoyed the beauties of the lake can readily testify. Crookston people are fortunate to have such a beautiful lake so near, having all of the advantages of more noted watering places without the usual attendant expenses. There are hundreds of beautiful sites for cottages yet remaining which will in time be utilized. The greatest need at present is a daily train service which doubtless will come in time. If the company would run a train out to the lake on Monday morning before going to St. Hilaire many would go out Saturday and return on Monday morning who now feel as though they could not afford to be away until Tuesday evening.

At the meeting of the council on May 22d a petition from C. Boree and others, asking that the house known as the "Holton House" be closed as a house of ill-fame was presented, and a resolution passed requiring the mayor to see that the prayer of the petitioners be granted and that the laws relating to houses of prostitution in this city be enforced during the remainder of his administration. The house was closed and remained so until last week. This week complaints from inhabitants of that vicinity reach THE JOURNAL that the house has been re-opened and is running in open defiance to the order of the council and a demand made, that, if the council is powerless to carry out its orders in relation to that house, and if it must run that it be removed to a more isolated position. These citizens say that they have arrived at that point where patience ceases to be a virtue; that they are entitled to protection and intend to have it if it is possible.

Money to loan in large or small sums on good farms. Choice farms and city property for sale. CHAS. M. LOW,
[17-tf] Broadway, Crookston.

E. D. Childs returned from a business meeting of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad, at Chicago, and reports that work on another 50 miles of the road will be commenced at once. This will bring the road to the Mississippi River, and it is expected the road will reach that point by December. The company has been seriously handicapped by the failure of the Legislature to pass the extension bill; and while the company suffers by it, the country suffers still more; for the passage of the extension act would have ensured the building of the road as far as Crookston next year, while now it will be delayed several years in all probability, while the right of the company to their lands remains the same. The farmers and business men in this country lose big money every year that the road is hindered from coming, money that is needed to put them in good shape.

REPAIRS

For the Massillon Thresher and the Minneapolis self-binder. Also handle the Minneapolis self-binder. See Collins, at Collins' Livery Stable. [15-22]

The Crookston Cut Off.

Grand Forks Plaindealer: Ed. Kennedy and George Walsh have taken the contract for the grading of the Duluth, Crookston & Northern, and commence work on Monday with one hundred teams at Fertile, working westward. The grading is to be completed in ninety days. Here is a chance for parties wanting work by contract or otherwise. This line known as the Crookston cut off, will extend from Fertile through Crookston and strike the N. P. again east of the city near Buffington, and will shorten the N. P. line to St. Paul eighteen miles.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER. 20 Cts.
Delivered at any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

Did the Best They Could.

Polk County Commissioners are Exonerated from the Charge of Supplying Poor Seed Grain.

St. Paul Dispatch: Several weeks ago a complaint was made by a number of residents of Polk County that the seed grain furnished them under the law passed at the last session of the legislature was not of good quality and was almost worthless, and that the county commissioners did not give proper attention to the matter. A thorough investigation was ordered by Gov. Merriam into the complaint and has just been completed. The report shows that the county commissioners furnished the best article obtainable; that the grade of wheat raised in that section for several years past was rather poor, and it was impossible to obtain in some sections a No. 1 article. The commissioners, however, did the best they could under the circumstances, and are exonerated from all blame.

VALLEYROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

State Fair Glories.

In the history and romance of the Mexican border there is nothing more attractive as a brilliant figure than the vaquero, his horse, and the wild steers of the plains. In his pristine glory he will be at the state fair this year. Add to this attraction a thousand herd of blooded horses and cattle; sheep and swine; the multiform products of the farm and manufactory, and you have a glorious display. There will be each day a series of trotting and running races, with $10,000 in purses offered for the winners. The State National Guard, under arms and in camp, will give the marvelous drill, and also compete for handsome prizes offered for drill and inspection. These prizes will be arranged to meet the capacities of every company in the state. There will be a Grand Army reception on National Guard day, and the veterans of the war will be feted as the honored guests of the State Fair Association. They will sit in the guest's chair, and the broad grounds at Hamline, with their myriad attractions will be the old soldiers' retreat of joy for a day. A novel feature, and one calculated to arouse deep interest, will be the contest of horseshoers of the state for valuable prizes. There is not a horseshoer at his forge who will not feel the thrill of competition in his blood when he learns that at the State Fair he can honestly wage his skill in shoeing the noble horse, and win a handsome prize. On Sept. 11th he Grand Producers and Industrial Parade of 1888 will be repeated before the grand stand with all the triumphs of Ceres and the Mechanics and the herds of the fields in line. It will be the longest and most varied product parade ever carried out in the Union. The Live Stock Barnes, capacious and clean, filled with the farmers' herds of Central and Western States; Machinery Hall quivering with the "whirr" of mechanical inventions; Agricultural Hall, yellow with the grains of a thousand farms; Floral Hall, sweet with roses, lilies and the gems of the hot house; the Art Gallery, hung with the choicest products from the brushes of old masters; the Main Hall with its attractions of trade and facal point for the ladies; the Rrce Track, and its equine kings; around all the rolling grassy slopes of the beautiful grounds, and above the tempered sky of autumn; the flash and gleam of bayonet and sword; the bright picturesqueness of the Vaquero, and stirring strains of music—all these will form a panorama for study and pleasure such as the State Fair has never seen before. These are not by any means the full list of attractions of the fair, but they show at this early date how far the management has gone in preparing for a magnificent popular reception in September. The Western Association of railroads has made a passenger rate to the fair of one fare for the round trip. Tickets good from Sept. 6th to 16th, inclusive.

For Sale or to Trade.

One yoke of fine young oxen. Will sell for cash, good paper trade for colt, sheep or anything else that has a market value. Call on or address M. Leguee, Crookston, Minn. [16-tf]

Detroit Record: The Chippewa Commissioners who have been at work at Red Lake and White Earth for the past six weeks, arrived at Detroit last Friday, having met with the most complete success in securing the signatures necessary to the success of the Nelson bill. At Red Lake a large majority of the Indians signed, and at White Earth, where the strongest opposition was met and overcome, the signing was practically unanimous, it being stated that only twelve members of the White Earth band failed to sign, and they were absent. Such complete success was a surprise to everyone, and none the less to those who were most sanguine and hopeful of the success of the measure. The commissioners went to Brainerd Sunday, and on Monday secured the signature of every member of the Gull Lake band, after which they left for Leech Lake reservation. However the action of the Indians at Red Lake and White Earth practically insure the adoption of the treaty which comprehends the centralization of all of the Chippewas, except the Red Lakers, at White Earth, the allotment to them of the agricultural lands, and the sale of all pine lands. Under the bill all work of removing and settling the Indians, etc., is left with the commissioners, and they will therefore have but begun their labors when the taking of signatures and the census is finished. There are some people who have an idea that agricultural lands embraced in the White Earth reservation will be thrown open to settlement, but such will not be the case. Commissioner Rice informs us that all the lands, except about four townships of pine lands in the north-eastern part of the reservation, will be required to satisfy the claims of the Indians.

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs.
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

20 Cts. After August 1st 20 Cts.

Creamery butter will be retailed at 20 cents per pound after August 1st. That means to-day.

Delightful Entertainment.

Bridgeton, (N. J.) Pioneer.

A very large audience greeted the Noss family, and were delightfully entertained by the gifted members of that wonderful family. It would be impossible to give an extended notice of the many features; but it can be said that there are few entertainments which prove one-half so interesting. All manner of musical instruments were introduced in the entertainment, and were skillfully performed. Little Bertha is a wonderful child, and her performance alone is well worth the price of admission. In the orchestra selection "Sleighing Party," she gives an unexcelled performance. The family have introduced several character sketches in their program this season which are very interesting. Miss Floe, May and Bertha have fine talent for acting, and with their father make a decided hit. The musical absurdity "A Quick Match," was very laughable and all the characters were well taken.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 20 Cts.
Delivered to any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

A Pleasant Harbinger of Autumn.

September "Peterson" comes to us as bright and fresh as the days of that most delightful of months. The illustrations are charming. The full page wood cut "The Young Family," is as good in its way as the steel engraving "Pick a Back," which is, if possible, finer than usual. The mammoth couble fashion plate opens a tempting array of novel costumes for autumn. The illustrated article will prove particularly interesting to the ladies as it recalls some of the fashions of long ago. The two serials end well; each is especially good in its particular vein, and the short stories and poetry are really admirable. One of the invaluable articles on Nursing of which "Peterson" has been publishing a series, constitute the "Things Worth Knowing," and the whole number is as complete and interesting as possible. Terms: Two dollars a year. Address Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

A Hard Fall.

Cheney Sentinel: D. H. Fisk made a business trip to Rosalia on Wednesday of last week. He got there towards evening, got his supper, and went upstairs into the hotel parlor to do some writing. It was an awful hot night, and when the lawyer had finished his work, he lit his pipe, took a rocking chair and thought he would sit out on the porch and keep cool. The door was standing wide open. He took the chair in front of him and walked right out—onto the sidewalk fourteen feet below. The lawyer's 180 pounds and the rocking chair made a crash that startled the town; but while the rocking chair went into a thousand pieces, Mr. Fisk escaped with severely bruised arms and face from which he has been laid up all the week. He is around again now but feels a little sore. It was a fortunate escape, from broken bones, at least.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court.
County of Polk. 11th Judicial District.
John Cromb, Plaintiff. vs. Arthur T. Moore and Catherine J. Moore, Defendants.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the Plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of ninety dollars, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 1st day of January A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated Aug. 13th 1889.

[17-23] JOHN CROMB,
Pl'ff's Att'y, Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 17th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of her intention to make final proof in support of her claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 23d, 1889, viz: HENRIETTE LOURIN, D. S., 11,024, for the e½ nw¼ and e½ se¼ S. 19, T. 149, R. 44. She names the following witnesses to prove her continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John T. Farden, Theo. Durocher, J. W. McNaulty and A. J. Northholm, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[17-22] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

CHAS. M. LOWE,
Real Estate
FARM LOANS

Loans Made on Good Farms Without Delay!

NO BONUS.

Low rates of interest. Money furnished to prove up claims and make payments on railroad lands.

FARMS FOR SALE in all parts of Polk County. Desirable City Property for residence and business purposes.

CAN SHOW YOU BARGAINS!

Office on Broadway, opposite Commercial Hotel.

C. O. D. COLUMN.

GREAT BOOT
SALE!

We are going to close out our Entire Boot Stock. Everything must go!

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE PRICES

$5.00	BOOTS	$3.75	$3.75	BOOTS	$2.75
$4.50	"	$3.25	$3.50	"	$2.25
$4.00	"	$3.00	$3.00	"	$2.00

Plow Boots $1.50 and $1.75.

C. O. D.
CLOTHING HOUSE.
Largest Establishment in the Northwest.

Fergus Falls Journal: It is quite noticable that the railroads in sending out crop reports say that "Minnesota and Dakota will harvest" so many bushels of wheat this year. Now everyone up here in the northwest knows that Minnesota is going to do a great deal more than her share of it, and why not give her the credit, instead of coupling Dakota's poor crop on and making Minnesota stand responsible. For a long time Dakota has been puffed and advertised by the lines which cross this state and every settler run into that country when it was possible to influence him. Now we are no jealous of Dakotr, nor do we want to say anything of its short comings, but we do want every settler to know that when he passes through Minnesota on any of the lines which cross the state that he goes by better and cheaper unoccupied land than he can find in Dakota and where there is plenty of wood and water, schools, churches and neighbors in easy reach, where the hard pioneering work has been done. The railroads don't let you know it for they want to ship you out as far as possible and then get the longest possible haul on your farm products. Minnesota is going to harvest some great crops this year and we want her to have the credit for it. We confidently expect that our County of Otter Tail will harvest and market more bushels of spring wheat this fall than any other county in the United States and there are still thousands and thousands of acres untilled and unsettled, well watered and well wooded and not subject to the drouth and drawback of western states. Give Minnesota the credit that belongs to her.

Northwestern Agriculturist: There is a good market for good family cows of the improved breeds in the cities at from $50 to $125. The man who knows anything about cows, wants the best and willingly pays a good price, provided quality and performance at the pail is secured. It costs a good deal to keep a cow in the city, and it does not take the owner long to find out what kind of a cow is worth keeping, and a man of experience would not accept a poor cow as a gift if he could buy a good one at $100. The favorite family cows are Holsteins and Jerseys, with the Guernseys coming into favor slowly, as their merits are discovered. The last two are cream cows, while the Holstein is the milk producer par excellence.

Farm, Stock and Home: We recently passed a farm house built on the bank of a beautiful lake of pure water; we stopped for a drink of cold water; it could not be had, there was no well, the spring water was not cold, and a piece of ice had never been seen in the house in summer time. We left the house wondering what the man of it was doing all winter that he could not put up ice. We are still wondering, for appearances did not indicate that poverty was the cause.

Northwestern Agriculturist: Thomas B. Wales makes a report of the butter yield of Lady Baker, a Holstein-Friesian cow, which is the largest made yet by any cow of this breed in seven days. The amount of milk was 524 pounds and 13 ounces, producing 34 pounds and 6 ounces of butter. After this remarkable record, it does not look as if the Holsteins were going into retirement as butter cows without a struggle for the supremacy.

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office.
[10-tf]

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

For Sale Cheap.

3 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.
1 Champion Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Warehouse Truck.
1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.
1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.
1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.
1 Feed Cutter.
1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.
1 Wagon, complete.
1 Single Harness.
20 gallons Machine Oil.
4 good Milch Cows.
3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

A. C. WILKINSON,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
(Successor to H. A. Wilkinson,)
Fournet Block } Room 5 } Crookston, Minn

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Breed Draft Horses.

Dr. Dickson: The average farmer had better confine himself to draft horses. They are easy to handle, easy to keep and easy to sell. Every farmer has a right to the very best road horse he can afford, but not many of them are suited to breeding road horses. Besides, if he tries it he may get a "Maud S." in a limetime, and if he should get one, he may not discover it in time to be benefitted thereby. In Chippewa County I have seen some of the finest specimens, some of the grandest types of the draft horse that I have even seen anywhere, and the farmers who do not make use of their opportunities to breed draft horses, are making a great mistake. But whatever you raise, be sure and raise sound colts. There is more danger, perhaps, of getting unsound colts in draft stock than in trotting strains. I think colts, and especially draft colts, are worked too early in life in this country. They look to be horses but they are only colts. Their bones are soft and only partially developed and they may not show that they have been overworked for years, but these excessive drafts on their youth are sure to be presented for payment in old age. If you are breeding draft horses you want a good, prompt, active walker. This is the best gait for the draft horse. You want good sound limbs and wind; good disposition and temper. Begin with sound mares, always, and breed to sound sires.

Comfort, the Law of Profit.

F. D. Curtis: Let it be written, aye, stamped on the frontlets of every dairyman, old or young, that warmth will double the yield of his cows on the same food as compared with cold. What a hollow mockery of common sense it is for a farmer who has stables to keep his cattle in a barnyard on a winter's day. Comfort is the word. Feed will not produce 300 pounds of butter in a year without comfort. I have said that comfort was essential in the dairy. This must not end entirely in the effort to keep the cows out of the cold. In summer they should be kept out of the heat and flies. More milk and butter can be made from cows kept up the year round than in any other way. I would make an exception of the nights in hot weather, and turn them out into a night pasture. If not kept up all of the time, and fed in a stable on succulent foods and bran and meal, then they should have a regular feeding night and morning. He is not a wise dairyman who does not follow this plan.

"Oxfords" on the Scales.

To the Northwestern Agriculturist:

Noticing the reports of weights of prize winning flocks in the agricural papers with much interest, we concluded to try some of our Oxford Downs on the scales. Three ewe lambs, one dropped February 21st, two in March, weighed 71, 90 and 110 pounds, respectively; total 281; an average of 93⅔ pounds. Seven ram lambs, all dropped after February 23d, weighed 794 pounds; average 113 3-7 pounds. Three yearling ewes weighed 407 pounds; average 135⅔ pounds. Five ewes over one year old, weighed 868 pounds; average 173 3-5 pounds. Four of these ewes raised twin lambs, one a single lamb, all sucking at time of weighing. Our flock averaged 9 5-8 pounds per fleece, clipped in April: wool was sold in dirt here for 23 cents. We will ship a ram lamb next week to Warren Eddy, of Big Stone, Dakota, that weighs 124 pounds.

WILCOX & LIGGETT,
Benson, Minn., July 18th, 1889.

Fodder Corn.

New York Tribune: Fodder corn sown broadcast is mainly a device of a thoughtless farmer to fool his cows into believing that they have been fed when they have only been filled up. The same plant, grown under conditions favorable to its attaining to mature size and quality, gives a fodder by which cows are enabled to produce the largest amount of milk, butter and cheese per acre. This fodder corn is not a complete ration for the best production of best milk. When supplemented by food rich in albuminoids, such as cotton seed meal, oil cake, bran or peas and oats, better returns for the food consumed are realized.

Sugar Prices--Sugar Trust.

Farm, Stock and Home.

Because of the extremely low prices of sugar in Germany—made so by the enormous production consequent upon the government sugar bounty—several of the leading financial institutions of that country have refused to any longer carry trade paper based upon sugar security. This is likely to result in enormous exportations of sugar at such prices that even the excessive duty this country levies on the foreign article will not prevent it from largely reducing the price here, and threatens to impose a burden on the American Sugar Trust heavier than it can carry, even with its great financial strength. In fact, the abundance and cheapness of sugar is now seriously unsettling the financial conditions of both Europe and America; but notwithstanding this, the American people have been told for months past that there was no such thing as a sugar trust; that the high prices they were paying for sugar resulted from a light supply throughout the world. In view of present revelations will the trust persist in cramming that colossal lie down our throats? Doubtless; and it will still find myriads of believers, too; just as we find myriads of non-believers in a Twine Trust, a Beef Combine, and other capitalistic conspiracies.

This reminds us of a visitor we had recently who solemnly assured us that there was no such thing as a "Beef Combine;" he had been in Chicago, had talked with men who were charged with being in such a confederation, and they with serious earnestness denied that such an organization existed! Of course, that settles it; and similar bandits are satisfying intelligent and patriotic citizens every day.

Here is Richness.

The Western Rural.

In all decency we hope that those papers that are engaged in selling twine at trust prices, will be as fair with the farmers as the rules of the trust will admit. Some of these journals, like the other twine dealers, have been telling the farmer that prices would go higher because there was "a shortage of raw material." That was a regular trust orthodox prediction. The following has been about the stuff to which the public has been treated by the twine journals: "There is no trust; there is a shortage of twine; the fact that we have encouraged the sale of twine at trust prices, has kept the price down, but it will not stay down; better buy now; there is no movement against the use of twine to amount to anything." And the sale of twine has gone on.

The Rural has said that there was a trust or corner. It said that parties had cornered all the raw material and twine that they could get their hands on. The twine papers said we lied. The Rural said that the movement not to use twine was widespread and would be disastrous. The twine papers said it was all nonsense. The Rural said that there was plenty of twine. The twine papers denied it. Now for recent developments. The very parties that have been in the west during the last few weeks, offering twine at special rates! They have been begging people to take it. They have asked The Rural to help them unload. Now this proves several things that the twine papers will find hard to digest. It proves that the parties had loaded up with twine just as we said they had; it proves that the movement against the use of twine has been greatly lessened. It proves that The Rural's course has driven these fellows to the wall, and that the claim that has been made that advocating the use of twine at trust prices has held prices down, is all balderdash, a fact that any ten-year-old child knew all the time.

Gentlemen of the twine trust and of the twine trust press, you are a badly disfigured set of men. You look as if you had had a fight with a hungry bear, and you evidently feel as if you had been stuck full of pins. The farmers have been enough for your gang of brigands and a trifle too much. They have stepped on you and they are now standing on you, and they do not propose to move off right away either; and when the harvest is over and your creditors are endeavoring to reach a satisfactory compromise, the farmer with his appetite for victory, whetted to a keen edge, will turn his attention to some of the other trusts, and make them feel drowsy. One thing is settled forever: Whenever any of you fellows who deal exclusively with farmers hatch a scheme to rob your patrons, you will be welcomed to hospitable, financial graves. The farmers are in the best fighting trim they have ever been in, and we believe that they are ready to "chaw" up and grind up any thieving plot that comes anywhere within their reach.

THE NEW
CLEVELAND HOUSE,

Is now ready for the reception of guests. I have just completed the addition, thoroughly renovated, papered and painted, and am now ready to welcome old guests and new to a comfortable, home-like hotel. House convenient to all business places.

☞ Give the New Cleveland House a call.

H. BURKHARDT, Prop.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

D. D. WILLIAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
COUNTY ATTORNEY,
OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA.

NEW CIGAR STORE,
SIGN OF THE IG INJUN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

H. STEENERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Crookston, Minn.

CARLETON COLLEGE,
NORTHFIELD, MINN.

FALL TERM opens Sept. 4th, 1889.
THE COURSES ARE
Classical, Literary, Scientific, English-Academy and Musical.

Besides Preparatory and Post-Graduate studies:
Instruction given in Drawing and Painting.
Special facilities for study in Pure Mathematics and Astronomy.
Extensive Chemical and Biological Laboratories.
Open to students of either sex.
Expenses very low.
For Catalogues and Circulars address,
(16-18) JAS. W. STRONG, President.

Clifton Hotel
JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.
American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates-- $2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN
[32-tf]

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

Farmers Own Company!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

S. L. COLLINS
—PROPRIETOR OF—
MAIN STREET
Livery, Feed and Sale Stables
CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,
Crookston, - - - - Minnesota.
Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's
SHOE
STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,
The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00
Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN
BANK.
CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:
Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson,	Crookston.
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton
A. E. Johnson.	St. Pau

MINNESOTA HOUSE,
ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.
WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,
Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON. - - - MINN.

P. C. SCHMIDT,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. | MONEY TO LOAN
Crookston - Min

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys an d ounselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give specia attention to collections and all commercial busness pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000

SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. D. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET. - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

ONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	6:51 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:45 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. R. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 20th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that LORENZO DAVIS has filed notice of intention to make final proof before U. S. Land office at their office in Crookston, Minn., on the 17th day of October, 1889, on timber culture application No. 208, for the w½ ne¼ and e½ nw¼ quarter of Section No. 18, in Township No. 149, Range No. 47. He names as witnesses: Ole Stokke, B. C. Jorgensen, J. B. Roome and J. J. Ide, all of Crookston, Minn.

[14-19] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Lee & Herrick. Against. Alice B. Kratka.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Lee & Herrick and against Alice B. Kratka. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendent, to-wit: Lots ten (10) eleven (11) twelve (12) and thirteen (13,) of block fifty-nine (59,) of the townsite of Thief River Falls, according to recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alice B. Kratka in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to ninety-six dollars and 85 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the fourth day of June 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 15, 1889.

"WHY BIND GRAIN."

Hiram Smith Asks this Question of the Western Farmer.

Hiram Smith, in Hoard's Dairyman.

"Why bind grain," asks Hiram Smith, a practical farmer of lifelong experience, in Hoard's Dairyman. Does it save labor in securing the crop? Does it shorten time of exposure before it can be safely housed or stacked? Does it make the kernels of the grain any better? Does it save the straw in any better condition for feeding cattle? Can it be threshed with less help, or waste, or time? To all of these questions the observing farmer must give his emphatic answer. No! What are the claimed advantages and what are the known losses in binding any kind of grain (with the possible exception of wheat where the straw is not to be utilized?) It was anciently claimed that there was less scattered, and left on the ground, when bound, than wher harvested unbound. While this claim, originally had some merit, yet since the advance of civilization to use the sulky rakes—that gather up all—the claim is left without force or logic. It was originally claimed that bundles could be unloaded to better advantage than loose grain. While this claim had some merit under the old system of farming, when the grain was pitched over the "big beam" by hand, since the advance of civilization to horse forks, the claim is without merit or facts to sustain it. Great claims have been put forth for the self-binder, in the great amount of labor saved over the self-rake reaper and hand binding. This claim is only good when it can be shown that grain should be bound as fast as cut, or that it is no injury to grain or straw to so bind. It was anciently claimed that bound grain could be threshed to better advantage than loose grain. This claim had a good deal of merit, when grain was threshed by hand. If the heads were uniformly together, the flail would hit more heads at a single blow than if the grain was in a loose condition. But since the advance of civilization to threshing machines, the claim is destitute of merit, reason or sense.

So much for the claimed advantages of binding grain. Now what are the known losses and disadvantages? In the first place it takes three horses on a self-binder to cut the same grain two horses will do on a self-rake reaper, a loss of one-third of the power. It will take a good man to shock what a self-binder will cut. It must be left three times as long in the shock to dry out and be in condition to house or stack, as it requires if left in the gavel, thereby trebling the danger of loss by exposure to storms. It takes double the time to unload bundles by hand in the barn that it does to unload loose grain with a horse fork. There is absolutely no gain, in threshing to have it bound. Repeated trials, last week, showed that a ten-horse thresher run out one and one-half bushels of barley per minute from bound grain, and from unbound barley from the same field two bushels per minute were uniformly threshed, and both grain and straw were in better condition from the unbound. Does any observing farmer believe that barley and oats are in fit condition to bind, when cut, if it is cut as early as it should be to save loss of grain from shelling and to get full value of straw for feeding stock—always worth to the dairyman $4 per ton if mixed with nitrogenous food?

The experience of the present harvest has convinced me that barley and oats should never be cut with a self-binder, and that to bind after a self-rake reaper is worse than labor lost. If gavels are turned, the next day after reaping, and placed so as to leave an opening for the wagons, the day following, and pitched on with barley forks, the crop can be put in the barn with less labor than to bind and put in shock. Investigation and experiment will convince the observing farmer that binding grain under the most favorable conditions is a dead loss of labor, no benefit to the grain, and an almost certain damage to the straw. Large bundles nearly always smell musty under the band. This musty odor will impregnate the whole stack, and cattle eat it with no better appetite than men eat musty bread Binding grain delays the precious time of harvesting and threshing was done before any other farmer in the neighborhood had completed binding and hauling in, and several days before any grain cut with a self-binder was in fit condition to go in. If labor can be saved, and better results can be secured, by not binding grain, the question is worthy of consideration.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

Teachers Examination.

The regular fall examinations for Polk County will occur as follows:

At the Central School Building, in Crookston, August 19th and 20th.

At the School House, in East Grand Forks, August 19th and 20th.

At the School House, in Red Lake Falls, Aug. 20th and 21st.

At the School House, in Fosston, Aug. 20th and 21st.

The examinations in Crookston and East Grand Forks will begin at 9 a. m.; in Red Lake Falls and Fosston at 1 p. m. of the first day.

All teachers holding third grade certificates received last sping at the regular public examinations can have those certificates renewed for another six months work by sending them to the county superintendent.

All second grade certificates issued last spring, and limited to to six months on account of deficiency in Civil Government, will be extended until the spring examination upon request for same.

Dated at Crookston, this 30th day of July, 1889.

EZRA F. ELLIOT,
County Supt.

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address THE JOURNAL before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdysk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

W A. ROBERTSON.

D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Marvland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N, B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MORTGAGE SALE:

[First publication August 1st, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five thousand seventy-eight and 90-100 dollars, ($5,078.90-100,) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Carl Kretzschmar and Anna Kretzschmar his wife mortgagors to Wm. M. Ross of Crookston, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of January A. D. 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 28th day of January A. D. 1885, at 9:45 o'clock a. m., in book "U" of mortgages, on pages 210 to 212 inclusive, and

Whereas the said Wm. M. Ross, mortgagee, for value received, on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly assigned the aforesaid note and mortgage, and the debt secured thereby to the Merchants' National Bank, of Crookston, which said assignment was in writing under seal, duly witnessed and acknowledged, and thereafter on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said Polk County, in book "45" of mortgages on pages 575 and 576, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered three (3,) four (4,) eight (8,) nine (9) and ten (10,) in block two (2,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block three (3,) lots seven (7,) eight (8) and nine (9,) in block four (4,) lots nine (9,) ten (10) and eleven (11,) in block five (5,) lots three (3,) four (4) and ten (10,) in block six (6,) lots six (6,) seven (7) and eight (8,) in block seven (7,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block ten (10,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block eleven (11,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block twelve (12,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirteen (13,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block fourteen (14,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four inclusive, in block fifteen (15,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block sixteen (16,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block seventeen (17,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block eighteen (18,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block nineteen (19,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty (20,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-one (21,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-two (22,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, in block twenty three (23,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-six (26,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-seven (27,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block thirty (30,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirty-one (31,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block thirty-two (32,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block thirty-three (33) lots sixteen (16,) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18,) in block thirty-four (34,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, and lots twenty-two (22,) twenty-three (23) and twenty-four (24,) in block thirty-five (35,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, and lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block thirty-eight (38,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-five (55,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6) and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-eight (58,) lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, and twenty-five (25) to thirty-two (32) inclusive, in block sixty-five (65,) lots one (1) to eight (8) inclusive, and lots seventeen (17) to twenty-four (24,) in block sixty-six (66.) All in the townsite of Thief River Falls, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 21st day of September A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 25th 1889.

THE MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK of Crookston,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee.
[15-21] Crookston, Minn.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Anthony Kelly & Co., Against. Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Anthony Kelly & Co., and against Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit; Lot fifteen (15,) of block five (5,) L. Fletcher's addition to Crookston, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said County of Polk, excepting a strip twenty-five feet wide along the north end of said lot. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to eleven hundred eighty dollars and 48 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 29th day of July 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

—ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.—

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE.

Physician and Surgeon,

Office corner of Main and Second Streets,

CROOKSTON. - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,

Graduate McGill University, Montreal.

LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.

Office on Second Street. Crookston.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,

H. RAUENBUEHLER, Proriator.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,

CROOKSTON. - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office over Merchants' Bank,

☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

WILL BE OPEN

EVERY SATURDAY.

OFFICE AT THE C URT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,

Attorney-at-Law.

SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising

STAPLE AND FANCY

Dry Goods,

In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our

Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,

We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and

OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

---

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center thanany other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,

—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,

PAINTS, OILS,

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,

(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,

CARMAN. - - ' MINN

SPRING MILLINERY

NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS.

FASHIONABE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call nd Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

MORTGAGE SALE

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5,) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153,) Range forty-four (44,) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office o. the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "27" of mortgages on page 18, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 18-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 90-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 25th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors, did, on the 11th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 28th, A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:50 o'clock a. m. duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 111; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and on the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 28th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Atty for Mortgagee,
[12-17] Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 9th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 17th, 1889, viz: LOUIS P. VOLLOM, H'd 8,772, for the sw¼ sw¼ Sec. 8, se¼ se¼ Sec. 7, ne¼ ne¼ Sec. 18, nw¼ nw¼ Sec. 17, T. 149, R. 43. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Hans Buran, Harold Johnson, Ole Johnson and Christian M. Benson, all of Mentor, Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[12-17] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA.

OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889.

Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT

Practical Dentist

SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA. AUGUST 22, 1889. NO. 18.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
¼ inch.....	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch......	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches...	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches...	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches...	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches...	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	60 00
1 column..	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitobu Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE
CROOKSTON
LOAN AGENCY
STILL ON DECK.

MONEY
On Real Estae.
MONEY
On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

Looking to the Supreme Court.

Friends of Meat Inspection Not Troubled Over the Duluth Decision.

Minneapolis Journal.

Attorney-General Clapp says that in his opinion the cattle inspection law is constitutional, despite the rulings of the Duluth judges. He says the case was not properly presented to them.

"What will be done if dressed meats are shipped into this state and the law defied?" the attorney-general was asked.

"The dealers will be prosecuted, that is all," was the reply.

It is probable that the Duluth case will be appealed to the supreme court, which will then settle the question of constitutionality.

Senator Scheffer, of St. Paul, the author of the bill, says of the Duluth decision: "I have not lost a particle of faith that the bill is not only a wise, but a constitutional measure. The judiciary committee of both the senate and house were almost a unit that the bill was constitutional, though they differed as to whether it was wise. Two of the best constitutional lawyers that I know of, Gen. Cole and W. P. Warner, were almost ready to stake their reputations on its soundness. This case in Duluth has many peculiar phases, and after all the decision is but the opinion of two lawyers, though they may be very good ones. But I cannot understand how the matter could have been exhaustively presented and carefully considered in the short time devoted to it. The defense could not have been made in proper shape. If the law is not constitutional it will not be long before the constitution is changed so that it will be. You remember it was constitutional to own a slave once, but it is not now. Why should not a people have the power to protect themselves?"

Paul Engles, of the St. Paul Meat and Provision Company, says: "When Missouri first passed a veterinary law to exclude Texas cattle from her precincts at certain seasons, it was attacked and declared unconstitutional, and on that decision Attorney Erwin laid great stress in his argument against hoof inspection before the Minnesota legislature. He failed to call attention to the fact, however, that Missouri afterwards passed a veterinary law for the same purpose and as a health protection measure, which new law has been in full force and effect for several years and has not been defeated in the highest courts."

* * *

Moorhead News: Ex-Mayor John Erickson was quite seriously injured on Saturday afternoon by a runaway on his Sabin farm. Mr. Erickson was getting ready to start to another of his farms with a load of farm machinery a hired man accompanying him. When about to start on their journey it was suggested that they take a table with them. Mr. Erickson put the table on the load while the man held the team. No sooner had the table been put on the wagon and Mr. Erickson climbed into it, than the bronchos took fright and got away from the driver. The sudden start of the horses threw Mr. Erickson to the ground and some of the machinery fell upon him. He was severely injured in the head there being several scalp wounds of considerable size, and a bad hurt under the chin. Dr. E. M. Darrow, of Fargo, was called, and it is understood he has said he can't tell as yet how serious the injuries may prove to be; that it will be necessary to await developments. Mr. Erickson's friends, who are numerous, hope to hear soon that he is getting along all right.

Who Makes the Money.

The Stockman.

Not the man who dabbles in everything, attending to nothing well, but the man who uses his head well, keeps his business well in hand and attends to the little details of careful handling. Not the man, either, who all his life has but "one string to his fiddle," and when prostration of business comes to his particular line has nothing to fall back on or to help him over the hard places; but the man who makes his land produce not only a variety of food for himself and family, but also a steady routine of seasonable supplies for his stock. Not the man who says, "My stock and my ways of managing it is good enough for me," but the man who realizes that perfection is not easily reached, but should be more steadily kept in view in all things. Not the man who refuses to read an agricultural paper lest he might become "one of them book farmin' fellows," who never takes a hand in sustaining a farmers' institute or farmers' club in his region; but the man who is anxious to keep up to the best, is willing to lend a helping hand to every good work. And even if the model man we have described is not making much money, he stands a better chance of a good living than his crusty, sordid, ignorant neighbor, who must have much more pleasuse in life and the good things it offers.

The Northwest for Farming.

Farm, Stock and Home.

The average growth of crops in the Northwest during the month of July last was phenomenal, if not unparalleled. Everywhere improvement was noticeable, and in many places it was so marked as to seem almost magical. Over vast regions despondency was changed to rejoicing in one little month; and where the change was not so radical it was still gratifying in a high degree. Of course there are places where crops are poor; poor crop areas will be found in the most bountiful years, but such arears are infinitely smaller than they promised to be July 1st. This rapid and radical change in crop condition clearly indicates the wonderful agricultural resources and possibilities of the Great Northwest; indicates the native strength and fertility of its soil.

It must be confessed that the average cultivation of Northwestern soils is not high; in fact, much of it is of a very low order, primitive and rude; how strong, then, must be the reserve force of lands which, under unfavorable conditions could, with the aid of only an ordinary rainfall, transmute an impending disaster into a bountiful harvest within the brief space of four weeks' time.

The moral of July's experience is self evident to the thoughtful and observing; If we will supplement the native fertility at our feet with skillful methods, and reinforce our strong and willing soil with such sinews of war as fertilization, rotation and occasional rest, we will lift it above the dangers of ordinary climatic vicissitudes, or at least make it better able to resist them, and so insure an average yield far above that of less naturally favored portions of our country.

In no part of the world are the inducements for good cultivation greater than they are here; in no part will proper methods make more speedy or larger returns; but in no part of the world, not even on the grand and luxuriant prairies of Minnesota and the Dakotas, can profitable returns be made from farms unless they are tilled in accordance with the best practice known to modern agriculture. Those one-crop and wheat-after-wheat farmers who are favored with wood crops this year will be able to start towards the new and better way, and they should not fail to improve the opportunity. The possibilities of this region are incalculable, but they cannot be realized in the absence of that great labor without which there is no excellence.

* * *

The Minneapolis Exposition this year will contain a greater number of attractive exhibits than ever. At a recent meeting of prominent Minneapolis manufacturers, it was decided to put in very elaborate displays, and in order to add interest to them, it was decided that they should be movable in character. Manufacturers from abroad are showing much interest this year owing to the recent admission to the sisterhood of states of North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington, and as a result are bringing forward their finest goods for exhibition at Minneapolis. Prominent among these are Messrs. Powers & Weightman, of Philadelphia, the largest manufacturers of chemicals in the world, who will place on exhibition their mammoth display they had in London, Paris, and other old world exposition centres. A number of others equally prominent in the manufacturing world will be represented, so that undoubtedly in point of general interest the Exposition of 1889, will be the best held yet.

Ex-Warden H. G. Stordock.

The Prison Mirror.

Now that Hon. H. G. Stordock is no longer warden, it is but proper that we should say a few words as a parting tribute to his many good qualities of heart and mind. These qualities have made themselves prominent principally in what has been accomplished during his term of office in the way of improvements that have been conducive to our comfort and the bettering of our condition in many respects. When he came here we were wearing out our eyes reading by the dim light of tallow dips, now we have the electric light, than which there is none better; we now have a good library from which we may draw books every day; whereas formerly the library was only such in name and but one book a week could be had. Not mentioning the improvements in building and heating arrangements, we have better beds, better water service, better and cleaner clothing, better sanitary conditions, and many other conveniences that were not ours when he came here. And he has given us what no other penitentiary in the country possesses—a newspaper of our own. This is a boom greater than was ever before given to convicts in a penitentiary. Much more might deservedly be said of Mr. Stordock's administration, but what he has accomplished remains to speak for him more forcibly than words can express. He used what influence he could bring to bear in having laws enacted for the more liberal treatment of convicts in the way of greater diminution of sentence for good conduct, the limiting of life sentence to twenty-one years, and several other beneficial laws which are now on the statute books of the state. Mr. Stordock will long be remembered by many a man in this prison for his personal acts of kindness.

Wheat Screenings for Feed.

Farm, Stock and Home.

Farm, Stock and Home is constant in urging farmers to clean their wheat and keep at home and feed the screenings; but many farmers scoff at the idea, inspired thereto by the belief that the screenings have no feeding value, and that saving them is a sheer waste of time. Prof. Kedzie, chemist of the Michigan Agricultural College, after making an analysis, has this to say about wheat screenings:

"Shrunken and immature wheat has little value for making flour, and many persons suppose that its food value is of a lower order. But young grains are richer in nitrogen compounds than the full ripened and plump berry. The value of such grains for stock feeding is not to be measured by their flour producing quality. Wheat screenings are worth more for stock food than the same weight of plump wheat. The value of such materials when ground and fitted for mixing with coarse materials like straw, etc., is obvious to the intelligent stock feeder. The material should be ground to kill all seeds of weeds, as well as to secure complete digestion."

A still better evidence of the great nutritive value of wheat screenings is the fact that feeders of sheep for market buy their animals, feed wheat screenings almost exclusively, sell the fatted sheep for mutton, hire all work done, pay rent for stables or sheds, and make money in the operation. It is but little short of crime for farmers to give away their screenings for cleaning wheat effectively and rapidly are so cheap.

Feeding Sheep in Minnesota.

Northwestern Agriculturist.

Prof. McLain, of the Minnesota Experiment Station, in an address at the Montevideo Farmers' Institute, referred to the advantages possessed by Minnesota for sheep raising, and particularly for fitting Montana sheep for market. "Montana sheep," he said, "are strong in constitution, large in frame, productive in wool, of a good quality, and as an all-purpose sheep cannot be excelled. They get the age, size and frame on the Montana ranches but do not get the fat, or that tender quality in the mutton that is so desirable. Their flesh is worked on, on the ranges, and it remains only for us to take them at the low rates at which they can be purchased, feed and fatten them upon our nutritious grasses and coarse grains, and coin money by the operation. Minnesota is a natural feeding ground for such sheep and they thrive well upon what we have to spare." He recommended oats as a suitable and profitable feed for sheep, and urged the necessity of providing good sheds where they will not be crowded too closely and the air will be pure, and where they can have about six square feet of floor surface each. He would buy good strong wethers and push them right ahead with pure air and water, good hay and oats, the latter ground coarsely, and other grains. Prof. McLain recommended the Cotswold, Shropshire, Leicestershire Down, and grades of each but would breed generally to Cotswold. Any breed that is hardy, that makes a good fleece of good wool and carry a large carcass are suitable. He cited one instance where a farmer cleared $800 in a short time by fattening 250 Montana sheep.

* * *

Farm, Stock and Home: There is no better time during the year for farmers of a county to become acquainted with each other than at their county fairs, nor is there a better opportunity for mutual self help. The season of fairs is now rapidly approaching, and it is to be hoped farmers will make an extra effort this season to have their county exhibit of farm products better than ever, and to make their county fairs the object lessons and educational opportunities they were originally designed to be. Let all farmers contribute something to their local fairs, whether they expect a premium or not. If farmers of each county will do their duty the next fair therein will be the best in the county's history.

* * *

Farm, Stock and Home: Farm, Stock and Home is informed that it is the intention of some farmers from several of the eastern states to visit Minnesota and Dakotas this fall, with a view to settling therein. The design is to visit the states named during the fair season, and by attendance at county fairs form estimates of the resources and capabilities of the counties. They will want to learn all they can regarding yields per acre, adaptability of soils to different crops, methods of cultivation, etc., and believe the cheapest and quickest way to get the desired information is through the medium of county fairs. We cannot learn what counties they propose visiting, but it will do no harm for the citizens of each county to take the same interest in getting up a good fair that they would if sure of a call from the visitors.

American Herds--Belle Mead.

Holstein-Friesian Register.

John R. McPherson, one of the United States senators from New Jersey, has one of the finest farms in the world, says a New York correspondent. Many of the best Holstein cows in America are the property of the senator. The farm is known as Belle Mead, after a famous Kentucky homestead. It is situated on the direct line of the Philadelphia and Reading road, between New York and Philadelphia. It is in Somerset County, and only a few miles from Trenton. The steeples and turrets of Princeton college can be seen from the central farm house. There are 1300 acres of magnificant land, the tilling of which cost the senator a small fortune. There are a dozen farm houses and more than a dozen enormous barns. There are 10,000 peach trees, hundreds of other fruit trees and a game preserve. Rabbits, ducks, partridges, guinea fowls, carrier pigeons, and domestic animals of every description abound in the woods. Chickens are fed scientifically in winter with heated food, and the incubator is in constant use. While Belle Mead is admitted by experts to surpass any farm in the land, it is not conducted merely for pleasure or pride. On the contrary it yields a substantial profit every year, and is paying a moderate percentage on the enormous sum that it originally cost.

Assemblyman Jacob Klotz is the manager of the farm for the senator. Last winter he left the cattle and granaries long enough to go to the legislature and put in one of the votes that returned his proprietor to the United States senate for the successive term. Klotz is a thorough farmer. He will point with pride to the kine standing knee deep in the luxurious green grass, to the trim fences and hedges, and the thousand and one details of rustic beauty and thrift. He will tell of the 100 acres of growing wheat, of the 100 of oats, of the 100 acres of peach trees and of pasturage for 300 head of cattle, until you will wish you were a farmer. But the chief pride, both of the senator and his manager, is the cows. As already mentioned, the farm contains the finest of Holsteins.

De Bless, the queen of the Belle Mead Holsteins, is running a race with the world's record. She gives over 40 quarts of milk a day, and it is expected that during this year she will give 12,500 quarts, or 25,000 lbs. of lacteal fluid. The record is 30,000 lbs. of milk a year. The animal is worth $3,500, but $5,000 wouldn't buy her. De Bless wanders around in clover with a small herd of Holsteins that are almost worth their weight in silver. A man is with them almost constantly. They are never driven faster than a walk; no one is allowed to speak unkindly to them or to strike them, and they are milked three times a day. The milker's finger nails must be carefully trimmed, for fear of injuring them, and in winter they are fed scientifically on feed heated with steam. A steam pipe takes the chill off the water that they drink in cold weather, and, altogether, they receive more care than many human beings. Each of the Holsteins has a pedigree as long as that of a prince. Their yield of milk is carefully marked down on a blackboard in pounds and added up each week, and it takes a whole set of books to keep the record of their yield and of the calves' rations in the bovine elite directory.

Mr. Klotz has a long stretch of Kentucky blue grass for them to graze on. No cow is driven in from the pasture and milked immediately. They are permitted to chew their cud an hour in the stable before they are turned over to the milking boys. Eight hundred quarts of lacteal fluid are shipped from the Belle Mead depot every day. It increases in quantity after it gets to New York. The Kentucky blue grass is not blue. It is just as green as the blades in Central park. It is going to be a success in New Jersey, Mr. Klotz thinks. It is thick and rugged, and it does not run out in four or five years. When once the ground is seeded with it, it is calculated that it will last indefinitely.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office.
[10-tf]

Steenerson & McManus,
LOANS
—AND—
COLLECTIONS,
BROADWAY CROOKSTON, MINN.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my
New Spring Stock
—OF—
JEWELRY,
CLOCKS
—AND—
SILVERWARE,
HAS ARRIVED,

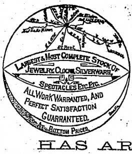
And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

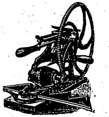
All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,
ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.



A Word to the "Wise Farmer."



Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the stone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure corundum (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

Clifton Hotel
JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.
American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.
Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - MINN
[32-tf

CROOKSTON
STEAM LAUNDRY.
I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing
Washing and Ironing
Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting
FAMILY WASHING
Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,
☞ Laundry Opposite Commercia Hotel on Second Street.

THE UNIVERSITY
OF MINNESOTA.
OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889. Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address CYRUS NORTHRUP, L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MNN

OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

CHAS. M. LOWE,
Real Estate
FARM LOANS

Loans Made on Good Farms
Without Delay!
☞NO BONUS.☜

Low rates of interest. Money furnished to prove up claims and make payments on railroad lands.

FARMS FOR SALE in all parts of Polk County. Desirable City Property for residence and business purposes.

CAN SHOW YOU BARGAINS!

Office on Broadway, opposite Commercial Hotel.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,
(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)
REAL ESTATE,
Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.
—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 22, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, No. 1 Hard, 66 cents.

A. C. Wilkinson went to St. Paul last week.

R. A. Wilkinson was up from St. Paul on Monday.

H. A. McClatchie was down from Red Lake Falls on Saturday to attend the sale.

B. E. Sundberg, of Kennedy, bought a thoroughbred Hambletonian mare at the sale on Saturday.

C. H. Leonard, of Niagara, D. T., bought two thoroughbred Hambletonian colts at the sale last Saturday.

W. E. McKenzie returned on Monday morning from the editorial excursion to Chicago. Says he had a grand time.

Ole Omlie was over from Grafton last week, and took in the big stock sale. Says crops are very fair in his locality.

Although the day was a rainy one, hundreds of our local sports took the field on Tuesday morning in quest of the festive chicken.

Ex-congressman, Knute Nelson, came up from Alexandria last week and went over to Dakota with Hon. Halvor Steenerson to try a case.

Frank Arries, of Eau Claire, Wis. bought the thoroughbred Hambletonian, Marshal Ney, at the sale on Saturday. The horse will go to Eau Claire.

The citizens of Red Lake Falls are having great sport hunting bears on their streets. Three fine full-grown cubs were killed one day last week.

Harry Slocum, chief clerk at the Commercial, has accepted a position at Lake City, Minn., and has gone to enter upon the discharge of his new duties.

T. G. Thompson, J. E. Morrisey, Tom Morris and A. R. Fuller took in the shooting bee at Fargo last week. They won "laurels" enough to pay expenses, besides barrels of fun.

T. G. Thompson says his dogs knew that the law had played out because they began to point tame chickens early on Tuesday morning. He gave them a taste of the real article on Wednesday.

At the sale on Saturday John Wyand bought a thoroughbred horse colt, sired by Marshal Ney, its dam a thoroughbred Hambletonian, with a record of 2:30. John knows a good bargain when he sees it.

Frank Jerome and Dan McDonald have contracted to grade ten miles of the Crookston, Duluth & Northern R. R., beginning at the point of entrance to the city limits and running southeast. They begin this week.

A. N. Hixson was one of the heavy purchasers at the sale on Saturday. He bought three fine mares and one high grade three-year-old Norman stallion, and he don't have to pay all he is worth for them, either.

Sheriff Paulsrud has bought the office building recently owned and occupied by P. C. Schmidt in rear of the Merchants' National Bank and has taken possession thereof. This is one of the neatest offices in town.

Henry Berthiaume, of the Berthiaume Jewelry Co., of West Superior, is visiting his friends and relatives in the county and paid Crookston a visit on Friday last. Henry says the firm is doing a flourishing business there.

With the last issue of the Chronicle Bro. McGrew's interest as editor ceases, he having rented the Chronicle to W. L. Palmer for two years. Bro. McGrew does not say to what he intends to turn his attention in the future.

Miss Emma Millis, a former teacher of Polk County, is in the city looking after her farming interests. Miss Millis came from Michigan in the early day and took a fine claim near Thief River Falls, which is now worth a nice little sum.

Andy Stephens has been working up a scheme to secure an evening's entertainment by The Swedish Ladies Opera Co., and has secured the Opera House for the evening of Sept. 19th. This is one of the finest entertainments on the road.

Major Mix informs us that he has secured a colonist sleeper for the use of Col. Cobham Post and all who go to Milwaukee. The car will be side-tracked and used for sleeping purposes in Milwaukee. Fare $18.75. Start next Sunday evening.

It seems that Ed. Love was not permitted to take that Norman stallion out of the county, after all. After the sale was over the Wyand brothers, John and Harry got after Ed. and bought the horse from him, giving Ed. a good round sum for his bargain.

On Monday E. S. Corser's teams came in after the new thresher and engine and some of them got frightened at the engine and for a few minutes made things very lively on the corner of Fourth and Main. They got down to business eventually however.

He's coming!- America's Greatest Comedian, John Thompson, with his comic play "A Huge Joke." And it is no reason why because John Thompson cannot whip John L. Sullivan that he should not have a crowded house. He deserves it and the people will see that he has one in this city.

Jake Francis excavated the cellar for Wm. Thune's new residence on Jerome's Addition.

Creamer & Collins last week sold a Giant thresher engine to E. S. Corser. They have been doing a lively business in farm machinery this summer.

Wm. Wylie was in from Black River last Friday. Says in his judgment the average yield of the Red River Valley has been largely over-estimated to the detriment of the farmers of the country who will have to suffer low prices in the start.

A. C. Schmidt, having finished papering masonic hall in the highest style of the art, tackled the new rooms of Wilkinson, Schmidt and O'Brien and has fixed them up too tony for anything. They will have the slickest suite in town.

The sale on Saturday was well attended, but the stock was sold at figures way down, the high bred character of the stock being taken into consideration. Had that stock been offered on a year's time it would have brought far nearer its true value, doubtless.

R. B. Gates has the contract for building Wm. Thune's new residence on Jerome's Addition, and with A. J. Arnold, has commenced operations. Mr. Thune has one of the finest lots on the new street, next Mat. Cornelius' residence, and will have one of the neatest residences on that handsome street.

I. I. Hillistad has been appointed postmaster at Fosston, in place of O. L. Larson, resigned. Mr. Larson has never failed to dish up unto Fosstonites their mail in due season, promptly and efficiently, and Mr. H. will not be remiss in that particular. He is one of Fosston's leading business men and a good deal of a politician.

Alex. Stevenson, representing Buell Sons, hardware, Pittsburgh, Pa., has been in the city this week in the interest of that firm. Alex. is one of the best boys who perambulate the Northwest. He visits this city regularly twice a year. Stevenson says he can do more business in Crookston every trip than in any two cities on his list.

While in the city last week editor Love, of the Hallock Enterprise attended the sale of stock at Brown's old stables and the sight of stallions up at auction proved too much for him. He bought a fine high grade Norman for $280. Thought as long as they were giving them away he might as well take advantage as anyone. Ed. knows a bargain when he sees it.

On Friday last, Minnie, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hoven aged 11 years, died of consumption. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon attended by a large number of friends of the family and the schoolmates of the little girl who brought flowers in token of their love for their lost companion. The remains were interred in Oakdale cemetery.

C. W. Palmer arrived last week from his home in Troy, N. Y., on his regular annual visit to Polk County to look after his interests here. He says that times back east have been the most stringent for many years, and he don't see much prospect of an early change. All who are inclined to grumble here should go east for consolation. A short time there would make them more than satisfied with life in the Valley of the Red.

$100,000 to loan.

JOHN McLEAN.

On Thursday last Herman Rasmusson, tinner for Cowing Bro., was united for life to Miss Emma Netzer, daughter of Joseph Netzer, at the residence of the bride's parents, the Rev. O. H. Elmer officiating. Miss Netzer has been a resident of Crookston from early childhood, coming with her parents from Wabasha in 1878, and is one of our most esteemed young ladies, while the groom, by faithful attention to business during the two years he has been here, has gained the respect of all with whom he has come in contact.

A Raid on the Blues,

Union and Advertiser, Rochester, N. Y.: If any person in Rochester doubts that there is a cure for the blues, he should have witnessed the "Great Artist" John Thompson last night in "A Huge Joke." There are a great many patent medicines that are supposed to cure all kinds of pains and aches. Thompson should come under this head, and guaranteed as an infallible cure. To see Thompson is to make you forget your debts. The play is as simple as A. B. C., as the audience are told of the ending before the play fairly begins. However surprises follow each other in rapid succession. The audience are not allowed time to think. Songs, dances and musical instruments are substituted for monotonous dialogue. Mr. Thompson is almost continually before the people, and by this the audience are spared the dullness which a large company of inferior people bring with it. During his absence the interim is ably filled by the Misses Nagle and Thompson in songs, duetts, piano and other solos. Mr. Thompson seems to retire for the purpose of reloading with more fun, as the audience explode, burst and split their sides on his appearance.

Tall Hustling.

One object of Ed. Love's visit to the city last week was to get a hired girl. After a diligent search of the city had revealed the fact that all were busy, he heard of one at Devil's Lake. Down he went to the telegraph office and soon got reply that she would be down on the evening train.

A SINGULAR AND FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Saturday night a singular accident happened in Beltrami County, about 12 miles from Fosston, by which Tosten Benson, a young man aged 24 years, lost his life. He had a valuable pine claim that he had lately proved up and, together with a young man named Mikkel Olson, was working for a farmer named Jewett, whose house was but a short distance from Benson's claim shanty, in which Benson and Olson slept, taking their meals at Jewett's. On Saturday night, after supper, young Benson took his rifle and went to his house as usual to retire for the night, and that is the last ever positively known of his movements. Very soon after he had gone, Jewett and Olson heard the report of a gun, followed by shouting, as if some one was in mortal agony. They ran to the house at once, Olson going up stairs where a lamp was burning and Jewett, (who is blind) remaining at the outside door below. While standing there he thought he heard labored breathing and called to Olson to come down. Bringing the lamp, Olson found the body of Benson in one corner of the room lifeless. The rifle was found lying upon the floor, discharged. Examination indicated that Benson had, upon his arrival, hung up his rifle on some nails in the floor joists, where he usually kept it, gone up stairs and began to make preparations for bed, as his coat was off, and his walking had jarred the rifle from the nails, which falling breech first, caused the hammer to strike a bench and discharge the contents through the floor, hitting Benson in the shoulder, passing through the neck into his head. He succeeded in getting down stairs before he fell and died. Mr. Benson was 24 years old, had been in Polk County for twelve years, living a few miles east of this city with his father. He has four brothers, all living here except one who lives in Dakota. Olson, as soon as he had properly cared for his unfortunate friend, came at once to this city and notified the relatives, and Erick at once returned with him to bring the body down, arriving with it on Tuesday's train. Mr. Benson was intending to come on that train to engage in harvesting at home, but how different that home-coming from what he had planned.

THEY SAY:

That the weather so far this week is unpropitious for harvesting.

That E. D. Childs will start the thresher on section nine, in Fairfax, the last of this week or first of next.

That E. C. Davis and Henry Nolan have taken the contract for the timber work on the D., C. & N. R. R.

That Horace Lucken will be time keeper on the D., C. & N. during the work of grading.

That Dan. O'Connor wrote the roast on the Grand Forks ball club in last issue of Times.

That I. Fortier returned last week and went to St. Paul.

That Doc. Henault has gone to Fargo again. He goes to attend the meeting of the Dental Association.

That everybody is figuring on the problem "to go or not to go" to Milwaukee. Many will decide in the affirmative.

That the work of cross-sectioning on the D., C. & N. R. R. will be completed this week, and next the surveyors will locate the line through the city.

That Prof. Carruth has got back into harness again as Supt. of Schools. He is holding teachers' examinations during the absence of Prof. Elliot. Sure, he takes to it as naturally as a duck to water.

That A. J. Bigham has disposed of his interests in Washington Territory and talks of returning to Polk County.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 20 Cts.

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

Walsh & Kennedy, who have the contract for grading the Crookston, Duluth & Northern R. R. from Fertile to this city opened an office in No. 4, McKinnon Block, last week, and at once advertised for 100 teams for grading. Fifteen miles of the road was sub-let before Saturday noon and the dirt will soon be flying all along the line. The contractors tell us that they intend to have the whole 26 miles graded and ready for the iron by October 1st. Cross-sectioning was begun as soon as the line reached the suburbs of the city. As soon as this work is completed so that the grading may be going on all along the line, the surveyors will go to work to find the best place for an entrance into the city. The track will follow the graders from the Fertile end as fast as the grade is completed.

In reference to the "Noss Family," which is to appear at the Opera House, in this city, on Thursday evening, Sept. 5th, the Kittanning (Penn.) Democrat and Sentinel says:

The Wonderful Noss Family gave another of their unparalleled instrumental, vocal and serio-comical entertainments to a crowded house last Saturday evening. When this gifted family were here one year ago, we thought there was no room for improvement; their performance giving universal satisfaction in their variety and their excellence; but we are free to admit that the entertainment on last Saturday evening excelled anything of the kind ever presented to our pleasure seeking people. Without disparagement to any of the older ones, we are justified in saying that the "petite" Bertha is a jewel and little Miss May is a star. The costumes of the family were very handsome and striking.

Fred Date came down from Mentor on Tuesday.

D. Jacobus reports having slain thirty birds on Tuesday.

Miss Alice Van Dyke returned from the lake on Tuesday evening's train.

Will Hall reports 5 chickens as the result of a few minute's hunt on Tuesday.

P. C. Schmidt gets judgment for $1,200 fees in the matter of the Keystone farm litigation.

Mrs. J. W. Wildt, of Faribault arrived last week on a visit to Mrs Casper Sands.

Geo. Tunell has been appointed subdeputy inspector for Crookston by Chief Inspector Clauson.

The new firm of Wilkinson, Schmidt & O'Brien are on deck in their new office, ready for business.

County Attorney Williams has moved his office into the building recently occupied by Atty P. C. Schmidt. With the sheriff, as usual.

On Tuesday morning Mrs. Rudolph Bruner presented Rudolph a candidate for the kid band. Rudolph stepped high when he went to practice that evening.

J. P. Marcum comes to the front on Tuesday with a 11 pound boy. Marcum is one of those sturdy Polk County grangers who does not pin his faith entirely to wheat.

I. U. Jennings returned from the lake on Tuesday wet as a drowned rat. He stopped at a deserted shanty this side of Dugdale and the city came near losing a good alderman from a fall down cellar.

Even the ladies caught the spirit of the age on Tuesday and took the field for the festive chicken. We know of one party who's team played out, obliging them to walk several miles in the mud and rain and then hire a farmer's team to bring them home. We will not give them away however.

In the matter of the State of Minnesota vs. M. R. Brown, to enforce the payment of taxes on real estate, involving the legality of the sewer assessment, Judge Mills decides that the entire proceedings of the city council in relation to that matter are in violation to the constitution, on the ground that no notice of assessment had ever been given, that the council never acquired any jurisdiction for the levying or assessment of the sewer tax, and that the council in no way complied with the charter of the city of Crookston, and intimates a doubt as to the constitutionality of the charter itself. If this is the right construction, all who have paid said assessments are entitled to recover. It strikes us that this is the charter that the city paid $200 for drafting.

If Not Why Not?

Have you given Attix & Co., a trial order for groceries? If not try one and see what they can do for you. If you want anything in the line of Dry Goods Yankee Notions or Groceries, call on Attix & Co., the Fifth ward merchants. [18-tf]

How He Fooled the Kid.

On Monday a gay and festive traveling man, after the labors of the day, thought he would have a bit of fun, so he engaged a team, borrowed a dog and gun, and took the field in quest of the unlawful chicken. Directly after reaching the field he started a covey and let drive. No sooner had he shot than he saw a nimble kid spring from a reaper at work in an adjoining field and skip for the scene of action. To the surprise of the kid no chicken had fallen, and our traveling man, seeing that the country was on deck for shooting chickens out out of season, left the field and returned to his hotel, a wiser though a sadder man. He says he don't want to shoot chickens in that kind of a country out of season.

For Sale.

A full blood Holstein heifer calf. Cheap if taken this week. For particulars address JOURNAL office.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

OPERA HOUSE!

August 26th and 27th, 1889.

AMERICA'S GREATEST ARTIST,

Mr. John Thompson,

Presenting his merry crew of Comic Characters in his original—beyond imitation and never to be forgotten—Protean Comedy entitled

A HUGE JOKE!

Sew your Buttons on tight.

People laugh until they shed tears.

Admission 25 and 50 cents. Reserved seats on sale at Tom Morris'.

Program for street serenade on Friday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, by the Crookston Cornet Band:

1st piece, Quickstep, "The 2d National Guard, New York," by D. W. Reeves.

2d, selection from Mikado, by Ferruzzi.

3d, Overture, "Brilliant," by Southwell.

4th, Galop, Comet, by Southwell.

5th, Overture, "P. T. Barnum's Grand Opening," by Brooks.

6th, Quick March, "Joyce's 71st Regiment," by T. P. Boyer.

7th, Knight Waltzes, by Knight.

8th, "Dear Ones Far Away," song and dance, by J. O. Casey.

9th, Cyclist Galop, by N. J. Spring.

MONEY TO LOAN.

I. U. Jennings is prepared to loan money on city and farm property. [18-tf]

Wilkinson, Schmidt & O'Brien

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN,

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk. District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the proceedings of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company, to acquire for its use the right of way over and through and the use of certain lands in Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice is hereby given to each and every person, corporation or party named in the following annexed copy of petition and to the owners, persons, parties or corporations owning or interested in any of the tracts, pieces, or parcels of land mentioned described or designated in said annexed copy of petition. That at the Court House, in the City of Moorhead, in Clay County, Minnesota, on the 11th day of September 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, a petition of which the following and annexed is a copy will be presented to the said District Court, and application made that the prayer of said petition be granted. (The "Exhibit A" referred to is on file with the petition in the office of the Clerk of the District Court, of Polk County, Minnesota.)

Dated August 20th 1889.

THE DULUTH, CROOKSTON AND NORTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY,

{Corporate Seal.} ROBERT J. MONTAGUE, President.

EDMUND M. WALSH, Secretary.

DeForest Bucklin, Attorney for Petitioner.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk. District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the proceedings of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company to acquire the right of way over and through and the use of certain lands in Polk County, Minnesota.

To the Honorable Judge of said District Court:

The Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company by this petition respectfully shows to this court.

1st. That said Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company is a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the general statutes of the State of Minnesota.

2d. That Robert J. Montague is the President and Edmund M. Walsh is the Secretary of said corporation.

3d. That the object and business of said corporation is to build, operate and maintain certain lines of railroad in said State as its officers may direct.

4th. That said corporation is about to build, complete, maintain and operate a line of railroad from a point on the line of the Duluth and Manitoba Railroad, in said county, at the Village of Fertile, and thence extending in a northwesterly direction to and into the City of Crookston, in said county; that in so building, operating and maintaining said line of railroad it will be necessary for said corporation to acquire the right of way over certain lands in said county, which lands are hereinafter described, and to use them for spur-tracks, side-tracks, depots, switches, turnouts, stations, warehouses, yards, watertanks, and other appurtenances of said railroad; said right of way to be used by said corporation in so building, maintaining and operating said line of railroad.

5th. That the public interests require that such railroad be built, maintained and operated.

6th. The description of said lands and the names of the owners, encumbrancers, and persons having an interest therein, as far as the names of such persons can be ascertained by your petitioner by examination of the public records, by view of the premises, by diligent inquiry on said premises and in the vicinity thereof, and other inquiries, are as follows:

A strip of land 100 feet wide, being 50 feet wide on each side of the centre line of the main track of said railroad, where the same is now located and staked out through and across each of the following described pieces of land.

In township 147 north, of range 44 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The northeast quarter of section 17, owner Stanley Sanford, encumbrancer The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The southeast quarter section 8, owner Lydia S. Burdick, encumbrancer D. S. B. Johnston Land Mortgage Company.

The south half of the northwest quarter of section 8, owner W. G. Wheeler.

In township 148 north, of range 45 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The east half of the southeast quarter of section 36, owners Sven Kourus, State of Minnesota.

The southeast quarter of section 26, owner Sam Olson, encumbrancers John H. Hill, Nichols Shepard and company.

The southwest quarter of section 26, owner Colben Thorsen, encumbrancer New England Mortgage Security Company.

The northwest quarter of section 23, owners Andrias Hagberg, John Rougen, encumbrancers Eleaner E. Wilmerding, F. W. Dunton.

The southeast quarter of section 22, owner William J Hurst, encumbrancer John Tapley.

The southeast quarter of section 8, owner F. T. Day, encumbrancer John Hoffman.

The northeast quarter of section 8, owner Tollof Carlson.

The northwest quarter of section 8, owner Ole A. Olson.

The southeast quarter of section 6, owner F. T. Day, encumbrancer John H. Van Dyke.

The northeast quarter of section 1, in township 148 north, of range 46 west, in Polk County, Minnesota, owner Estine B. Durdall, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The southwest quarter of section 30, in township 149 north, of range 45 west, in Polk County, Minnesota, owner Alanson Moore, encumbrancer The Colonial and United States Mortgage Company, (Limited).

In township 149 north, of range 46 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The southwest quarter of section 24, owner Lemuel S. Horton, encumbrancer James W. Massey.

The southwest quarter of section 14, owner Peter J. McGuire, encumbrancer American Mortgage Company, of Scotland, (Limited).

The east half of the southeast quarter of section 15, owner P. J. McGuire, encumbrancer the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The northwest quarter of section 15, owner Peter Cornelius, encumbrancer The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The southeast quarter of section 9, owner Martin E. Bartlett, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northeast quarter of section 9, owner H. E. Cooke, encumbrancer, The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northeast quarter of section 8, owner Caleb J. Camp.

The southeast quarter of section 5, owner Christopher Houston.

The southwest quarter of section 5, owner Henry A. Stone, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northwest quarter of section 5, owner Samuel Greenhalgh, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

Also a strip of land 200 feet wide extending across the southwest quarter of section 22, in township 148 north, of range 45 west, in Polk county, being 50 feet on the northeast side and 150 feet on the southwest side of the centre of the main line of said railway, where the same is now surveyed and staked out, over said land, owner The American Mortgage Company of Scotland, (Limited).

For a further and more definite description of said lands and to show more clearly the location of said railroad, the annexed plat marked Exhibit "A" is hereby made a part of this petition. Your petitioner prays this Court to appoint three competent, disinterested persons as commissioners to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made to the owners of the lands herein described and to all tenants, encumbrancers and others interested therein for the taking or injuriously affecting such land and real estate.

Dated August 20th, 1889.

THE DULUTH, CROOKSTON AND NORTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ROBERT J. MONTAGUE, President.

{CORPORATE SEAL.} EDMUND M. WALSH, Secretary.

DE FOREST BUCKLIN, Attorney for Petitioner.

C. O. D. COLUMN.

GREAT BOOT SALE!

We are going to close out our Entire Boot Stock. Everything must go!

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE PRICES

$5.00	BOOTS	$3.75	$3.75	BOOTS	$2.75
$4.50	"	$3.25	$3.50	"	$2.25
$4.00	"	$3.00	$3.00	"	$2.00

Plow Boots $1.50 and $1.75.

C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

Largest Establishment in the Northwest.

"A Huge Joke."

Thompson's "Merry Crew." All comical characters will be here, August 26th and 27th. More fun to the square inch than any ten companies in America. Thompson's talent cannot be imported. America is the only place they raise it. Its America.

State Teachers' Institute.

An Institute for the County of Polk will be held at Crookston, during the week commencing Monday, September 2d, 1889.

The State will provide efficient instructors, who will be furnished with such professional books, apparatus and material as have been thoroughly tested and found to be of special service to teachers. They will make the Common School Manual the basis of their work, and a considerable portion of the time will be devoted to bringing out the best manner of using the text-books which have been recently added to the State series. Great pains will be taken to make the instruction pointed and in the highest degree practical, including the management and grading of schools and the teaching of common school branches.

One evening will be devoted to a lecture by some good speaker; another to literary exercises under the care of the conductor. The literary exercises this year will be of a character to stimulate patriotism; and the time set aside for them has been properly named "An American Evening."

Teachers who take a proper interest in their calling, and who desire by self-improvement to advance to higher positions, will be present at the opening Monday afternoon and remain till Friday evening.

All schools can be legally closed during institute week at the request of the teachers or the County Superintendent.

The institute will be in charge of the superintendent, who will make all required arrangements for its success, as well as for the accomodation of teachers, who are requested to give him early notice of their intention to be present, that he may provide board for all at the lowest rates.

D. L. KIEHLE,
Supt. Public Instructions.

E. F. ELLIOT,
County Superintendent.

The following conversation was overheard in the Ballard House, Richmond, Va.:

Friend: Hello Colonel where have you been all night?

Colonel: I have been to the theatre to see John Thompson.

Friend: How was the performance?

Colonel: How was it! I wouldn't go again for a thousand dollars.

Friend: Another fraud, eh?

Colonel: No, quite the reverse. That man Thompson has made me sore, nearly all those comedy companies advertise they have something funny, but when you see them they are not a bit funny. Thompson is the funniest man I ever saw on the stage. First I smiled, then a broad grin, then I ha-ha'd like a country gawk, then I roared, then I yelled. I had to stick my handkerchief in my mouth; I was all doubled up; my eyes filled with tears; I couldn't see him; but I could hear him; he kept right on. The people around me were about in the same condition, some fell over each other. I had a stitch in my side; I got up and made for the door; the door tender wanted me to come back and get a check. I told him I had my seventy-five cents worth.

I. U. Jennings, of Crookston, Minn., is agent for the sale of swamp lands for the northwest. [1-tf]

For Sale or to Trade.

One yoke of fine young oxen. Will sell for cash, good paper trade for colt, sheep or anything else that has a market value. Call on or address M. Leguee, Crookston, Minn. [16-tf]

FOR SALE.

A new milch cow. Apply to W. O. Wilson.

Money to loan in large or small sums on good farms. Choice farms and city property for sale. CHAS. M. LOW, [17-tf] Broadway, Crookston.

REPAIRS

For the Massillon Thresher and the Minneapolis self-binder. Also handle the Minneapolis self-binder. See Collins, at Collins' Livery Stable. [15-22]

For Sale Cheap.

3 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.
1 Champion Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Warehouse Truck.
1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.
1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.
1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.
1 Feed Cutter.
1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.
1 Wagon, complete.
1 Single Harness.
20 gallons Machine Oil.
4 good Milch Cows.
3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

For Rent,

Six room house on Houston avenue Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

The Pillagers Won't Sign.

A message from the Red Lake reservation, says: The council held August 12th by the Chippewa commission with the Pillagers brought matters to a focus The first speaker who addressed the commission rehashed the grievances under former treaties. The second speaker was the Indian who murdered the well known chief Hole-in-the-Day some years ago for signing a treaty. In behalf of the Pillagers he announced that the bands of Leech Lake, Cass Lake, and Lake Winnebagoshish had bound themselves together; that the old grievances must all be disposed of before they would consider the new proposition, and that the first Indian who touched the pen to sign the agreement would be immediately immersed under the waters of the lake. The result of the negotiations is therefore rather problematical.

The Mille Lacs Indians.

Brainerd Dispatch.

The Indian question is one that seems to be interesting the government at the present time to quite an extent, and it is a question which can be discussed frequently without any injury to the parties concerned. The Mille Lacs Indians are the source of considerable annoyance to the government and a vast deal of annoyance to the settlers in that fertile region and the sooner they are emoved to the White Earth reservation where they will be under police surveillance the better it will be for the red man and a thousand times more so for the white settlers in the Mille Lacs country. With their removal the reservation would be thrown open to settlement and a vast amount of valuable farming and timber lands would be made available which lies now a wilderness of no earthly use except for a few vagabond Indians to roam. These worthless Indians are a nuisance and they retard the growth and development of the counties joining the reservation, besides being of no benefit to any one except a few unprincipled rum sellers. They should be removed to the White Earth reservation at once, and we have no doubt but that every citizen in Crow Wing County would sign a petition to that effect the same as they have in Mille Lacs County.

The Farmer as a Political Force.

Amelia Louise Smith, in N. Y. Tribune.

Politics, like charity, may well begin at home in one's own school district. See that the officers are lawfully elected, that they are fit for the service, that third grade teachers do not receive first grade wages and vice versa; that the training of the farmer's own and his neighbor's children be not entrusted to undisciplined, careless teachers, who seek the office only for the money. Next, for the officers of the town let him choose thoroughly efficient, honest men, irrespective of party; let him see that no men unfit to govern themselves are ever given power to control the interests of a township. Better let an old, tried officer serve for a lifetime than be at the mercy of a dishonest man. Then follow county, state and national elections. Here too, let the farmer protect his own interests, and he serves his country well. Oh, no; the farmer is not a mudsill; he is the strong foundation upon which the whole fair structure of a nation rests and finds its prosperity.

What the Best Business Men Do.

Kasson Republican: Good goods, properly advertised, will always bring golden returns. The fall campaign will soon open. Plant your advertisements early. Spasmodic spurts are like squally rains. They subside and do but little good. But the gentle and continuous rain is what saturates the earth and brings forth luxuriant vegetation. So it is with advertising. The best business men are usually good advertisers.

Venus and Tannhauser.

It has been decided by the State Agricultural Society to make Saturday Sept. 7th a children's day, on which all children under 12 years of age, and accompanied by parents and guardians, will be admitted free. This is for children of the state. The special attractions will be for the children from 11 to 1 o'clock, when there will be exciting pony races, and the genuine Texan Vaqueros in their novel and wonderful performances, and ten full-blooded Chippewa Indians. The children will be taken care of on the grounds by competent officers, and everything will be done to make the occasion a memorable one. In connection with the management of the Art department it might be stated that Mr. R. C. Munger spent four months in Paris at the Exposition, as agent for this society, and while there met the Sultan of Turkey and received from him many valuable hints in regard to the hanging in paintings at the State Fair. The loveliest gem of the Art collection, and the most wonderful painting ever brought into the Northwest, will be Mr. Julius Kessler's painting, "Venus and Tannhauser." It represents the soul-touching parting scene between the German bard of the Harts Mountains and the beautiful queen of love. The painting cost $5,000, and is as large as one side of an ordinary room.

The Tariff on Sugar.

Princeton Union: We believe in a tariff that will build up American industries and give employment to American workingmen. But we do not believe in a tariff on one of the necessities of life, that benefits only a few Louisiana planters, fosters a plundering trust and robes the people; hence we are opposed to the tariff on sugar. Now let us see about this sugar tariff. The vaunted Mills bill proposed a reduction of the sugar tax from 82 per cent. to 68 per cent. Representative Dingley (Rep.,) of Maine, offered an amendment making it 41 per cent. Every Republican in the house with two exceptions voted for the amendment. The Democrats in the house voted solidly against the amendment. The Republicans in congress even offered to put sugar on the free list, but no such proposition emanated from the Democrats. The reduction of the duty on sugar, proposed by the Republicans would have amounted to more in the aggregate than the reduction on all other commodities proposed by the Mills bill. Furthermore, we will never vote for a congressional candidate be he Republican or Democrat, who is not pledged to use his best endeavors to have sugar put on the free list. It is our Democratic brethren who are troubled with "weakness of spine."

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

Political Advertising.

The Northfield News.

President Stephens, of the Missouri Press Association, recently made a very just statement of the proper relation of the ideal newspaper to political candidates: "From the individual standpoint the man who wants votes stands in the same relation to a newspaper as a man who wants business. The candidate who seeks office has no greater claims upon the columns of a newspaper than a merchant who seeks customers. The idea of the local politician, seized with a passion for place, that the local editor is under a patriotic obligation to puff him into fame and fortune, prevalent though it may be, is equally absurd as would be the notion of an insurance agent that the editor was called upon to use his type, ink and paper without compensation to advertise his business for the benefit he would be doing society. Yet a failure to understand this fact subjects the country editor to endless annoyance and a frequent perversion of his position as publisher. Thus the country newspaper press has passed largely into a machine for grinding out statesmen. The statesmen go into it small politicians and come out great men. Nothing is more nauseating to the public. It brings the newspaper into contempt and invokes upon it enmity and criticism. It converts what should be an exponent of sentiment into a personal organ. It rarely gets in return even the gratitude of the beneficiary, who takes it rather as a deserved tribute to his merit than a voluntary and selfsacrificing generosity. The way to remedy this evil is to charge the candidate regular advertising rates for whatever is published about him, being careful to put such notices in such form that they will be understood to be advertisements and not editorial puffs. The editorial puffs of a newspaper should be unpurchased and unpurchasable. They are absolutely distinct from the business departments and should be sacredly preserved. An editor in fact violates a moral right when he uses his editorial position as a vehicle of personal favor spite. If there is any place on earth to which the people should look for an honest, wise, fearless and truthful guidance along the lines of public duty, uncolored by personal prejudice and untainted by dishonor, it is to the editorial columns of of a newspaper. They should be hallowed ground and the seal of condemnation and scorn should be determinedly set upon those pirates and buccaneers of our profession who barter them for gain. When, in his judgment, the public good demands it, the editor may with the utmost propriety advocate a particular man for position, but he must do it as a duty to the community and not to the individual; and the conclu- that he must become the mouthpiece of every supplicant for place is a perversion of journalism and a discredit to the profession.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees. Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash-seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon. Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE 16 INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.

Second Street,

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot ot a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

CARLETON COLLEGE,

NORTHFIELD, MINN.

FALL TERM opens Sept. 4th, 1889.

THE COURSES ARE

Classical, Literary, Scientific, English-Academy and Musical.

Besides Preparatory and Post-Graduate studies: Instruction given in Drawing and Painting. Special facilities for study in Pure Mathematics and Astronomy.
Extensive Chemical and Biological Laboratories.
Open to students of either sex.
Expenses very low.
For Catalogues and Circulars address.

(16-18) JAS. W. STRONG, President.

THE NEW CLEVELAND HOUSE,

Is now ready for the reception of guests. I have just completed the addition, thoroughly renovated, papered and painted, and am now ready to welcome old guests and new to a comfortable, home-like hotel. House convenient to all business places.

☞ Give the New Cleveland House a call.

H. BURKHARDT, Prop.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.

Everything neat and nobby.

Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's

SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

☞ A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

—IN THE—

Farmers Own Company!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - Minnesota.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital	$200,000
Paid in Capital	50,000
Surplus	2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C.O. Christianson,	Crookston
O. H. Lucken,	"
Lewis Ellington,	"
A. G. Gallasch,	"
T. J. Thorsen,	"
Max Ericsson,	"
A. D. Stephens,	"
E. P. Pierce,	"
J. H. Locken,	"
Carl Hendricksen,	Grafton.
A. E. Johnson.	St. Paul.

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

D. D. WILLIAMS,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COUNTY ATTORNEY,

OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,

CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Com's'r.
D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and counselors at Law,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security.

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

—THE ONLY—

Vestibuled Trains
NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

—THE—

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO.
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED
EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
6:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:15 "	Pembin	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
CHAS. S. FEE, Grand Forks.
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk. 14th Judicial District.

John Cromb, Plaintiff, vs. Arthur T. Moore and Catherine J. Moore, Defendants.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the Plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of ninety dollars, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 1st day of January A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated Aug. 13th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[17-23] Pl'ff's Att'y, Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 17th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of her intention to make final proof in support of her claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 23d, 1889, viz: HENRIETTE LOURIN, D. S., 11.024, for the e½ ne¼ and e½ se¼ S. 19, T. 149, R. 44. She names the following witnesses to prove her continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John T. Farden, Theo. Durocher, J. W. McNaulty and A. J. Northholm, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[17-23] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 20th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that LORENZO DAVIS has filed notice of intention to make final proof before U. S. Land office at their office in Crookston, Minn., on the 17th day of October, 1889, on timber culture application No. 208, for the w½ ne¼ and e½ nw¼ quarter of Section No. 18, in Township No. 149, Range No. 47. He names as witnesses: Ole Stokke, B. C. Jorgensen, J. B. Roome and J. J. Ide, all of Crookston, Minn.

[14-19] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Lee & Herrick. Against. Alice B. Kratka.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Lee & Herrick and against Alice B. Kratka. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit: Lots ten (10) eleven (11) twelve (12) and thirteen (13,) of block fifty-nine (59,) of the townsite of Thief River Falls, according to recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alice B. Kratka in and to the above described property, to satisfy judgment and costs, amounting to ninety-six dollars and 35 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the fourth day of June 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 22, 1889.

Proceedings of City Council.

REGULAR MEETING HELD AUGUST 20, 1889.

President Watts in the chair.

Members present, Aldermen Lally, Childs, Morrisey, Walter, Buhn, Bjoin, Marlette and Jerome.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and amended to read that the petition of A. Bancroft and others for a public well be referred to the Aldermen of the 5th ward. The minutes, as so amended, were, on motion, approved.

The committee appointed on extension of water mains in the city reported progress and asked for further time to report, which was granted.

The committee on repairing lockup reported verbally, which was accepted and committee discharged.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that the sum of seventy-five dollars, or the sum that may be necessary to dig a public well in the 5th ward, be allowed. Carried.

The report of the City Comptroller was presented. Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Lally, that the report be accepted as recommended, and the City Attorney was instructed to ascertain for what purpose bonds six to ten inclusive, of series No. one to thirty, issued June, 1885, were issued, and to report on same at next regular meeting. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Buhn, that a committee of two be appointed, consisting of the City Attorney and City Engineer, to investigate the matter of private parties using the water leading to the stock yards and giving the above committee power to act. Carried.

A communication from Cowing Bros. requesting that they be given the privilege of building a hay scale in front of their store, was, on motion, granted as requested.

A petition was received from Elizabeth Slater for abatement of taxes on lot 5, block 2.

Moved by Alderman Lally, seconded by Alderman Childs, that the petition of Elizabeth Slater be granted, and that a refunding order be drawn for the amount of taxes due on said lot. Carried.

The petition of J. A. Bemis and others requesting that an electric light be put on the corner of Broadway and Second street was referred to Aldermen Lally, Morrisey, Buhn and Steenerson.

The petition of the City Engineer with reference to grades, was accepted:

The report of the committee on poor was accepted.

Moved by Alderman Buhn, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that Alderman Morrisey, the Comptroller and Overseer of the Poor, act as a standing committee on poor, and that they shall report to the council at every regular meeting. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that the bill of C. P. Cahoon, amounting to $135.96, being balance due for grading Robert street in Jerome's Addition, be allowed. Carried.

The bills of M. Van Dyke and C. E. Dampier were referred to Aldermen Walter, Jerome and Bjoin, to report on same at the regular meeting.

The report of the finance committee was accepted and adopted, and the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

C. P. Cahoon, for grading Robert street, balance due	$135 96
C. E. Vanarsdale, copying ordinances	3 00
F. X. Farley, Medical attendance	8 50
A. A. Glenn, clerk of election	2 00
G. W. Lewis, Justice fees	1 90
H. E. Cooke, printing	10 15
G. H. Holt, special police	8 00
H. E. Cooke, printing	89 65
John Paterson, mortgage record,	13 50
E. Asselin, merchandise	8 00
F. L. Durand, "	8 10
J. H. Creighton, draying	2 25
M. B. Hayes, poor fund	13 00
M. B. Hayes, paid for special police	17 50
Aldermen—various wards	112 00
Hack & Gallasch, mdse	6 88
Red River Lumber Co., lumber,	69 18
O. L. Hamery, paid for labor	86 75
" " " "	18 75
" " " "	55 12
" " " "	14 25
" " " "	11 93
" " " "	8 25
" " " "	23 50
G. W. Lewis, mdse	8 60
Dan McDonald, witness fees	1 12

On motion council adjourned.

JOHN PATERSON, Clerk.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER, 20 Cts.
Delivered at any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

VALLEY ROLLER MILLS.
RETAIL PRICES.

Best	$3.25	per 98 lbs
North Star	3.00	" " "
Fife	2.75	" " "
Skip Jack	1.75	" " "

[7-tf] LEE & HERRICK.

For Rent,

Six room house on Houston avenue Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

Teachers Examination.

The regular fall examinations for Polk County will occur as follows:

At the Central School Building, in Crookston, August 19th and 20th.

At the School House, in East Grand Forks, August 19th and 20th.

At the School House, in Red Lake Falls, Aug. 20th and 21st.

At the School House, in Fosston, Aug. 20th and 21st.

The examinations in Crookston and East Grand Forks will begin at 9 a. m.; in Red Lake Falls and Fosston at 1 p. m. of the first day.

All teachers holding third grade certificates received last sping at the regular public examinations can have those certificates renewed for another six months work by sending them to the county superintendent.

All second grade certificates issued last spring, and limited to to six months on account of deficiency in Civil Government, will be extended until the spring examination upon request for same.

Dated at Crookston, this 30th day of July, 1889.

EZRA F. ELLIOT,
County Supt.

A Good Farm for Sale.

Do you want to buy a good farm, with good cows, horses and machinery, all ready for business, including a good growing crop? We have heard of such a place that could be purchased at a bargain as the owner desires to engage in other business elsewhere. If you mean business call at or address THE JOURNAL before Aug. 15th. [12-17]

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky.) He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdyk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

W. A. ROBERTSON.
D. D. S.

Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL

DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 1st, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five thousand seventy-eight and 90-100 dollars, ($5,078.90-100,) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Carl Kretzschmar and Anna Kretzschmar his wife mortgagors to Wm. M. Ross of Crookston, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of January A. D. 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 28th day of January A. D. 1885, at 9:15 o'clock a. m., in book "U" of mortgages, on pages 210 to 212 inclusive, and

Whereas the said Wm. M. Ross, mortgagee, for value received, on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly assigned the aforesaid note and mortgage, and the debt secured thereby to the Merchants' National Bank, of Crookston, which said assignment was in writing under seal, duly witnessed and acknowledged, and thereafter on the 22d day of July A. D. 1889, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said Polk County, in book "45" of mortgages on pages 575 and 576, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered three (3,) four (4,) eight (8,) nine (9) and ten (10,) in block two (2,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block three (3,) lots seven (7,) eight (8) and nine (9,) in block four (4,) lots nine (9,) ten (10) and eleven (11,) in block five (5,) lots three (3,) four (4) and ten (10,) in block six (6,) lots six (6,) seven (7) and eight (8,) in block seven (7,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block ten (10,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block eleven (11,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block twelve (12,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirteen (13,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block fourteen (14,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four inclusive, in block fifteen (15,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block sixteen (16,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block seventeen (17,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block eighteen (18,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block nineteen (19,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty (20,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-one (21,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-two (22,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, in block twenty-three (23,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-six (26,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-seven (27,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block thirty (30,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirty-one (31,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block thirty-two (32,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block thirty-three (33) lots sixteen (16,) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18,) in block thirty-four (34,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, and lots twenty-two (22,) twenty-three (23) and twenty-four (24,) in block thirty-five (35,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, and lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block thirty-eight (38,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-five (55,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6) and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-eight (58,) lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, and twenty-five (25) to thirty-two (32) inclusive, in block sixty-five (65,) lots one (1) to eight (8) inclusive, and lots seventeen (17) to twenty-four (24,) in block sixty-six (66.) All in the townsite of Thief River Falls, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 21st day of September A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 25th 1889.

THE MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK of Crookston,
Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee.
[15-21] Crookston, Minn.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Anthony Kelly & Co., Against. Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Anthony Kelly & Co., and against Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit; Lot fifteen (15,) of block five (5,) L. Fletcher's addition to Crookston, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said County of Polk, excepting a strip twenty-five feet wide along the north end of said lot. And that I shall on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to eleven hundred eighty dollars and 43 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 29th day of July 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

IT PAYS
TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,
CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS
OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

—ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.—

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE,
Physician and Surgeon,
Office corner of Main and Second Streets,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office on Second Street, Crookston.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank,
☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF
COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
WILL BE OPEN
EVERY SATURDAY.
OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods,
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRICES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS
IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

D. H. BATES,
—DEALER IN—

Lumber, Building Paper,
PAINTS, OILS,
DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED
MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,
(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)
AND THE CELEBRATED
WINONA PLOWS
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

SPRING MILLINERY
NOW ARRIVING AT

MRS. E. E. BANGS.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY STORE!

☞ The Ladies are Cordially Invited to Call and Examine Goods and Prices

MRS. E. E. BANGS, Second Street.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS OLE N. WIKER AND MARGET Wiker, his wife as mortgagors did on the first day of August A. D. 1887 duly execute and deliver to Caroline C. Moulton, of the County of Chittenden, and State of Vermont, as mortgagee their mortgage, bearing date of July 11th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section five (5,) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153,) Range forty-four (44,) containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the third day of August A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "37" of mortgages on page 18, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of eighteen and 78-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of forty dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed, that then, and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas Caroline C. Moulton, the mortgagee has exercised her option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred eighty-four and 80-100 dollars and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 26th day of August A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

CAROLINE C. MOULTON,
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[13-18] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication July 11th, 1889.]

WHEREAS, HANS KITTELSON AND Marthine Kittelson, his wife, as mortgagors, did, on the 19th day of May, 1887, duly execute and deliver to Austin Corbin, Trustee, of the County of New York and State of New York, as mortgagee, their mortgage, bearing date of April 29th A. D. 1887, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seventeen, (17) Township one hundred and fifty-three (153) Range forty-three (43), containing one hundred forty-six and 25-100 acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred and fifty dollars, with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached, bearing even date with said mortgage and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Polk, in Book 27 of mortgages, on page 411; and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-three and 69-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the 1st day of January, A. D. 1888, and in the further sum of sixty-five dollars due as interest thereon on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due; and

Whereas, it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his assigns, to consider the whole sum thereby secured as immediately due and payable without notice to said mortgagors or any other party; and

Whereas, Austin Corbin, Trustee, mortgagee, has exercised his option to consider and declare and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and

Whereas, there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred two and 95-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 9th, A. D. 1889.

AUSTIN CORBIN, Trustee, Mortgagee.

JOHN CROMB, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[12-18] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Aug. 22d, 1889.]

WHEREAS ZENAPHILE ROCK AND Christina Rock, his wife, as mortgagors, did on the 17th day of November A. D. 1886, duly execute and deliver to A. J. McCosh of the County of New York and State of New York as mortgagee, their mortgage bearing date of November ninth A. D. 1886, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The northwest quarter of Section nine (9,) Township one hundred and forty-nine (149,) Range forty-three (43) west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached bearing even date with said mortgage, and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, or order, which said mortgage was on the 17th day of November A. D. 1886, at 4 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "27" of mortgages on page 253, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-seven and 40-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of forty-two dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and the said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his heirs and assigns to consider and declare the whole sum secured thereby as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas A. J. McCosh, mortgagee has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of seven hundred twenty-six and 40-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county and state on the fifth day of October A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated August 14th A. D. 1889.

A. D. McCOSH,
Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[18-21] Crookston, Minn.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Minn.

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA. AUGUST 29, 1889. NO. 19.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ Inch	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

MINNESOTA WHEAT GRADES.

New Grades Recommended by Inspector Clausen--Old Rules will Prevail.

St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Evidently everyone interested in the grain trade is well satisfied with the present grades established by the railroad and warehouse commissioners, and known as "Minnesota grades," as no one accepted the invitation to attend yesterday's meeting of the commission, and suggest any changes desired in the grades or rules. The grades were originally established in 1885, and have continued ever since with but few amendments, so that it may be said, as Gen. Becker remarked yesterday, that they have established themselves in the confidence of those who use the grain as well as those who raise it; and no important or radical changes should be make without urgent need and careful inquiry.

Chief Grain Inspector Clausen presented some recommendations regarding the establishment of new grades of "Northern white wheat," to be applied to white wheat coming from Washington, Idaho and Montana, and to change the rule regarding No. 3 oats and No. 3 rye so as to read "slightly damp" or "slightly musty," etc. Mr. Clausen said:

The new grades of white wheat seem to be imperatively demanded, in view of the fact that there perceptibly a large increase in the receipts over the past year of wheat grown in Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Washington at the terminal points of Minneapolis and Duluth. While there are a number of varieties of this class of grain, it is all practically of the same milling value, and possessing similar characteristics, being of a white color and possessing more or less gluten in its composition, being in this respect superior to the white winter wheats of more southern latitudes. Our grades of spring and winter wheat are not, therefore, applicable to the class of wheat in question, and the inspection department has for the past crop season suffered more or less embarrasment in its attempts to properly classify this class of wheat. In the absence of specific grades, we have placed this grain in our white winter grades. This has led to more or less criticism, as it has been claimed by many that the wheat is spring sown, and cannot, therefore, be properly classified as winter wheat, while others maintain almost as emphatically that it is winter sown wheat. A thorough investigation of the subject developes the fact that the seeding is done anywhere from January to May in each year, thus apparently vindicating the claim of both sides to the controversy. Another fact developed is that, whether winter or spring sown, there is no appreciable difference in the appearance, quality or milling value of the different classes, and it would seem advisable, under the circumstances, to waive the question of distinction as to the matter of time sown, and place it all in one general class or grade of white wheat. No other market in the country has a grade of this kind, the nearest approach to it being "the California white," and the designation of northern white would not only fitly characterize this superiority of the grain, but would tend to place upon it a specific value in accordance with its merits, and could not but result in fostering and building up an increased business between the terminal markets of Minnesota and the western shippers. In recommending a general inspection of non-warehouseable grade as "no grade," I do so with the object of securing a uniform classification of any and all grain that is "out of condition" and unfit for store. Under present rules we have this classification in connection with some kinds of grain, and not with others. I would suggest the elimination or rules for "no grade" corn and spring wheat and the substitution of one general rule or classification to be called "no grade grain," and to cover any and all classes of grain unfit for store.

No other suggestions being received Commissioners Becker and Gibbs announced that the grades would not be established for a few days, until Commissioner Williams could be present. They will be fixed, however, before Sept. 1, and it is understood that no changes will be made, except those suggested by Mr. Clausen, so that the grades and rules for the coming year will be such as have formerly obtained, with the following additions:

NORTHERN WHITE WHEAT.

No. 1 Northern white wheat shall be sound, well cleaned, plump, and composed of the northern varieties of white wheat.

No. 2 Northern white shall be sound, reasonably clean, and composed of the northern varieties of white wheat.

No. 3 Northern white shall comprise all northern white wheat fit for warehousing, weighing not less than fifty-four pounds to the measured bushel, and not sound enough or otherwise unfit for the higher grades.

Rejected Northern white shall be northern white wheat, fit for warehousing, but not fit for higher grades.

NO GRADE.

No grade grain shall comprise any and all grain that is in a heating condition, too musty or too damp to be safe for warehousing, or that is bin burnt, exceedingly dirty or otherwise unfit for store.

It will also be provided that No. 3 oats shall be all oats that are slightly damp, slightly musty, unsound, dirty, or for any other cause unfit for No. 2. The same provision is to be made as to No. 3 rye.

The Duluth & Winnipeg.

DULUTH, Special, to Pioneer Press, Aug. 19.—The Duluth & Winnipeg will soon establish an office in this city, and in December the headquarters of the road will be opened here. Dec. 15 regular trains will be running on the road between Duluth and the Mississippi River. It is thought that next year a cut-off will be built a few miles above Cloquet, materially lessening the distance to this city. Duluth merchants have made arrangements for supplying the men along the line of work. There is plenty of money raised to build the road to the Mississippi without selling bonds, and negotiations are completed for the sale of bonds to finish the line to the Red River Valley after the division to Itasca is built.

Duluth Tribune: There seems to be a growing suspicion throughout the state that Senator Washburn and Secretary Windom have entered into an alliance to control the federal appointments in Minnesota, with the view to displace Senator Davis in 1893, and secure the election of Mr. Windom in his place. The Tribune does not believe it, notwithstanding the fact that the manner in which the secretary of the treasury is manipulating the appointments within his gift would seem to lend color to such an inference. There is no doubt that Mr. Windom would be pleased to take a seat in the senate from Minnesota, when in three or four years he shall be relieved of the duties of secretary of the treasury; but he is too old a politician and too wise a man to make a "combine," the discovery of which would defeat even the exceedingly misty and remote chance he now has of future political honors from this state. Mr. John Douglas, who is a brother-in-law to Mr. Windom, recently came out in a communication denying that there was any combination between that gentleman and Senator Washburn, but he took great pains not to dwell too much upon the manner in which his relative was playing with the treasury appointments in Minnesota. The fact stands out, so that he who runs may read that Senator Davis has no influence with the present administration so far as the secretary of the treasury is concerned. The motive behind this fact may be either revenge for past offenses—for Mr. Windom rarely forgives an enemy—or it may be the lingering hope that he may possibly succeed to Senator Davis' seat when the latter's time shall expire—or it may be a combination of both motives, mixed with the modest but pronounced cussedness which all of Mr. Windom's friends know to be a predominating ingredient in his mental make-up. But Mr. Windom can never succeed Cushman K. Davis in the United States Senate, so long as Mr. Davis lives, has his faculties and wishes to retain the seat. His election was one of the very few modern instances wherein high talent and perfect rectitude and manliness were spontaneously recognized in the election of a United States Senator. He was not the first choice of the politicians of the corporations, or of the monetary classes, but he was the spontaneous and instinctive choice of the masses of the people. During his long residence in the state thoughtful and patriotic men had gradually learned that Gov. Davis was a man pre-eminently to be trusted. Gifted with high scholarly attainments, and with all the elements of a great author, he was yet the furtherest removed from a demagogue or a place hunter. Recognizing his great qualities, the people throughout the state rose in their might in 1886, and all over the state made the test squarely, sending men to the legislature upon the one issue—the solemn pledge to support Cushman K. Davis for United States Senator. Three years from this fall, if no untoward accident occurs, the same people will take the same action, and Mr. Davis will probably be returned to the seat he has demonstrated his ability to fill, practically without opposition. The clock of Mr. Windom's earthly greatness has probably recorded the mark of high 12.

Pioneer Press: Styles R. Nettleton, brother of Gen. A. B. Nettleton, and recently appointed special agent of the treasury department, left last night for the Island of St. George in Behring Straits, Alaska, where he will watch over the government's seal fishing interests.

Indian Civilization.

The St. Paul Dispatch.

In view of the many commissions negotiating with the Indians in various parts of the country this year, the change in our methods of dealing with the aboriginies cannot fail to strike the thoughtful observer. In the place of bloody battle-fields we have conference meetings. Where once the wild war cry resounded we have the "talk" of red and white counselors. The sentiment of giving the Indian a chance for his peaceful existence has been of slow growth, and time has been necessary to allow us to forget the atrocities which the pioneer has suffered at his hands. So we find eastern sentiment more favorable to him than western. It is a hundred or two hundred years since the scalping knife terrorized the east. It is hardly more than half a score since bloody, barbarian tragedies were enacted in the west. "Shoot him on the spot" has been, and still to some extent is, the feeling among western people. "Give him a show," is the sentiment in the east.

It is evident from recent experiences that the Indian has developed. He does not so readily part with his real estate as formerly. It requires no little skill in these days to convince him of the desirability of his giving up his hunting grounds. It seems as though the influence of the real estate agent has been more potent than that of the missionary. But in all of the different Indian policies that have been tried by this nation there has been the same mistake—expecting results too soon. It should be remembered that to change the fundamental character of a people or a race requires centuries upon centuries. The Indian who has roamed this continent as a hunter and a warrior for untold ages cannot be made a self-supporting tiller of the soil in a decade or in a century. The plan of giving the red men lands in severalty is no doubt the correct method of solution of the Indian problem, but we must not expect good results too soon. The descendants of the Six Nations in New York, the most powerful and most advanced tribes of the new world at the time of its discovery, are not model communities on the reservations which they occupy to-day. If they were white people we would say they were thoroughly shiftless and worthless. Still they are better than their forefathers, taking all in all, and the present position of the Cherokees in Indian territory gives promise of a better future for the North American Indian.

The Mississippi Governor's Chase After Prize Fighters.

Burdette in the Brooklyn Eagle.

The governor sat in his easy chair, a spy-glass at his eye—"Has anyone seen three thousand men and a train of cars go by? A pilot train with the bad men on, one more, and another one still; with rattle of wheels and clang of bell, and shriek of the whistle shrill? They travel not as the flying ship, in silence and in fear; they whoop and holler and howl and yell for all the world to hear. They have advertised the place of the fight, for six long weeks or more, and I fear I cannot find the place, 'till the brutal fight is o'er. Oh, rally and squander, my men at arms, and look if you may see where three railway trains and three thousand men have ridden away from me.

They rallied and squandered, those men at arms, they searched the country through; and another governor came along, and joined the searchers, too. They looked in the clock and under the stairs, and under the bed they peered, and out in the kitchen and everywhere, but the trains had disappeared. They felt in their pockets and looked in their hats, and lowered a man down the well, but where all those sluggers had disappeared to, there wasn't nobody could tell. They asked a boy at Lowry's store, and the blind man down by the hall, and the man who keeps the candy shop, but they hadn't seen nothin' at all. They dragged the pond at Sawyer's mill, and they questioned the tollgate man, and all through the lot at the back of his house, the governor raced and ran. But all in vain, for wherever he looked, the people he sought were gone, and the only place he didn't look was where the fight was on. And he never knew there had been a fight until a week and a day, then he sent a constable after the men four thousand miles away.

Long live the state of Mississip! The governor, long live he! If ever the moon should run away may he be there to see! Should hostile powers invade the land at some far distant day, may he find the foe that wastes his state before it goes away. And great good medicine had it been, for the land of the sunny south, had the governor shut his smoothbore eyes and looked with his long-range mouth.

Red Wing Republican: A correspondent of the Dodge Center Record has observed that no premium is offered at the state fair this year for any sample or display of cheese. If that is true the farmers may well be expected to reply to the president's appeal for their support, "Cheese it, Bushnell, cheese it."

Minnesota a Paradise.

Barnesville Review.

Mr. George W. Head, formerly agent at Rothsay, for the Manitoba, has just returned from a trip to the coast, on a prospecting tour for a location to settle in. He is more than satisfied now to remain in Minnesota. We give below his impressions of the promised land, from a letter to a gentleman in this city: "I traversed the circle of the alleged Flowery Kingdom of the west, and will say, I never was more surprised and disappointed in my life at the scene presented. As soon as daylight broke, as we travelled west from Fargo, on the N. P. Ry., the most striking sight that presented itself was the dead grass; another was the grain, where any was to be seen, just heading out, an inch or two from the ground, showing the effect of the terrible drouth, and all the way out to the coast, after you get to the bad lands. From the bad lands to the western portion of Oregon, is one vast desert waste of rocks and sage brush, and stone; the broad prairies of Minnesota are a paradise in comparison. All along the coast, to San Francisco, there are some spots that are very fertile, and where crops and fruits look well, but from Reno to Denver the same dreary desert meets the eye. The grass fields of Kansas, the miles of corn fields and chicory, wheat and oats were a relief to the blasted sterility of the first part of my trip, and Iowa, with the rich cornfields, comfortable homes, etc., led me to wonder why Providence made one side of this continent barren and the other side rich and fertile, and Minnesota farmers who go away out west to find something better than they have at home are doomed to disappointment and failure. In another year or two the cattle and sheep ranchers will be compelled to change their present mode of business, or go out of it altogether. The trip improved my health a great deal. I am thankful I did not take my family, as first intended, as I saw no place that I was willing to pitch my tent in. At San Francisco, on July 12th, it was so cold that they had to keep fires going in the hotels, gentlemen wore their overcoats, and ladies were wearing their fur cloaks, cold and foggy—not the place for one in my state of health to locate in. They have quite severe winters there, with good sleighing, which did not prevail ten years ago; the cold weather penetrates farther south than formerly. I shall come back to Minnesota as soon as I can procure a situation, satisfied to remain and make my home there for the future."

English and American Juries.

Minneapolis Journal.

The Maybrick case has called wide attention in this country to a pretty wide difference between judicial methods in England and America. Here a judge in summing up is exceedingly careful not to express an opinion on the evidence. He leaves the jury to reach their conclusion as to facts wholly unbiased. The English judge, on the contrary, feels it his duty to aid the jury as much as possible by so marshaling the evidence as to show plainly what the verdict ought to be. In an intricate case it will easily be seen that such a course will be a great help to a puzzled dozen of plain men who don't know what to think. The English way, in fact, must often save that country the spectacle of such verdicts as sometimes astonish laymen and amuse the bar among us. Still, under the English interpretation of the judge's duty it is hard to see just what need there is of a jury at all. Judge Stephen practically instructed his jury to find Mrs. Maybrick guilty. They did so. Why would it not have been quite as well to dispense with the twelve altogether? The American method seems more logical, if a jury has a distinct place in the court. Whether a jury is good for anything, anyway, however, is a question on which even lawyers are not unanimous. The experiments of California, Louisiana and North Dakota, abolishing unanimity in civil cases and substituting a three-fourths vote, will cast some light on this subject.

Fairmont News: There is a move on foot to give the public in the smaller towns free post office boxes, and it is in the right direction and ought to be brought about. The large cities have their free delivery and we have no privileges as a rule, and when it is considered that we are paying for the free deliveries that we derive no benefit from, it certainly seems that free boxes might be given us. Let the country press speak its sentiments.

Le Sueuer News: Dairy Commissioner Ives has started out to investigate the spirituous and malt liquors sold in the state, and to condemn the adulterations. Under the law of last winter to prevent the sale of adulterated foods and drinks, the dairy commissioner is required to test liquors in every place where they are sold, and if he does his duty we have no doubt it will lessen the number of "crazy" drunks if it does not the "blind" drunks.

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF
JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND
PERFECT SATISFACTION
GUARRANTEED.
AT BOTTOM PRICES.
St. Paul
Saake

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

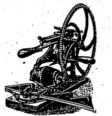
All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."



Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the tone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure curandron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

Clifton Hotel.

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prires.

Rates-- $2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf

D. D. WILLIAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
COUNTY ATTORNEY,
OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA

CHAS. M. LOWE,

Real Estate

FARM LOANS

Loans Made on Good Farms Without Delay!

☞ NO BONUS. ☜

Low rates of interest. Money furnished to prove up claims and make payments on railroad lands.

FARMS FOR SALE in all parts of Polk County. Desirable City Property for residence and business purposes.

CAN SHOW YOU BARGAINS!

Office on Broadway, opposite Commercial Hotel.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET,—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom specially invited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

H. STEENERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 29, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, No. 1 Hard, 64 cents.

Mr. E. E. Bangs visited friends in Grand Forks last week.

Geo. W. Peake and family returned from a visit to Illinois last week.

Morrisey's record was Tuesday 9, Wednesday 6 chickens in a short hunt each day.

Col. Gorgas and Ben reported 15 chickens as the result of a trip last Thursday.

Will Carlton was in on Thursday last making preparations to go to Milwaukee.

Chris Hoch and Will Cleary claim 47 chickens as the result of four hours work one day last week.

A. R. Holston and Terry Sheley came down from Red Lake Falls on Monday, returning in the evening.

Our thanks are due Max Ericsson for a brace of fine fat young prairie chickens on Thursday last.

Engineer Fred Chapin spent Sunday with friends in the city. Fred is now running west of Grand Forks.

Ole L. Larson, Fosston's handsome ex-postmaster was in the city last week consoling himself for the loss of the post office.

Geo. Tunell was visiting in the city last week before going to Duluth to accept the position of deputy inspector, to which he was recently appointed.

J. E. Beim was in from Winger last week for a few days chat with old friends. Reports crops in fair condition in his neighborhood. What wheat they have will be of excellent quality.

Peter Herbranson, one of the Traill Co., delegates to the Fargo republican convention was in the city last Saturday. He says that North Dakota will go republican by an overwhelming majority.

Pete Misgen and Max Ericsson took the field last Thursday and in a short time bagged 22 chickens. Owing to the fact that the chickens preferred to stay in wheat fields they did not find them plentiful.

A. P. McIntyre, one of Warren's pioneer residents was in last week. He has recently disposed of his interests in the Windsor hotel and is now on deck for a "yob." Is not certain what he will go at as yet.

K. D. Chase was in the city on Thursday, just back from a trip to the Lake of the Woods. Says he had a grand trip and returns as fat as a bear and sun-burned all the same like an Aborigine. Thinks he would be prepared to camp out in Milwaukee a week.

Pat Connor took a drive into the country behind that fine colt which he recently purchased and when near John Amundson's, a dog scared the colt causing it to run into a wire fence and cut itself up in bad shape. Dr. M. Leguee attended to the suffering animal and now has it in good shape doing nicely.

Fred Hall thinks we might as well bring back those chickens that THE JOURNAL gave "Will" Hall the credit of shooting last week: However we came to say "Will" we can't imagine but we find that mistakes "will" sometimes occur even in the best regulated families. Should Fred ever report another lot we "will" try and get it correct.

Several hundred of our citizens turned out to see the G. A. R. boys off for Milwaukee on Sunday evening. The cadet band came out to give the boys a lively send off. The car was nicely and comfortably fixed up. Arranged along on both sides was canvass strips with these words neatly inscribed: "G. A. R. Col. Cobham Post No. 90, Crookston, Minn., the Queen City of the Red River Valley."

On Wednesday afternoon an accident occured in the town of Fanny resulting in the death of the young son of Chris Nelson, a lad 11 years old. Mr. Nelson was reaping with five horses on the binder, three on the pole and two on the lead. His son rode the lead team. Mr. Nelson started for the house to get twine and when nearly there saw the boy fall from his horse and ran to his assistance but arrived too late as the boy had received a blow on the temple which killed him. The probability is that the flies caused the horses so much uneasiness that the boy was thrown and stepped on. The funeral occured on Thursday.

J. P. Nelson, one of the original founders of Warren, spent last week in Crookston. Mr. Nelson is now a resident of Southern California but comes to look after his interests in Warren every summer. He says one of the leading industries of California is the wine business and since his residence there he uses no other liquor. Upon his arrival in early summer he sampled Max Ericsson's California wines and pronounced them absolutely the pure juice of the grape, and the fact that he has used no other shows that he means what he says. He thinks that a good trade could be worked up by shipping our butter to California in refrigerator cars and loading back with fruits, tons of which annually rot on the ground for lack of market.

Judge Montague went to Fertile on Monday on railroad work.

C. B. Palmer went up to Warren on Tuesday on legal business.

The surveyors are solving the problem of a line for the new road through the city.

Some hay finds its way to market yet. The price is way down when the scarcity of that article is considered.

While Chief Hayes is taking in the big doin's in Milwaukee this week Geo. Holt is trying to hold down the force here. George lends dignity and grace to the squad.

Engineer "Duke" Jewell was shaking hands with friends in the city on Tuesday and took a whirl in the country after the gay and festive chicken in the afternoon.

It is said that the mayor was observed on the river bank at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning shooting at a mark with a revolver. The festive burglar would do well to make a note of this.

Geo. Walsh informed our reporter on Tuesday that 59 teams and two graders were at work on the new line that morning. From what we can learn it looks as though the road would be a very cheap one, narrow and low. The city pays good money for a good road and is entitled to the best.

Frank Creamer reports the sale of that Minnesota Chief Thresher with the patent self-feeder to Louis Cottet, of Euclid. Frank says the statement that he is the patentee of that self-feeder is premature, howbeit he can get any number wanted for his patrons—all who use the Minnesota Chief Thresher.

Red Lake Falls News: James E. Morrisey, the Crookston foundryman, spent Monday afternoon and night in our city. He says that Crookston hails with delight the advent of the N. P. and is bound to prosper. Mr. Morrisey, besides being a good machinist, is one of the best shots in the Crookston gun club, and only a few days ago carried of some valuable prizes at the Fargo tournament.

Martin Purcell, of East Grand Forks, was arrested and placed in durance vile last week for refusal to testify in a certain case. On Thursday he was brought before Court Commissioner, D. E. Hatlestad, on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Wilkinson & Schmidt appearing for the petitioner, and Williams and Steenerson for the prosecution. He was released, and now it is said that he will bring an action for $10,000 damage.

The John Thompson Comedy company appeared in our city on Monday and Tuesday nights and proved a disappointment to our people who like a good comedy when well presented. The "company" consists of one male and two female performers, said to be Mr. Thompson his wife and daughter. Mr. T. himself is very fair while the ladies are altogether too mechanical, lacking expression, accent and distinctness, it being impossible to catch more than half they did say in a perfunctory manner as if it were a job to be got rid of somehow. Mr. Thompson, in a better piece could doubtless give better satisfaction, but he would have to pay more attention to an encore. At one point in the play he was encored to the echo but paid not the slightest attention to the desire of the audience for a repetition and many showed their appreciation by remaining away on Tuesday evening. On the whole the "Huge Joke" was a huge farce.

Fertile Journal: Mr. Otto Kankel is not only a miller of ability, but has also proved himself to be a very successful gardener. He has, notwithstanding wind, drought and frost and a most unfavorable season and through, an abundant crop of vegetables and small fruits in his garden. His cellar will be well filled with cabbage and other vegetables, more than sufficient to last him through the coming winter; and incredictable as it may seem, he has melons in abundance that are now almost ripe. Mr. Kankel has every year been successful in his gardening, where many others have failed, and through his untiring efforts he has made his home and surroundings one of the prettiest and most attractive spots in Polk County.

$100,000 to loan.

JOHN McLEAN.

By selecting a farmer for governor the new State of North Dakota has set an example that Minnesota farmers might follow to their advantage. While in the main, a man selected from the various business avocations generally makes a good governor—for his special line, the fact remains that the avocation of the farmer needs more special attention than does any other and generally gets far less. For a great deal of this the special training the man has received to enable him to successfully pursue his calling is responsible and a man may be honest, upright and all that and yet not amount to a straw for the farmers simply because he does not as fully understand their needs as he would if he had been educated a farmer. It is singular to us that with so large a majority the farmers have not, long ere this, selected one of their number and made him governor. It is not because there is no one among them capable for there are many of them, but it must be owing to a culpable neglect of their highest interests where politics are concerned. North Dakota has set us an example that we should be quick to heed, and it would be well to follow it up in other offices as well.

A BEAR HUNT.

On Saturday afternoon N. P. Stone took J. Norquist, agent for the Reeves stacker, out to John Wyand's to talk stacker to John. While thus engaged, one of the party observed an animal walking along near the Manitoba track, to the west of them, and calling attention to it the verdict "it is a bear," was unanimous. They were a short distance from the house, and having no gun, Mr. Stone suggested that John go to his house and get one while he and Norquist would watch the bear. It was so arranged, and while John went for the gun Stone and Norquist drove along the road towards bruin. The bear was evidently making for the timber to the east, and soon came a few rods opposite the horse, and when he caught sight of the "enemy" he struck a dog trot south, the followers taking care to preserve a respectful distance until John should appear with the "artillery." When near the stock yards John was observed as a "cavalryman" swooping down from the north and then our heroes whipped up and got ahead of the bear, seeing which, bruin bore off to the east, followed in hot haste by cavalry and wagon train. It was soon discovered that John had nothing but a long range, smooth bore horse pistol, of the vintage of '76, or thereabouts, and upon summing up available arms it was found to consist of one ax, a pamphlet description of the Reeves stacker, one cut of a very poor rooster fattened on a stack run through aforesaid stacker, a back number tooth-pick, labelled "Commercial House, St. T., 1860, X." and various and sundry notes for machinery, all good and amply secured—and still the bear kept east, right straight for Flander's. Arriving there Mr. Stone borrowed E. O.'s shot gun—not loaded for bear, and pursued bruin into a field of wheat in shock. Getting ahead, Norquist alighted and using a shock as breastworks, poured two deadly volleys into the enemy as he came up. At this critical juncture Wm. Anglim and Tom Thorson, who had been hunting chickens, came up and took a hand, while the bear, not in the least affected by the shot, made for a field of barley where the fight became general, everybody who had a gun giving him a shot, and others, not so fortunate, shot at him with brooms, &c. At one time the bear took to the ditch and came up within a few feet of John Wyand, who gave him the benefit of what his pistol contained with only the effect of turning him in another direction. Some say that the pistol muzzle was in the bears's mouth when discharged, but John emphatically denies this. At last the bear was driven into Flander's yard and killed. He was brought to the city, taken to Sands Bros. shop, his carcass dressed and distributed among the friends of the survivors, Mr. Norquist, having gotten the first shot, was given the hide. The bear was undoubtedly a cub as he showed no inclination to fight, his only anxiety seeming to be to get away. He weighed 135 pounds.

We learn that Dr. Tooly is now a resident of Duluth.

Hugh Thompson was at the Commercial on Tuesday.

W. B. Dawley expects to take possession of the post office next Sunday.

"Editha's burglars"—or somebody's else, were out in force on Monday night.

It is said that Prof. Elliot has resigned the position of School Superintendent.

S. M. McKee reports the arrival of a thoroughbred Jersey bull calf on Sunday last.

The watch that Ed. Walsh lost cost him $125, the charm $28 and the chain $7.

Thomas $\overset{\text{his}}{\underset{\text{mark}}{\text{x}}}$ Casey is what the Commercial house register remarked on Tuesday.

A number of Fosstonites came down on Tuesday to find work in the harvest fields and found situations without any trouble.

The residence of Mayor Lilly was attacked on that memorable Monday night but the mayor was awakened and the burglars skipped.

An attempt was made upon the residence of Judge Ives on Monday night, but the Judge was on deck and the burglars gave it up.

A number of the mill hands got the impression that a raise in wages would be a good thing to have in the family these days, and on Monday a bit of a strike took place. The mill did not shut down in consequence, and everything seems to be serene once more.

Gautier de St. Croix, of London, England, was in the city a few hours on Tuesday to make arrangements for an agent to handle wheat for farmers who desire to ship wheat to him. He is an English farmer, representing English millers who desire to obtain our No. 1 hard wheat in its purity. In order to secure it he has rented bins in elevators in New York, Buffalo and Duluth, in which latter place he has located for the present. His plan is to have the farmer ship his wheat in his own name in care of Gautier de St. Croix, and for all 1 Hard wheat he will pay London prices less the costs for freight and handling. Should a car be graded less, he will dispose of it on the markets at Duluth should the farmer desire. He has arranged with F. M. Brown to ship for all who desire. For the present Mr. Brown may be seen at the livery office of his father, M. R. Brown, ready to furnish all desired information.

WHAT THEY SAY:

E. M. Walsh: It was lucky for me that those chaps left my pants as that was the only pair I had in the house.

E. O. Flanders: I don't object so much to having the militia called out to shoot my bears, but when it comes to tramping down forty acres of barley or so, I kick—feed is altogether too scarce this year.

Dr. G. G. Henault: These dental associations are somewhat of a humbug, any way. The next time I waste my sweetness on one of 'em I shall stay away, you bet! Why, all the attention I got at Fargo one of the papers alluded to me as "Dr. Eno, of Crookston." How's that for fame?

Geo. Walsh: In relation to the rumor that I am to be superceded in the work on the C. D. & N., I have only to say that it takes two to make a bargain. I have the contract all right enough and can hold it, of course, but have offered to withdraw for a consideration, which, if my proposition is accepted, I shall do quietly.

Levi Myers: I have fifty acres of as fine wheat as I ever saw growing in the Valley, but my experience so far this year is that such pieces are very exceptional. The Valley will not average as much as speculators are claiming for it.

A. R. Holston: It looks like the fellows who did the work in last campaign have a happy faculty of getting—left, and those who put in most of their work staying at home attending to their business get the persimmons. Well, never mind; there is another time coming, and if the powers that be can get along without me in the next campaign, I certainly can get along without them. I don't have to support men who never recognize me.

Herb Mason: Would I have liked to attend the Milwaukee blowout, is it? Well, now, you are just smiling. But a fellow can't have the world and a fence about it all in one season, and the inaugural trip will have to do me this year. So I just made up my mind to stay right at home and sell my nice stock at figures that just paralyzes competition. Just try me!

Wanted.

A good cook for a hotel. Apply at THE JOURNAL office at once.

These Went to Milwaukee.

O. H. Lucken, William Carlton and wife Wm. Campion and wife, Louis Fontaine, I. U. Jennings, D. Jacobus, M. B. Hayes, James Greenhalgh Jr., N. K. Olson, B. F. Zarracher, Walter Lee, Geo. Graves, Ed. George, T. H. Bjoin and Mr. Donovan.

If Not Why Not?

Have you given Attix & Co., a trial order for groceries? If not try one and see what they can do for you. If you want anything in the line of Dry Goods Yankee Notions or Groceries, call on Attix & Co., the Fifth ward merchants. [18-tf]

Burglary.

E. M. Walsh was the victim of the festive burglar, on Monday night to the extent of a valuable gold watch and chain and $18 in the coin of the realm. His sleeping room is off from the sitting room and upon retiring he had deposited his pants on a chair within two feet of an open window in the sitting room. It happened that the burglars selected that very window as a means of entrance. They removed a screen and then discovering the pants reached in for them. Taking them to the back porch they soon had the watch and money. Some notes and valuable papers they scattered about the yard. At some stage in the proceedings Mrs. Walsh was awakened by a suspicious noise and awoke Ed. who got up and discovered that his pants had adjourned through the now open and screenless window. Going quietly up stairs he awoke his brother George and together they reconoitered outside but the birds had been disturbed and apparently fled. They found the pants and some keys on the back porch but nary a burglar. They then came to police headquarters to put the police on the trail. Soon after they had gone Mrs. W., who was sitting at the window heard a slight noise in the back porch; directly thereafter she saw the form of a man stealing along by the fence out to the sidewalk. Three suspicious characters arrived on the train from the west on Monday night, one of them took a lunch at Anderson's restaurant about 12:30 and boasted that with two companions he had beat his way from California and said that his comrades would be in later for a lunch. As they did not show up it is thought that the stir caused by the Walsh robbery may have caused them to leave town in a hurry.

That the burglars who got in their work on Monday night were strangers we do not believe as they appeared to be too well acquainted with the habits of their victims making fewer mistakes than strangers would be liable to. We have an idea that they knew right where to go and how to do it.

M. Kirkhus, until recently a butcher at Fosston, has rented the Norsk hotel, formerly kept by John Alderman, on Robert Street and will open it to the public as soon as he can refit and refurnish it. Mr. K. has been a resident of this county for several years, knows how to and will keep a good hotel.

Our Nominee.

The resignation of Prof. Elliot calls for the appointment by the Board of a successor and THE JOURNAL nominates for the position, Prof. Thomas Casey, of Fisher. Prof. Casey is one of the old time settlers of Polk County, a man familiar with the needs of the schools by a long experience as a teacher in the county. Should Prof. Casey receive the appointment the service would lose nothing by this resignation as he is fully competent to attend to its duties.

For Sale.

Threshing rig complete, twelve horse straw-burner engine, separator, new belting, all in good running order. $325 cash will buy the outfit. Call on or address, Jas. Greenhalgh Sr., Crookston, Minn. [19-tf]

Money to loan in large or small sums on good farms. Choice farms and city property for sale. CHAS. M. LOW,

[17-tf] Broadway, Crookston.

How did you enjoy that visit at Warren, Knap?

Judge Montague has taken a partner in the law business, De Forest Bucklen, the well-known attorney of Fisher.

Geo. Walsh, having sold his contract on the C. D. & N. R. R. to a Mr. Evans of St. Paul, left for his home in Grand Forks on Tuesday night.

The show failed to show on Tuesday night owing to the fact that nobody came to hear it. Barnstormers would do well to give Crookston a wide berth in the future.

Charles Jefferson was one of the victims of the burglars Monday night. The screen to his bed-room window was dextrously removed, his pants fished out and a gold watch and $85 stolen.

Rev. S. N. Griffith, who was in the city this week, reports that wheat along the N. P., west of Fargo, is of excellent quality, weighing 62 lbs. strong, with but few exceptions. While the yield will not be large it will be of good quality.

Policeman Louis Gonyea found a grip under the sidewalk in front of the Swedish Lutheran church on Ash Street on Wednesday. The grip was marked "S. H. Farnsworth, St. Paul," and contained a nearly new straw hat, a number of collars and cuffs and a snake. The grip is at police headquarters where the owner can recover his property.

Dept. U. S. Marshal Gus Beaulieu was before Judge Ives on Wednesday with two prisoners, Ole Gunderson and John Helty, charged with trespassing upon the Red Lake Indian Reservation. John and Ole were a little too previous in taking claims and got into a box. Lo turned out enmasse as witnesses and they were were bound over to appear at the next term of U. S. District Court.

The police gathered a bouquet on Monday—that same burglarious Monday, and put them in the cooler to preserve fresh for a present to His Honor, Judge Spendley, on Tuesday morning. They told the Judge that they had a fine bouquet of Canary birds to present him, but His Honor had serious doubts of their being that kind of a flower. He pronounced it a healthy sample of chippy bird and fined accordingly—moreover he ordered them to fly to some more congenial clime, which they promised to do.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 29th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of eight hundred and forty-two and 95-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Zephirin Daoust and Elizabeth Daoust, his wife, as mortgagors, to Caleb W. Palmer as mortgagee, bearing date the tenth day of July 1883, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 12th day of July A. D. 1883, at ten o'clock a. m., in book "N" of mortgages, on page 119, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, situated in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered eight and nine (8) and (9,) in block number fourteen (14,) in the village of Carman, according to the map or plat of said village, duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds, in and for said county, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Polk, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on Saturday Oct. 12th 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as provided by law, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated August 26th A. D. 1889.

CALEB W. PALMER,
Mortgagee.

Calvin B. Palmer,
Att'y for Mortgagee. [19-25]

REPORT

Of the Condition of the Scandia-American Bank, Crookston, Minn., at the Close of Business, August 16th, 1889.

RESOURCES

Loans and discounts	$ 93,032 65
Furniture and Fixtures	1,768 01
Current expenses and taxes paid	3,549 20
Cash on hand and in Banks	11,176 95
Checks and other cash items	28 09
Total	$109,554 90

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$ 50,000 00
Surplus fund	2,500 00
Undivided profits	7,021 57
Individual deposits subject to check	31,752 14
Demand certificates of deposit	16,281 19
Bills payable	2,000 00
Total	$109,554 90

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Polk. }

I, Lewis Ellington, Assistant Cashier of The Scandia-American Bank, at Crookston, Minnesota, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

LEWIS ELLINGTON,
Assistant Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 27th day of August, 1889.

{SEAL} ANDREW P. HANSON,
Notary Public,
Minnesota.

Correct—Attest:
E. P. PIERCE,
C. O. CHRISTIANSON.

C. O. D. COLUMN.

GREAT BOOT SALE!

We are going to close out our Entire Boot Stock. Everything must go!

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE PRICES

$5.00	BOOTS	$3.75	$3.75	BOOTS	$2.75
$4.50	"	$3.25	$3.50	"	$2.25
$4.00	"	$3.00	$3.00	"	$2.00

Plow Boots $1.50 and $1.75.

C. O. D.

CLOTHING HOUSE.

Largest Establishment in the Northwest.

State Teachers' Institute.

An Institute for the County of Polk will be held at Crookston, during the week commencing Monday, September 2d, 1889.

The State will provide efficient instructors, who will be furnished with such professional books, apparatus and material as have been thoroughly tested and found to be of special service to teachers. They will make the Common School Manual the basis of their work, and a considerable portion of the time will be devoted to bringing out the best manner of using the text-books which have been recently added to the State series. Great pains will be taken to make the instruction pointed and in the highest degree practical, including the management and grading of schools and the teaching of common school branches.

One evening will be devoted to a lecture by some good speaker; another to literary exercises under the care of the conductor. The literary exercises this year will be of a character to stimulate patriotism; and the time set aside for them has been properly named "An American Evening."

Teachers who take a proper interest in their calling, and who desire by self-improvement to advance to higher positions, will be present at the opening Monday afternoon and remain till Friday evening.

All schools can be legally closed during institute week at the request of the teachers or the County Superintendent.

The institute will be in charge of the superintendent, who will make all required arrangements for its success, as well as for the accomodation of teachers, who are requested to give him early notice of their intention to be present, that he may provide board for all at the lowest rates.

D. L. KIEHLE,
Supt. Public Instructions.

E. F. ELLIOT,
County Superintendent.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
St. Paul, August 15th, 1889.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Polk County, Crookston, Minn:

GENTLEMEN:—Acting upon report of the Grand Jury of Polk County, submitted to His Honor, Judge Ira Mills, dated June 8th, 1889, in which the official conduct of County Commissioner, J. P. Johnson, of the First Commissioner District, was condemned in the matter of the distribution of seed wheat, under the provisions of the seed grain act and as provided by law, I, as Governor of the State of Minnesota, appointed a committee composed of the Hon. John Cromb, Mr. C. G. Rapp and Mr. I. I. Hillestad, to make investigation as to the charge preferred. This committee has made report to me, and I am pleased to inform your honorable body that it has been shown that Mr. Johnson was not guilty of any wrong doing or any wilfull neglect of the duties imposed upon him. Respectfully,

W. R. MERRIAM,
Governor.

Warren Sheaf: A company known as the Inter-State Grain company of Minneapolis has purchased the Ehle elevator. Mr. W. W. Wood, who has been stationed at Argyle as wheat buyer will officiate in that capacity here, being given the position Tuesday. Mr. Wood is a gentleman in every sense of the word and will surely give the farmers a fair deal. The south affix is being put in place by Thos. Harris of Crookston and the elevator will be open and ready for business as soon as the wheat is ready.

Stock Farm for Sale.

Consisting of 600 acres, lying on Maple Lake, in the town of Godfrey, includes the old townsite of Maple Bay. 80 acres fenced for pasture; 160 acres under the plow, balance hay land and timber; house, barn, granary and good well; one of the best located farms for stock in the famous Maple Lake region. Also 50 acres heavily wooded timber land within 4 miles. Will sell with all my stock and farm machinery, if so desired. For full particulars call on W. N. Godfrey, Maple Bay, or JOURNAL office, Crookston. [7-tf]

REPAIRS

For the Massillon Thresher and the Minneapolis self-binder. Also handle the Minneapolis self-binder. See Collins, at Collins' Livery Stable. [15-22]

For Sale Cheap.

3 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.
1 Champion Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Warehouse Truck.
1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.
1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.
1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.
1 Feed Cutter.
1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.
1 Wagon, complete.
1 Single Harness.
20 gallons Machine Oil.
4 good Milch Cows.
3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Once More With McGill.

Ex-Warden Stordock Will Take Charge of a Minneapolis Loan Company's Business in the Western Portion of This State.

There is an old saying which has become trite by frequent use, that "politics make strange bed-fellows," and the logical deduction to be drawn from the application of this old-time saying is that these same bed-fellows are forced by the nature of circumstances to this uncongenial cohabitation. No matter how true the saying is, in 90 out of a hundred instances, it certainly cannot be said of the late governor and his coadjutors, for by their own volition, when the affairs of politics and state have been laid aside, they have bound themselves together in the endless bonds of business ties. Soon after the retirement of Mr. Shandrew from the insurance inspectorship he entered into business association with Gov. McGill in what is known as the Minneapolis Mortgage Loan and Investment Company, and now the enterprise of ex-Warden Stordock is added to their number, representing the association in the western portion of this state. Up to this time the business has been a successful one, and this latest addition is liable to make it more so, as the ex-warden has innumerable friends. The institution will continue to prosper, especially as its promoters are entirely out of politics.

"The Fair-featured Foes of Farmers," or the common perennial flowering wild plants of the country, are exhaustively treated in the American Agriculturist for September, and in a way to open the eyes of farmers to the importance of not allowing handsome flowering weeds to become eventually owners of the soil.

Judge Kerr Shot.

St. Paul Dispatch Aug. 22.

A shooting accident, happily without fatal results, occurred yesterday at Tilden, a small place about twelve miles south of Red Lake Falls. The victim of the occurrence was Judge Kerr, of the district court. A party comprising E. O. Long, Judge Kerr and other well known citizens, went to Red Lake Falls to shoot chickens. Yesterday while out after game Mr. Long's gun was accidentally discharged, and a quantity of the small shot struck Judge Kerr. One shot struck him on the forehead, a second on the cheek, a third on the chin, and several entered his right hand. The judge's injuries, though painful at the time, were not very serious, and word was received in the city this morning that his huntsman's ardor was not in the least cooled by the contretemps, and that he was out to-day seeking the agile prairie chicken. Later reports from Red Lake Falls show the affair was not serious, and purely an accident. The party was three miles east of Tilden, the judge and Mr. Long being quite a distance apart. Mr. Long was raising his gun with the intention of firing when it prematurely discharged. The whole charge took effect on the judge, but was so well spent as to have no serious consequences. Over a hundred fine shot lodged in different parts of the judge's body and one came one-eighth of an inch from the eye socket. The rest could be picked out of the flesh easily.

State Fair Art Collection.

A fine painting, especially when it dwells upon the passion of love, and has for its two central figures Venus the divine queen of love, and Tannhauser, the minstrel bard of Germany, is an object worthy of the highest degree of attention from the people of the entire state. It is safe to say that Mr. Julius Kessler, of St. Paul, in tendering to the State Fair Society for exhibition the remarkable painting owned by him, and known as "Venus and Tannhauser," has put before the public a work of such European fame, and of such marvelous execution, as has never been seen before in this country. In size the painting is as large as one side of an ordinary room. The figures are of life proportions, and the whole design is upon the scale of the tremendous. Tannhauser, waking from his dream of passion, starts from his couch to fly from the beautiful place. Venus rises at the same instant from her couch of gold, and throwing her lily-white arms about his neck, lifts to his face another face wild with pleading and love. So the Berlin master has caught and depicted them, and so has laid upon the canvas a parting famous in all legend, history and song. This painting alone will be well worthy of a trip to the State Fair to see. Too much cannot be said of its wonderful coloring, the work of silver and gold on the beautiful grotto of Venusberg, and those two beings, one human and one divine, taking a farewell separation, is simply perfect. Superintendent Munger is in raptures over his success in having secured this beautiful painting for the State Fair Art Gallery.

Special Excursion Rates to the Minneapolis Exposition and Minnesota State Fair via Northern Pacific R. R.

Excursion tickets will be sold to Minneapolis and return for the Exposition on the following dates at one fare for the round trip, tickets good to return to destination until Monday following date of sale, viz:

August 24th, 27th, 29th and 31st, and September 3d, 5th, 17th, 19th, 21st, 24th, 26th and 28th. Every day, from September 6th to 14th, inclusive, tickets will be sold to either St. Paul or Minneapolis at one Minneapolis fare for the round trip, good to return to destination one day after being stamped at St. Paul or Minneapolis, but not later than September 16th.

On account of the Minnesota State Fair, tickets will be sold to either St. Paul or Minneapolis and return, every day from September 6th to 14th, inclusive, good to return one day after being stamped at St. Paul or Minneapolis, but not later than September 16th.

All Exposition and State Fair tickets will include admission coupons at twenty-five cents each for the exposition and fifty cents each for the state fair, which will be added to the railroad rates. For rates inquire of ticket agents, Northern Pacific R. R. [19-23]

"Training Dogs for the Field," is the subject of a practical dissertation in the American Agriculturist for September, in which all true sportsmen will have special interest.

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office.
[10-tf]

20 Cts. CREAMRY BUTTER 20 Cts.
Delivered at any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

MONEY TO LOAN.

I. U. Jennings is prepared to loan money on city and farm property.
[18-tf]

LIST OF LETTERS.

List of advertised letters in the P. O. Crookston for the week ending August 24th, 1889. Persons calling for any of these letters will please say "advertised."

Carter, Mrs Lewis
Chrraker, Miss Ane
Dahlen, Miss Annie
Davis, S A
Dhalen, Erick M
Gilbert, H S
Gyland, Sygbjin J
Halvorson, Hanse
Johnson, Tobias
Joyce, J J
Kimball, Ernest M
Landgman, Acter
Labbensinger, Jerome
Lintvedt, Torbjon G
Lundsrud, August J
Loux, S R
Luke, Mrs W D
McGoire, Mrs J J
Milne James
Mittun, John
Robert, William
Storholm, Oluf G O
Stryhen, Mrs H L
Smith, Mrs Lizzie
Snell, O F
Shanks, Wm D
Ward, Chas E

ALEX. MCKINNON, P. M.

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,
ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon, Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

Wilkinson, Schmidt & O'Brien
LAWYERS,
FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN,

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE IG INJUN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot of a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital..........$300,000
Paid in Capital..........50,000
Surplus..........2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:
Carl Hendricksen, President.
C O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:
C. O. Christianson, Crookston.
O. H. Lucken, "
Lewis Ellington, "
A. G. Gallasch, "
T. J. Thorsen, "
Max Ericsson, "
A. D. Stephens, "
E. P. Pierce, "
J. H. Locken, "
Carl Hendricksen, Grafton.
A. E. Johnson. St. Paul.

THE NEW CLEVELAND HOUSE,

Is now ready for the reception of guests. I have just completed the addition, thoroughly renovated, papered and painted, and am now ready to welcome old guests and new to a comfortable, home-like hotel. House convenient to all business places.

Give the New Cleveland House a call.

H. BURKHARDT, Prop.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

DAILY EXPECTED!

20 BARRELS 20 BARRELS

MACHINE OILS

OF THE FOLLOWING KINDS:

POLAR ENGINE.
ANGOLA ENGINE.
CASTOR MACHINE.
FARMERS' HARVESTER.

ALSO JUMBO HARNESS OIL.

The above we will guarantee the Best in the Market and at the Lowest Current Rates. Don't forget to call on us, or write, if you require oil.

McKINNON BROS.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

IN THE

Farmers Own Company!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

FRANK IVES,
Notary Public
and U. S. Com's'r.

D. E. HATLESTAD,
District Court
Commissioner

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give specia attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank

OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM', Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. John Moore. W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

THE ONLY

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

THE

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

ONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED

EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:20 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:15 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:30 p. m.
3:15 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:45 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc	8:40 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:54 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:45 "	Pembina	12:35 "
1:45 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent.
Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.—ss. District Court. County of Polk. 14th Judicial District.

John Cromb, Plaintiff, vs. Arthur T. Moore and Catherine J. Moore, Defendants.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the Plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of ninety dollars, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 1st day of January A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated Aug. 13th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
Pl'ff's Att'y, Crookston, Minn.
[17-23]

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 17th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of her intention to make final proof in support of her claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 23d, 1889, viz: HENRIETTE LOURIN, D. S., 11.024, for the e½ ne¼ and e½ se¼ S. 19, T. 149, R. 44. She names the following witnesses to prove her continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John T. Farden, Theo. Durocher, J. W. McNaulty and A. J. Northholm, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[17-22] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., July 20th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that LORENZO DAVIS has filed notice of intention to make final proof before U. S. Land office at their office in Crookston, Minn., on the 17th day of October, 1889, on timber culture application No. 208, for the w½ ne¼ and e½ nw¼ quarter of Section No. 18, in Township No. 149, Range No. 47. He names as witnesses: Ole Stokke, B. C. Jorgensen, J. B. Roome and J. J. Ide, all of Crookston, Minn.

[14-19] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Lee & Herrick. Against. Alice B. Kratka.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Lee & Herrick and against Alice B. Kratka. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendent, to-wit: Lots ten (10) eleven (11) twelve (12) and thirteen (13,) of block fifty-nine (59,) of the townsite of Thief River Falls, according to recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alice B. Kratka in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to ninety-six dollars and 85 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the fourth day of June 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.
P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., AUGUST 29, 1889.

Courage and Honesty.

The Northfield News.

There never was a time when the demand for these great cardinal principles was so urgent as at the present time. So great is the cost of being honestly corageous and courageously honest in the sense of making public one's honest convictions that comparatively few pay the price that wins the golden crown, and especially may this be said of those who for a season have worn the crown of thorns. He is a courageous man who faces a serried column of bayonets, but it takes a sublimer courage to proclaim an unwelcome truth or defend an unpopular cause. Yet a man's courage may never be so thoroughly tried, or his honesty be so severely tested, as well by his honest convictions he is forced to declare what among the ignorant and uninformed will invite ridicule, and among friends bring condemnation, if indeed it does not force a surrender of that which goes to keep a sturdy soul alive. Society is largely responsible for this moral cowardice which is paralyzing if not destructive of true manhood. For over eighteen hundred years the world has had the benefit of Christianity, and yet dishonesty, duplicity, moral cowardice and rottenness, like the worm in the bud, are feeding on the damask cheek of the government and society at large. This is the legitimate and natural product of a dominant system that locks the lips of all dissenters, thus forcing them if they would escape attention and retain public recognition and patronage, to silence their doubts and suppress their honest convictions, thus offering a premium to moral cowardice and preparing to be false to themselves. Nothing is more malevolent than to be a traitor to one's self. If the condition of society is such, that to receive courteous and kind treatment and respectful consideration, a person must clip the wings of his thoughts, and temper his words to harmonize with a particular theory or the wishes of a placeholder, it requires no revelation from heaven to confirm the truth that the people are in possession of a remarkably successful method of rewarding men and manufacturing hypocrites. It therefore follows that men to be honest in all matters of business, faithful in the execution of all public and private trusts, it must be made fashionable and commendable on their part to be honest and truthful in the expression of their views and beliefs both politically and religiously. An honest tongue and an honest hand are inseparable. Thus fortified with the armor of conscious integrity and courageous purpose, the independent, self-poised individual will move onward and upward and become satisfied with his labors and the misrepresentations and misunderstandings of others regarding him will no more destroy his equilibrium than do the wild winds destroy the ocean's serenity below the rolling surface. The honest man not only sweetens his own life, but that of all those thrown in contact with him as well..

Profit in Small Things.

The Northfield News.

The "Rural New Yorker" tells of a scheme once adopted by a church to raise money and the lesson it taught. A bushel of potatoes was distributed for seed among the members with the understanding that each person who entered the contest should plant a certain number of square feet of ground and no more, and that the entire product should be sold for the benefit of the church. The scheme worked to a charm and brought the church a good deal of money, but the most valuable lesson learned was the large amount of potatoes that can be grown on a small plot of ground, many of the plots producing at the rate of 500 or 600 and one nearly 700 bushels to the acre. In the northwest where land is cheap, the area covered would not be important if it were not for the great cost of labor, which is an important cash item in all farm operations. Time is most emphatically money on the farm, and the point to be aimed at now is how to farm so as to get the most money in return for the least outlay. The net profit, not the number of acres, or the cost of cultivation per acre is what pays off mortgages.

Glencoe Register: Secretary Windom is not fully satisfied that the operations of the civil service law have improved the service. He recently declined to answer the question. Other cabinet officers also say it is their duty to execute the law, and not to question its effect on the service. Very few people of either party, especially those who seek office, entertain friendly feelings for the civil service act. It was conceived in mugwumpery, and its paternity is in doubt.

Duluth Herald; One of the leading problems just now puzzling all commercial interests of the Northwest, is the purchasing power of the new crop. With corn there seems but little doubt. The crop to be harvested is larger than ever known, and there is a great deal of old corn yet stored and unsold. The price will doubtless be low. With wheat the case is different. Though options are now selling at low figures, there seems to be reason to believe that the bull side of the market will be the winner.

Winona Republican: Young men and women of rich parentage makes a mistake if they neglect the opportunity, as they are growing, to acquire knowledge of useful trades and household arts. It is not a question of money; not a case for hired help. It means independence, health, strength, cheerfulness, grace, physical development and a long list of social qualities and proportions. Magnificent endowments are being placed by the thoughtful men for the encouagement of the idea that labor should be trained, and that it should be popular also.

20 Cts. CREAMERY BUTTER 20 Cts.
Delivered to any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the proceedings of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company, to acquire for its use the right of way over and through and the use of certain lands in Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice is hereby given to each and every person, corporation or party named in the following annexed copy of petition and to the owners, persons, parties or corporations owning or interested in any of the tracts, pieces, or parcels of land mentioned described or designated in said annexed copy of petition. That at the Court House, in the City of Moorhead, in Clay County, Minnesota, on the 14th day of September 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, a petition of which the following and annexed is a copy will be presented to the said District Court, and application made that the prayer of said petition be granted. (The "Exhibit A" referred to is on file with the petition in the office of the Clerk of the District Court, of Polk County, Minnesota.)

Dated August 20th 1889.

THE DULUTH, CROOKSTON AND NORTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY,

{ Corporate Seal. } ROBERT J. MONTAGUE, President.

EDMUND M. WALSH, Secretary.

DeForest Bucklen,
Attorney for Petitioner.
Crookston, Minn.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk. District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the proceedings of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company to acquire the right of way over and through and the use of certain lands in Polk County, Minnesota.

To the Honorable Judge of said District Court:

The Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company by this petition respectfully shows to this court.

1st. That said Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company is a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the general statutes of the State of Minnesota.

2d. That Robert J. Montague is the President and Edmund M. Walsh is the Secretary of said corporation.

3d. That the object and business of said corporation is to build, operate and maintain certain lines of railroad in said State as its officers may direct.

4th. That said corporation is about to build, complete, maintain and operate a line of railroad from a point on the line of the Duluth and Manitoba Railroad, in said county, at the Village of Fertile, and thence extending in a northwesterly direction to and into the City of Crookston, in said county; that in so building, operating and maintaining said line of railroad it will be necessary for said corporation to acquire the right of way over certain lands in said county, which lands are hereinafter described, and to use them for spur-tracks, side-tracks, depots, switches, turnouts, stations, warehouses, yards, watertanks, and other appurtenances of said railroad; said right of way to be used by said corporation in so building, maintaining and operating said line of railroad.

5th. That the public interests require that such railroad be built, maintained and operated.

6th. The description of said lands and the names of the owners, encumbrancers, and persons having an interest therein, as far as the names of such persons can be ascertained by your petitioner by examination of the public records, by view of the premises, by diligent inquiry on said premises and in the vicinity thereof, and other inquiries, are as follows:

A strip of land 100 feet wide, being 50 feet wide on each side of the centre line of the main track of said railroad, where the same is now located and staked out through and across each of the following described pieces of land.

In township 147 north, of range 44 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The northeast quarter of section 17, owner Stanley Sanford, encumbrancer The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The southeast quarter section 8, owner Lydia S. Burdick, encumbrancer D. S. B. Johnston Land Mortgage Company.

The south half of the northwest quarter of section 8, owner W. G. Wheeler.

In township 148 north, of range 45 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The east half of the southeast quarter of section 36, owners Sven Kourus, State of Minnesota.

The southeast quarter of section 26, owner Sam Olson, encumbrancers John H. Hill, Nichols Shepard and company.

The southwest quarter of section 26, owner Colben Thorasen, encumbrancer New England Mortgage Security Company.

The northwest quarter of section 23, owners Andrias Hagberg, John Rougen, encumbrancers Eleanor E. Wilmerding, F. W. Dunton.

The southeast quarter of section 22, owner William J. Hurst, encumbrancer John Tapley.

The southeast quarter of section 8, owner F. T. Day, encumbrancer John Hoffmann.

The northeast quarter of section 8, owner Tollof Carlson.

The northwest quarter of section 8, owner Ole A. Olson.

The southeast quarter of section 6, owner F. T. Day, encumbrancer John H. Van Dyke.

The northeast quarter of section 1, in township 148 north, of range 46 west, in Polk County, Minnesota, owner Estine B. Durdall, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The southwest quarter of section 30, in township 149 north, of range 45 west, in Polk County, Minnesota, owner Alanson Moore, encumbrancer The Colonial and United States Mortgage Company, (Limited).

In township 149 north, of range 46 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The southwest quarter of section 24, owner Lemuel S. Horton, encumbrancer James W. Massey.

The southwest quarter of section 14, owner Peter J. McGuire, encumbrancer American Mortgage Company, of Scotland, (Limited).

The east half of the southeast quarter of section 15, owner P. J. McGuire, encumbrancer the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The northwest quarter of section 15, owner Peter Cornelius, encumbrancer The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The southeast quarter of section 9, owner Martin E. Bartlett, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northeast quarter of section 9, owner H. E. Cooke, encumbrancer, The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northeast quarter of section 8, owner Caleb J. Camp.

The southeast quarter of section 5, owner Christopher Houston.

The southwest quarter of section 5, owner Henry A. Stone, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northwest quarter of section 5, owner Samuel Greenhalgh, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

Also a strip of land 280 feet wide extending across the southwest quarter of section 22, in township 148 north, of range 45 west, in said county, being 50 feet on the northeast side and 150 feet on the southwest side of the centre of the main line of said railway, where the same is now surveyed and staked out across said land, owner The American Mortgage Company of Scotland, (Limited).

For a further and more definite description of said lands and to show more clearly the location of said railroad, the annexed plat marked Exhibit "A" is hereby made a part of this petition. Your petitioner prays this Court to appoint three competent, disinterested persons as commissioners to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made to the owners of the lands herein described and to all tenants, encumbrancers and others interested therein for the taking or injuriously affecting such land and real estate.

Dated August 20th, 1889.

THE DULUTH, CROOKSTON AND NORTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ROBERT J. MONTAGUE, President.

{ CORPORATE SEAL. } EDMUND M. WALSH, Secretary.

DE FOREST BUCKLEN,
Attorney for Petitioner.
Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 1st, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five thousand seventy-eight and 90-100 dollars, ($5,078.90-100,) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Carl Kretzschmar and Anna Kretzschmar his wife mortgagors to Wm. M. Ross of Crookston, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of January A. D. 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 23th day of January A. D. 1885, at 9:45 o'clock a. m., in book "U" of mortgages, on pages 210 to 212 inclusive, and

Whereas the said Wm. M. Ross, mortgagee, for value received, on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly assigned the aforesaid note and mortgage, and the debt secured thereby to the Merchants' National Bank, of Crookston, which said assignment was in writing under seal, duly witnessed and acknowledged, and thereafter on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said Polk County, in book "43" of mortgages on pages 575 and 576, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered three (3,) four (4,) eight (8,) nine (9) and ten (10,) in block two (2,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block three (3,) lots seven (7,) eight (8) and nine (9,) in block four (4,) lots nine (9,) ten (10) and eleven (11,) in block five (5,) lots three (3,) four (4) and ten (10,) in block six (6,) lots six (6,) seven (7) and eight (8,) in block seven (7,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block ten (10,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block eleven (11,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block twelve (12,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirteen (13,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block fourteen (14,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four inclusive, in block fifteen (15,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block sixteen (16,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block seventeen (17,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block eighteen (18,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block nineteen (19,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty (20,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-one (21,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-two (22,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, in block twenty three (23,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-six (26,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-seven (27,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block thirty (30,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirty-one (31,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block thirty-two (32,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block thirty-three (33) lots sixteen (16,) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18,) in block thirty-four (34,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, and lots twenty-two (22,) twenty-three (23) and twenty-four (24,) in block thirty-five (35,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, and lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block thirty-eight (38,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-five (55,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6) and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-eight (58,) lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, and twenty-five (25) to thirty-two (32) inclusive, in block sixty-five (65,) lots one (1) to eight (8) inclusive, and lots seventeen (17) to twenty-four (24,) in block sixty-six (66.) All in the townsite of Thief River Falls, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 21st day of September A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 25th 1889.

THE MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK of Crookston,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee.
[15-21] Crookston, Minn.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Anthony Kelly & Co., Against. Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Anthony Kelly & Co., and against Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit; Lot fifteen (15,) of block five (5,) L. Fletcher's addition to Crookston, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said County of Polk, excepting a strip twenty-five feet wide along the north end of said lot. And that I shall on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to eleven hundred eighty dollars and 48 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 29th day of July 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.
P. C. Schmidt,
Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

Major was sired by Hambletonian Star, Jr., he by Hambletonian Star, (owned by John Dorsey, of Lexington, Ky') He was sired by Rysdk's Hambletonian out of Lady Irwin, by Carson's American Star. Her dam by Abdallah. Rysdyk's Hambletonian, the great progenitor of trotting horses, was sired by Abdallah, son of Mambrino by imported Messenger. Dam of Hambletonian Star Jr., was Bonnie Lass by Volunteer. Volunteer by the famous Rysdyk's Hambletonian. His dam, Lady Patriot by Young Patriot, son of Patriot by Blucher. Since the death of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer stands at the head of American horses as a trotting sire.

On the side of the dam, the pedigree cannot be obtained on account of a previous owner's whereabouts not being known, but she has proved her good qualities by being used nineteen years on Chicago pavements as a fancy and fast driver without scarcely an equal, and is still alive, being over 30 years of age.

W. A. ROBERTSON.
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

NEW MEAT MARKET

At Steenerson Bros. Old Stand, on Main Street,

SANDS BROTHERS, Prop's.

Having purchased this stand we have put in a large and complete stock of Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, secured the services of a thoroughly competent butcher, and are now ready to supply the Choicest Roasts and Steaks of Beef, Pork, Mutton, and everything in our line. We invite your patronage. Orders delivered when desired.

SANDS BRO'S, MAIN STREET.

M. M. VAN DYKE
Physician and Surgeon,
Office corner of Main and Second Streets,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

A. H. DUNLOP, M. D.,
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON QUEBEC.
Office on Second Street. Crookston.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
H. RAUENBUEHLER, Prorietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

DR. M. WATTS.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office over Merchants' Bank,
☞ Professional calls by day or night promptly attended to.

THE OFFICE OF
COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
WILL BE OPEN
EVERY SATURDAY.
OFFICE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having Decided to Continue in Business, we have just Received an Entire

New Stock of Spring and Summer Goods,

Comprising
STAPLE AND FANCY
Dry Goods.
In fact Anything and Everything a man, woman or child needs to wear, and our
Prices are Lower than Ever.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT,
We Show A FULL LINE and our Grocery Department is Complete. our Sugar as sweet as anybody's and
OUR PRIES ROCK BOTTOM AT ALL TIMES.

☞ A call will convince the close buyer that the place to trade is the Bee Hive.

Hack & Gallasch.

100 100

CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS

IN JEROME'S ADDITION!

Nearer the Business Center than any other Lots now for sale over there.

Above High Water Mark. Good Cellars and Good Wells Easily Obtained. If you want a Building Lot, or if you desire a chance for investment where you can double your money inside of a year. It will pay you to look into this chance to

BUY AT YOUR OWN FIGURES, PRACTICALLY!

M. R. BROWN.

THE UNIVERSITY
OF MINNESOTA.
OPEN TO BOTH SEXES.

The following courses of study are offered: Classical, Scientific, Literary, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Architecture, Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, Shop Work (including Wood, Iron and Metal working), Industrial, Freehand and Mechanical Drawing; Wood Carving and Designing; Military Science and Tactics; Agriculture (including the "School of Agriculture") Veterinary Science, Law, Medicine (Regular, Homeopathic,) Dentistry.

☞ TUITION IS FREE, ☜

Except in the departments of Law and Medicine. Next year opens September 3d, 1889. Catalogue, containing full information, will be sent to all persons who apply for it. Address

CYRUS NORTHRUP, L. L. D., President,
[10-23] Minneapolis, Minn.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MNN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
Over Mrs. Bangs' Fashionable Millinery Store.
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

D. H. BATES,

DEALER IN

Lumber, Building Paper, PAINTS, OILS, DOORS, WINDOWS, AND MOULDINGS

ALSO

FARM MACHINERY

AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED

MILWAUKEE HARVESTER,
(FORMERLY THE DENNETT,)

AND THE CELEBRATED

WINONA PLOWS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

☞ You will find it to your advantage to call when need of anything in my line.

D. H. BATES,
CARMAN, - - - MINN

Minneapolis and St. Paul Excursions.

The Manitoba announces a series of cheap excursions to Minneapolis and St. Paul during the months of August and September, account of Minneapolis Exposition and State Fair. The rate for the round trip will be one fare with value of admission coupon added. The attractions in connection with the above events are more numerous than any previous season. For the Minneapolis Exposition, August 21st to Sept. 28th, the famous 13th Regiment Band of New York City, has been secured. Capt. Paul Boynton, the celebrated swimmer and world-wide traveler, will give daily exhibitions of his life-saving apparatus and educated seals; a genuine Japanese village will be in full working order; lady cadets from the University will drill; all nations will be represented in a magnificent congress, and an imposing array of industrial and agricultural wealth will fill the commodious halls of the Exposition building. For the Minnesota State Fair, at Hamline, September 6th to 14th, there will be seven days of racing, running and trotting; eight days of Texas Vaqueros; National Guard and Grand Army, Sept. 10th; Military Band with 10 pieces, and many other attractions. Call upon your nearest Manitoba ticket agent for further particulars.

Grand Army Excursion.

In connection with the 23d National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held at Milwaukee, Aug. 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway will issue excursion tickets from the principal stations on its line to Milwaukee and return at very low rates. For particulars inquire of your nearest Manitoba ticket agent, or address F. I. Whitney, Gen'l Passenger and Ticket Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

Lawyer and Editor.

Quincy Herald: A lawyer and an editor stood on a corner and saw a man murdered in cold blood. The murderer was a rich man and after committing the deed he said to the lawyer and editor. "Here are a thousand dollars for each of you; defend me before the court and the people for the crime I have committed." They took the money and defended him in their own way and according to their own professions, the editor through his paper and the lawyer through his mouth. The murderer, through their joint efforts, was acquitted, but mark the result. The people said: "The editor is a scoundrel and did so for pay. Lo! we will stop our paper and no longer patronize him." And the editor, having used his thousand dollars, and no more murders, became a tramp. But of the lawyer the people said: "He is an able man, deeply learned in law, and deserves great credit for having gained the acquittal of a man guilty of murder. We will give him our law business and pay great fees." They made him judge and as such he sent his partner, the editor, to the work house, and said he was a bad man. Such is life.

Mora Times: There is not a bigger fraud on the face of the earth than that branch of the government which deals with these Indian whisky cases. It is composed of a gang of vultures from the highest to the lowest department. Whoever thinks this gang desires an abolition of the Indians whisky traffic is not wise.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication Aug. 22d, 1889.]

WHEREAS ZENAPHILE ROCK AND Christina Rock his wife as mortgagors, did on the 17th day of November A. D. 1886, duly execute and deliver to A. J. McCosh of the County of New York and State of New York a mortgage, their mortgage bearing date of November ninth A. D. 1886, whereby they mortgaged to said mortgagee the following described lands situated in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The northwest quarter of Section nine (9) Township one hundred and forty-nine (149) Range forty-three (43) west, containing one hundred and sixty acres, to secure the payment of the sum of six hundred dollars with interest thereon, according to the conditions of one certain promissory note with interest coupons attached bearing even date with said mortgage, and made by said mortgagors to said mortgagee, and which said mortgage was on the 17th day of November A. D. 1886, at 4 o'clock p. m., duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County of Polk, in book "Z" of mortgages on page 23, and

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the sum of forty-seven and 95-100 dollars due as interest upon said mortgage on the first day of January A. D. 1888, and the further sum of forty-two dollars due as interest thereon January first A. D. 1889, and said interest is still unpaid and due, and

Whereas it was stipulated and agreed by and between the parties to said mortgage that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein contained on the part of the mortgagors to be kept and performed that then and from thenceforth, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee, or his heirs and assigns to consider and declare the whole sum secured thereby as immediately due and payable, without notice to said mortgagors or any other party, and

Whereas A. J. McCosh, mortgagee has exercised his option to consider and declare, and does hereby declare the whole sum of money secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and

Whereas there is now due and claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of seven hundred twenty-six and 40-100 dollars, and no proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the same or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the land therein described which sale will be made by the sheriff of Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county and state on the fifth day of October A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the sum due on said mortgage, together with taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees therein stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated August 14th A. D. 1889.

A. D. McCOSH,
Mortgagee.
John Cromb, Att'y for Mortgagee,
[18-24] Crookston, Minn.

MILLER, FOOTE & SWEATT,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - - Crookston, Min

The Polk County Journal.

H. E. COOKE, Editor and Proprietor. DEVOTED TO THE WELFARE OF POLK COUNTY. TERMS---$1.50 Per Annum

VOL. XIII. CROOKSTON, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, SEPTEMBER 5, 1889. NO. 20.

Polk County Journal.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ADVERTISING RATES.

SPACE.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	3 m	6 m.	1 year
½ inch....	$.50	$1 00	$1 25	$1 50	$3 00	4 50	$ 6 00
1 inch......	75	1 25	1 75	2 00	4 50	6 00	10 00
2 inches...	1 50	2 25	3 00	3 50	6 50	9 50	15 00
3 inches...	1 75	2 75	3 75	4 50	9 50	13 50	20 00
4 inches...	2 50	3 50	4 50	5 50	10 00	18 00	25 00
5 inches...	3 00	4 00	5 00	6 00	12 50	20 00	30 00
¼ column	3 50	4 50	5 50	6 50	15 00	25 00	35 00
½ column	6 00	7 50	10 00	12 00	25 00	35 00	50 00
1 column..	9 50	12 00	15 00	18 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and then collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.
3. In suits for subscriptions, the suit may be instituted where the paper is published.
4. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, while unpaid for, is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

Entered at the Post Office in Crookston as Second Class matter.

FOUR NEW STATES.

SOUTH DAKOTA, NORTH DAKOTA, MONTANA, WASHINGTON.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington, states of the Union.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitaba Railway, and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous a brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

MONTANA, THE GOLDEN.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls, with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts? immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre on Montana, and Butte, the richest mineral camp on earth, to San Francisco, by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

WASHINGTON.—The country of tall timber, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CROOKSTON

LOAN AGENCY

STILL ON DECK.

MONEY

On Real Estae.

MONEY

On Approved Chattels.

Always on hand at the Lowest Rates.

Consult your best interests by giving me a call when you Want Money.

A. D. STEPHENS,

Second Street, Crookston, Minn.

GRADES ESTABLISHED.

Executive Session to Make Appointments.

St. Paul News, Aug. 28.

At the meeting of the board of railway and warehouse commissioners this morning it was decided to use the same grades established by the commission on Sept. 12th, 1888, for the ensuing year, with the exception of the changes and additions recommended by Chief Grain Inspector Clausen, at the last meeting of the board, and which were so fully published in these columns. The grades are to go into effect Sept. 15th.

The Northwestern Elevator company, located at the Transfer, was licensed to do business.

The commission approved the bonds of George H. Tunell, sub-deputy at Duluth, and H. B. Higgins and J. Heising, deputies at Minneapolis. T. J. Hodgson was reappointed chief deputy grain inspector at St. Paul.

The following appointments were made late this afternoon: C. H. Barncart, sub-deputy grain inspector, Duluth; W. Bookwalter, clerk of warehouse and registry, Minneapolis; George W. Marchant, assistant registry clerk, Minneapolis; W. C. Wells, of Watonwan county, and E. Tyler to be weighmasters at Duluth.

The board of railroad commissioners are in executive session this afternoon to consider the matter of reducing the salaries of deputy grain inspectors, and minor appointments.

The railroad commissioners have decided to visit the following towns for the purpose of hearing complaints against railroad companies: Sept. 16th they will be at Monticello, St. Cloud and Sauk Centre. Sept. 17th they will be at Alexandria, Fergus Falls, Barnesville and Moorhead. Sept. 18, at Ada, Crookston, Dugdale and Fosston. Sept. 19th, at Warren, Argyle, Stephen and Hallock.

The Manitoba Company Will Connect its Two Lines Completing a Road to the Coast.

Special to the Grand Forks Plaindealer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The fact leaked out here to-day that the Manitoba railroad corporation had negotiated a large loan, and will at once, or just as soon as practicable, commence work on its through line, pushing westward through Great Falls to the Rocky Mountains. This will connect with the Spokane, Halouse & Western R. R., which is in reality the Manitoba corporation, and will give the Manitoba a through line to the Pacific coast. For some time the Manitoba has been in the deep seas of financial adversity, but the negotiation of this loan and the fact that Jas. J. Hill has relinquished all idea of selling his stock, will probably make the road one of the most successful corporations in the country. The directors, it is understood, look askance at the fact that Mr. Hill, sometime ago, was willing to dispose of his stock in the road. They had confidence in his management and hardly knew what to make of such a movement. Mr. Hill, on his recent visit here, had a long conference with members of the directory, in which he placed before them the fact that the Manitoba road, to pull itself out of the slough of despond must push its line through to the Pacific coast. The experience of the Northern Pacific R. R. at the present time, with its enormous volume of extra business, convinced the directors, and by their aid and consent, an immense sum was negotiated on very good terms. This has caused the Manitoba stock in the past week to rise from 97 to 103.

The opening of this line through to the coast will be of great benefit to the whole northwest. It will make the Northern Pacific and Manitoba more strongly competitive factors in the development of the country. Mr. Hill's vigorous and far seeing policy has once more turned the tide of financial opinion here in his favor. The country through which the new line of the Manitoba will pass is one of the great natural resources and will be of immense benefit to the cities of Montana in particular. Work will be commenced as soon as practicable and the road will undoubtedly soon be in a very flourishing and prosperous condition.

Smokes Hall Out.

Duluth Tribune: The recent Editorial excursion from Minnesota to Chicago was an exceptionally enjoyable occasion. The boys were wined and dined in great shape, and when comfortably filled up by the shrewd Chicago fellows—between the Sherry and champagne—foolishly passed a resolution fixing the world's fair at the head of Lake Michigan. Just hold on till you go to St. Louis or New York next year, boys!

St. Paul News: The courtesies extended had nothing to do with the case. The Minnesota editors simply gave expression to sentiments which were just and already entertained prior to the trip. Minnesota sentiment is a unit for Chicago for the World's fair, and if the Tribune does not join the procession it will show less good sense than usual.

WILL FIGHT THE SUGAR TRUST.

Claus Spreckels Thinks He Can Force the Combination to the Wall.

Minneapolis Journal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Claus Spreckels, of San Francisco, "the sugar king," arrived from Europe on the Fulda yesterday. Mr. Spreckles looked exceedingly well after his sojourn abroad, and he was ready to talk "sugar" in most hopeful terms. He proceeded at once to Philadelphia after landing to look into the condition of the sugar refining plant which he has been establishing there and which is in charge of his son, Charles A. Spreckels.

"The factory will be ready for operating," said he, "in October. That is the reason I made my visit to Europe so short, and did the exhibition first of all. I wanted to spend most of my time in Germany, studying the beet industry there."

"Have you heard anything of a movement of the English capitalists to buy up sugar trust certificates?"

"No; but people came to me on the other side and offered to buy my California and Reading refineries. I told them that I would not sell any and that they did not have money enough to buy them."

"Do you think that the trust will be able to hold together?"

"I don't see how it can. The fight has got to come. As soon as my Philadelphia factory is in operation I shall place on the market from that source alone 300,000 tons of refined sugar a year, and then they will have to close up some more of their establishments. Of course they are not going to give me all that I want, and there will be a cutting of prices—it may be below cost, I can't tell as to that. When you are engaged in warfare you can't say exactly where it will end. I have in Philadelphia the largest refinery in the world. I intend to run it and to sell my sugar. I don't care what the consequences may be. There will be a more healthy basis of competition as soon as my factory is started. The present output of the trust factories is perhaps between 700,000 and 800,000 tons a year. My new Philadelphia factory will produce 1,000 tons of refined sugar in a day, and my California factory 500 tons.

"That, you see, will make nearly 600,000 tons a year. Add to this the output of Harrison & Fraser's and Knight's refineries in Philadelphia, which are not controlled by the trust and which manufacture 1,200 tons a day, and you have a total product which is certainly equal to that of the would-be monopoly. I do not know what those two Philadelphia factories will do, but I know they are independent of the trust. The trust must surely go under if we can only hang together. It has too many lame ducks to feed now.

"If the sugar beet industry can be established in this country the existence of a refinery trust will be rendered impossible. I have demonstrated that sugar beet culture can be successful and profitable, and it can be just as much so on the Atlantic slope as on the Pacific; in the Mississippi Valley as in California. There is everything in certain points which must be considered before a beet farm is established. First, the location of the factory must be taken into account; second, there must be plenty of water, it must be a limestone country and fuel must be available; third, the beet-grower must know how to extract the sugar from the beet. It is not necessary to import labor from Germany for that purpose if the farmer will but inform himself on the subject and make as close a study of it as possible. I think that a good deal of profit awaits the intelligent farmer who will go into this business. I am anxious to get all the crude beet sugar that can be produced here."

The New Wheat.

Duluth Herald: There is no little grain coming into store in Duluth now, the fine weather of the past few days having induced farmers to haul to the stations and to send forward. Still the grain that is coming forward is in no such quantities as might be expected, this being likely due to the weather and the threshing. Minneapolis, which expected to be getting in 200 or more cars per day, is receiving little more than half that many, while Tuesday's receipts here, fifty-seven cars, are the largest of the new crop season. This wheat has a new feature for the inspector to consider. It has a soft and green kernel scattered through in small quantities, this green kernel being the result of the reseeding of large areas where the original plant was carried out by the wind. The new wheat generally is of very high quality, and as a result grain that last year easily went 1 hard will this year go scant 1 northern, such is the stiffening in grading. Green kernel grain is generally getting 1 northern grade. It is expected that the difference in price between 1 hard and 1 northern will be very slight, perhaps not over three or four cents.

ALGER CHOSEN.

All Other Candidates Withdraw and He is Elected Commander-in-Chief by Acclamation.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 28.—The twenty-third national encampment of the G. A. R. met this morning and listened to the annual address of Commander-in-Chief Warner, who congratulated the order on an increase of membership during the last year of 21,000, and had many good things to say for the future of the organization. After the reading of the address the encampment adjourned till two o'clock this afternoon. There are in attendance 750 delegates and the meetings are held in the west side of Turner Hall. It is estimated that there are about one hundred thousand strangers here to-day and more are expected to witness the naval battle to-morrow night. Every one is comfortable and is enjoying all that is to be seen and heard.

About two hundred regimental reunions were held this afternoon. About 25,000 people gathered at the national soldiers' home for disabled veterans where the men passed in review before Gen. Sherman and party. Gen. Sherman was received with immense enthusiasm and made a brief speech, which, as he says, will be the last he will ever make.

Ex-Pension Commissioner Black and Secretary of Agriculture Rusk also made brief remarks. The annual reunion of the veteran signal corps was held today and elected Gov. J. H. Foraker, of Ohio, president; H. Kelly, of Albany, Louis Fortesque, of Philadelphia, and J. R. Fitch, of Evanston, Ill., vice presidents; Capt. Chas. D. Marcy, of Boston, secretary; Eli R. Dowler, of Pittsburg, quartermaster, and Prof. J. Willifrd Brown, of Cambridge, historian. This afternoon Boston was chosen as the next place of meeting. Saratoga, Indianapolis and Washington were also nominated, but Boston received an overwhelming vote. The pension committee made its report which consisted of the work done by the committee during the past eight years. Very unexpectedly, the Grand Army delegates proceeded to an election to-night. Gen. Russell A. Alger, of Detroit, had it all his own way. Twenty men nominated him, Col. Jas. Sexton, of Chicago, first presenting his name. All other candidates were then withdrawn and Gen. Alger was elected by acclamation. Col. A. G. Weissert, of Milwaukee, was elected senior vice commander, and John F. Lovett, of New Jersey, junior vice commander. It was then after 11 o'clock and the election of other officers was postponed till to-morrow.

Brown's Will and Nerve.

Moorhead News.

Sheriff Jensen yesterday read the death warrant to Brown, who is to be hung on Friday, September 20th. The delay in reading the warrant is due to the fact that the sheriff has been unable to procure a man to act as death watch until yesterday, when one was obtained. Brown received the reading of the warrant unmoved so far as outward appearances were shown. He asked why it had not been done before, and remarked upon the handsome seal and the pretty ribbon with which the document was tied. Brown is undoubtedly a man of strong will power and great nerve. Sheriff Jensen thinks he has really experienced a change of heart, and that his flippant way of alluding to his execution, is not due so much to his hardness of heart, as to the fact that he has trained himself to look upon the final act as a necessity, and to meet it coolly and bravely. Brown reads nothing but religious literature which is furnished him by Father Augustine. He uses no profane, vulgar or boisterous language, and the sheriff thinks if he is not sincere in his apparent repentance he has a remarkable faculty of deceiving, and is as deep as the ocean. To illustrate Brown's self control and will power it may be said that he was a great chewer and smoker of tobacco up to the time of his conviction, and although he could have both chewing tobacco and cigars in any quantity he could consume, as he has friends who who cheerfully furnish them, he stopped their use sometime ago and indulges no more.

Sheriff Jensen will do the hanging of Brown personally. A platform about 8 feet high from the floor will be built in the corridor of the county jail. This will have a trap in its top. The gallows will be erected over it and reach very near the ceiling. The execution will take place before sunrise, and will be all over probably before 4 o'clock a. m., Friday, September 20th. The sheriff will carry out the full letter and spirit of the new law regulating the infliction of capital punishment and exclude all newspaper reporters.

[Communicated.]

CROOKSTON, Aug. 30, 1889.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—A friend of the writer stated some time ago that not a saloon keeper in the city of Crookston observed the law they had sworn to observe when they applied for a license and received the same. So, to make sure of this, we decided to make a tour of inspection together and try to learn, as far as we could from outside observation, whether the above assertion was true or not. We went out last Sunday forenoon (Aug. 25th) and visited quite a number of places and found that at every saloon liquors were sold same as any other day in the week. In some places we even saw people enter right through the front door, and the back doors in all the places were wide open, and we could see the whole interior of the saloons, all of whom were pretty well filled with people. This shows that there must be something rotten somewhere in Denmark. We had not paid much attention to the matter beforehand, but since that day we have made comparisons between the number of people we saw under the influence of liquor the above mentioned Sunday, and those of any week day since then, and the truth is that we saw, and can see, more drunken men on the Lord's day than on any other day of the week. Now, the saloon keepers ought to know that they are but a tolerated class at best, and it seems to us that if they are unable to make a living by selling whisky from 5 o'clock a. m. till 11 p. m. without having to violate the very laws they have sworn to observe, then they ought to quit the business, for it must be that they are either not fit business men or unfit to be endowed with the trust that a license imposes on every applicant for such an one. Another thing must also be referred to in this connection, namely, that the city administration cannot be doing its duty, for being that they were elected upon the supposition and took a solemn oath that they would enforce the laws existing, the above state of affairs shows them up in a very poor light. THE JOURNAL mentioned some time ago about that certain house below the hill. Well, now, it is a fact that that institution is running the same as six months ago, and although an "efficient" police force cannot have failed to notice their presence in our midst, they are plying their nefarious traffic, seemingly undisturbed, and if it has really come to this that the police must be prodded forward by petitions and prayers every time it is to do its duty, it must certainly be time to call a halt. The citizens of our fair Queen City will not submit to this state of things much longer, but lax authorities, law breakers and all will find to their sorrow that organized public indignation will some day in the near future audit their accounts exceedingly close.

Yours for law and order temperance,

HENRY P. PETERSON,
C. T., Lodge No. 64, I. O. G. T.

Moorhead News: President J. J. Hill, of the Manitoba road, has generously extended an invitation to the Jobbers' Union, of St. Paul, to go in a body over his road to Helena, Montana, visiting on the way all intermediate points. The invitation has been accepted; but the date is not yet definitely fixed. It will not occur, however, until after the Minnesota State Fair.

We suppose this free ride to men who are abundantly able to pay their fare, is proffered on the theory that it will advertise the road, make men who are heavy shippers friends thereof, and generally tend to increase its business. But the local dealers pay the freight. Why should they not come in for a little attention? Farmers furnish more freight to the Manitoba and Northern Pacific roads than perhaps any class of men, but whoever heard of any railroad company giving a free junketing tour to them? Railroad favors seem to be confined to politicians, wholesale dealers and residents of the large cities. The country fellow is a good fellow when his vote is wanted, but at any other time he cuts a very small figure. Why? Just because he does not use his strength but is induced by flattery or cajolery to lavish it away upon the city fellows when they ask for it.

Moorhead News: Representative Comstock has just rewarded two old soldiers by having them appointed to office as follows: Calvin L. Spaulding, postmaster at Brainerd, and Calvin H. Day, postmaster at Detroit.

Moorhead News: Mr. N. H. Fulton formerly a resident of this county, and who was foreman on "Fountain Place" for several years, is in charge of the creamery at Crookston. He writes that he likes it there firstrate; and he and family are well.

REPAIRS

For the Massillon Thresher and the Minneapolis self-binder. Also handle the Minneapolis self-binder. See Collins, at Collins' Livery Stable. [15-22]

IT PAYS

TO TRADE WITH

BARNES & SLOCUM,

CASH DEALERS IN

Groceries and Crockery.

Get their prices and you will say so.

McKinnon Block, Robert St., Crookston.

I Again Start the Ball Rolling!

By announcing that my

New Spring Stock

—OF—

JEWELRY,

CLOCKS

—AND—

SILVERWARE,

St. Paul
LARGEST & MOST COMPLETE STOCK OF JEWELRY, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE,
SPECTACLES ETC. ETC.
ALL WORK WARRANTED, AND PERFECT SATISFACTION GUARRANTEED, AT BOTTOM PRICES
Saake

HAS ARRIVED,

And which I now offer one-quarter cheaper than they were ever sold before in this city.

☞ The stock is NEW and of the LATEST DESIGNS, and consists of everything pertaining to goods in my line.

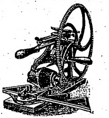
All Beautiful and all very Cheap. Don't delay, but come at once to my store and select goods you may be in need of.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIALTY.

C. H. SAAKE,

ROBERT STREET CROOKSTON.

A Word to the "Wise Farmer."



Are Your Crops Short This Season?

Then there is the greater reason why you should save every dollar possible. You will not be practicing wisdom nor economy if you fail to procure one of the "BEST" Sickle Grinders. These grinders do not draw the temper, are simple, durable and a decided success. The stone does not gum up or become glazed, but is always sharp. Its cutting qualities are excelled only by the "diamond. If you have any old sickles that you cannot sharpen satisfactorily, try my grinder, and after seeing how easily you can make it as good as new, you will readily see how you can save a number of dollars by purchasing one. It is not necessary for me to tell you of the trouble you always have in grinding your sickles on a grindstone—you know all about it. With this grinder (after the knives are once adapted to the tone) you can sharpen a sickle in a very short time; you can also grind out the nicks so they will cut as well as the unbroken edge. The stone is pure corundron (not emery) and water does not affect it; it is porous and will absorb water like a sponge. A straight stone is furnished as an extra, with which you can grind plow points, axes, butcher knives, or, in fact, anything that needs sharpening. I will guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

N. P. JOHNSON, Crookston,
Agent for Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson Counties. [13-tf]

Clifton Hotel

JOHN B. BAKER, Prop.

American and European Plans.

New, Elegant, Complete; all modern improvements; First-class style; moderate prices.

Rates—$2, $2.50 and $3. Rooms $1 and Upward.

Fifth and Wabasha streets,
ST. PAUL, - - - MINN
[32-tf

D. D. WILLIAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
COUNTY ATTORNEY,
OFFICE ON SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON - - MINNESOTA

CHAS. M. LOWE,

Real Estate

FARM LOANS

Loans Made on Good Farms Without Delay!

☞NO BONUS.☜

Low rates of interest. Money furnished to prove up claims and make payments on railroad lands.

FARMS FOR SALE in all parts of Polk County. Desirable City Property for residence and business purposes.

CAN SHOW YOU BARGAINS!

Office on Broadway, opposite Commercial Hotel.

CHRISTIANSON BROTHERS,

(Correspondents Fargo Loan Agency.)

REAL ESTATE,

Farm Mortgage Loans and Insurance.

☞ Special Bargains in Choice Farm Lands, improved and unimproved. Low prices and easy terms.

—OFFICE ON ROBERT STREET.—

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

MINNESOTA HOUSE,

ONE-HALF BLOCK FROM DEPOT.

WM. HEIDRICH, - - Proprietor.

Having rented this Popular House and thoroughly re-fitted and re-furnished it throughout, I am now prepared to meet the wants of all who want good and cheap accommodations.

☞ Farmers custom speciallyinvited,

Terms $1.00 per Day.

M. LeGUEE,

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

H. STEENERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., SEPTEMBER 5, 1889.

'Round Home.

Wheat, No. 1 Hard, 64 cents.

Go and see the Noss Family to-night.

The county board will meet on Monday next.

Max Ericsson went up to Fosston last Thursday.

Senator Burkhardt intends to take in the State Fair.

Twenty-nine cars of stock arrived at the yards on Monday evening.

A new crosswalk is laid between the Methodist church and the Cleveland house.

The Noss Family comes well recommended. Lovers of music should not miss it.

Our city schools commenced labor on Monday morning with a fine attendance.

Frank Benoit arrived from St. Paul on Tuesday morning on a visit to friends in this city.

Henry Peterson will build a sample room at Fosston and go into business for himself.

The boys all agree that Milwaukee cut a big cheese wide open—barrels of fun and so forth.

Tim Donovan took in Chicago on the side and bought a big stock of goods for the Emporium.

Mrs. Fred Dato came in from the lake last week for a visit with friends in the city for a few days.

Mr. Mundigal, the East Grand Forks brewery man put up with mine host Burkhart on Tuesday.

Mrs. T. M. Brown came over on Sunday evening to visit in the family of her father, Mr. T. C. Shapleigh.

John Wyand is building a new granary. Looks like he intends to be independent of elevators this fall.

J. P. Lundin and family came down on Saturday's train en route for St. Paul. His family will go to Illinois for a month's visit with relatives.

Stock is arriving at the rate of one or two train-loads per day; some of it being from forty miles south of the Northern Pacific, in Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Greenhalgh are called upon to mourn the loss of their little two months old girl baby, which sad event occurred on Tuesday night.

Editor Love, of the Hallock Enterprise, announces the convalescence of his wife, whose life for a time was despaired of. We extend congratulations.

August Wentzel has just put an Italian marble wash stand into the Cleveland House wash-room. It is as neat and complete as could be found in any city,

Mrs. E. E. Bangs and Mrs. John Wyatt went out to Maple Lake last Thursday, intending to spend a week enjoying the beauties of that famous summer resort.

The Polk County Teachers' Institute convened on Monday afternoon at the court house with 50 teachers in attendance. Prof. Casey and Prof. Carruth have charge.

The Cleveland House boasts of a fine new register capable of containing the names of many hundreds of guests. Rudy says they are bound to keep in style if they have to bust the bank.

THE JOURNAL acknowledges receipt of the Rush City Post, now edited by Mr. A. H. Smith, till recently a resident of this city. Mr. Smith is an experienced newspaper man and will keep the Post fully up to its standard of excellence.

Lewis Borchis, Walters' partner at Red Lake Falls and M. Skola, of the same enterprising city, were in the city on Tuesday chatting with old friends and drinking in the ozone of our famous city.

Eddie Walters took the third finger of his left hand off on a buzz-saw at the brewery on Wednesday of last week. He now has two fingers on that hand, having taken off the fore finger with an ax some two years since.

Geo. McLean, accompanied by his niece, Miss Nellie Hunt, of Manhatton, Kansas, arrived on Thursday last. George will remain permanently if he secures a situation and Miss Nellie will attend school here for awhile.

Creamer & Collins sold a Minnesota Chief Thresher and a giant engine to A. N. Hixson last week. The thresher has one of those new self-feeder attachments that are said to beat the world for feeding threshing machines.

Mr. A. Guthrie, formerly division superintendent, has accepted the position of general manager of the Duluth & Winnipeg road. Mr. Guthrie has hosts of friends in the Northwest and he is a general favorite with the railroad boys.

H. D. Pinkerton and family came over from Michigan City on Saturday evening. Mrs. Pinkerton and the children will remain for several days. H. D. says that crops in his vicinity are not to exceed one-half the usual yield.

The Fisher Bulletin announces the marriage of Mr. De Forest Bucklen, of this city, to Miss Clara Pettibone, of Fisher, which event took place on Thursday evening, August 29th, at the residence of L. C. McKnight, of Fisher.

Go and see the Noss Family to-night.

How about that bear hunt Hayes?

A. C. Schmidt is neatly papering the office of Montague & Bucklen.

Chris Houston has threshed out 4,000 bushels of wheat. It grades 1 Northern.

R. J. Montague is in St. Paul attending to his duties on the State Board of Equalization.

Ed. George returned from the Milwaukee reunion on Monday. He says it was the biggest kind of a time.

W. O. Wilson intends to surprise himself with a much needed vacation. He intends to take in the State Fair.

On Monday morning Jos. Laurence and wife and Sid Markham and family started for Tacoma. Their car of household goods started on Sunday night via Glyndon and the N. P. in care of Les Grey.

During the thunder shower last week lightning struck a shock on E. D. Childs' wheat field, on section nine, in Fairfax, burning it up entirely and threatening a general conflagration. M. E. Bartlett's men extinguished the flames before further damage was done.

The wide-awake editor of the Northfield News, has issued a pamphlet discriptive of the advantages of Northfield. The work is creditable to Northfield and the News. Heatwole is an independent genius and is proving a veritable thorn in the flesh to Minneapolis journalism.

Manager Rapin was much chagrined at the performance of the Thompson troupe. He has been very careful to book only the very best and it broke him all up to get hold of such a company. However, our people do not blame him, knowing that he has tried his best to procure the best for his patrons.

$100,000 to loan.

JOHN MCLEAN.

The G. A. R. car arrived on Tuesday morning with comrades Hayes, Jennings, Jacobus, Zarracher, Greenhalgh, Carlton and Campian. The boys report having had a red-hot time in every sense of the word. The sham battle on sea and land was the finest display ever witnessed in America. It was witnessed by thousands.

Tom Young took a tumble to himself on Monday morning. He drove the sprinkler upon the scales in front of Herb's, at least one side of the wagon went on while the other did not, which upset the apple cart, throwing Tom into the middle of the street and breaking the tongue and other parts of the machine. Fortunately he did not get hurt and a few hours work repaired the damage.

The Fosston Thirteen Towns and the McIntosh Times nominates A. D. Wishard, of Fosston, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of E. F. Elliot. The East Grand Forks Courier suggests the name of Prof. T. Casey, and the Crookston Times sits down on its haunches and snarls because THE JOURNAL last week nominated Prof. Casey. Never mind, neighbor, we see that there are some things that even you don't know anything about.

There will be a great rush at the Swedish Ladies concert. Andy Stephens reports the sale of 50 tickets in Warren, 20 at Hallock, 25 at Euclid, 50 at Fisher and a few in every village in Polk County. Arrangements have been made to have the train from the north arrive in time for the exercises. The Opera House will no doubt be taxed to its utmost capacity for the occasion. Our citizens should not neglect to secure their tickets early.

Vice-president and general manager Allen Manvel, of the Manitoba road, has resigned and accepted the position of general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R. Mr. Manvel is one of the most experienced railroad men in the state and under his management the Manitoba road had become one of the best paying roads in existence. His policy seems to be in every instance far more favorable to the road than to the patrons thereof along its line. While this policy tends to enrich the stockholders, it discourages and retards the settlement of the country, also encourages the building of competing lines of road. Mr. A. L. Mobler, assistant manager, will succeed Mr. Manvel as general manager.

One year ago last spring M. E. Bartlott set out 20,000 young cottonwoods from F. T. Haseltine's nursery. The trees were from one foot to eighteen inches in length, and Mr. Bartlett was faithful in cultivating during the season, not allowing a weed to grow among the trees. The trees did fairly well, a very small percentage perishing, and last spring were in excellent shape to grow. He pursued the same thorough method of cultivation this year as last, but the severe drouth seemed to check their growth very materially until the rains came, when the trees shot upward like corn and have continued to make surprising growth, now standing from five to ten feet all over the field. Next spring the program will be to trim all lateral shoots and lower limbs, thus leaving a lot of fine healthy young trees which will be cultivated as before, and in a year or so he will be rewarded by seeing a fine young forest, affording ample shade and wind break. This case is by no means an exceptional one, and could no doubt be duplicated upon every prairie farm in Polk County. When we consider the ease with which trees may be grown, it is a matter of wonder that there are so few attempts made. The value of a fine thrifty grove on a farm can hardly be overestimated.

The Heated Term.

Last week was one of the hottest ever experienced in the history of this country. It wound up on Sunday with a high wind from the south that had all the elements of a regular simoom—as hot as an oven. About 8 o'clock in the evening the wind changed into the west and a cool wave came, giving great relief and refreshing humanity wonderfully. So far this week the weather has been as lovely as a poet's dream.

Dropped Dead in the Harness.

John Wyand lost a valuable horse on Thursday last. The horse had apparently been as well as usual, worked all right till noon, ate a good hearty dinner as usual and worked all right until 2:30, when it fell and expired before the harness could be removed. John is at a loss to know what was the cause of death, but suspects that it was the hot weather.

The Noss Family.

Of this celebrated company which appears in the Opera house to-night the Evening Journal, of Superior, Wis., says:

Any who attended the entertainment given by the Noss Family last evening, expecting the ordinary combination of clasical, sacred and comic music, were no doubt disappointed. Those who expected a mere conglomeration of mirth-provoking songs, were perhaps not disappointed, but were so variously entertained, that they would hardly know whether they had attended a concert or a comedy set to music. For variety, ranging from the sublime to the ridiculous, the entertainment would capture the whole bakery. Where all do so well, it would be difficult to specilize, but we cannot refrain from mentioning the Saxophone Quintette, as not only more but most pleasing, calling out a hearty encore. The "Sleighing Party" was a beautiful combination of musical effects, carrying the mind of one who had ever been out to an all-night sleighing party with his best girl back to those days with vivid recollections.

Taken all in all the entertainment is one that should not be missed by any one who would spend a couple of hours in mirthful enjoyment, and at the same time enjoy a real musical treat.

Ten carloads of stock arrived on Tuesday en route for Montana, and stopped at the stock yards for food and water. Cattle men tell us that our stock yards are the best on this line, or the N. P. either, for comfort and convenience. The yard is in good hands.

Money to loan in large or small sums on good farms. Choice farms and city property for sale. CHAS. M. LOW,
[17-tf] Broadway, Crookston.

The State Fair opens to-morrow and extends through the whole of next week. Col. Liggett, Supt. of the Cattle Department, says the display in that department will be finer and more extensive than ever before, and Col. Chambers makes the same report in relation to horses. Many of our citizens are making preparations to go down next week.

Anent the report in the Moorhead News and the Fergus Falls Journal which appears elsewhere in this issue, THE JOURNAL interviewed our wheat buyers in Crookston. They say that the only instructions they have is to buy so that grades will hold out. They say further that they will buy wheat subject to State inspection, so that if the State inspector grades it 1 Hard the farmer will get that grade.

On Sunday, Aug. 25th, A. C. Schmidt, the painter, allowed to go out after a few prairie chickens, that is why he got up so early and had his dog and gun all ready. When the party he was to go with drove up for him a little later, A. C. went out and informed the boys that he was afraid that he should have to give up going because A. C. Schmidt Jr., who had just arrived, was making a great hue and cry because he found his dad making active preparations to go for a big hunt, apparently without any preparations for him to go along. The youngster changed the deal and obliged A. C. to stop at home and introduce him to Crookston society. Schmidt says that lad will be a politician some day, as he already knows how to make his wants known and how to obtain them.

A. L. Mohler, the new general manager of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba R. R. is an old employe of the road who has faithfully performed the duties of his office in every position to which he has been called, and we believe that his policy will be far better for this country than has been that of Mr. Manvel. We have the opinion that Mr. Hill's aim and policy has ever been more for the future success of his road than the present upbuilding of immense fortunes for the stockholders, hence he has spent thousands of dollars in pushing the road into the trackless wilderness far in advance of civilization or the apparent needs of the country. This policy would have a tendency to build up the country and provide amply for the future of the road. Some of the stockholders have kicked at this policy, preferring the big profits now, to waiting for the greater of the future; this element we believe Mr. Manvel represents and the result has been unpleasantness in the camp, and the result of the policy has been to distress the settlers and encourage the upbuilding of rival lines. It is said that Mr. Mohler is in full accord with the master mind of the great enterprise, in fact is his choice in which case we may hope to see a radical improvement that shall be to the benefit of all concerned. Let us so hope.

Crookston Times:—"A man giving his name as Gautier de St. Croix, of London, England, and representing himself to be the agent of certain English millers, was in the city on Tuesday. His object in visiting this section, he says, is to secure our No. 1 Hard wheat for shipment direct to England. He claims to have rented elevator room at Duluth, Buffalo, and New York, where he will store the grain for shipment. This gentleman may be all that he claims, but our farmers would do well to be sure of their money before they part with their wheat."

That is very a conservative view truly but in the light of past events a very pessimistic view withal. Mr. de Ste. Croix has been corresponding with all of the leading papers in the Red River Valley for over a year and comes armed with credentials to fully establish his identity; moreover he does not ask farmers to trust him with a bushel of wheat before they have the money for it in hand. If a farmer is desirous to ship his wheat direct to the English millers all he has to do is to ship his wheat TO HIMSELF at Duluth in the care of Gautier de Ste. Croix. When the wheat is graded by the State inspector, Mr. de Ste. Croix places the money in any bank in Crookston the farmer designates so that there is no more danger of loss then by selling to any dealer. To make the matter absolutely sure, and to accommodate all who do not wish to ship their wheat Mr. F. M. Brown has been appointed to represent Mr. de Ste. Croix in this city and the business can be done by him through our banks at a small cost. If the theory of the English millers is correct, our No. 1 Hard wheat is over all other wheats and any plan that allows the farmer to place his wheat unmixed in the English markets gives the farmer that premium. Every farmer well knows that the opinion has been, and is general that the system of mixing hard and soft wheats before shipment to the English markets has been against the interests of the farmer and to break that system and supply the English miller with our No. 1 Hard wheat in its purity they have sent their agent to buy the wheat right from our granaries, so that, if there is anything evil in the system of mixing wheat this plan will eradicate it and our own producers will save the margin what heretofore has gone to enrich the middleman. Our farmers are painfully aware of the fact that while for a few years they have made very little money raising wheat, large fortunes have been made in handling wheat and in milling it. It is time for a halt and for the producer to have a chance at some of these big profits and if mixing is the cause we here have an opportunity to change the deal. Whether our farmers will take sufficient interest in their business to look into this matter and give it a trial remains to be seen but the millers will have some of our wheat for they have already made arrangements with some of the leading farmers of Dakota, those who raise from 10,000 to 50,000 bushels of wheat to handle their crops and thus they will secure enough to make the trial. Some of the leading farmers of Minnesota will also give it a trial. They are sure of one thing in the start: that if they ship their own wheat themselves they will gain at least five cents per bushel, even at present Minnesota prices. If this movement is successful it is the entering wedge that will break up the system by which the producer is prevented from getting a fair share of the profits, and it deserves at least our earnest consideration. We should never allow the false idea that we can do nothing to prevent our trying every feasible plan presented to do something, and even should this plan this year give us no more for our wheat than selling it in Duluth would we still should, try it for the promise of future relief that it contains. All who do not fully comprehend the plan can easily satisfy themselves by calling on F. M. Brown, at the livery stable office of M. R. Brown in this city, who is prepared to ship wheat for all who desire. We would not advise any one who knows that his wheat will not grade No. 1 Hard to ship, as No. 1 Hard alone is wanted by the millers.

WORTH A PREMIUM

Since the above was in type THE JOURNAL has received the following circular letter addressed to farmers and all interested in seeing the producer obtain the best price possible for his grain, which we publish without further comment:

OFFICE OF
GAUTIER DE STE. CROIX,
GRAIN COMMISSIONER.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 31, 1889.

The fluctuations in the value of wheat in the world's markets during the week has been fairly wide. At the opening of the week, firmness with a strong upward tone was the rule; this generally culminated about Thursday, since when weakness with a decided declining tendency has generally set in.

In Europe the late firmness was produced by broken weather, interfering with and delaying harvest in the west. My cables now for the last few days report a return of fine settled weather, bringing about a complete revulsion of feeling in England, where market comes weak and declining smartly.

This country was not slow to follow the lead from Europe, starting in with an improvement that reached about two cents. Top prices, however, were reached on Thursday, since when the weaker tone of European markets, splendid weather here, and prospect of large increase in receipts, has broken market, decline now averaging 1½ cents from top.

The statement of the Vienna Congress that the world's crops for the year were short, was not without its influence. What this learned body of guessers (for their statement cannot, at the present period, be anything beyond the purest assumption), mean by the year's crops to me is not clear. I imagine they still work on the exploded theory of the cereal year. This manner of calculating is now, for all practical purposes, useless; for with wheat being grown all over this globe, and harvest going on somewhere on it all the year round, any estimate attempted to be made will, it is evident, require frequent alteration, and cannot possibly be taken on an annual basis.

My cable from Liverpool to-day reads:

"Market neglected and declining. Brilliant summer weather is having its usual effect, producing neglection."

Duluth market to-day closes firm and dearer.

No. 1 Hard, 81¼ nominal cash.
" " 80¾ bid Sept.
" " 81¾ bid Dec.

For some time the want of more intimate relations between the millers of England and producers of wheat in northwest of America has been felt, both sides fully realizing the mutual benefit a closer intercourse between them would be. The object of my visit to this country is to endeavor to satisfy this want, in which, should you desire to co-operate, I shall feel much pleased to correspond with you and fully explain details. Yours faithfully,

GAUTIER DE STE. CROIX.

Born.

On Tuesday, to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Greenhalgh, a son. Sam is entitled to rank among the smartest men in Polk County.

H. C. Grey, editor and publisher of the Malden Mirror and the Chelsea Record, Mass., was a caller at THE JOURNAL office on Wednesday. Mr. Grey is up on a visit to relatives at Mentor and says the great Northwest is a revelation to him. He is very favorably impressed with what he has seen.

Last week our authorities were notified by the Winnipeg police that the watches stolen in Crookston had been found in possession of a person in that city. E. M. Walsh went down and identified the property and it will be returned.

Too late for extensive notice THE JOURNAL learns that the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church have secured the Stewart Grand Concert company for Monday Evening, Sept. 16th. Full particulars next week.

And even "Joe Morgan" is kicking on that grade, it is said.

"If you are a friend of Hayes, "come at once!" Eh, Jake?

Warren Warbles.

From the Register Aug. 28th.

A good many threshers are at work in the wheat fields, and the grain is coming into the elevators. Most of the grain is more or less shrunken. To what extent it is damaged will require the test of its flour producing quality to determine, we suppose.

Judge Nelson, Judge Lakin, C. McAninch and Walter Winchester went out for a hunt yesterday, with the intention of camping out last night. Judge Nelson was made a committee on conveyance, Judge Lakin on sleeping quarters, Mr. McAninch on provisions, and Walter Winchester on dogs. Three of the party are old-time hunters and we expect to see them return with lots of game.

Sammy Rooke is the champion bear killer in these parts. The other day he killed two in the pasture of E. R. Ross, in Warrenton—an old one and a young one, both as fat as butte. Sammy now has bear meat galore. While he was skinning the bears, Ed. Edlund came driving by with John Lindberg's team of ponies to a buggy, and the ponies getting a scent of the dead bears became unmanageable, and ran away, throwing Ed. out of the buggy, bruising him somewhat, and damaging the buggy more or less,

Four gentlemen from the east came to Warren Friday to spend a few days in the vicinity shooting prairie chickens. On returning from their hunt Friday evening they left their three dogs in Fred Tripp's livery barn. During the night some person or persons enticed or carried all three of the dogs away, but one of them escaped and returned to his owner. The other two have not since been seen, although a reward of $25 was offered by the owners, they pledging themselves to ask no questions. Saturday morning four boys, who had been at Tripp's barn the evening before to look at the dogs, were arrested on suspicion of being the guilty parties, but were seen after released, there appearing no grounds, whatever, for suspecting them. Both dogs were valuable animals, one, it is said, having cost its owner $200. The hunters left Sunday for the east.

The editor of the Register arrived at home last Sunday forenoon, and will start back to Mt. Carroll, Ill., to-morrow evening with his children, who will attend school there; the two girls will enter Mount Carroll seminary, one of the principal educational institutions for young ladies in the northwest; the boys will attend the public school there. We expect to return to Warren during the first part of November, and remain till the fall term of the District Court is over, and will be in Warren at intervals, while the present arrangements lasts. The business here will go on as usual. C. L. Stevens will attend to it during our absence.

MONEY TO LOAN

On city property. Inquire of Paterson & Lilly. [52-tf]

For Sale.

Threshing rig complete, twelve horse straw-burner engine, separator, new belting, all in good running order. $325 cash will buy the outfit. Call on or address, Jas. Greenhalgh Sr., Crookston, Minn. [19-tf]

20 Cts. GRAMERY BUTTERY. 20 Cts,
Delivered at any address in the city.
WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

C. O. D. COLUMN.

GREAT BOOT SALE!

We are Going to Close out our Entire Boot Stock.

Everything must Go?

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE PRICES

$5.00 BOOTS $3.75
$4.50 " $3.25
$4.00 " $3.00

$3.75 BOOTS $2.75
$3.50 " $2.25
$3.00 " $2.00

Plow Boots $1.50 and $1.75.

C. O. D. CLOTHING HOUSE.

Largest Establishment in the North-west.

Polk County Teachers' Institute.

The Teachers' Institute met at the Court House at 2 o'clock p. m. Monday, in charge of the County Superintendent of Schools and the instructors, J. T. McCleary, of the Mankato Normal school, and W. W. Pendergast, Assistant State Superintendant.

The following teachers have been enrolled up to the present time: Lizzie M. Fairweather, Euclid; Katy Marin, Crookston; Edith M. Cochrane, Crookston; Retta Hutchinson, Crookston; Georgiana Toulouse, Lambert; W. N. Hannah, Carman; Fred Copp, Crookston; Theo. A. Thompson, Lindsay; Addie Roberge, Crookston; Agnes C. J. Fairweather, Euclid; Maria Ralph, Red Lake Falls; Hattie Thomas Crookston; Florence Columbus, Crookston; M. A. Crookshanks, Argus; Ida Hancock, Euclid; L. P. Branness, St. Hilaire; Minnie Milne, Crookston; Mary Milne, Crookston; Nellie McAvoy, Crookston; Rose Ford, Crookston; Alice M. Childs, Carman; Maud Sargent, Crookston; Rachel Nicholson, Crookston; Carrie J. Brown, Crookston; Annie E. Fetzer, Crookston; Bridget J. Hillgrove, Red Lake Falls; Lillian Burleigh, Crookston; Nellie Hunter, Maple Bay; Belle Kyle, Crookston; Francis K. Deming, Red Lake Falls; Nils S. Ovrebo, Fertile; Mollie E. Dufley, Red Lake Falls; Alphonse Lefebvre, Red Lake Falls; Terry Shely, Red Lake Falls; W. F. Nicholson, Crookston; Annie B. Johnson, Crookston; Mrs. M. Cornelius, Crookston; Kate McAnulty, Tilden; Jennie Lanterman, Crookston; Daisy M. Barteau, Angus; Mrs. Emily Rosaaen, Fisher; Peter L. Rene, Rindal; Ellen A. Hannah, Fisher; Emma Woodall, Fisher; Carrie McKercher, Mallory; Carrie Stranahan, St. Hilaire; Annie G. Power, Wylie; Ettie Howind, Crookston; John M. Kirsch, Euclid; C. C. Ostby, McIntosh; Clara E. Bullan, Crookston; Eva M. Bullan, Crookston; Annie R. Little, Red Lake Falls; Lizzie Boyle, Red Lake Falls; A. A. Lommen, Crookston; D. Grundyson, Hansville; A. D. Wishard, Fosston; Lizzie Sprague, Fisher.

Thirteen Towns: We are in receipt of a letter from that personification of benevolence and well known farmers' friend, A. D. Stephens, of Crookston, in which he says the Swedish Ladies Octette is the grandest entertainment that has ever visited the Red River Valley, and advises his numerous friends in Fosston and vicinity to be sure and attend the concert at Crookston September 19th.

The Royal Clyde.

D. J. McFarland and L. J. Davies are in the city with four thoroughbred Clyde horses and one thoroughbred Percheron, from the breeding establishment of E. Bennet & Son, of Topeka, Kansas, of whom the Breeders' Gazette speaks as being the "leading western importers of Clydesdale, Percheron, Cleveland Bays and French Coach horses." The Clydes now on sale in this city are descendants from some of the most noted sires of that noble breed among them "Prince of Wales," "Hercules," &c., and are all fine individuals. The general plan of sale of these gentlemen is to form a company composed of from eight to ten persons (or as many as desire) placing a share at $100 and give from two to three years time at 8 per cent per annum. Thus if a farmer who is much of a breeder takes two shares he would save more than his ordinary service fees would amount in a year and be sure of the use of a thoroughbred sire of undoubted pedigree. A company is nearly formed to buy a $2,500 horse and there is ample room in the county for the whole five. Wherever the stock company plan has been tried it has worked successfully and THE JOURNAL hopes at least to see the plan tried in Polk County by several companies. While we have some excellent colts, natives of the county, we have altogether too many sired by grades that are not so good and every opportunity to improve should be taken advantage of. Every horse in this lot should remain in Polk County.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
OFFICE OF RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION.

ST. PAUL, August 31st, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance to the provisions of Section 10 of Chapter 10, General Laws of Minnesota of 1887, the Railroad and Warehouse Commission of the State of Minnesota, will visit Crookston in Polk County, on the 19th day of September. They will arrive at 12 m., and remain until 2 p. m.

Any person or persons desiring to confer with the commission are requested not only to be present at such meeting but also to communicate with us by letter, addressed to: The Railroad and Warehouse Commission, St. Paul, Minn., as soon as convenient, to the end that the visit may be made as profitable to all concerned as possible.

By the Commission.

TAMS BIXBY, Secretary.

Pursuant to above notice is hereby given that a meeting will be held at the Fire Department Headquarters, McKinnon Block, in the city of Crookston at 1 o'clock p. m., of that day to give all who may desire to do so an opportunity to meet the commission.

By order of Chamber of Commerce,

A. D. STEPHENS, Secretary.

For Sale Cheap.

3 14-inch steel beam plows with coulters.
1 Champion Broadcast Sower.
1 4-horse Evener for binder.
1 No. 11 Osborne Binder, with Bundle Carrier.
1 Acme Harrow.
1 Warehouse Truck.
1 Van Brunt Seeder, 12 hoe.
1 No. 4 Osborne Mower.
1 Hollingsworth Hay Rake.
1 Feed Cutter.
1 12-horse Minn. Giant Traction Engine.
1 Wagon, complete.
1 Single Harness.
20 gallons Machine Oil.
4 good Milch Cows.
3 Work Mares.

C. M. LOWE,
[12-tf] At Law Office of Wm. Watts.

WEST FOSSTON

IS THE

CHICAGO OF THE NORTHWEST.

NEXT WEEK

WE WILL TELL YOU

WHY!

Wheat Grading.

Fergus Falls Journal: Elsewhere in this issue is an article from the Moorhead News on the grading of wheat. It seems that there is a determined effort not to grade any wheat No. 1 hard. Farmers have already made complaints to this office that the same course was being pursued here in Fergus Falls. We are not experts in wheat grading, but if the wheat grown in Otter Tail County this year is not No. 1 hard it certainly can't be grown. The Moorhead News tells how certain parties got justice done them; they simply shipped it to Duluth where they got a state inspection and got No. 1 hard. Our farmers have got a good crop this year and we want them to get all they are entitled to for it.

Duluth Herald: The encampments of the Grand Army of the Republic year by year revive sad and stirring memories, and while ranks dwindle and steps falter, the impressiveness of the successive reunions grows deeper instead of fainter. Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war, and the grandeur of this army of the people was never more signally shown forth than on the day which Corporal Tanner proudly recalls, when like the subsiding waves of the ocean, "this great belted band of blue broke on the shores of peace and sank away into the quiet ranks of citizenship, and the world knew it no more." Of all armies this surely is first in peace, first in war and first in the hearts of its countrymen.

Northfield News: There are but very few observant persons who will not admit that too much time and energy have of late been spent in abusing the man who sells that on which men may get drunk, while there has been too much indulgence for the man who gets drunk. The strongest agency in preventing men from becoming drunkards during the last generation has not been the enactment of laws to debar them from buying drink, but the growing realization that they cannot afford to become drunk—that it now means for the lawyer the loss of his clients, for the physician the dwindling of his practice, for the congressman the risk of his seat in the capitol, for the business man the shaking of public confidence, for the laboring man the danger of "losing his job." The chief aim of all good citizens in this matter should be to make drunkenness constantly more and more odious and thus less and less common; and this must always and everywhere be the work of education and training in far greater measure than that of law.

Irreverent.

Mankato Free Press: The Hon. Timothy E. Byrnes, of Minneapolis, so called appointment clerk of the Treasury Department, is a genial gentleman of fine appearance and good qualifications. Along side of this prominently appears the fact that he formerly hailed from Indiana. More than all heretofore mentioned comes the information that he resides (or did before going to Washington) in Minneapolis. That ought to settle the whole question. But when we see in the Washington specials to the twin city papers that what the Hon. Timothy E. Byrnes says regarding the appointments in the treasury department comes very near being law, we cannot conceal a broad, good natured smile. Bless you, the Hon. Timothy E. Byrnes is nothing more nor less than a "brief clerk," that is to say, he files away your applications and when the time comes for appointing an applicant from Minnesota if your name does not appear in the pigeon hole labeled "Minneapolis" you are heard of no more forever. Come down off the perch, boys.

State Fair Art Collection.

A fine painting, especially when it dwells upon the passion of love, and has for its two central figures Venus the divine queen of love, and Tannhauser, the minstrel bard of Germany, is an object worthy of the highest degree of attention from the people of the entire state. It is safe to say that Mr. Julius Kessler, of St. Paul, in tendering to the State Fair Society for exhibition the remarkable painting owned by him, and known as "Venus and Tannhauser," has put before the public a work of such European fame, and of such marvelous execution, as has never been seen before in this country. In size the painting is as large as one side of an ordinary room. The figures are of life proportions, and the whole design is upon the scale of the tremendous. Tannhauser, waking from his dream of passion, starts from his couch to fly from the beautiful place. Venus rises at the same instant from her couch of gold, and throwing her lily-white arms about his neck, lifts to his face another face wild with pleading and love. So the Berlin master has caught and depicted them, and so has laid upon the canvas a parting famous in all legend, history and song. This painting alone will be well worthy of a trip to the State Fair to see. Too much cannot be said of its wonderful coloring, the work of silver and gold on the beautiful grotto of Venusberg, and those two beings, one human and one divine, taking a farewell separation, is simply perfect. Superintendent Munger is in raptures over his success in having secured this beautiful painting for the State Fair Art Gallery.

Wanted.

A good cook for a hotel. Apply at THE JOURNAL office at once.

If Not Why Not?

Have you given Attix & Co., a trial order for groceries? If not try one and see what they can do for you. If you want anything in the line of Dry Goods Yankee Notions or Groceries, call on Attix & Co., the Fifth ward merchants. [18-tf]

For Sale or Rent

Machine building occupied by Huggard, Larsen & Co., corner Broadway and Robert street. Inquire of C. M. Lowe, at Wm. Watts' Law Office. [10-tf]

NOTICE.

On and after this date all bills against the city must be in the comptroller's hands not later than 4 p. m., of the Monday preceeding the stated council meetings. No bills will be audited after that time.

May 2d 1889.

[2-tf] E. W. WILE, Comptroller.

MONY TO LOAN.

I. U. Jennings is prepared to loan money on city and farm property. [18-tf]

20 Cts. CREAMRYE BUTTER. 20 Cts.

Delivered to any address in the city.

WALSH & BJOIN, Prop's.

LIST OF LETTERS.

List of advertised letters in the P. O. Crookston for the week ending August 31st, 1889. Persons calling for any of these letters will please say "advertised."

Anderson, Lena
Anderson, Alma
Campbell, Edward
Davis, Ransom
Dahl, Mrs Bell
Eriksen, Ole
Gogln, R
Harrison, Miss Annie
Henderson, L.
Holmquist, Christine
Janson, Miss Helma
Johnson, Elmer E
Latelle, Adelle
McKay, D
Marten, Mrs Aren
McGahon, Jerome
Messelt, Sigrid J
Midtun, John
Nerland, Robert P
Paul, G H
Palmer, J
Parrosone, Jane
Reiner, Josef
Skavoll, Martha
Toussaint, Josie
Wood, Mrs C F

ALEX. MCKINNON, P. M.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

[First publication Sept. 5th 1889.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk,—ss
District Court.

P. C. Schmidt, Plaintiff. Against. Mrs. Annie M. Kelter, Charles F. Kelfer, George P. Graver, John A. Graver, Ida M. Graver, Emma G. Beggs, William D. Beggs, William H. Graver, Hattie J. Graver, Clara E. Graver, a minor, Albert B. Graver, a minor, Edward Graver, a minor, Margaret Graver, a minor, Bertha M. Graver, a minor, The Safe Deposit Co., of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, (a corporation created and organized under the laws of the State of Pensylvania) as guardian of the aboved named minors. Defendants.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court, 11th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of said plaintiff, and against said defendants. I have levied upon the following described property of said defendants, to-wit: All of sections sixteen (16,) twenty-three (23,) twenty-five (25,) twenty-seven (27) and thirty-six (36,) township one hundred and fifty-two (152) north, of range forty-eight (48) west, in said County of Polk, Minnesota. And that I shall, on Saturday the 26th day of October A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named defendants in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to twelve hundred and ten ($1,210 24) dollars and twenty-four cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 19th day of August 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., Sept. 4th 1889.

NILS O. PAULSRUD,
Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt,
Pl'ff's Att'y. in person. [20-26]

Crookston Nurseries

Established in 1879

Tree Claim Stock

A SPECIALTY.

I will furnish my customers and others, trees and seeds for Tree Claims at reduced figures in the spring of 1888. Also all the hardier varieties of small fruits, such as Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries. Also good thrifty Transcendent and Hislop Crab-Apple trees, Cottonwood and Box Elder trees. Box Elder and Ash seed, and Willow cuttings. Also garden seeds. The firm of Haseltine Bros. was dissolved in June, 1883. E. W Haseltine has no interest or share in the old Crookston Nurseries, nor is he successor to the old firm of Haseltine Bros. as has been advertised. I continue business on the old grounds in Crookston. Don't fail to send for catalogue of prices

FRANK T. HASELTINE, Prop.
Crookston, Minn.

DENTISTRY.

J. H. THOMAS, D. D. S.,

ROBERT STREET, - CROOKSTON, MINN

Artificial Teeth from one to an entire set inserted. Gold, Silver or Artificial Filling used as desired. Regulating Children's Teeth a specialty. ALL WORK WARRANTED

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon. Office on Broadway, east side, opposite Wm. Anglim's residence.

CROOKSTON

STEAM LAUNDRY.

I have just added New Machinery and Facilities for doing

Washing and Ironing

Upon the Shortest Notice in the Best Manner and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

All Those Wanting

FAMILY WASHING

Done will find it to their interest to call at the Laundry. Goods called for and delivered.

O. D. ROOD, Prop.,

Laundry Opposite Commercial Hotel on Second Street.

For Rent.

Six room house on Houston avenue Modern kitchen, water in house, and very convenient. Inquire at Wm. Watts' Law Office, on Broadway. [10-tf]

NEW CIGAR STORE,

SIGN OF THE IG INJUN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot of a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

Particular attention is invited to our line of Meerschaum Goods. NONE FINER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Drop In and See the New Store!

H. F. BROWN.

SCANDIA - AMERICAN BANK.

CROOKSTON, MINN.

Organized under the State Laws.

Authorized Capital.......$200,000
Paid in Capital.......50,000
Surplus.......2,500

COLLECTIONS A SPECIALTY.

OFFICERS:

Carl Hendricksen, President.
C. O. Christianson, Vice President.
O. H. Lucken, 2d Vice President.
A. G. Gallasch, Cashier.
Lewis Ellington, Asst. Cashier

DIRECTORS:

C. O. Christianson, - - - Crookston.
O. H. Lucken, - - - "
Lewis Ellington, - - - "
A. G. Gallasch, - - - "
T. J. Thorsen, - - - "
Max Ericsson, - - - "
A. D. Stephens, - - - "
E. P. Pierce, - - - "
J. H. Locken, - - - "
Carl Hendricksen, - - - Grafton.
A. E. Johnson, - - - St. Paul.

THE NEW CLEVELAND HOUSE,

Is now ready for the reception of guests. I have just completed the addition, thoroughly renovated, papered and painted, and am now ready to welcome old guests and new to a comfortable, home-like hotel. House convenient to all business places.

Give the New Cleveland House a call.

H. BURKHARDT, Prop.

CHEAP BINDING TWINE!

SAFE HAIL AND CYCLONE INSURANCE!

IN THE

Farmers Own Company!

FISK & THORNTON,

Carman, - - - - Minnesota.

S. L. COLLINS

PROPRIETOR OF

MAIN STREET

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables

CORNER MAIN AND FOURTH STS, WEST SIDE,

Crookston, - - - Minnesota.

Horses bought and sold on commission.
Everything neat and nobby.
Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection which I will attend to in person.

Fontaine & Anglim's SHOE STORE

We carry an exceptionally large line of

HAND TURNED GOODS From the Celebrate Factory of E. P. REED & CO.,

The Largest Factory in the country, which makes nothing but

LADIES' FINE SHOES!

The Price of these Goods we hold at $3.00 and $4.00

Which we will place against any $4.00 and $5.00 goods in the city for wear, style and fit.

A special invitation is extended to the Ladies to call and examine our stock. Experienced salesmen to wait upon our customers.

We Have Just Received

ONE CARLOAD OF

FARM IMPLEMENTS,

CONSISTING OF

J. I. C. Wagons and Little Giant Gang Plows.

These we will sell at a Close Margin, and we hope to see our friends call at once and get bargains. The balance of our BUGGIES we will dispose of AT COST. We still continue to sell the only perfect Seed Separator, the Renowned Centennial FANNING MILL. Farmers who intend to get best grade for their wheat must necesarily procure one. The Shaker POTATO DIGGER does its work thoroughly and leaves the potatoes clean upon the ground. We want every Farmer to have one.

McKINNON BROS.,

McKINNON BLOCK, - - - CROOKSTON, MINN.

FRANK IVES, Notary Public and U. S. Coms'r. D. E. HATLESTAD, District Court Commissioner.

IVES & HATLESTAD,

Attorneys and counselors at Law,

CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN.

Will practice in all the courts and before the U S. Land Office at Crookston and Washington. Pensions and Soldiers' Claims and Patents carefully and promptly adjusted.

We loan money on improved farms and city property and have facilities for placing large loans at low rate of interest. We give special attention to collections and all commercial business pertaining to our profession.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON

PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - - $11,000

Money to loan on long or short time on approved security

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, B. B. Northrop, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, John Moore, W. H. Crosby
Chas. E. Sawyer.

THE ONLY

Vestibuled Trains

NORTH OF ST. PAUL.

THE

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD,

The Dining Car Route Between

WINNIPEG,
PEMBINA,
GRAFTON,
GRAND FORKS,
ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH

AND ALL POINTS EAST.

The direct line to

MONTANA, IDAHO,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OREGON, BRITISH COLUMBIA,
PUGET SOUND AND ALASKA

VESTIBULED
EXPRESS TRAINS DAILY,

To which are attached Pullman Palace Sleepers and Elegant Dining Cars. On overland trains, Emigrant Sleepers Free.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Depart West Bound.		Arrive East Bound
4:00 p. m.	St. Paul	7:05 a. m.
4:30 "	Minneapolis	6:35 "
7:30 "	East St. Cloud	4:08 "
8:30 "	Little Falls	3:00 "
9:45 "	Brainerd	1:55 "
11:30 a. m.	Ashland	6:20 p. m.
3:45 p. m.	Duluth	7:30 a. m.
2:15 a. m.	Winnipeg Jc.	8:19 p. m.
5:15 "	Red Lake Falls	5:31 "
7:10 "	Grand Forks	4:20 "
8:50 "	Grafton	2:21 "
10:15 "	Pembina	12:35 "
1:15 p. m.	Winnipeg	9:10 a. m.

☞ Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars between Grand Forks and St. Paul, Dining Cars on all trains.

Coupon Tickets on sale to all points South, East and West. For full information as to time, rates, address

W. E. JERMAINE, Ticket Agent. Grand Forks.
CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk. 14th Judicial District.

John Cromb, Plaintiff, vs. Arthur T. Moore and Catherine J. Moore, Defendants.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants.

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the 14th Judicial District, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscriber, at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid the Plaintiff in this action will take judgment against you for the sum of ninety dollars, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from the 1st day of January A. D. 1889, together with the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated Aug. 13th 1889.

JOHN CROMB,
[17-23] Pl'ff's Att'y, Crookston, Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Crookston, Minn., July 17th, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of her intention to make final proof in support of her claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land office, at Crookston, Minn., on Sept. 23d, 1889, viz: HENRIETTE LOURIN, D. S., 11,024, for the e½ ne¼ and e½ se¼, S. 19, T. 149, R. 44. She names the following witnesses to prove her continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John T. Farden, Theo. Durocher, J. W. McNaulty and A. J. Northholm, all of Tilden, Polk Co., Minn. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

[17-22] H. H. DICKMANN, Register.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Lee & Herrick. Against. Alice B. Kratka.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Lee & Herrick and against Alice B. Kratka. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit: Lots ten (10) eleven (11) twelve (12) and thirteen (13,) of block fifty-nine (59,) of the townsite of Thief River Falls, according to recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota. And that I shall, on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alice B. Kratka in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to ninety-six dollars and 85 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the fourth day of June 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD, Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt, Plaintiff's Attorney. [15-21]

Wilkinson, Schmidt & O'Brien

LAWYERS,

FOURNET BLOCK,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN,

Polk County Journal.

W. G. COOKE, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

CROOKSTON, MINN., SEPTEMBER 5, 1889.

A BIG CHEESE STATE.

Is What Dairy Commissioner Ives Would Make of Minnesota.

Great as a Dairy State, He Argues That it Would Excel in Cheese.

St. Paul Globe.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Ives, since his return from the east, has been engaged in vigorously pushing the work of his department. He, however, yesterday found time to discuss the cheese industry of the state. With his face growing radiant and his eye shedding a bright luster, Mr. Ives said:

"Do you know that in Minnesota there are the grandest possibilities for us taking rank as a first-class cheese-producing state? Those who are familiar with our climate, water, soil, nutritious grasses and general good dairy herds, admit that Minnesota can be made a great cheese market. Why is it not so at the present time? Well, several reasons can be assigned.

To begin with. Those who are identified with the manufacture of cheese, do not, I think, fully realize its importance. The laws with reference to dairy products were placed on the statute books for their encouragement and benefit as well as that of the consumer. While much has been done by a generous state to foster the dairy industry, and to aid the cheese maker, those directly interested in the manufacture of cheese must not lose sight of the fact that there is no royal road before them. A first-class price is what all cheese makers desire. If such be the case, next in order will be first-class cheese. That these results may be obtained, the observance of the strictest sanitary rules are most essential. July, August and September are the months which most severely test the reputation of a cheese factory.

What standard of comparison will be raised for the output of cheese for the foregoing months? The amount consumed and the prices realized are two important factors. If, however, our Minnesota cheese makers desire a reputation for a prime article of cheese in their home market, they must advance and take advantage of applied skill wherever it can be found. It is my desire to assist and to give all helpful information that is within the range of possibilities.

Let me here note some most practical authority on the manufacture of cheese: 'Good cheese implies a mild, rich flavor, that may be preserved for the winter trade; a firm, solid body of a "nutty" flavor; a fine outside finish, with clean, bright rinds, free from cracks, and bandages fresh looking and not likely to appear mouldy.'

In addition to the marking of each box and cheese—if they be full cream, as our law directs—it seems equally important and advisable that the weight of the cheese, instead of being written in pencil, should be stenciled in plain figures. Furthermore, not an inconsiderable number of cheese factories are prone to neglect drainage. These facilities should be enlarged and remedied as quickly as possible. The drainage shows to the worst advantage during the months of August and September. It is an easy matter to right these gross errors. Only a few hours' labor and the outlay of a few dollars, and every factory, with the vicinity contiguous, can be kept free from noxious and contaminating odors which may result from stagnant pools. In this connection I would suggest to the proprietors of creameries and cheese factories that they keep everything scrupulously neat and in good sanitary condition; that the cooling rooms be kept at a proper temperature. Another practice which is radically wrong, and ought to be speedily righted.

The patrons of cheese factories know at this season of the year milk is richer in fats and less in quantity; therefore the greater temptation to 'even up' by adding water thereto, or vice versa, 'even down' by the removal of the cream.

This is a species of fraud that ought not to be tolerated. The moral effect is decidedly bad. It might be well for those inclined to this habit to look more closely into the dairy law, which is plain on this point. It says: 'No person or persons shall sell, supply or bring to be manufactured, to any butter or cheese factory, any milk diluted with water, or any unclean, impure, unhealthy, adulterated or unwholesome milk, or milk from which any cream has been taken, or bring or supply milk to any butter or cheese factory that is sour. The penalty for the violation of this section of the dairy law is from $10 to $100, or imprisonment from one to three months. I would like to impress some cheese makers of the state that they have either a reputation to gain or lose.

Why, we only have to mention our creamery butter, which finds a ready market in the cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and to that fact we can refer with pride. Let our cheese manufacturers make such an excellent quality that the consumers of that rich edible will inquire of their grocer and have none other than the 'Minnesota full cream cheese.'"

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 29th, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of eight hundred and forty-two and 95-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Zephirin Daoust and Elizabeth Daoust, his wife, as mortgagors, to Caleb W. Palmer as mortgagee, bearing date the tenth day of July 1883, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 12th day of July A. D. 1883, at ten o'clock a. m., in book "N" of mortgages, on page 119, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, situated in the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered eight and nine (8) and (9,) in block number fourteen (14,) in the village of Carman, according to the map or plat of said village, duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds, in and for said county, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Polk, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on Saturday Oct. 12th 1889, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as provided by law, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption as provided by law.

Dated August 26th A. D. 1889.

CALEB W. PALMER, Mortgagee.

Calvin B. Palmer, Att'y for Mortgagee. [19-25]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the proceedings of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company, to acquire for its use the right of way over and through and the use of certain lands in Polk County, Minnesota.

Notice is hereby given to each and every person, corporation or party named in the following annexed copy of petition and to the owners, persons, parties or corporations owning or interested in any of the tracts, pieces, or parcels of land mentioned described or designated in said annexed copy of petition. That at the Court House, in the City of Moorhead, in Clay County, Minnesota, on the 11th day of September 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, a petition of which the following and annexed is a copy will be presented to the said District Court, and application made that the prayer of said petition be granted. (The "Exhibit A" referred to is on file with the petition in the office of the Clerk of the District Court, of Polk County, Minnesota.)

Dated August 20th 1889.

THE DULUTH, CROOKSTON AND NORTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY,

{Corporate Seal.} ROBERT J. MONTAGUE, President.

EDMUND M. WALSH, Secretary.

DeForest Bucklen, Attorney for Petitioner. Crookston, Minn.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk. District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the proceedings of the Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company to acquire the right of way over and through and the use of certain lands in Polk County, Minnesota.

To the Honorable Judge of said District Court:

The Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company by this petition respectfully shows to this court.

1st. That said Duluth, Crookston and Northern Railroad Company is a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the general statutes of the State of Minnesota.

2d. That Robert J. Montague is the President and Edmund M. Walsh is the Secretary of said corporation.

3d. That the object and business of said corporation is to build, operate and maintain certain lines of railroad in said State as its officers may direct.

4th. That said corporation is about to build, complete, maintain and operate a line of railroad from a point on the line of the Duluth and Manitoba Railroad, in said county, at the Village of Fertile, and thence extending in a northwesterly direction to and into the City of Crookston, in said county; that in so building, operating and maintaining said line of railroad it will be necessary for said corporation to acquire the right of way over certain lands in said county, which lands are hereinafter described, and to use them for spur-tracks, side-tracks, depots, switches, turnouts, stations, warehouses, yards, watertanks, and other appurtenances of said railroad; said right of way to be used by said corporation in so building, maintaining and operating said line of railroad.

5th. That the public interests require that such railroad be built, maintained and operated.

6th. The description of said lands and the names of the owners, encumbrancers, and persons having an interest therein, as far as the names of such persons can be ascertained by your petitioner by examination of the public records, by view of the premises, by diligent inquiry on said premises and in the vicinity thereof, and other inquiries, are as follows:

A strip of land 100 feet wide, being 50 feet wide on each side of the centre line of the main track of said railroad, where the same is now located and staked out through and across each of the following described pieces of land.

In township 147 north, of range 41 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The northeast quarter of section 17, owner Stanley Sanford, encumbrancer The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The southeast quarter section 8, owner Lydia S. Burdick, encumbrancer D. S. B. Johnston Land Mortgage Company.

The south half of the northwest quarter of section 8, owner W. G. Wheeler.

In township 148 north, of range 45 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The east half of the southeast quarter of section 36, owners Sven Kourus, State of Minnesota.

The southeast quarter of section 26, owner Sam Olson, encumbrancers John H. Hill, Nichols Shepard and company.

The southwest quarter of section 26, owner Colben Thorsen, encumbrancer New England Mortgage Security Company.

The northwest quarter of section 24, owners Andrias Hagberg, John Rougen, encumbrancers Eleanor E. Wilmerding, F. W. Dunton.

The southeast quarter of section 22, owner William J. Hurst, encumbrancer John Tapley.

The southeast quarter of section 8, owner F. T. Day, encumbrancer John Hoffmann.

The northeast quarter of section 8, owner Tollof Carlson.

The northwest quarter of section 8, owner Ole A. Olson.

The southeast quarter of section 6, owner F. T. Day, encumbrancer John H. Van Dyke

The northeast quarter of section 1, in township 148 north, of range 46 west, in Polk County, Minnesota, owner Estine B. Durdall, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The southwest quarter of section 30, in township 149 north, of range 45 west, in Polk County, Minnesota, owner Alanson Moore, encumbrancer The Colonial and United States Mortgage Company, (Limited).

In township 149 north, of range 46 west, in Polk County, Minnesota.

The southwest quarter of section 24, owner Lemuel S. Horton, encumbrancer James W. Massey.

The southwest quarter of section 14, owner Peter J. McGuire, encumbrancer American Mortgage Company, of Scotland, (Limited).

The east half of the southeast quarter of section 15, owner P. J. McGuire, encumbrancer the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The northwest quarter of section 15, owner Peter Cornelius, encumbrancer The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company.

The southeast quarter of section 9, owner Martin E. Bartlett, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northeast quarter of section 9, owner H. E. Cooke, encumbrancer, The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northeast quarter of section 8, owner Caleb J. Camp.

The southeast quarter of section 5, owner Christopher Houston.

The southwest quarter of section 5, owner Henry A. Stone, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

The northwest quarter of section 5, owner Samuel Greenhalgh, encumbrancer The Netherlands American Land Company.

Also a strip of land 200 feet wide extending across the southwest quarter of section 22, in township 148 north, of range 45 west, in said county, being 50 feet on the northeast side and 150 feet on the southwest side of the centre of the main line of said railway, where the same is now surveyed and staked out across said land, owner The American Mortgage Company of Scotland, (Limited).

For a further and more definite description of said lands and to show more clearly the location of said railroad, the annexed plat marked Exhibit "A" is hereby made a part of this petition. Your petitioner prays this Court to appoint three competent, disinterested persons as commissioners to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made to the owners of the lands herein described and to all tenants, encumbrancers and others interested therein for the taking or injuriously affecting such land and real estate.

Dated August 20th, 1889.

THE DULUTH, CROOKSTON AND NORTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ROBERT J. MONTAGUE, President.

{CORPORATE SEAL.} EDMUND M. WALSH, Secretary.

DE FOREST BUCKLEN, Attorney for Petitioner. Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication August 1st, 1889.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five thousand seventy-eight and 90-100 dollars, ($5,078.90-100,) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Carl Kretzschmar and Anna Kretzschmar his wife mortgagors to Wm. M. Ross of Crookston, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of January A. D. 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, on the 28th day of January A. D. 1885, at 9:15 o'clock a. m., in book "U" of mortgages, on pages 210 to 212 inclusive, and

Whereas the said Wm. M. Ross, mortgagee, for value received, on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly assigned the aforesaid note and mortgage, and the debt secured thereby to the Merchants' National Bank, of Crookston, which said assignment was in writing under seal, duly witnessed and acknowledged, and thereafter on the 23d day of July A. D. 1889, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said Polk County, in book "45" of mortgages on pages 575 and 576, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered three (3,) four (4,) eight (8,) nine (9,) and ten (10,) in block two (2,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block three (3,) lots seven (7,) eight (8) and nine (9,) in block four (4,) lots nine (9,) ten (10) and eleven (11,) in block five (5,) lots three (3,) four (4) and ten (10) in block six (6,) lots six (6,) seven (7) and eight (8,) in block seven (7,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block ten (10,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block eleven (11,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block twelve (12,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirteen (13,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block fourteen (14,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty four inclusive, in block fifteen (15,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block sixteen (16,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block seventeen (17,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block eighteen (18,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block nineteen (19,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty (20,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-one (21,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-two (22,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, in block twenty three (23,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block twenty-six (26,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block twenty-seven (27,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, in block thirty (30,) lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block thirty-one (31,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6,) in block thirty-two (32,) lots ten (10,) eleven (11) and twelve (12,) in block thirty-three (33) lots sixteen (16,) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18,) in block thirty-four (34,) lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, and lots twenty-two (22,) twenty-three (23) and twenty-four (24,) in block thirty-five (35,) lots one (1) to six (6) inclusive, and lots thirteen (13) to eighteen (18) inclusive, in block thirty-eight (38,) lots seven (7) to twelve (12) inclusive, and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-five (55,) lots four (4,) five (5) and six (6) and lots nineteen (19) to twenty-four (24) inclusive, in block fifty-eight (58,) lots nine (9) to sixteen (16) inclusive, and twenty-five (25) to thirty-two (32) inclusive, in block sixty-five (65,) lots one (1) to eight (8) inclusive, and lots seventeen (17) to twenty-four (24,) in block sixty-six (66.) All in the townsite of Thief River Falls, Polk County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of Polk, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 21st day of September A. D. 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 25th 1889.

THE MERCHANTS' NATIONAL BANK of Crookston, Assignee of Mortgagee.

John Cromb, Att'y for Assignee of Mortgagee.
[15-21] Crookston, Minn.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,—ss. District Court. County of Polk.

Anthony Kelly & Co., Against. Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co.

Notice is hereby given, That by virtue of an execution to me directed and delivered, and now in my hands, issued out of the District Court 14th Judicial District, State of Minnesota, in and for the County of Polk, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Anthony Kelly & Co., and against Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, co-partners as A. Beaudette & Co. I have levied upon the following described real estate of said defendant, to-wit: Lot fifteen (15,) of block five (5,) L. Fletcher's addition to Crookston, according to the recorded plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said County of Polk, excepting a strip twenty-five feet wide along the north end of said lot. And that I shall on Friday the 13th day of September A. D. 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, proceed to sell all the right, title and interest of the above named Alexander Beaudette and Mally E. Beaudette, in and to the above described property, to satisfy said judgment and costs, amounting to eleven hundred eighty dollars and 48 cents, together with all accruing costs of sale, and interest on the same from the 29th day of July 1889, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

Dated Crookston, Minn., July 29th 1889.

N. O. PAULSRUD, Sheriff of Polk County.

P. C. Schmidt, Plaintiff's Attorney. [17-21]

GO TO

Collin's Stable and see the Celebrated

Hambletonian Trotter

MAJOR!

PEDIGREE.

